COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (

1. INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS; INTRODUCTION

1. Insolvency procedures.

There are four types of procedure under the Insolvency Act 1986 which govern the administration of the affairs of insolvent companies:

- 1 (1) voluntary arrangements under Part I of the Act¹ which contains provisions which apply when a proposal is made for a composition in satisfaction of a company's debts or for a scheme of arrangement for its affairs;
- 2 (2) administration under Part II of the Act² which contains provisions under which administrators may be appointed with regard to a company in financial difficulties;
- 3 (3) receivership under Part III of the Act³ which deals primarily with administrative receivers who may be appointed by the holder of any debentures of the company secured by a floating charge; and
- 4 (4) winding up under Parts IV to VI of the Act⁴ which contain provisions relating to the winding up of companies by the court or voluntarily.

The persons appointed to administer the affairs of the company in any such proceedings, that is to say the nominee or supervisor of voluntary arrangements under Part I of the Act, administrators, administrative receivers, liquidators and provisional liquidators, must be qualified to act as insolvency practitioners in relation to the company or, in the case of the nominee or supervisor of a voluntary arrangement, authorised to act as nominee or supervisor⁵.

The Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 makes provision for the disqualification of persons from being directors of companies, and from otherwise being concerned with a company's affairs⁶.

There is a separate statutory regime relating to financial markets and insolvency⁷.

UPDATE

1-7 Insolvency Proceedings; Introduction

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/1. INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS; INTRODUCTION/2. Application of the statutory provisions.

2. Application of the statutory provisions.

The statutory provisions relating to insolvency procedures¹ are for the most part contained in the Insolvency Act 1986² and the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986³. The Insolvency Act 1986 and the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 both came into force on 29 December 1986⁴. The practice in insolvency proceedings, so far as not laid down by those Acts, is mainly regulated by rules made under those Acts⁵.

Certain provisions of the Insolvency Act 1986 relating to companies which are insolvent or in liquidation apply to more than one of the types of insolvency procedure⁶, although in certain instances their application may vary in detail according to the type of insolvency procedure. These provisions relate to:

- 5 (1) the requirement that the holders of office be qualified insolvency practitioners in relation to the company⁷;
- 6 (2) the appointment to office of two or more persons⁸;
- 7 (3) the validity of the office-holder's acts⁹;
- 8 (4) essential supplies by utilities¹⁰;
- 9 (5) the getting-in of the company's property¹¹;
- 10 (6) the duty of certain persons to co-operate with the office-holder¹²;
- 11 (7) the powers of inquiry into the company's dealings¹³;
- 12 (8) transactions at an undervalue and preferences¹⁴;
- 13 (9) extortionate credit transactions¹⁵;
- 14 (10) avoidance of certain floating charges¹⁶;
- 15 (11) unenforceability of liens on books and papers¹⁷;
- 16 (12) insolvency practitioners and their qualification¹⁸;
- 17 (13) Insolvency Service finance, accounting and investment¹⁹; and
- 18 (14) transactions defrauding creditors²⁰.

1 See para 1 ante.

2 See the Insolvency Act 1986 Pts I-VII (ss 1-251) (as amended); and para 71 et seq post. Parts VIII-XI (ss 252-385) (as amended) contain provisions relating to the insolvency of individuals: see BANKRUPTCY AND INDIVIDUAL INSOLVENCY. See also Pts XII-XVIII (ss 386-436) (as amended), which contain provisions bearing on both company and individual insolvency; and para 8 et seq post.

Significant amendments were made to the Insolvency Act 1986 Pts I-VII (as amended) by the Insolvency Act 2000, in respect of voluntary arrangements under the Insolvency Act 1986 Pt I (ss 1-7B) (as amended) (see para 71 et seq post) and by the Enterprise Act 2002, in respect of administrations under the Insolvency Act 1986 Pt II (ss 8-27) (as amended) (see para 145 et seq post).

The statutory provisions have also been amended to give effect to the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings (ie EC Council Regulation 1346/2000 (OJ L160, 30.6.2000, p 1)) (see para 46 et seq post).

3 See para 1107 et seq post.

4 Insolvency Act 1986 s 443; Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 s 25; Insolvency Act 1985 (Commencement No 5) Order 1986, SI 1986/1924, art 3. The provisions relating to voluntary arrangements under the Insolvency Act 1986 Pt I (as amended) (see para 71 et seq post) and to administration orders under Pt II (as amended) (see para 145 et seq post) apply to all such proceedings commenced on or after 29 December 1986.

The Insolvency Act 1986 and the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 contain the following general transitional provisions and savings:

- 1 (1) so far as anything done or treated as done under or for the purposes of any provision of the former enactments could have been done under or for the purposes of the corresponding provision of the Insolvency Act 1986 or the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986, as the case may be, it is not invalidated by the repeal of that provision but has effect as if done under or for the purposes of the corresponding provision; and any order, regulation, rule or other instrument made or having effect under any provision of the former enactments is, in so far as its effect is preserved by these provisions, to be treated for all purposes as made and having effect under the corresponding provision (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 11 para 23; Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 Sch 3 para 2);
- 2 (2) where any period of time specified in a provision of the former enactments is current immediately before 29 December 1986, the Insolvency Act 1986 or the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986, as the case may be, has effect as if the corresponding provision had been in force when the period began to run; and, without prejudice to the above provisions, any period of time so specified and current is deemed for the purposes of the Insolvency Act 1986 or the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986, as the case may be: (a) to run from the date or event from which it was running immediately before 29 December 1986; and (b) to expire, subject to any provision of the Insolvency Act 1986 or the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986, as the case may be, for its extension, whenever it would have expired if the Insolvency Act 1986 or the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986, as the case may be, had not been passed; and any rights, priorities, liabilities, reliefs, obligations, requirements, powers, duties or exemptions dependent on the beginning, duration or end of such a period as is mentioned above are to be under the Insolvency Act 1986 or the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986, as the case may be, as they were or would have been under the former enactments (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 11 para 24; Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 Sch 3 para 3);
- 3 (3) where, in any provision of the Insolvency Act 1986 or the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986, as the case may be, there is a reference to another such provision, and the first-mentioned provision operates, or is capable of operating, in relation to things done or omitted, or events occurring or not occurring, in the past, including in particular past acts of compliance with any enactment, failures of compliance, contraventions, offences and convictions of offences, the reference to the other provision is to be read as including a reference to the corresponding provision of the former enactments (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 11 para 25; Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 Sch 3 para 4);
- 4 (4) offences committed before 29 December 1986 under any provision of the former enactments may be prosecuted and punished after that date, notwithstanding any repeal by the Insolvency Act 1986 or the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986, as the case may be, as if the Insolvency Act 1986 or the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986, as the case may be, had not been passed (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 11 para 26(1); Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 Sch 3 para 5);
- 5 (5) in the case of the Insolvency Act 1986 only, a contravention of any provision of the former enactments committed before 29 December 1986 may not be visited with any severer punishment under or by virtue of the Insolvency Act 1986 than would have been applicable under that provision at the time of the contravention; but, where an offence for the continuance of which a penalty was provided has been committed under any provision of the former enactments, proceedings may be taken under the Insolvency Act 1986 in respect of the continuance of the offence on and after 29 December 1986 in the like manner as if the offence has been committed under the corresponding provision of the Insolvency Act 1986 (Sch 11 para 26(2));
- 6 (6) a reference in any enactment, instrument or document, whether express or implied, and in whatever phraseology, to a provision of the former enactments, including the corresponding provision of any yet earlier enactment, is to be read, where necessary to retain for the enactment, instrument or document, the same force and effect as it would have had but for the passing of the Insolvency Act 1986 or the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986, as the case may be, as, or as including, a reference to the corresponding provision by which it is replaced in the Insolvency Act 1986 or the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986, as the case may be (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 11 para 27(1); Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 Sch 3 para 6);
- 7 (7) in the case of the Insolvency Act 1986 only, the generality of the provisions in head (6) supra is not affected by any specific conversion of references made by the Insolvency Act 1986 nor by the inclusion in any provision of that Act of a reference, whether express or implied, and in whatever phraseology, to the provision of the former enactments corresponding to that provision, or to a provision of the former enactments which is replaced by a corresponding provision of that Act (Sch 11 para 27(2));

- 8 (8) in the case of the Insolvency Act 1986 only, nothing in the provisions contained in heads (1)-(7) supra is to be taken as prejudicing the Interpretation Act 1978 ss 16, 17 (savings from, and effect of, repeals: see STATUTES vol 44(1) (Reissue) paras 1303, 1306 et seq); and for the purposes of s 17(2) (construction of references to enactments repealed and replaced etc: see STATUTES vol 44(1) (Reissue) para 1303), so much of the Insolvency Act 1985 s 18 as is replaced by a provision of the Insolvency Act 1986 is deemed to have been repealed by the Insolvency Act 1986 and not by the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 11 para 29);
- 9 (9) in the case of the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 only, the provisions contained in heads (1)-(4), (6) supra relating to that Act are without prejudice to anything in the Interpretation Act 1978 with regard to the effect of repeals (Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 s 23(1)).

For these purposes, references to 'the former enactments' are: (i) for the purposes of the Insolvency Act 1986, so much of the Companies Act 1985 as is repealed and replaced by the Insolvency Act 1986 (see s 439(1), Sch 13), the Insolvency Act 1985 (see s 235, Sch 10) and the other enactments repealed by the Insolvency Act 1986 (see s 438, Sch 12); and (ii) for the purposes of the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986, so much of the Companies Act 1985 and so much of the Insolvency Act 1985 as are repealed and replaced by the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 (see s 23(2), Sch 4): Insolvency Act 1986 s 437, Sch 11 para 22; Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 s 23(1), Sch 3 para 1).

UPDATE

1-7 Insolvency Proceedings; Introduction

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

2 Application of the statutory provisions

NOTE 4--Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 Sch 3 para 1; Insolvency Act 1986 s 437, Sch 11 amended: SI 2009/1941.

NOTE 5--SI 1989/1276 (as amended) replaced: Banks (Former Authorised Institutions) (Insolvency) Order 2006, SI 2006/3107.

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by amendments made by SI 2010/686. In particular, throughout SI 1986/1925, the word 'fit' is substituted by the word 'just', the word 'leave' is substituted by the word 'permission', and the word 'sign' (and paradigmatic expressions) is substituted by the word 'authenticate' (and equivalent paradigmatic expressions). References to affidavits are replaced by references to witness statements, statements of truth, statements of concurrence and certificates of service, as appropriate, and such statements are 'made' rather than 'sworn' ('witness statement', 'statement of truth' and 'certificate of service' are defined in r 13.13). Most shorter time limits are expressed in the number of business days, so that a reference to 'seven days' is now to 'five business days', and certain time limits of 21 days or over are reduced and other time limits are varied. Other terminological changes include references to a 'convener' of a meeting being substituted by a 'nominee', 'deponents' being substituted by 'nominated persons', an 'ex parte hearing' being substituted by a 'hearing without notice to any other party', 'exhibited' being substituted by 'attached', 'give' being substituted by 'send or give copies', 'inland revenue' being substituted by 'HM Revenue and Customs', 'insolvency practitioner' and 'responsible insolvency practitioner' being substituted by 'office-holder' (defined in new r 13.9A), 'plaintiff' being substituted by 'claimant', and 'a winding up' being substituted by 'winding-up proceedings' (definition added to r 13.13).

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/1. INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS; INTRODUCTION/3. Companies subject to insolvency proceedings.

3. Companies subject to insolvency proceedings.

In general¹, the companies² which are subject to insolvency proceedings under the Insolvency Act 1986³ are those formed and registered under the Companies Act 1985 or under the Joint Stock Companies Acts⁴, the Companies Act 1862, the Companies (Consolidation) Act 1908, the Companies Act 1929 or the Companies Acts 1948 to 1983⁵.

Subject to certain exceptions⁶, and to any provision expressly relating to companies incorporated elsewhere than in Great Britain, nothing in the Insolvency Act 1986 extends to Northern Ireland or applies to or in relation to companies registered or incorporated in Northern Ireland⁷.

1 The exceptions to this general principle are considered passim; but see in particular paras 8 et seq post (insolvency practitioners and their qualification), 71 et seq post (voluntary arrangements), 145 et seq post (administration), 380 et seq post (administrative receivers); and 432 et seq post (winding up).

Companies, wherever incorporated, but whose centre of main interests is located within England and Wales, may also be the subject of voluntary arrangements, administration or winding up under the Insolvency Act 1986: see the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings (ie EC Council Regulation 1346/2000 (OJ L160, 30.6.2000, p 1)); and para 46 et seq post.

2 For the general meaning of 'company' in the Companies Act 1985 s 735 (applied by the Insolvency Act 1986 s 251) see COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARAS 1, 24.

3 See para 1 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'the Joint Stock Companies Acts' see COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARA 14.

5 Companies Act 1985 s 735(1), (3) (applied by the Insolvency Act 1986 s 251). Companies registered in the Republic of Ireland are not included: Companies Act 1985 ss 675, 679, 735 (applied by the Insolvency Act 1986 s 251). There is power to extend certain provisions of the Insolvency Act 1986 to any of the Channel Islands or any colony: see s 442; and para 1156 post.

6 The following provisions of the Insolvency Act 1986 relating to company insolvency extend to Northern Ireland: s 197 (see para 1081 post); s 426 (as amended) (see para 1029 post); s 428 (as amended) (see para 12 post); and s 439, Sch 14 (as amended) (amendments of enactments): s 441(1).

4. Courts having jurisdiction.

For the purposes of the Insolvency Act 1986 and the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986, 'the court', in relation to a company, means the court having jurisdiction to wind up the company¹.

Powers conferred by the Insolvency Act 1986 and the Companies Act 1985 on the court are in addition to, and not in restriction of, any existing powers of instituting proceedings against a contributory or debtor of the company, or the estate of any contributory or debtor, for the recovery of any call or other sums: Insolvency Act 1986 s 159.

5. Meaning of 'connected persons' and 'associates'.

For the purposes of the provisions relating to company insolvency in the Insolvency Act 1986¹, a person is connected with a company if he is a director² or shadow director³ of the company or an associate of such a director or shadow director, or if he is an associate of the company⁴.

For the purposes of the Insolvency Act 1986, any question whether a person is an associate of another person is to be determined in accordance with the following provisions⁵.

A person is an associate of an individual if that person is the individual's husband or wife, or is a relative⁶, or the husband or wife of a relative, of the individual or of the individual's husband or wife⁷.

A person is an associate of any person with whom he is in partnership, and of the husband or wife or a relative of any individual with whom he is in partnership; and a Scottish firm is an associate of any person who is a member of the firm⁸.

A person is an associate of any person whom he employs or by whom he is employed⁹.

A person in his capacity as trustee of a trust other than a trust arising under the Insolvency Act 1986¹⁰, or a pension scheme or an employees' share scheme¹¹, is an associate of another person if the beneficiaries of the trust include, or the terms of the trust confer a power that may be exercised for the benefit of, that other person or an associate of that other person¹².

A company¹³ is an associate of another company if:

- 19 (1) the same person has control¹⁴ of both, or a person has control of one and persons who are his associates, or he and other persons who are his associates, have control of the other; or
- 20 (2) a group of two or more persons has control of each company, and the groups either consist of the same persons or could be regarded as consisting of the same persons by treating, in one or more cases, a member of either group as replaced by a person of whom he is an associate¹⁵.

A company is an associate of another person if that person has control of it or if that person and persons who are his associates together have control of it¹⁶.

In the case of insolvency proceedings in relation to a limited liability partnership¹⁷, a member of a limited liability partnership is an associate of that partnership and of every other member of that partnership and of the husband or wife or relative of every other member of that partnership¹⁸.

1 le the provisions of the Insolvency Act 1986 Pts I-VII (ss 1-251) (as amended).

2 For these purposes, 'director' includes any person occupying the position of director, by whatever name called: ibid s 251.

3 For these purposes, 'shadow director', in relation to a company, means a person in accordance with whose directions or instructions the directors of the company are accustomed to act; but so that a person is not deemed a shadow director by reason only that the directors act on advice given by him in a professional capacity: ibid s 251.

4 Ibid s 249. In the case of insolvency proceedings in relation to a limited liability partnership, it is provided that a person is connected with a company, including a limited liability partnership, for these purposes if he is a director or shadow director of a company or an associate of such a director or shadow director, including a member or a shadow member of a limited liability partnership or an associate of such a member or shadow member, or if he is an associate of the company or of the limited liability partnership: see s 249; the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1309 post. 'Shadow member', in relation to a limited liability partnership, means a person in accordance with whose directions or instructions the members of the partnership are accustomed to act, but a person is not deemed a shadow member by reason only that the members of the partnership act on advice given by him in a professional capacity: Insolvency Act 1986 s 251; Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, Sch 3.

5 Insolvency Act 1986 s 435(1). Any provision in s 435 that a person is an associate of another person is to be taken to mean that they are associates of each other: s 435(1).

6 For these purposes, a person is a relative of an individual if he is that individual's brother, sister, uncle, aunt, nephew, niece, lineal ancestor or lineal descendant, treating any relationship of the half blood as a relationship of the whole blood and the stepchild or adopted child of any person as his child, and an illegitimate child as the legitimate child of his mother and reputed father; and references in ibid s 435 to a husband or wife include a former husband or wife and a reputed husband or wife: s 435(8).

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/1. INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS; INTRODUCTION/7. Insolvency proceedings involving participants in payment and securities settlement systems.

7. Insolvency proceedings involving participants in payment and securities settlement systems.

Regulations have been made¹ implementing the European Directive on settlement finality in payment and securities settlement systems². The protection afforded by the regulations applies to systems which have been designated by means of a designation order made by the Bank of England or the Financial Services Authority³.

Modifications are made to the law of insolvency in so far as it applies to transfer orders effected through a designated system and to collateral security provided in connection with participation in a designated system⁴. In particular, provision is made to the effect that proceedings of a designated system take precedence over general insolvency proceedings⁵. The modifications to the law of insolvency cease to apply to a transfer order which is entered into a designated system after insolvency, unless the transfer order is carried out on the same day as the insolvency and the relevant persons do not have notice of the insolvency at the time of settlement⁶. Certain provisions of the Companies Act 1989⁷ are disapplied in the case of a market contract which is also a transfer order effected through a designated system, and a market charge which is also a collateral security charge⁸.

Where a court makes an insolvency order against a participant in a designated system, it must notify both the relevant designated system and the relevant designating authority that such an order has been made⁹.

The law governing the rights of a person as a holder of collateral security when his entitlement is recorded in a register, account or centralised deposit system is specified as the law of the EEA state (or part of the EEA state) where the register, account or centralised deposit system is located¹⁰. Any other rights or obligations arising from, or in connection with, participation in a system designated under the Directive are to be governed by the law governing the system¹¹. Further provision is made in relation to insolvency proceedings in other jurisdictions¹², and systems designated in other EEA states, Northern Ireland or Gibraltar¹³.

2. INSOLVENCY PRACTITIONERS AND THEIR QUALIFICATION

(1) RESTRICTIONS ON UNQUALIFIED PERSON ACTING AS AN INSOLVENCY PRACTITIONER

8. Meaning of 'act as an insolvency practitioner'.

A person acts as an insolvency practitioner in relation to a company¹ by acting as its liquidator, provisional liquidator, administrator or administrative receiver², or as nominee³ or supervisor of a voluntary arrangement⁴. This does not apply to anything done by the official receiver⁵.

² For these purposes, 'administrative receiver' has the meaning given by ibid s 251 (see COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARA 1337): s 388(4).

Where a proposal for a voluntary arrangement is made: (1) by the directors of a company and before 1 January 2003 the intended nominee had endorsed a copy of the written notice of the proposal under the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.4(3) (see para 110 post); or (2) by a liquidator or administrator acting as the nominee and before 1 January 2003 the liquidator or administrator had sent out a notice summoning the meetings under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 3 as required by the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.11 (see para 117 post); or (3) by a liquidator or administrator not acting as the nominee and before 1 January 2003 the intended nominee had endorsed a copy of the written notice of the proposal under r 1.12(2) (see para 118 post), then such nominee will not act as an insolvency practitioner in relation to the company: see the Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, arts 3, 5(a).

For the meaning of 'act as an insolvency practitioner' in relation to an insolvent partnership see s 388(2A) (as added and amended); and para 1295 post. For the meaning of 'act as an insolvency practitioner' in relation to an individual see s 388(2), (3) (as amended); and BANKRUPTCY AND INDIVIDUAL INSOLVENCY vol 3(2) (2002 Reissue) para 43.

⁵ Ibid s 388(5)(a) (substituted by the Bankruptcy (Scotland) Act 1993 s 11(1)). As to the official receiver see para 503 et seq post.

8-45 Insolvency Practitioners and their Qualification

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

8 Meaning of 'act as an insolvency practitioner'

NOTE 1--'Company' means a company registered under the Companies Act 2006 in England, Wales or Scotland, or a company that may be wound up under the Insolvency Act 1986 Pt V: Insolvency Act 1986 s 388(4) (definition substituted by SI 2009/1941).

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/2. INSOLVENCY PRACTITIONERS AND THEIR QUALIFICATION/(1) RESTRICTIONS ON UNQUALIFIED PERSON ACTING AS AN INSOLVENCY PRACTITIONER/9. Holders of office to be qualified insolvency practitioners.

9. Holders of office to be qualified insolvency practitioners.

Where an administration order is made in relation to a company, the administrator must be a person who is qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner in relation to the company¹.

Where an administrative receiver of a company is appointed, he must be a person who is so qualified².

Where a company goes into liquidation³, the liquidator must be a person who is so qualified⁴; and, where a provisional liquidator is appointed, he must also be a person who is so qualified⁵.

Under a proposal for a voluntary arrangement, the nominee must be a person who is qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner or authorised to act as nominee in relation to the voluntary arrangement⁶; and, where the voluntary arrangement is approved, the supervisor must be a person who is so qualified or authorised to act as supervisor in relation to the voluntary arrangement⁷.

1 See the Insolvency Act 1986 s 8, Sch B1 para 6 (added by the Enterprise Act 2002 s 248(2), Sch 16). Where a petition for an administration order was presented before 15 September 2003 the administrator must be a person qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner in relation to the company: Insolvency Act 1986 s 230(1) (as originally enacted: see para 145 note 10 post). As to the appointment of administrators see para 158 post.

2 Ibid s 230(2).

3 For these purposes, a company goes into liquidation if it passes a resolution for voluntary winding up or an order for its winding up is made by the court at a time when it has not already gone into liquidation by passing such a resolution: ibid s 247(2). For the meaning of 'court' see para 4 ante. A limited liability partnership goes into liquidation if it makes a determination that it be wound up voluntarily or an order for its winding up is made by the court at a time when it has not already gone into liquidation by making such a determination: s 247(2); Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3. See para 1309 post. For the meaning of 'limited liability partnership' see para 71 note 3 post.

4 Ibid s 230(3). See further paras 556, 950 post. The provisions of s 230(3) and s 230(4) (see the text and note 5 infra) are without prejudice to any enactment under which the official receiver is to be, or may be, liquidator or provisional liquidator: s 230(5).

5 Ibid s 230(4). See further para 491 post. See also note 4 supra.

6 Ibid ss 1(2), 2(4), 4(2) (ss 1(2), 4(2) amended, and s 2(4) substituted, by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 2, Sch 2 Pt I paras 1-4). See also para 71 post.

Where a proposal for a voluntary arrangement is made: (1) by the directors of a company and before 1 January 2003 the intended nominee had endorsed a copy of the written notice of the proposal under the Insolvency Rules 1986 r 1.4(3) (see para 118 post); or (2) by a liquidator or administrator acting as the nominee and before 1 January 2003 the liquidator or administrator had sent out a notice summoning the meetings under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 3 as required by the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.11 (see para 117 post); or (3) by a liquidator or administrator not acting as the nominee and before 1 January 2003 the intended nominee had endorsed a copy of the written notice of the proposal under r 1.12(2) (see para 118 post), then the nominee must be a person who is qualified to act as insolvency practitioner in relation to the company: see the Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, art 3.

7 Insolvency Act 1986 s 7(2), (5) (amended by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 2, Sch 2 Pt I paras 1, 9). See also para 132 post.

Where a proposal for a voluntary arrangement is made: (1) by the directors of a company and before 1 January 2003 the intended nominee had endorsed a copy of the written notice of the proposal under the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.4(3) (see para 118 post); or (2) by a liquidator or administrator acting as the nominee and before 1st January 2003 the liquidator or administrator had sent out a notice summoning the meetings under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 3 as required by the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.11 (see para 117 post); or (3) by a liquidator or administrator not acting as the nominee and before 1 January 2003 the intended nominee had endorsed a copy of the written notice of the proposal under r 1.12(2) (see para 118 post), then the supervisor must be a person who is qualified to act as insolvency practitioner in relation to the company: see the Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, art 3.

8-45 Insolvency Practitioners and their Qualification

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/2. Offence of acting as an insolvency practitioner without qualification.

10. Offence of acting as an insolvency practitioner without qualification.

A person who acts as an insolvency practitioner in relation to a company at a time when he is not qualified to do so is liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or a fine, or to both, or on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum, or to both¹.

This does not, however, apply to the official receiver².

Certain offences under the Insolvency Act 1986 are also punishable by means of a daily default fine: see s 430, Sch 10 (as amended).

² Insolvency Act 1986 s 389(2) (amended by the Bankruptcy (Scotland) Act 1993 s 11(2)). As to the official receiver see para 503 et seq post.

10 The Secretary of State may by order declare a body which appears to him to fall within the Insolvency Act 1986 s 389A(5) (as added) to be a recognised body for these purposes: s 389A(4) (as added: see note 5 supra). An order so made in relation to a body may be revoked by a further order if it appears to the Secretary of State that the body no longer falls within the Insolvency Act 1986 s 389A(5) (as added): s 389A(7) (as so added). An order of the Secretary of State under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 389A (as added) has effect from such date as is specified in the order; and any such order revoking a previous order may make provision for members of the body in question to continue to be treated as members of a recognised body for a specified period after the revocation takes effect: s 389A(8) (as so added). A body may be so recognised if it maintains and enforces rules for securing that its members: (1) are fit and proper persons to act as nominees or supervisors; and (2) meet acceptable requirements as to education and practical training and experience: s 389A(5) (as so added). For these purposes, a person is a member of a body only if he is subject to its rules when acting as nominee or supervisor, whether or not he is in fact a member of the body: s 389A(6) (as so added). As to the recognition of professional bodies generally see para 14 post.

In any enactment, 'Secretary of State' means one of Her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State: see the Interpretation Act 1978 s 5, Sch 1. The office of Secretary of State is a unified office, and in law each Secretary of State is capable of performing the functions of all or any of them: see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS vol 8(2) (Reissue) para 355. For the purposes of the legislation relating to insolvency, the powers of the Secretary of State are exercised in practice by the Secretary of State for Trade and Industry: see the Secretary of State for Trade and Industry (New Departments) Order 1974, SI 1974/692 (lapsed); the Transfer of Functions (Trade and Industry) Order 1983, SI 1983/1127; and TRADE AND INDUSTRY vol 97 (2010) PARA 802 et seq. Matters relating to trade were originally within the general jurisdiction of the Board of Trade which no longer meets (see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS vol 8(2) (Reissue) para 505; TRADE AND INDUSTRY vol 97 (2010) PARA 802). Its effective head, the President of the Board of Trade, now exercises functions concurrently with the Secretary of State for Trade and Industry who, since 1992, has used both titles so that any reference to the Board of Trade now has effect as if it were, or included, a reference to the Secretary of State: see the Secretary of State for Trade and Industry Order 1970, SI 1970/1537, arts 2(1), 7(4); and TRADE AND INDUSTRY vol 97 (2010) PARA 802 et seq.

12. Competition and abuse of a dominant position.

Agreements between undertakings, decisions by associations of undertakings or concerted practices¹ which may affect trade within the United Kingdom² and have as their object or effect the prevention, restriction or distortion of competition are prohibited and void³. The prohibition does not, however, apply to any agreement to the extent that it constitutes a designated professional rule, imposes obligations arising from designated rules or constitutes an agreement to act in accordance with such rules⁴. For these purposes, a designated professional rule is a rule designated by the Secretary of State following notification of any rule to him by any body regulating a professional service⁵ or the persons who provide, or wish to provide, that service⁶. Insolvency services⁷ are such a professional service⁸.

Conduct on the part of one or more undertakings which amounts to the abuse of a dominant position⁹ in a market and which may affect trade within the United Kingdom is prohibited¹⁰.

Agreements and conduct are not prohibited to the extent that they are made or engaged in order to comply with a legal requirement¹¹.

INSOLVENCY PRACTITIONERS AND THEIR QUALIFICATION/(2) REQUISITE QUALIFICATION AND MEANS OF OBTAINING IT; SECURITY AND FILING REQUIREMENTS/14. Recognised professional bodies.

14. Recognised professional bodies.

The Secretary of State may by order declare a body which appears to him to fulfil the statutory requirements¹ to be a recognised professional body for these purposes². A body may be so recognised if it regulates the practice of a profession and maintains and enforces rules for securing that such of its members³ as are permitted by or under the rules to act as insolvency practitioners⁴ are fit and proper persons so to act and meet acceptable requirements as to education and practical training and experience⁵.

An order so made in relation to a professional body may be revoked by a further order if it appears to the Secretary of State that the body no longer falls within these requirements⁶.

An order of the Secretary of State under these provisions has effect from such date as is specified in the order; and any such order revoking a previous order may make provision whereby members of the body in question continue to be treated as authorised to act as insolvency practitioners for a specified period after the revocation takes effect⁷.

15. Authorisation by competent authority.

Application may be made to a competent authority for authorisation to act as an insolvency practitioner¹; and the competent authorities for this purpose are:

- 35 (1) in relation to a case of any description specified in directions given by the Secretary of State, the body or person so specified in relation to cases of that description; and

8-45 Insolvency Practitioners and their Qualification

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

15-22 Authorisation by competent authority ... Requirements to submit bordereau to authorising authority

SI 1990/439 (as amended) replaced by the Insolvency Practitioner Regulations 2005, SI 2005/524 (amended by SI 2007/3224, SI 2009/2748, SI 2009/3081).

15 Authorisation by competent authority

NOTE 4--The prescribed fee is now £850 in connection with the grant of the application: SI 2003/3363 art 3(3) (amended by SI 2009/3081). Where the application is granted, the individual to whom authorisation has been granted must pay to the Secretary of State as soon as reasonably practicable a fee of £2,400 in connection with the maintenance of the authorisation for the period of 12 months commencing with the date of the grant of the authorisation: SI 2003/3363 art 3(3A) (added by SI 2009/3081).

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/2. INSOLVENCY PRACTITIONERS AND THEIR QUALIFICATION/(2) REQUISITE QUALIFICATION AND MEANS OF OBTAINING IT; SECURITY AND FILING REQUIREMENTS/16. Grant and refusal of authorisation.

16. Grant and refusal of authorisation.

The competent authority¹ may, on an application duly made and after being furnished with all such information as it may so require, grant or refuse the application². The authority must, however, grant the application if it appears to it from the information furnished by the applicant and having regard to such other information, if any, as it may have:

- 40 (1) that the applicant is a fit and proper person to act as an insolvency practitioner³; and
- 41 (2) that the applicant meets the prescribed requirements with respect to education and practical training and experience⁴.

An authorisation granted under these provisions, if not previously withdrawn⁵, continues in force for such period not exceeding the prescribed maximum⁶ as may be specified in the authorisation⁷.

The Secretary of State may by order require a person to pay a fee in connection with the grant or maintenance of authorisation under these provisions⁸ and may disregard and application or withdraw an authorisation where a fee is not paid⁹.

1 For the meaning of 'competent authority' see para 15 ante.

2 Insolvency Act 1986 s 393(1). As to the making of applications see s 392 (as amended); and 15 ante.

3 As to the matters to be taken into account for determining whether an applicant is fit and proper to act as an insolvency practitioner see para 17 post. For the meaning of 'act as an insolvency practitioner' see para 8 ante.

4 Insolvency Act 1986 s 393(2). As to the prescribed requirements with respect to education, practical training and experience see paras 18-19 post.

Applications made by an individual to the competent authority on or after 29 December 1986 (see para 2 ante) for authorisation under s 393 to act as an insolvency practitioner and any withdrawal of an authorisation granted by a competent authority or the relevant authority under the Insolvency Act 1985 s 5 (repealed) pursuant to a notice under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 394(2) (see para 24 post) on or after 29 December 1986 were governed by the Insolvency Practitioners Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1995, Pt II (regs 2-8) (revoked): reg 3 (revoked). The Insolvency Practitioners (Authorisation by Relevant Authorities) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/951, were revoked, save that they continued to apply and have effect in relation to any application made to a relevant authority before 29 December 1986 for authorisation under the Insolvency Act 1985 s 5 (repealed) to act as an insolvency practitioner in respect of which: (1) no authorisation had been granted; or (2) no written notice under s 8(4) had been given by the relevant authority; or (3) no written notice under s 9 had been given by the authority, before 29 December 1986: Insolvency Practitioners Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1995, reg 2 (revoked).

Applications made to a competent authority on or after 1 April 1990 for authorisation to act as an insolvency practitioner and any withdrawal of an authorisation pursuant to a notice under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 394(2) (see para 24 post) given on or after that date are governed by the Insolvency Practitioners Regulations 1990, SI 1990/439 (as amended): reg 3. Notwithstanding the revocation of the Insolvency Practitioners Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1995 by the Insolvency Practitioners Regulations 1990, SI 1990/439 (as amended), the Insolvency Practitioners Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1995 continue to apply and have effect in relation to:

- 10 (a) any application made before 1 April 1990 in respect of which no authorisation has been granted or no written notice under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 397(2) (see para 40 post) has been given by the competent authority or no written notice under s 398 has been given by the authority, before 1 April 1990 (Insolvency Practitioners Regulations 1990, SI 1990/439, reg 2(2)(a)); or

- 11 (b) any withdrawal of an authorisation pursuant to a notice under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 394(2) given before 1 April 1990 (Insolvency Practitioners Regulations 1990, SI 1990/439, reg 2(2)(b)).

Despite their revocation, the Insolvency Practitioners Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1995, other than Pt II (regs 2-8), and the Insolvency Practitioners (Amendment) Regulations 1986, SI 1986/2247, continue to apply and have effect in relation to any person appointed to act as an insolvency practitioner in relation to any person before 1 April 1990 in so far as he continues so to act in relation to that person on or after 1 April 1990 pursuant to that appointment or to a subsequent appointment to act as an insolvency practitioner within the scope of the Insolvency Practitioners Regulations 1986, SI 1986/1995, reg 11 (revoked) made on or after 1 April 1990: see the Insolvency Practitioners Regulations 1990, SI 1990/439, reg 2(3).

8-45 Insolvency Practitioners and their Qualification

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

15-22 Authorisation by competent authority ... Requirements to submit bordereau to authorising authority

SI 1990/439 (as amended) replaced by the Insolvency Practitioner Regulations 2005, SI 2005/524 (amended by SI 2007/3224, SI 2009/2748, SI 2009/3081).

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/2. INSOLVENCY PRACTITIONERS AND THEIR QUALIFICATION/(2) REQUISITE QUALIFICATION AND MEANS OF OBTAINING IT; SECURITY AND FILING REQUIREMENTS/20. Requirements for security or caution.

20. Requirements for security or caution.

- 54 (1) there is in force at the time when an insolvency practitioner is appointed to act in relation to any person² a bond which complies with the specified requirements³ under which the surety or cautioner is liable in the general penalty sum of £250,000; and
- 55 (2) there is in force in relation to that bond with effect from the time when an insolvency practitioner is appointed to act in relation to any person a specific penalty in respect of the practitioner acting in relation to that person under which the specific penalty sum is not less than the value of that person's estimated assets⁴;
- 56 (3) where, at any time before the practitioner obtains his release or discharge in respect of his acting in relation to that person, he forms the opinion that the value of the assets comprised in the estate of that person is higher than the penalty sum under the current specific penalty⁵, being a penalty sum less than £5,000,000, there is obtained by the practitioner a further specific penalty in respect of his acting in relation to that person under which the penalty sum is at least equal to that higher value or £5,000,000, whichever is the less⁶.

The bond must be retained by the recognised professional body or, as the case may be, the competent authority by which the practitioner has been authorised to act as an insolvency practitioner⁷.

Where an insolvency practitioner is appointed to be:

- 57 (a) provisional liquidator in the winding up by the court of a company and he is subsequently appointed to be liquidator of that company; or
- 58 (b) liquidator in a voluntary winding up of a company and he is subsequently appointed to be liquidator in the winding up of that company by the court; or
- 59 (c) an administrator of a company and he is subsequently appointed⁸ to be a liquidator of that company; or
- 60 (d) a nominee in relation to a voluntary arrangement under the Insolvency Act 1986⁹ and he subsequently becomes supervisor of the arrangement, and a specific penalty is obtained¹⁰ in respect of the earlier or earliest such appointment, it is not necessary for such a specific penalty to be obtained in respect of the subsequent appointment of the practitioner in any of those circumstances¹¹.

42-45 Records to be kept by Insolvency Practitioners

SI 1990/439 (as amended) replaced by the Insolvency Practitioner Regulations 2005, SI 2005/524 (amended by SI 2007/3224, SI 2009/2748, SI 2009/3081).

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/3. EUROPEAN REGULATION ON INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS/(1) INTRODUCTION AND SCOPE/46. Introduction.

3. EUROPEAN REGULATION ON INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS

(1) INTRODUCTION AND SCOPE

46. Introduction.

The European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings¹ governs, between member states of the European Union (except Denmark)², matters of jurisdiction in relation to opening cross-border insolvency proceedings and judgments arising therefrom, and the recognition and enforcement of such judgments³. It also harmonises, to the extent that it applies, the law applicable to insolvency proceedings in member states⁴, replacing (within its scope) the national rules of private international law. However, it does not provide uniform rules for the grounds on which insolvency proceedings may be opened in the individual member states; nor does it seek to harmonise or affect national insolvency rules and procedures, which continue to apply⁵.

1 Ie EC Council Regulation 1346/2000 (OJ L160, 30.6.2000, p 1) on insolvency proceedings. The Regulation applies only to insolvency proceedings opened after its entry into force (ie 31 May 2002: art 47) so that acts done by a debtor before this date continue to be governed by the law which was applicable to them at the time they were done: art 43.

After its entry into force, the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings replaced various bilateral agreements that previously applied in the relations between member states: see further art 44 paras 1-2. It also supplanted the European Union Convention on Insolvency Proceedings of November 23 1995 (see Seventh Report of the Select Committee on The European Communities Convention on Insolvency Proceedings (HL Paper (1995-96) no 59) p 18), which was not signed by the United Kingdom and, consequently, did not come into force anywhere in the European Union.

The European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings does not apply: (1) in any member state, to the extent that it is irreconcilable with the obligations arising in relation to bankruptcy from a convention concluded by that state with one or more third countries before the entry into force of the Regulation; and (2) in the United Kingdom, to the extent that is irreconcilable with the obligations arising in relation to bankruptcy and the winding up of insolvent companies from any arrangements with the Commonwealth existing at the time the Regulation enters into force: art 44 para 3. For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see para 12 note 2 ante. As to the Commonwealth see COMMONWEALTH.

2 Denmark is not bound by or subject to the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings: Recital 33. In relation to the Regulation, the term 'member state' must be construed accordingly.

3 See ibid Recital 6. The simplification of formalities achieved by the Regulation is considered necessary to the proper functioning of the internal market and the objective comes within the scope of judicial co-operation in civil matters within the meaning of the EC Treaty (ie the Treaty Establishing the European Community (Rome, 25 March 1957; TS 1 (1973); Cmnd 5179)) art 65 (formerly art 73m; renumbered by virtue of the Treaty of Amsterdam: see Treaty Citation (No 2) (Note) [1999] All ER (EC) 646, ECJ): see the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings Recital 2. The EC Treaty arts 61(c) and 67(1) are cited as providing a legal basis for the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings: see the Preamble. Insolvency proceedings relating to bankruptcy, the winding up of insolvent companies or other legal persons, judicial arrangements, compositions and analogous proceedings are excluded from the scope of the Convention on Jurisdiction and the Enforcement of Judgments in Civil and Commercial Matters (Brussels, 27 September 1968; EC 46 (1976); Cmnd 7395) ('the Brussels Convention'): see the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings Recital 7; and the Brussels Convention art 1 para 2. These matters are also excluded from EC Council Regulation 44/2001 (OJ L12, 16.01.2001, p 1) on jurisdiction and the recognition and enforcement of judgements in civil and commercial matters ('the 'Brussels I' Regulation') and the Convention on Jurisdiction and Enforcement of Judgments in Civil and Commercial Matters (Lugano, 16 September 1988) (OJ L319, 25.11.88, p 9) ('the Lugano Convention'): see the 'Brussels I' Regulation art 1 para 2; and the Lugano Convention art 1 para 2. As to the exclusions which operate under those Conventions see CONFLICT OF LAWS vol 8(3) (Reissue) para 74.

Under the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings, references may be made to the European Court in accordance with the EC Treaty art 234.

4 See the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings Recital 23. In doing so, the Regulation provides conflict of law rules which, to the extent that the Regulation applies, fill the gap left by exclusions from the Convention on the Law applicable to Contractual Obligations (Rome, 19 June 1980; Cmnd 8449) ('the Rome Convention'). UPDATE

46-70 European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/3. EUROPEAN REGULATION ON INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS/(1) INTRODUCTION AND SCOPE/47. Scope of the Regulation.

47. Scope of the Regulation.

The European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings¹ applies to collective insolvency proceedings² which entail the partial or total divestment³ of a debtor⁴ and the appointment of a liquidator⁵. However, it applies only to proceedings where the centre of the debtor's main interests is located in a member state⁶. The Regulation gives jurisdiction to the courts of a member state to open insolvency proceedings in relation to a corporate debtor incorporated outside the European Union, if the centre of the debtor's main interests is in that member state⁷. The Regulation does not apply where insolvency proceedings involve insurance undertakings, credit institutions and investment undertakings holding funds or securities for third parties and collective investment undertakings⁸.

1 The EC Council Regulation 1346/2000 (OJ L160, 30.6.2000, p 1) on insolvency proceedings. As to the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings see para 46 note 1 ante.

2 All references in the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings to 'insolvency proceedings' are references to the collective proceedings referred to here: art 2 para (a). The term includes, in the case of the United Kingdom, company voluntary arrangements (see the Insolvency Act 1986 Pt I (ss 1-7B) (as amended); and para 71 et seq post); administration orders (see Pt II (ss 8-27) (as amended); and para 145 et seq post); creditors' voluntary winding up subject to confirmation by the court (see Pt IV Ch IV (ss 97-106) (as amended) (see para 945 et seq post); winding up by the court (see Pt IV Ch VI) (ss 117-162) (as amended) (see para 438 et seq post); and Pt V (ss 220-229) (as amended) (see para 1147 et seq post)); and bankruptcy (see Pt IX (ss 264-371) (as amended); and BANKRUPTCY AND INDIVIDUAL INSOLVENCY): European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings Annex A. In the case of the United Kingdom, the term does not include administrative receivership (see para 380 et seq post; and CONFLICT OF LAWS vol 8(3) (Reissue) para 509) or winding up orders that are made on just or equitable grounds (see para 448 et seq post; and CONFLICT OF LAWS vol 8(3) (Reissue) para 505). In the case of voluntary winding up proceedings, confirmation by a court is a prerequisite for recognition in other member states under the Regulation. As to confirmation by the court of a creditors' voluntary winding up see the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 7.62 (as added and amended), 7.63 (as added). For the meaning of 'United Kingdom' see para 12 note 2 ante. As to the meaning of 'member state' see para 46 note 2 ante.

3 The European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings does not define either 'partial divestment' or 'total divestment'.

4 The European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings applies to insolvency proceedings whether the debtor is a natural person or a legal person, a trader or an individual: Recital 9. This is to say that the Regulation applies to individual cross-border insolvency proceedings (bankruptcy) as well as to corporate cross-border insolvency proceedings.

5 Ibid art 1 para 1. The relevant proceedings (comprising acts and formalities set down in law) must comply with the provisions of this Regulation and be officially recognised and legally effective in the member state in which the insolvency proceedings are opened: Recital 10.

'Liquidator' means any person or body whose function is to administer or liquidate assets of which the debtor has been divested or to supervise the administration of his affairs: art 2 para (b). Those persons and bodies include, in the case of the United Kingdom, a liquidator, a supervisor of a voluntary arrangement, an administrator, an official receiver, a trustee and a judicial factor: Annex C. As to the powers and duties of the liquidator see para 56 post.

6 Ibid Recital 14. The member states' different national laws apply where the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings does not. The 'centre of main interests' is not defined in the Regulation but it corresponds to the place where the debtor conducts the administration of his interests on a regular basis and is therefore ascertainable by third parties: Recital 13; and see Geveran Trading Co Ltd v Skjevesland [2002] EWCA Civ 1567, [2003] 1 All ER 1, [2003] 1 WLR 912; Re Eurofood IFSC Ltd [2004] BCC 383.

8 European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings art 1 para 2. These undertakings are not covered by the Regulation because they are subject to special arrangements, and the national supervisory authorities have extremely wide-ranging powers of intervention: Recital 9. As to the meaning of 'insurance undertaking' see EC Council Directive 73/239 (OJ L228, 16.8.73, p 3) and EC Council Directive 79/267 (OJ L63, 13.3.79, p 1). As to the meaning of 'investment undertaking' see EC Council Directive 93/22 (OJ L141, 11.6.93, p 27). (2) JURISDICTION

48. The opening of proceedings.

The European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings¹ establishes international jurisdiction by providing that insolvency proceedings² may be opened only in the courts³ of the member state where the centre of a debtor's main interests is situated⁴. In the case of companies and legal persons there is a rebuttable presumption that the centre of a debtor's main interests is the place of the registered office⁵. These proceedings are known as 'main proceedings' because they have universal scope and aim at encompassing all the debtor's assets⁶.

In order to protect the diversity of interests, the Regulation permits secondary proceedings to be opened, to run in parallel with the main proceedings⁷. Secondary proceedings may be opened either by the liquidator or by any other person empowered by the courts of another member state⁸ where the debtor has an establishment⁹. However, the jurisdiction in secondary proceedings is limited to those assets of the debtor which are situated in the member state where such proceedings are taking place¹⁰.

2 For the meaning of 'insolvency proceedings' see para 47 note 2 ante.

3 'Court' means the judicial body or any other competent body of a member state empowered by national law to open insolvency proceedings or to take decisions in the course of such proceedings: European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings art 2 para (d). The expression should be given a broad meaning because the proceedings do not necessarily involve the intervention of a judicial authority: Recital 10. As to the meaning of 'member state' see para 46 note 2 ante.

4 Ibid art 3 para 1. As to the centre of a debtor's main interests see para 47 notes 6-7 ante.

5 Ibid art 3 para 1.

6 Ibid Recital 12. In English proceedings, any application made under the Insolvency Act 1986 must state whether the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings applies and, if so, whether the proceedings are main proceedings, secondary proceedings or territorial proceedings: see the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.3(2)(q) (as amended) (company voluntary arrangements: see para 109 post), r 2.4(4) (as substituted) (administration: see para 148 post) and r 7.62 (as added and amended) (creditors' voluntary winding up subject to confirmation by the court). As to secondary proceedings see the text and note 7 infra. As to territorial proceedings see para 49 post. Provision for the Regulation is made also in the Insolvent Partnerships Order 1994, SI 1994/2421 (as amended) (see para 1166 et seq post) and in the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090 (as amended) (see para 1302 et seq post).

7 European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings Recital 12. As to the opening of secondary proceedings see para 50 post. The Regulation acknowledges that it is not practical to introduce a regime with universal scope because it establishes primacy of the law of the state of opening of proceedings against a background of widely differing substantive laws and different preferential rights enjoyed by some creditors in insolvency proceedings; and, by allowing national proceedings which cover only assets situated in the state of opening to run concurrently with main insolvency proceedings which have universal scope, the Regulation seeks to accommodate this diversity: see Recital 11.

8 Ie a member state other than that where the centre of the debtor's main interests is situated: see para 50 et seq post.

9 European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings art 3 para 2. 'Establishment' is defined as 'any place of operations where the debtor carries out a non-transitory economic activity with human means and goods': art 2 para (h). The words 'non-transitory' and 'human means and goods' are not defined.

It seems that when corporate groups are organised through locally-registered subsidiaries, the requirements of art 3 para 1 would be satisfied more easily than the requirements of art 3 para 2 (ie proceedings would have to be conducted against each as main proceedings rather than as secondary proceedings). 10 European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings art 3 para 2. The 'member state in which assets are situated' means: (1) in the case of tangible property, the member state within the territory of which the property is situated; (2) in the case of property and rights ownership of or entitlement to which must be entered in a public register, the member state under the authority of which the register is kept; and (3) in the case of claims, the member state within the territory of which the third party required to meet them has the centre of his main interests, as determined in the main proceedings: art 2 para (g).

49. Co-ordination of proceedings.

The European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings¹ provides rules to ensure that the main proceedings² and any secondary proceedings³ are co-ordinated⁴. Where main proceedings have been opened⁵, any proceedings opened subsequently⁶ must be secondary proceedings, and are limited to winding-up proceedings⁷.

It is possible for secondary proceedings to be opened prior to the opening of the main proceedings, but only where: (1) main proceedings cannot be opened because of the conditions laid down by the law of the member state where the centre of the debtor's main interest is situated; or (2) the opening of proceedings is requested by a local creditor⁸, or one whose claim arises from the operation of the local establishment⁹. In these cases, the proceedings are known as 'territorial proceedings' and jurisdiction for them must be established by the national law of the member state concerned¹⁰. Once main proceedings are opened, 'territorial proceedings' become 'secondary proceedings' and the court with jurisdiction in territorial proceedings may, at the instance of the liquidator in the main proceedings, convert the proceedings to winding-up proceedings, if this is in the interests of the creditors in the main proceedings¹¹. The liquidator in the main proceedings may also request the court which has opened secondary proceedings to stay the liquidation process¹².

(3) SECONDARY INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS

50. Opening of secondary proceedings.

The opening of main proceedings¹ by a court of a member state does not prevent the opening of secondary insolvency proceedings² in another member state where the debtor has an establishment and where the main proceedings are recognised³. The opening of secondary proceedings may be requested either by the liquidator in the main proceedings or by any other person or authority which is empowered by the law applicable to request the opening of secondary insolvency proceedings within the territory of that member state⁴.

Where the main proceedings are opened subsequent to the opening of secondary proceedings in another member state, the provisions relating to secondary proceedings⁵ apply to those opened first, in so far as the progress of those proceedings so permits⁶.

In any case, the secondary proceedings must be restricted to winding up proceedings⁷; they may not examine the debtor's insolvency which is being examined in the main proceedings; and they are limited in their effect to the assets of the debtor situated within the territory where the secondary proceedings are being held⁸.

Except as otherwise provided for⁹, the law applicable to secondary proceedings is that of the member state within whose territory the secondary proceedings are opened¹⁰.

4 Ibid art 29 paras (a)-(b).

Requests to open secondary insolvency proceedings may be made to serve a purpose besides the protection of local interests: Recital 19. For instance, the liquidator in the main proceedings may request the opening of secondary proceedings when the efficient administration of the estate so requires: Recital 19. Cases may arise where the estate of the debtor is too complex to administer as a unit or where differences in the legal systems concerned are so great that difficulties may arise from the extension of effects deriving from the law of the state of the opening to the other states where the assets are located: Recital 19.

Where the law of the member state in which the opening of secondary proceedings is requested requires that the debtor's assets be sufficient to cover in whole or in part the costs and expenses of the proceedings, the court may, when it receives such a request, require the applicant to make an advance payment of costs or to provide appropriate security: art 30. 51. Stay of liquidation.

The court which opened the secondary proceedings¹ may stay the process of liquidation in whole or in part at the request of the liquidator in the main proceedings², provided that in that event it may require him to take any suitable measure to guarantee the interests of the creditors in the secondary proceedings and of individual classes of creditors³. Such a request from the liquidator may be rejected only if it is manifestly of no interest to the creditors in the main proceedings⁴. Such a stay of the process of liquidation may be ordered for up to three months, and may be continued or renewed for similar periods⁵.

The court which opened the secondary proceedings may terminate the stay of the process of liquidation: (1) at the request of the liquidator in the main proceedings; or (2) of its own motion, at the request of a creditor or at the request of the liquidator in the secondary proceedings if that measure no longer appears justified, in particular, by the interests of creditors in the main proceedings or in the secondary proceedings⁶.

Where the law applicable to secondary proceedings¹ allows for such proceedings to be closed without liquidation by a rescue plan, a composition or a comparable measure, the liquidator in the main proceedings² is empowered to propose such a measure himself³. The consent of the liquidator in the main proceedings is also required before the closure of secondary proceedings becomes final, although closure may become final without his agreement if the financial interests of the creditors in the main proceedings are not affected by the measure proposed⁴.

54. Provision of information for creditors; lodgement of claims.

Any creditor may lodge his claim in the main proceedings and in any secondary proceedings¹.

Foreign creditors², including the tax and social security authorities of member states, have the right to lodge claims in writing in each of the insolvency proceedings relating to the debtor's asset which are pending in the European Union³. As soon as insolvency proceedings are opened in a member state⁴, the court of the state having jurisdiction, or the liquidator appointed by it, must inform creditors by means of an individual notice, which must include inter alia particulars of time limits, the penalties laid down in regard to those time limits, and the body or authority empowered to accept the lodgement of claims⁵. The notice must indicate also whether creditors whose claims are preferential or secured in rem need lodge their claims⁶.

For his part, a creditor must send copies of supporting documents, if any, and indicate the nature of the claim, the date on which it arose and its amount, as well as whether he alleges preference, security in rem or a reservation of title in respect of the claim and what assets are covered by the guarantee he is invoking⁷.

In order to ensure equal treatment of creditors, the distribution of proceeds is also co-ordinated⁸. A creditor who, after the opening of main proceedings, obtains by any means, in particular through enforcement, total or partial satisfaction of his claim on the assets belonging to the debtor situated within the territory of another member state, must return what he has obtained to the liquidator, subject to the provisions regarding third parties' rights in rem and reservation as to title⁹. Every creditor is able to keep any dividend on his claim that he has received in the course of insolvency proceedings but is entitled to share in the distribution of total assets made in other proceedings only where creditors with the same standing have obtained the same proportion of their claims in those other proceedings¹⁰.

(4) THE LIQUIDATOR

55. Evidencing and publicising the appointment of a liquidator.

A liquidator's appointment is evidenced by a certified copy of the original decision appointing him or by any other certificate issued by the court which has jurisdiction¹. No legalisation or other similar formality is necessary, although a translation into the official language (or one of the official languages) of the member state within whose territory he intends to act will be appropriate in certain circumstances².

The liquidator may request that notice of the judgment opening insolvency proceedings and (where appropriate) the decision appointing him be published in any other member state in accordance with the publication procedures provided for in that state³. The publication must specify the liquidator appointed and whether the jurisdiction rule applied relates to main proceedings or secondary proceedings⁴. If there is an establishment⁵ of the debtor in any member state, publication may be mandatory there and, in such cases, the liquidator or any authority empowered to that effect in the member state where the main proceedings are opened must take all necessary measures to ensure such publication⁶.

The liquidator may request also that the judgment opening the main proceedings is registered in the land register, the trade register and any other public register kept in the other member states⁷. However, any member state may require mandatory registration and, in such cases, the liquidator or any authority empowered to that effect in the member state where the main proceedings have been opened must take all necessary measures to ensure such registration⁸.

The costs of the publication and registration are regarded as costs and expenses incurred in the proceedings⁹.

Where an obligation has been honoured in a member state for the benefit of a debtor who is subject to insolvency proceedings opened in another member state, when it should have been honoured for the benefit of the liquidator in those proceedings, the person honouring the obligation is deemed to have discharged it if he was unaware of the opening of proceedings¹⁰. Where such an obligation is honoured before the publication requested by the liquidator has been effected, the person honouring the obligation is presumed, in the absence of proof to the contrary, to have been unaware of the opening of insolvency proceedings; conversely, where the obligation is honoured after such publication has been effected, the person honouring the obligation is rebuttably presumed to have been aware of the opening of proceedings¹¹.

56. The liquidator's duties and powers.

A liquidator appointed by a court with jurisdiction in the main proceedings¹ enjoys in all member states the powers given to him in the state where the main proceedings are opened, so long as no other insolvency proceedings have been opened in the other member states and so long as no preservation measure to the contrary has been taken there further to a request for the opening of insolvency proceedings in those states². The liquidator may in particular remove the debtor's assets from the territory of any member state in which they are situated, subject to the provisions regarding third parties' rights in rem³ and reservation as to title⁴.

A liquidator appointed by a court with jurisdiction in territorial or secondary proceedings⁵ may recover from other member states (either through the courts or out of court) movable property which has been removed there subsequent to the opening of the insolvency proceedings⁶. He may also bring any action to set aside which is in the interests of the creditors⁷.

In exercising his powers, which do not include coercive measures or the right to rule on legal proceedings or disputes, the liquidator must comply with the law of the member state within whose territory he intends to take action, in particular with regard to procedures for the realisation of assets⁸.

46-70 European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/3. EUROPEAN REGULATION ON INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS/(4) THE LIQUIDATOR/57. The liquidators' role in co-ordinating proceedings.

57. The liquidators' role in co-ordinating proceedings.

Liquidators in concurrent proceedings play an important role in realising the total assets of a debtor by ensuring that proceedings within and between member states are co-ordinated¹. To this end, the liquidator in the main proceedings and the liquidators in any concurrent secondary proceedings are duty bound to co-operate with each other² and to communicate information to each other³. They must immediately communicate any information which may be relevant to the other proceedings, in particular the progress made in lodging and verifying claims and all measures aimed at terminating the proceedings⁴.

Furthermore, in order to ensure the dominant role of the main insolvency proceedings, the liquidator in such proceedings is given several possibilities for intervening in secondary insolvency proceedings which are pending at the same time⁵. The liquidator in the secondary proceedings must give the liquidator in the main proceedings an early opportunity of submitting proposals on the liquidation or use of the assets in the secondary proceedings⁶.

The liquidators in the main and any secondary proceedings must lodge claims in other proceedings which have already been lodged in their proceedings, provided that the interests of creditors in the latter proceedings are served thereby, and subject to the right of creditors to oppose this or to withdraw the lodgement of their claims where the law applicable so provides⁷. The liquidator in the main or secondary proceedings may also participate in other proceedings on the same basis as a creditor, in particular by attending creditors' meetings⁸.

If, by the liquidation of assets in the secondary proceedings, it is possible to meet all claims allowed under those proceedings, the liquidator appointed in those proceedings must immediately transfer any assets remaining to the liquidator in the main proceedings⁹.

3 Ibid art 31 para 1. This duty is said to be 'subject to the rules restricting the communication of information'. The Regulation itself does not contain any such restrictions so this may refer simply to general rules of confidentiality between liquidators. Without prejudice to the generality of the obligations imposed by art 31, where a member state liquidator has been appointed in proceedings and the supervisor, administrator or liquidator is obliged to give notice, or provide a copy of a document (including an order of court), to the court, the registrar of companies or the official receiver, the supervisor, administrator or liquidator must give notice or provide copies, as appropriate, to the member state liquidator also: see the Insolvency Rules 1986, 1986/1925, r 1.34 (as added) (company voluntary arrangements: see para 143 post); r 2.133 (as added and substituted) (administration: see para 372 post); r 4.231 (as added and amended) (winding up); and r 7.63 (as added) (creditors' voluntary winding up subject to confirmation by the court). As to the registrar of companies see COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARA 131 et seq.

4 European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings art 31 para 1. The provisions appear to regulate the bilateral communication of information between the liquidator in the main proceedings and liquidators appointed in secondary proceedings but there seems to be no explicit duty to provide information amongst different liquidators of the secondary proceedings themselves.

5 Ibid Recital 20.

6 Ibid art 31 para 3. For example, he should be able to propose a restructuring plan or composition or apply for realisation of the assets in the secondary insolvency proceedings to be suspended: Recital 20.

8 Ibid art 32 para 3. Without prejudice to the generality of the right to participate referred to in art 32 para 3, the member state liquidator is deemed to be a creditor for various purposes (such as entitlement to vote) under the Insolvency Rules 1986, 1986/1925 (as amended): see r 1.34 (as added) (company voluntary arrangements: see para 143 post), r 2.133 (as added and substituted) (administration: see para 372 post); r 4.231 (as added and amended) (company voluntary arrangements); and r 7.64 (as added) (rights to inspect court file and of attendance in insolvency proceedings).

58. Law applicable.

Subject to the other provisions of the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings¹, the law applicable to insolvency proceedings is that of the member state within whose territory such proceedings are opened and that law determines all the effects of the insolvency proceedings both procedural and substantive on the persons and legal relations concerned². The law of the state in which proceedings are opened determines the conditions for the opening of those proceedings, their conduct and their closure, in particular³:

- 82 (1) against which debtors insolvency proceedings may be brought on account of their capacity⁴;
- 83 (2) the assets which form part of the estate and the treatment of assets acquired by or devolving on the debtor after the opening of the insolvency proceedings⁵;
- 84 (3) the respective powers of the debtor and the liquidator⁶;
- 85 (4) the conditions under which set-offs may be invoked⁷;

- 87 (6) the effects of the insolvency proceedings on proceedings brought by individual creditors, with the exception of lawsuits pending⁹;

EUROPEAN REGULATION ON INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS/ (5) THE LAW APPLICABLE/(ii) The Law applicable to certain Issues/60. Creditors' and third parties' rights in rem.

60. Creditors' and third parties' rights in rem.

The opening of insolvency proceedings in one member state¹ does not affect the rights in rem² of creditors or third parties in respect of tangible or intangible, movable or immovable assets³ belonging to the debtor which are situated within the territory of another member state at the time of the opening of proceedings⁴. The rights affected in particular are:

- 95 (1) the right to dispose of assets or have them disposed of and to obtain satisfaction from the proceeds of or income from those assets, in particular by virtue of a lien or a mortgage⁵;
- 96 (2) the exclusive right to have a claim met, in particular a right guaranteed by a lien in respect of the claim or by assignment of the claim by way of a guarantee⁶;
- 97 (3) the right to demand the assets from, and/or to require restitution by, anyone having possession or use of them contrary to the wishes of the party so entitled⁷;
- 98 (4) a right in rem to the beneficial use of assets⁸.

1 As to the opening of insolvency proceedings see para 48 ante. As to the meaning of 'member state' see para 46 note 2 ante.

2 The right, recorded in a public register and enforceable against third parties, under which a right in rem may be obtained, is considered a right in rem for these purposes: EC Council Regulation 1346/2000 (OJ L160, 30.6.2000, p 1) on insolvency proceedings ('the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings') art 5 para 3. As to the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings see para 46 note 1 ante.

3 This includes both specific assets and collections of indefinite assets as a whole which change from time to time: ibid art 5 para 1.

4 Ibid art 5 para 1. This does not preclude actions for voidness, voidability or unenforceability (as to which see para 58 ante): art 5 para 4. For the meaning of 'time of the opening of proceedings' see para 58 note 5 ante.

There is a particular need for a special reference that diverges from the law of the member state where proceedings have been opened in the case of rights in rem, since these are of considerable importance for the granting of credit: Recital 25. The basis, validity and extent of such a right in rem should therefore normally be determined according to the lex situs and not be affected by the opening of insolvency proceedings: Recital 25. The proprietor of the right in rem should therefore be able to continue to assert his right to segregation or separate settlement of the collateral security: Recital 25. Where assets are subject to rights in rem under the lex situs in one member state but the main proceedings are being carried on in another member state, the liquidator in the main proceedings should be able to request the opening of secondary proceedings in the jurisdiction where the rights in rem arise if the debtor has an establishment there: Recital 25. If a secondary proceeding is not opened, the surplus on sale of the asset covered by rights in rem must be paid to the liquidator in the main proceedings: Recital 25.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/3. EUROPEAN REGULATION ON INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS/ (6) RECOGNITION OF INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS/70. Principle and effects of recognition.

(6) RECOGNITION OF INSOLVENCY PROCEEDINGS

70. Principle and effects of recognition.

The European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings¹, rather than national law, provides for the immediate and mutual recognition of judgments concerning the opening, conduct and closure of insolvency proceedings which come within its scope and of judgments handed down in direct connection with such insolvency proceedings².

Unless the Regulation provides otherwise and as long as no secondary proceedings are opened in another member state³, the judgment⁴ opening the main proceedings produces the same effects in any other member state as under the law of the state of the opening of proceedings, with no further formalities being required⁵. The effects of secondary proceedings may not be challenged in other member states⁶.

Any judgment opening insolvency proceedings handed down by a court of a member state which has jurisdiction to open either main or secondary insolvency proceedings must be recognised, from the time it becomes effective in the state of the opening of proceedings, in all other member states⁷.

Judgments handed down by a court whose judgment concerning the opening of proceedings is recognised in this way, and which concern the conduct and closure of insolvency proceedings, and compositions approved by that court, must also be recognised with no further formalities⁸. These judgments are to be enforced in accordance with the relevant provisions of the Brussels Convention⁹. However, member states are not obliged to recognise or enforce a judgment which might result in a limitation of personal freedom or postal secrecy¹⁰. Nor are they obliged to recognise insolvency proceedings opened in another member state or to enforce a judgment handed down in the context of such proceedings where the effects of such recognition or enforcement would be manifestly contrary to that state's public policy, in particular its fundamental principles or the constitutional rights and liberties of the individual¹¹.

3 As to the meaning of 'member state' see para 46 note 2 ante.

4 'Judgment' in relation to the opening of insolvency proceedings or the appointment of a liquidator includes the decision of any court empowered to open such proceedings or to appoint a liquidator: European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings art 2 para (e).

5 Ibid art 17 para 1.

6 Ibid art 17 para 2. Any restriction of the creditors' rights, in particular a stay or discharge, must produce effects vis-à-vis assets situated within the territory of another member state only in the case of those creditors who have given their consent: art 17 para 2.

7 Ibid art 16 para 1. This provision applies also where, on account of his capacity, insolvency proceedings cannot be brought against the debtor in other member states: art 16 para 1. Furthermore, the recognition of main proceedings does not preclude the opening by a court in another member state of secondary proceedings (as to which see para 50 ante): art 16 para 2.

Where the courts of two member states both claim competence to open the main insolvency proceedings, the resolution of any dispute should be based on the principle of mutual trust. The decision of the first court to open proceedings should be recognised in the other member states without those member states having the power to scrutinise the court's decision: Recital 22. Cf Re Eurofood IFSC Ltd [2004] BCC 383.

8 Ibid art 25 para 1. These provisions apply also to judgments deriving directly from the insolvency proceedings and which are closely linked with them, even if they were handed down by another court, and to judgments relating to preservation measures taken after the request for the opening of insolvency proceedings: art 25 para 1.

9 Ibid art 25 para 1. As to the Brussels Convention see para 46 note 3 ante; and CONFLICT OF LAWS vol 8(3) (Reissue) para 65. The provisions of the Brussels Convention referred to are arts 31-51, with the exception of art 34 para 2 (see CONFLICT OF LAWS vol 8(3) (Reissue) paras 187, 190, 192-198). The Brussels Convention also governs the recognition and enforcement of judgments other than those that fall within the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings art 25 para 1, provided that the Brussels Convention is applicable: European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings art 25 para 2.

10 Ibid art 25 para 3. The principle of mutual trust which governs the mutual recognition of judgments delivered by the courts of the member states means that the grounds for non-recognition are reduced to the minimum that are considered to be necessary: Recital 22.

4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS

(1) THE PROPOSAL

71. Proposals for voluntary arrangements.

A voluntary arrangement is a composition in satisfaction of a company's¹ debts or a scheme of arrangement of its affairs². A proposal for a voluntary arrangement is a proposal to a company and its creditors³ for an arrangement which provides for some person ('the nominee') to act in relation to the voluntary arrangement either as trustee or otherwise for the purpose of supervising its implementation⁴. The nominee must be a person who is qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner⁵ or authorised to act as nominee in relation to the arrangement⁶.

A voluntary arrangement may also be made in respect of an insolvent partnership (or, as the case may be, the members of an insolvent partnership)⁷, or in respect of a limited liability partnership⁸.

1 For the meaning of 'company' see the Companies Act 1985 s 735(1)(a); and COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARAS 1, 24 (definition applied by the Insolvency Act 1986 s 251). For the purposes of the provisions relating to voluntary arrangements, a reference to a company includes a reference to a company in relation to which a proposal for a voluntary arrangement may be made by virtue of EC Council Regulation 1346/2000 (OJ L160, 30.6.2000, p 1) on insolvency proceedings ('the EC Regulation') art 3 (see para 46 et seq ante): Insolvency Act 1986 s 1(4) (added by the Insolvency Act 1986 (Amendment) (No 2) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/1240, regs 3, 4); Insolvency Act 1986 s 436 (amended by the Insolvency Act 1986 (Amendment) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/1037, regs 2, 4). There is therefore jurisdiction to open voluntary arrangement proceedings in relation to a company or other legal person within the meaning of art 3 of the EC Regulation such as an association incorporated by royal charter: Re Salvage Association [2003] EWHC 1028 (Ch), [2003] 3 All ER 246, [2004] 1 WLR 174.

In relation to a building society, the Insolvency Act 1986 s 1 (as amended) has effect as if it required any proposal under Pt I (ss 1-7B) (as amended) to be so framed as to enable a building society to comply with the requirements of the Building Societies Act 1986 and as if any reference to 'debts' included a reference to liabilities owed to the holders of shares in the society: see the Building Societies Act 1986 Sch 15A Pt I, Pt II paras 6, 7 (Sch 15A added by the Building Societies Act 1997 s 39(2), Sch 6; and the Building Societies Act 1986 Sch 15A Pt I amended by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 2(b), Sch 2 para 14(1), (2); by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Mutual Societies) Order 2001, SI 2001/2617, art 13(1), Sch 3, paras 131, 210; and by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Consequential Amendments and Repeals) Order 2001, SI 2001/3649, art 200(2)).

The provisions relating to voluntary arrangements may also be applied to a foreign company pursuant to the Insolvency Act 1986 s 426 (as amended) (see para 1029 et seq post) (which provides for co-operation between courts exercising jurisdiction in relation to insolvency): see Re Television Trade Rentals Ltd [2002] EWHC 211 (Ch), [2002] BPIR 859.

2 Insolvency Act 1986 s 1(1); Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.1. As to voluntary arrangements see further para 72 et seq post. In the Insolvency Act 1986 Pts I-VII (ss 1-251) (as amended), except in so far as the context otherwise requires, 'insolvency', in relation to a company, includes the approval of a voluntary arrangement under Pt I (ss 1-7B) (as amended): see s 247(1). 3 Proposals for voluntary arrangements relating to limited liability partnerships are required to be made only to the partnership's creditors: see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 1(1); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1305 post. 'Limited liability partnership' means a limited liability partnership formed and registered under the Limited Liability Partnerships Act 2000: Insolvency Act 1986 s 436 (amended for these purposes by the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, Sch 3); and see para 1302 et seq post; and PARTNERSHIP vol 79 (2008) PARA 234 et seq.

Accordingly, in those circumstances the nominee is required to be a person who is qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner in relation to the company, and may not be a person who is authorised to act as nominee in relation to the proposed arrangement: Insolvency Act 1986 s 1(2) (as originally enacted); Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, art 3(1). Note that these provisions apply in relation to building societies as they apply in relation to companies, having effect with the substitution for 'company' of 'building society': art 3(2).

UPDATE

71-144 Company Voluntary Arrangements

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

71 Proposals for voluntary arrangements

NOTE 1--Insolvency Act 1986 s 1(4) substituted, s 1(5), (6) added: Insolvency Act 1986 (Amendment) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/879. Insolvency Act 1986 s 1(4) amended: SI 2009/1941. Now, for the purposes of the provisions relating to voluntary arrangements in the Insolvency Act 1986 Pt I (ss 1-7B), 'company' means a company registered under the Companies Act 2006 in England and Wales or Scotland, a company incorporated in an EEA state other than the United Kingdom, or a company not incorporated in an EEA state but having its centre of main interests in a member state other than Denmark: 1986 Act s 1(4) (as so substituted and amended). 'EEA state' means a state that is a Contracting Party to the Agreement on the European Economic Area signed at Oporto on 2 May 1992 as adjusted by the Protocol signed at Brussels on 17 March 1993: 1986 Act s 436 (definition added by SI 2005/879). In relation to a company, 'centre of main interests' has the same meaning as in the EC Regulation and, in the absence of proof to the contrary, is presumed to be the place of its registered office within the meaning of the EC Regulation: 1986 Act s 1(5) (as so added). If a company incorporated outside the United Kingdom has a principal place of business in Northern Ireland, no proposal under the 1986 Act Pt I may be made in relation to it unless it also has a principal place of business in England and Wales or Scotland, or in both: s 1(6) (as so added). Building Societies Act 1986 Sch 15A Pt I further amended: SI 2009/1941.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(1) THE PROPOSAL/72. Who may propose an arrangement; false representations.

72. Who may propose an arrangement; false representations.

A proposal for a voluntary arrangement¹ may be made by the directors² of a company³, unless the company is in administration⁴ or is being wound up⁵, in which case a proposal may be made by the administrator⁶ or, as the case may be, the liquidator⁷.

A person who is an officer⁸ of a company commits an offence if he makes any false representation or fraudulently does, or omits to do, anything for the purpose of obtaining the approval of the company's members⁹ or creditors to a proposal for a voluntary arrangement¹⁰, even if the proposal is not approved¹¹. A person guilty of such an offence is liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding seven years or a fine, or to both, or on summary conviction to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum¹², or to both¹³.

1 For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante.

2 As to the meaning of 'director' see para 5 note 2 ante. Proposals for voluntary arrangements relating to limited liability partnerships are required to be made by the partnership: see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 1(1); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1305 post. For the meaning of 'limited liability partnership' see para 71 note 3 ante.

3 As to the meaning of 'company' see para 71 note 1 ante.

4 If a special administration regime (see para 145 post) has effect or a petition for an administration order has been presented before 15 September 2003, the prohibition on the directors proposing a voluntary arrangement, and the power of the administrator so to do, is expressed as being in connection with a company for which an administration order is in force, as opposed to one which is in administration: Insolvency Act 1986 s 1(1) (as originally enacted); Enterprise Act 2002 s 249(1), (2); Enterprise Act 2002 (Commencement No 4 and Transitional Provisions and Savings) Order 2003, SI 2003/2093, arts 2(1), 3(2)(a).

6 Insolvency Act 1986 s 1(3)(a) (substituted by the Enterprise Act 2002 Sch 17 para 10(b)). See note 4 supra. See further para 108 post. Where a voluntary arrangement relating to a limited liability partnership is proposed by the administrator or the liquidator, it must also be made to the partnership: see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 1(3) (as amended); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1305 post.

7 Insolvency Act 1986 s 1(3)(b). See note 6 supra. See further para 108 post.

8 For the meaning of 'officer' see para 690 post; for these purposes, 'officer' includes a shadow director: s 6A(3) (s 6A added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 2(a), Sch 2 paras 1, 8). The Insolvency Act 1986 s 6A (as added) does not apply where the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie if one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies: Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, art 3(1)). 9 For the purposes of any provision in the Insolvency Act 1986 Pts I-VII (ss 1-251) (as amended) (except insofar as relating to insolvency proceedings concerning limited liability partnerships), a person who is not a member of a company but to whom shares in the company have been transferred, or transmitted by operation of law, is to be regarded as a member of the company; and references to a member or members are to be read accordingly: s 250; Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3. See para 1309 post. For the meaning of 'limited liability partnership' see para 71 note 3 ante.

10 Insolvency Act 1986 s 6A(1) (as added: see note 8 supra). In cases where the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie if one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), this offence may also be committed by past officers of the company: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.30 (as originally enacted); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(1), (2), Schedule para 20.

12 As to the statutory maximum see para 10 note 1 ante.

13 Insolvency Act 1986 ss 6A(4), 430, Sch 10. Section 431 (summary proceedings: see para 927 post) has effect in relation to such an offence.

UPDATE

71-144 Company Voluntary Arrangements

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(2) MORATORIUM/(i) Eligibility and Exclusion/73. Eligibility for moratorium.

(2) MORATORIUM

(i) Eligibility and Exclusion

73. Eligibility for moratorium.

Where the directors¹ of a company² intend to make a proposal for a voluntary arrangement³, they may, if the company is eligible, take steps to obtain a moratorium⁴ for the company⁵. A company is eligible for a moratorium if in either the year ending with the date of filing⁶ or the financial year⁷ of the company which ended last before that date it satisfied two or more of the statutory requirements for being a small or medium-sized company⁸. However, a company is not eligible for a moratorium, notwithstanding that it meets those requirements, if:

- 99 (1) it is a holding company of a group of companies which does not qualify as a small group or a medium-sized group⁹ in respect of the financial year of the company which ended last before the date of filing¹⁰;
- 100 (2) it effects or carries out contracts of insurance but is not exempt from the general prohibition in relation to that activity¹¹;
- 101 (3) it has permission to accept deposits¹²;
- 102 (4) it has a liability in respect of a deposit which it accepted in accordance with the appropriate statute¹³;
- 103 (5) it is a party to a market contract¹⁴ or any of its property is subject to a market-charge¹⁵ or a system-charge¹⁶; or
- 104 (6) it is a participant¹⁷ or any of its property is subject to a collateral security charge¹⁸.

Certain types of company are excluded from being eligible for a moratorium¹⁹.

1 As to the meaning of 'director' see para 5 note 2 ante.

2 As to the meaning of 'company' see para 71 note 1 ante. The provisions regarding a moratorium (ie the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 (as added and amended)) apply also to a company which is, or has been, an authorised person within the meaning given by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 s 31 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 314), is, or has been, an appointed representative within the meaning of s 39 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 346) or is carrying on, or has carried on, a regulated activity within the meaning of s 22 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 84) in contravention of the general prohibition within the meaning of s 19 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 80): Insolvency Act 1986 s 1A(2), Sch A1 para 44(1), (18) (s 1A, Sch A1 added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 1, Sch 1 paras 1, 2, 4). These are known as regulated companies, and in such a case any notice or other document required to be sent to a creditor of a regulated company must also be sent to the Financial Services Authority: Sch A1 para 44(2) (as so added). The provisions relating to the role of the Financial Services Authority do not prejudice any right the Authority has, apart from those provisions, as a creditor of the regulated company: Sch A1 para 44(17) (as so added). As to the Financial Services Authority see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARAS 4, 6 et seq.

3 For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante. As to the making of proposals see paras 72 ante, 108 post.

4 Ie a moratorium under the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 (as added and amended): Sch A1 para 1 (as added: see note 2 supra).

5 Ibid s 1A(1) (as added: see note 2 supra). The provisions of Sch A1 (as added and amended) have effect with respect to companies eligible for a moratorium under s 1A (as added), the procedure for obtaining such a moratorium, the effects of such a moratorium, and the procedure applicable (in place of ss 2-6, 7 (as amended) (see para 109 et seq post)) in relation to the approval and implementation of a voluntary arrangement where such a moratorium is or has been in force: s 1A(2) (as so added).

6 'The date of filing' means the date on which the documents for the time being referred to in ibid Sch A1 para 7(1) (as added) (see para 77 post) are filed or lodged with the court: Sch A1 para 1 (as added: see note 2 supra). For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante.

7 A company's financial year is to be determined in accordance with the Companies Act 1985 (see COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARA 711): Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 3(2)(b) (as added: see note 2 supra).

8 Ibid Sch A1 paras 2(1), 3(1), (2)(a) (as added: see note 2 supra). The statutory requirements for being a small or medium-sized company are the requirements specified for the time being by the Companies Act 1985 s 247(3) (as substituted and amended): Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 3(2)(a) (as so added). The provisions of the Companies Act 1985 s 247(4)-(6) (as substituted and amended) are also applicable for these purposes: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 3(3) (as so added). As to these requirements see COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARAS 694-695.

9 For the meaning of 'group' for these purposes see the Companies Act 1985 s 262(1) (as substituted) (definition applied by the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 3(5) (Sch A1 as added (see note 2 supra); Sch A1 para 3(4), (5) added by the Insolvency Act 1986 (Amendment) (No 3) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/1990, reg 3(1), (2))). A group qualifies as small or medium-sized if it qualifies as such under the Companies Act 1985 s 249 (as amended) (see COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARAS 694-695): Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 3(5) (as so added).

The Insolvency Act 1986 (Amendment) (No 3) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/1990, were made under the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 5 (as so added), which empowers the Secretary of State by regulations to modify the qualifications for eligibility of a company for a moratorium. As to the Secretary of State see para 11 note 10 ante. Regulations and orders under Sch A1 (as added and amended) may make different provision for different cases: Sch A1 para 45(1) (as so added). Regulations may make such consequential, incidental, supplemental and transitional provision as may appear to the Secretary of State necessary or expedient: Sch A1 para 45(2) (as so added). Any power of the Secretary of State under Sch A1 may be exercised by amending or repealing any enactment contained in the Insolvency Act 1986 (including one contained in Sch A1 (as added and amended)) or contained in the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 45(3) (as so added). Regulations (except regulations under Sch A1 para 5 (as added)) or an order made by the Secretary of State under Sch A1 (as added and amended) must be made by statutory instrument subject to amendment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: Sch A1 para 45(4) (as so added). Regulations under Sch A1 para 5 (as added) are made by statutory instrument and may only be made if a draft containing the regulations has been laid before and approved by resolution of each House of Parliament: Sch A1 para 45(5) (as so added).

10 Ibid Sch A1 para 3(4) (as added: see note 2 supra).

11 Ibid Sch A1 para 2(1)(b), (2)(a) (Sch A1 as added (see note 2 supra); Sch A1 para 2(2)(a), (b) substituted, and Sch A1 para 2(2)(bb) added, by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Consequential Amendments) Order 2002, SI 2002/1555, art 29(1), (2)). The general prohibition is that within the meaning of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 s 19 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 80): see the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 2(2)(a) (as so added and substituted). Schedule A1 paras 2(2)(a), (b), (bb) (as substituted and added) must be read with the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 s 22, Sch 2, and any relevant order under s 22 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARAS 84, 85): see the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 2(3) (Sch A1 as so added; Sch A1 para 2(3) added by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Consequential Amendments) Order 2002, SI 2002/1555, art 29(1), (3)).

12 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 2(1)(b), (2)(b) (as added and substituted: see notes 2, 11 supra). Permission to accept deposits may be given under the Financial Services Markets Act 2000 Pt IV (ss 40-55) (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 348 et seq): see the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 2(2)(b) (as so added and substituted).

13 Ibid Sch A1 para 2(1)(b), (2)(bb) (as added: see notes 2, 11 supra). Schedule A1 para 2(2)(bb) (as added) provides that the appropriate statute for these purposes is either the Banking Act 1979 (repealed) or the Banking Act 1987 (repealed): see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 49 (2008) PARA 791 et seq.

14 A market contract is one of the descriptions of contract to which the Companies Act 1989 Pt VII (ss 154-191) (as amended) applies (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 509 et seq): Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 1 (as added: see note 2 supra); Companies Act 1989 s 155(1).

15 A market charge is a charge for the purposes of ibid Pt VII (as amended) (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 509 et seq): Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 1 (as added: see note 2 supra).

16 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 2(1)(b), (2)(c) (as added: see note 2 supra; Sch A1 para 2(2)(c) amended by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Consequential Amendments) Order 2002, SI 2002/1555, art 28(1), (3)). A system-charge is a system-charge within the meaning of the Financial Markets and Insolvency Regulations 1996, SI 1996/1469, reg 2: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 1 (as so added).

UPDATE

71-144 Company Voluntary Arrangements

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

73 Eligibility for moratorium

NOTES 8-10--1986 Act Sch A1 para 3(2)-(4) amended, Sch A1 para 3(5) substituted to take account of the coming into force of the Companies Act 2006: SI 2008/948. Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 3(6) added: SI 2009/1941.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(2) MORATORIUM/(i) Eligibility and Exclusion/74. Excluded companies.

74. Excluded companies.

A company¹ is excluded from being eligible for a moratorium² if, on the date of filing³:

- 105 (1) it is in administration⁴;
- 106 (2) it is being wound up⁵;
- 107 (3) there is an administrative receiver⁶ of the company⁷;
- 108 (4) a voluntary arrangement⁸ has effect in relation to the company⁹;
- 109 (5) there is a provisional liquidator of the company¹⁰;
- 110 (6) a moratorium has been in force for the company at any time during the last 12 months¹¹;
- 111 (7) an administrator¹² has held office during the last 12 months¹³;
- 112 (8) a voluntary arrangement¹⁴ has come to an end prematurely¹⁵ and, during the last 12 months, an order to stay or sist proceedings¹⁶ has been made¹⁷;
- 113 (9) it is a party to an agreement¹⁸ which is or forms part of a capital market arrangement¹⁹;
- 114 (10) it is a project company of a project²⁰ which is a public-private partnership project²¹ and includes step-in rights²²; or
- 115 (11) it has incurred a liability²³ under an agreement²⁴ of £10 million or more²⁵.

1 As to the meaning of 'company' see paras 71 note 1, 73 note 2 ante.

2 I.e. a moratorium under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 1A (as added): Sch A1 para 1 (Sch A1 added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 1, Sch 1 paras 1, 4). As to eligibility for a moratorium under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 1A (as added) see para 73 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'the date of filing' see para 73 note 6 ante.

4 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 paras 2(1)(a), 4(1)(a) (Sch A1 as added (see note 2 supra); Sch A1 para 4(1)(a) substituted by the Enterprise Act 2002 s 248(3), Sch 17 paras 9, 37(1), (2)(a)). If a special administration regime (see para 145 post) has effect, or a petition for an administration order has been presented before 15 September 2003, the exclusion from eligibility for a moratorium of such a company is expressed as being on the grounds that an administration order is in force in respect of it, as opposed to that it is in administration: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 4(1)(a) (as so added); Enterprise Act 2002 s 249(1), (2); Enterprise Act 2002 (Commencement No 4 and Transitional Provisions and Savings) Order 2003, SI 2003/2093, arts 2(1), 3(2)(a).

5 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 paras 2(1)(a), 4(1)(b) (as added: see note 2 supra). The exclusion does not apply to a company which, by reason of a winding-up order made after the date of filing, is treated as being wound up on that date: Sch A1 para 4(2) (as so added).

6 For the meaning of 'administrative receiver' see para 8 note 2 ante.

7 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 paras 2(1)(a), 4(1)(c) (as added: see note 2 supra).

8 For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante.

9 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 paras 2(1)(a), 4(1)(d) (as added: see note 2 supra).

10 Ibid Sch A1 paras 2(1)(a), 4(1)(e) (as added: see note 2 supra). As to the appointment and powers of provisional liquidators see para 491 et seq post.

11 Ibid Sch A1 paras 2(1)(a), 4(1)(f) (as added: see note 2 supra). The exclusion will not, however, apply if there was no voluntary arrangement in effect at the time at which the moratorium came to an end or a voluntary arrangement which had effect at any time in that period has come to an end prematurely: Sch A1 para 4(1)(f)(i), (ii) (as so added).

12 Ie an administrator appointed by the company or the directors of the company under ibid Sch B1 para 22 (as added) (see para 236 et seq post).

13 Ibid Sch A1 paras 2(1)(a), 4(1)(fa) (Sch A1 as added (see note 2 supra); Sch A1 para 4(1)(fa) added by the Enterprise Act 2002 Sch 17 paras 9, 37(1), (2)(b)). This ground of exclusion is not applicable if a special administration regime has effect or in relation to a company in respect of which a petition for an administration order has been presented before 15 September 2003: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 4 (as so added); Enterprise Act 2000 s 249(1), (2); Enterprise Act 2002 (Commencement No 4 and Transitional Provisions and Savings) Order 2003, SI 2003/2093, arts 2(1), 3(2)(a).

14 Ie an arrangement in relation to the company which had effect in pursuance of a proposal made by an administrator or a liquidator under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 1(3) (as amended) (see para 72 ante).

15 A voluntary arrangement the approval of which has taken effect (ie under ibid s 4A (as added) (where no moratorium has been sought: see para 130 post) or Sch A1 para 36 (as added) (where a moratorium has had effect: see para 103 post)) comes to an end prematurely if, when it ceases to have effect, it has not been fully implemented in respect of all persons bound (ie under s 5(2)(b)(ii) (see para 131 post)) or Sch A1 para 37(2)(b) (i) (see para 104 post)) by the arrangement: s 7B (added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 2(a), Sch 2 paras 1, 10). The Insolvency Act 1986 s 7B (as added) does not apply where the nominee (see paras 71 ante, 75 note 4 post) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, arts 2, 3(1), (3).

16 Ie an order under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 5(3) (as amended) (see para 131 post) to stay or sist all proceedings in the winding up or to provide for the appointment of the administrator to cease to have effect.

17 Ibid Sch A1 paras 2(1)(a), 4(1)(g) (as added: see note 2 supra).

18 For the purposes of ibid Sch A1 paras 4A, 4C, 4J (as added), 'party' to an arrangement includes a party to an agreement which forms part of the arrangement, provides for the raising of finance as part of the arrangement, or is necessary for the purposes of implementing the arrangement; and 'agreement' includes an agreement or undertaking effected by contract, deed or any other instrument intended to have effect in accordance with the law of England and Wales, Scotland or another jurisdiction: Sch A1 para 4D(3) (Sch A1 as added (see note 2 supra); Sch A1 paras 4A-4K added by the Insolvency Act 1986 (Amendment) (No 3) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/1990, reg 3(1), (3)).

19 Ibid Sch A1 para 4A (as added: see notes 2, 18 supra). This exclusion will not, however, apply unless a party has incurred, or when the agreement was entered into was expected to incur, a debt of at least £10 million (which may be incurred at any time during the life of the capital market arrangement and may be expressed wholly or partly in a foreign currency (in which case the sterling equivalent is to be calculated as at the time when the arrangement is entered into)) under the arrangement (Sch A1 paras 4A(i), 4G (as so added)) and the arrangement involves the issue of a capital market investment (Sch A1 para 4A(ii) (as so added)).

For these purposes, an arrangement is a capital market arrangement if: (1) it involves a grant of security to a person holding it as trustee for a person who holds a capital market investment issued by a party to the arrangement (Sch A1 para 4D(1)(a) (as so added)); (2) at least one party guarantees the performance of obligations of another party (Sch A1 para 4D(1)(b) (as so added)); (3) at least one party provides security in respect of the performance of obligations of another party (Sch A1 para 4D(1)(c) (as so added)); and (4) the arrangement involves an option, future or contract for difference (ie an investment of a kind described in the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Regulated Activities) Order 2001, SI 2001/544, arts 83-85 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 224)) (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 4D(1)(d) (as so added)). For these purposes, a reference to holding as trustee includes a reference to holding as nominee or agent (Sch A1 para 4D(2)(a) (as so added)); a reference to holding for a person who holds a capital market investment includes a reference to holding for a number of persons at least one of whom holds a capital market investment (Sch A1 para 4D(2)(b) (as so added)); and a person holds a capital market investment if he has a legal or beneficial interest in it (Sch A1 para 4D(2)(c) (as so added)).

For these purposes, an investment is a capital market investment if it is a debt instrument (ie an instrument within the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Regulated Activities) Order 2001, SI 2001/544, art 77 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 224)) and it is rated, listed or traded or designed to be rated, listed or traded: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 4E(1) (as so added). 'Listed' means admitted to the official list within the meaning given by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 s 103(1) (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 387); 'rated' means rated for the purposes of investment by an internationally recognised rating agency; and 'traded' means admitted to trading on a market established under the rules of a recognised investment exchange (within the meaning of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 s 285 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 49 (2008) PARA 684)) or foreign market (which for these purposes has the same meaning as 'relevant market' in the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Financial Promotion) Order 2001, SI 2001/1335, art 67(2) (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 280)); Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 4E(2), (3) (as so added). An investment is also a capital market investment if it consists of a bond or commercial paper issued to one or more of: (a) an investment professional (within the meaning of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Financial Promotion) Order 2001, SI 2001/1335, art 19(5) (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 255), but note that for these purposes an exempt person qualifies as an investment professional whether or not the relevant communication relates to a controlled activity which is a regulated activity in relation to which the person is exempt, and any other person may qualify as an investment professional in relation to any controlled activity) (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 4F(1)(a), (2)(a) (as so added)); (b) a person who, when the agreement is entered into, is a certified high net worth individual (within the meaning of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Financial Promotion) Order 2001, SI 2001/1335, art 48(2) (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 295)) (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 4F(1)(b) (as so added)); (c) a high net worth company or unincorporated association (ie a person to whom the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Financial Promotion) Order 2001, SI 2001/1335, art 49(2) applies (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 296), but note that for these purposes persons not connected with the company or association are excluded) (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 4F(1)(c), (2)(b) (as so added)); (d) a person who is, when the agreement is entered into, a certified sophisticated investor (ie in relation to a communication within the meaning of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Financial Promotion) Order 2001, SI 2001/1335, art 50(1) (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARAS 297, 298)) (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 4F(1)(d) (as so added)); and (e) a person in a state other than the United Kingdom who under the law of that state is not prohibited from investing in bonds or commercial paper (Sch A1 para 4F(1)(e) (as so added)). For these purposes, 'bond' is construed in accordance with the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Regulated Activities) Order 2001, SI 2001/544, art 77 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 224) and 'commercial paper' has the meaning given by art 9(3) (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 93): Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 4F(3) (as so added). For the meaning of 'connected' with a company see para 5 ante.

For the purposes of Sch A1 paras 4A-4J (as added and amended), a reference to a person includes a reference to a partnership or another unincorporated group of persons: Sch A1 para 4K (as so added).

20 For these purposes, a company is a 'project company' of a project if: (1) it holds property for the purpose of the project (ibid Sch A1 para 4H(1)(a) (as added: see notes 2, 18 supra)); (2) it has sole or principal responsibility under an agreement for carrying out all or part of the project (Sch A1 para 4H(1)(b) (as so added)); (3) it is one of a number of companies which together carry out the project (Sch A1 para 4H(1)(c) (as so added)); or (4) it has the purpose of supplying finance to enable the project to be carried out (Sch A1 para 4H(1)(d) (as so added)). However, a company will not be a project company if, notwithstanding its carrying out any of these functions, it also performs a function which is neither one of these functions, nor related to one of these functions, nor related to the project (Sch A1 para 4H(2) (as so added)). A company is also a 'project company' of a project if it is the holding company of a company which carries out any of the specified functions (Sch A1 para 4H(1)(e) (as so added)), provided that it does not also perform a function which is neither one of those functions, nor related to one of those functions, nor related to the project (Sch A1 para 4H(2) (as so added)). For these purposes, a company carries out all or part of a project whether or not it acts wholly or partly through agents: Sch A1 para 4H(3) (as so added)).

21 For these purposes, 'public-private partnership project' means a project the resources for which are provided partly by one or more public bodies and partly by one or more private persons (ibid Sch A1 para 4I(1) (a) (as added: see notes 2, 18 supra)) or which is designed wholly or mainly for the purpose of assisting a public body to discharge a function (Sch A1 para 4I(1)(b) (as so added)). 'Resources' includes funds (including payment for the provision of services or facilities), assets, professional skill, the grant of a concession or franchise and any other commercial resource: Sch A1 para 4I(2) (as so added). 'Public body' means a body which exercises public functions, a body specified for these purposes by the Secretary of State, and a body within a class specified for these purposes by the Secretary of State (Sch A1 para 4I(3) (as so added)), such specification being general or for the purpose of the application of these provisions to a specified case (Sch A1 para 4I(4) (as so added)). As to the Secretary of State see para 11 note 10 ante. At the date at which this volume states the law no such body or class of body had been specified for these purposes.

22 Ibid Sch A1 para 4B (as added: see notes 2, 18 supra). For these purposes, a project has 'step-in rights' if a person who provides finance (which may include the provision of an indemnity) in connection with the project has a conditional entitlement under an agreement (see note 18 supra) to assume sole or principal responsibility for carrying out all or part of the project or make arrangements for carrying out all or part of the project: Sch A1 para 4J (as so added).

23 For these purposes, 'liability' includes a present or future liability whether, in either case, it is certain or contingent (ibid Sch A1 para 4C(3)(a) (as added: see notes 2, 18 supra)) and includes a reference to a liability to be paid wholly or partly in foreign currency (in which case the sterling equivalent is to be calculated as that date when the liability is incurred) (Sch A1 para 4C(3)(b) (as so added)).

24 See note 18 supra.

25 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 4C(1) (as added: see notes 2, 18 supra). Where the liability is a contingent liability under or by virtue of a guarantee or an indemnity or security provided on behalf of another person, the amount of that liability is the full amount of the liability in relation to which the guarantee, indemnity or security is provided: Sch A1 para 4C(2) (as so added).

(ii) Obtaining a Moratorium

75. Information to be submitted to nominee.

Where the directors¹ of a company² wish to obtain a moratorium³, they must first submit to the nominee⁴ a document setting out the terms of the proposed voluntary arrangement⁵ and a statement of the company's affairs⁶. The information required to be submitted to the nominee under these provisions is in addition to any information necessary to enable the nominee to submit his own statement⁷, which he may request from the directors and which the directors are obliged to supply⁸. The documents required to be delivered to the nominee must be delivered to the nominee himself or to a person authorised to take delivery of the documents on his behalf⁹. On receipt of the documents, the nominee must forthwith issue an acknowledgement of receipt of the documents to the directors which must indicate the date on which the documents were received¹⁰.

The addition of these provisions does not apply where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). The document must comply with the requirements as to the contents of the proposal (ie the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.3(1), (2), save that the reference to preferential creditors is a reference to preferential creditors within the meaning of the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 31(8) (as added) (see para 96 post)) (Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.35(1)(b) (as so added)), and must state the address to which notice of the consent of the nominee to act and the nominee's statement and annexures must be sent (r 1.35(1)(c) (as so added)). Subject to the written agreement of the nominee, the directors may amend the proposal at any time before the submission (pursuant to the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 6(2) (as added) (see para 76 post)) to them of the nominee's statement: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.35(2) (as so added).

'Prescribed' means prescribed by the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925 (as amended): Insolvency Act 1986 s 251. The statement of the company's affairs required to be delivered to the nominee must be so delivered no later than seven days after the delivery to him of the document setting out the terms of the proposed voluntary arrangement, or such longer time as he may allow (Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.37(1) (as added: see note 5 supra)), and must comprise the same particulars required by r 1.5(2) (see para 111 post) supplementing or amplifying, so far as is necessary for clarifying the statement of the company's affairs, those already given in the directors' proposal (r 1.37(2) (as so added)). The statement of affairs must be made up to a date not earlier than two weeks before the date for delivery of the document containing the proposal for the voluntary arrangement to the nominee but the nominee may allow an extension of that period, not earlier than two months before the date of delivery of the documents to the nominee, and, if 80. End of moratorium.

A moratorium¹ ends at the end of the day on which the meetings of the company² and its creditors³ are first held or, if the meetings are held on different days, the later of those days, unless it is extended⁴. If, however, either of those meetings has not first met before the end of the period of 28 days beginning with the day on which the moratorium comes into force⁵, the moratorium ends at the end of the day on which those meetings were to be held or, if those meetings were summoned to be held on different days, the later of those days, unless it is extended⁶. If the nominee fails to summon either meeting within the period of 28 days beginning with the day on which the moratorium comes into force, the moratorium ends at the last day of that period⁷. If the moratorium has not previously come to an end it ends at the end of the day on which a decision to approve a voluntary arrangement⁸ takes effect⁹.

81 Notification and advertisement of end of moratorium

TEXT AND NOTE 8--SI 1986/1925 r 1.42(1) substituted: SI 2009/642. SI 1986/1925 r 1.42(1A) added: SI 2010/686.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(2) MORATORIUM/(iii) Commencement, Duration and Extension/82. Extension of moratorium.

82. Extension of moratorium.

Where a moratorium¹ is in force in relation to a company², a meeting of the company or its creditors summoned by the nominee³ which resolves that it be adjourned or further adjourned may resolve that the moratorium be extended or further extended⁴ with or without conditions⁵. Before a decision is taken in relation to a proposal to extend or further extend the moratorium, the nominee must inform the meeting at which the extension is proposed of what he has done in relation to his duty to monitor the company's affairs⁶ and the costs of his actions for the company⁷ and of what he intends to do to continue to comply with that duty if the moratorium is extended or further extended and the expected cost of his actions for the company⁸.

A decision with respect to the extension or further extension of a moratorium or the approval of the expected cost of the nominee's⁹ intended actions has effect if, in accordance with the Insolvency Rules 1986¹⁰, it has been taken either by both the company and creditors' meetings¹¹ or has been taken only by the creditors' meeting¹², although if the decision taken by the creditors' meeting differs from one taken by the company meeting a member¹³ of the company may apply to the court¹⁴ for an order that the company meeting decision have effect instead of the creditor meeting decision¹⁵. When a decision to extend or further extend a moratorium so takes effect, the nominee must notify the registrar of companies and the court¹⁶. If the moratorium is extended or further extended by order of the court, the nominee must forthwith after receiving a copy of the order give notice, containing an office copy of the order, to the registrar¹⁷. If the nominee without reasonable excuse fails to comply with these requirements he is liable to a fine¹⁸.

If a decision not to approve the expected costs of the nominee's intended action has effect, the moratorium comes to an end¹⁹. A meeting may also resolve that a moratorium which has been extended or further extended be brought to an end before the end of the period of the extension or further extension²⁰.

1 Ie a moratorium under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 1A (as added): Sch A1 para 1 (Sch A1 added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 1, Sch 1 paras 1, 4). See para 73 et seq ante.

2 As to the meaning of 'company' see paras 71 note 1, 73 note 2 ante.

3 Ie a meeting summoned under the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 29 (as added) (see paras 96-97 post). As to the meaning of 'the nominee' see para 75 note 4 ante.

4 Ibid Sch A1 para 32(1) (as added: see note 1 supra). The moratorium may not be extended or further extended to a day later than the period of two months which begins: (1) where both meetings summoned by the nominee are first held on the same day, on that day (Sch A1 para 32(2)(a) (as so added)); or (2) in any other case, with the day on which the later of those meetings is first held (Sch A1 para 32(2)(b) (as so added)). The Secretary of State may by order increase or reduce the period for the time being specified: Sch A1 para 32(7) (as so added). At the date at which this volume states the law no such order had been made. As to the Secretary of State see para 11 note 10 ante. As to the making of orders under Sch A1 (as added and amended) see para 73 note 9 ante.

5 Ibid Sch A1 para 32(1) (as added: see note 1 supra). The conditions which may be imposed when a moratorium is extended or further extended include a requirement that the nominee be replaced as such by another person qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner, or authorised to act as nominee, in relation to the voluntary arrangement: Sch A1 para 33(1) (as so added). For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante. A person may be appointed as a replacement nominee only if he submits to the court, and there is filed in that court, a statement indicating his consent to act: Sch A1 para 33(2) (as so added); Insolvency Rules

1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.45(3) (rr 1.35-1.54 added by SI 2002/2712). The addition of these provisions to the rules does not apply where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). A person who is appointed as a replacement nominee must forthwith give notice of his appointment to the registrar of companies (Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.46(a) (as so added)), the court (if he was not appointed by the court) (r 1.46(b) (as so added)), and the person whom he has replaced as nominee (r 1.46(c) (as so added)). Where, in accordance with this requirement the nominee informs a meeting of the expected cost of his intended actions, the meeting must resolve whether or not to approve that expected cost: Sch A1 para 32(4) (as so added). At any meeting where it is proposed to appoint a replacement nominee as a condition of extending or further extending the moratorium (see the text and note 5 supra) the duty imposed by Sch A1 para 32(3)(b) (as added) is instead imposed on the person proposed as replacement nominee (Sch A1 para 33(3)(a) (as so added)) and Sch A1 para 32(4) (as added) applies as if references to the nominee were references to that person (Sch A1 para 33(3)(b) (as so added)).

9 At any meeting where it is proposed to appoint a replacement nominee as a condition of extending or further extending the moratorium (see the text and note 5 supra) these provisions apply as if references to the nominee were references to that person: ibid Sch A1 para 33(3)(b) (as added: see note 1 supra).

86. Challenging of nominee's actions.

If any creditor, director¹ or member of the company² or any other person affected by a moratorium³ is dissatisfied by any act, omission or decision of the nominee⁴ during a moratorium he may, at any time during the moratorium or after it has ended, apply to the court⁵. On such an application the court may confirm, reverse or modify any act or decision of the nominee⁶, give him directions⁷ or make such other order as it thinks fit⁸.

Where there are reasonable grounds for believing that as a result of any act, omission or decision of the nominee during the moratorium the company has suffered loss, but the company does not intend to pursue any claim it may have against the nominee, then any creditor of the company may, at any time during the moratorium or after it has ended, apply to the court⁹. On such an application the court may, unless it is satisfied that the act, omission or decision of the nominee was in all the circumstances reasonable¹⁰, order the company to pursue any claim against the nominee¹¹, authorise any creditor to pursue such a claim in the name of the company¹², or make such order with respect to such a claim as it thinks fit¹³.

1 As to the meaning of 'director' see para 5 note 2 ante.

2 As to the meaning of 'member' see para 72 note 9 ante. As to the meaning of 'company' see paras 71 note 1, 73 note 2 ante.

3 I.e. a moratorium under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 1A (as added): Sch A1 para 1 (Sch A1 added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 1, Sch 1 paras 1, 4). See para 73 et seq ante.

4 As to the meaning of 'the nominee' see para 75 note 4 ante.

5 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 26(1), (2) (as added: see note 3 supra). A person who intends to make an application to the court pursuant to this provision must give the nominee at least seven days' notice of his application: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.47 (rr 1.35-1.54 added by SI 2002/2712). The addition of these provisions does not apply where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante.

In relation to a regulated company (see para 73 note 2 ante), the persons who may apply to the court include the Financial Services Authority: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 44(4) (as so added). If a person other than the Authority applies to the court, the Authority is entitled to be heard on the application: Sch A1 para 44(5) (as so added). As to the Financial Services Authority see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARAS 4, 6 et seq.

6 Ibid Sch A1 para 26(3)(a) (as added: see note 3 supra).

7 Ibid Sch A1 para 26(3)(b) (as added: see note 3 supra).

8 Ibid Sch A1 para 26(3)(c) (as added: see note 3 supra). Such an order may, among other things, bring the moratorium to an end and make such consequential provision as the court thinks fit: Sch A1 para 26(4) (as so added).

9 Ibid Sch A1 para 27(1) (as added: see note 3 supra). On such an application the court must have regard to the interests of the members and creditors of the company generally: Sch A1 para 27(5) (as so added). A person who intends to make an application to the court pursuant to this provision must give the nominee at least seven days' notice of his application: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.47 (as added: see note 5 supra).

In relation to a regulated company, the persons who may apply to the court include the Financial Services Authority: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 44(6) (as so added). If a person other than the Authority applies to the court, the Authority is entitled to be heard on the application: Sch A1 para 44(7) (as so added).

10 Ibid Sch A1 para 27(3) (as added: see note 3 supra).

11 Ibid Sch A1 para 27(3)(a) (as added: see note 3 supra).

12 Ibid Sch A1 para 27(3)(b) (as added: see note 3 supra).

13 Ibid Sch A1 para 27(3)(c) (as added: see note 3 supra). Any such order may, among other things, impose conditions on any authority given to pursue a claim (Sch A1 para 27(4)(a) (as so added)), direct the company to assist in the pursuit of a claim (Sch A1 para 27(4)(b) (as so added)), make directions with respect to the distribution of anything received as a result of the pursuit of a claim (Sch A1 para 27(4)(c) (as so added)), or bring the moratorium to an end and make such consequential provision as the court thinks fit (Sch A1 para 27(4)(d) (as so added)).

UPDATE

71-144 Company Voluntary Arrangements

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(2) MORATORIUM/(v) Effects of Moratorium/88. Effect of moratorium on creditors.

(v) Effects of Moratorium

88. Effect of moratorium on creditors.

During the period for which a moratorium¹ is in force for a company²:

- 124 (1) no petition (other than an excepted petition³) may be presented for the winding up of the company⁴;
- 125 (2) no meeting of the company may be called or requisitioned except with the consent of the nominee⁵ or the leave of the court and subject, where the court gives leave, to such terms as the court may impose⁶;
- 126 (3) no resolution may be passed or order made for the winding up of the company⁷;
- 127 (4) no administration application may be made in respect of the company⁸;
- 128 (5) no administrator may be appointed⁹ to the company¹⁰;
- 129 (6) no administrative receiver¹¹ of the company may be appointed¹²; and
- 130 (7) no legal procedures may be pursued in respect of the company's property or premises except with the leave of the court¹³.

Where there is an uncrystallised floating charge on the property of a company for which a moratorium is in force and the conditions for the holder of the charge to give a notice causing either the crystallisation of the charge or the imposition¹⁴ of any restriction on the disposal of any property of the company are met at any time, that notice may not be given at that time but may instead be given as soon as practicable after the moratorium has come to an end¹⁵. If, however, any other event occurs at any time which (apart from this provision) would have the effect of causing either the crystallisation of the charge or the imposition of any such restriction, that event will not have the effect in question at that time but if notice of the event is given to the company by the charge holder as soon as is practicable after the moratorium has come to an end, the event is to be treated as if it had occurred when the notice was given¹⁶.

1 le a moratorium under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 1A (as added): Sch A1 para 1 (Sch A1 added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 1, Sch 1 paras 1, 4). See para 73 et seq ante.

2 As to the meaning of 'company' see paras 71 note 1, 73 note 2 ante.

3 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 12(4) (as added: see note 1 supra). For these purposes, 'excepted petition' means a petition under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 124A (as added and amended) (winding up on grounds of public interest) (see para 444 post) (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 12(5)(a) (as so added)), the Financial Services Act 1986 s 72(1)(b) (repealed) (winding up companies carrying on investment business) (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 12(5)(b) (as so added)), the Banking Act 1987 s 92(1)(b) (repealed) (winding up authorised institutions) (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 12(5)(c) (as so added)), and the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 s 367(3)(b) (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 497 (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 12(5)(d) (as so added; and amended by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Consequential Amendments) Order 2002, SI 2002/1555, art 30)).

4 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 12(1)(a) (as added: see note 1 supra). Where a petition other than an excepted petition for the winding up of the company has been presented before the beginning of the moratorium, s 127 (avoidance of property distributions) (see para 700 post) does not apply in relation to any disposition of property, transfer of shares or alteration in status made during the moratorium or at any time before the period of 28 days beginning with the first day on which each of the reports of the meetings of the company and creditors has been made to the court: Sch A1 para 12(2) (as so added). For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante.

5 As to the meaning of 'the nominee' see para 75 note 4 ante.

6 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 12(1)(b) (as added: see note 1 supra). This provision does not apply in relation to any proceedings on an excepted petition (see note 3 supra) which has been presented before the beginning of the moratorium or is presented during the moratorium: Sch A1 para 12(4) (as so added).

7 Ibid Sch A1 para 12(1)(c) (as added: see note 1 supra). This provision does not apply in relation to any proceedings on an excepted petition (see note 3 supra) which has been presented before the beginning of the moratorium or is presented during the moratorium: Sch A1 para 12(4) (as so added).

8 Ibid Sch A1 para 12(1)(d) (Sch A1 as added (see note 1 supra); and Sch A1 para 12(1)(d) substituted, and Sch A1 para 12(1)(da) added, by the Enterprise Act 2002 s 248, Sch 17, paras 9, 37(1), (3)). If a special administration regime (see para 145 post) has effect, or a petition for an administration order has been presented before 15 September 2003, this prohibition is expressed as being that no petition for an administration order in relation to the company may be presented, as opposed to being that no administration application may be made in respect of the company: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 12(1)(d) (as so added); Enterprise Act 2002 s 249(1), (2); Enterprise Act 2002 (Commencement No 4 and Transitional Provisions and Savings) Order 2003, SI 2003/2093, arts 2(1), 3(2)(a).

9 Ie pursuant to the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 paras 14, 22 (as added) (see paras 228 et seq, 236 et seq post).

10 Ibid Sch A1 para 12(1)(da) (as added: see notes 1, 8 supra). This provision is inapplicable if a special administration regime has effect or in relation to a company in respect of which a petition for an administration order has been presented before 15 September 2003: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 12 (as so added); Enterprise Act 2002 s 249(1), (2); Enterprise Act 2002 (Commencement No 4 and Transitional Provisions and Savings) Order 2003, SI 2003/2093, arts 2(1), 3(2)(a).

12 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 12(1)(e) (as added: see note 1 supra).

13 Ie no landlord or other person to whom rent is payable may exercise any right of forfeiture by peaceable re-entry in relation to premises let to the company in respect of a failure by the company to comply with any term or condition of its tenancy of such premises (ibid Sch A1 para 12(1)(f) (as added: see note 1 supra)), no other steps may be taken to enforce any security over the company's property or to repossess goods in the company's possession under any hire-purchase agreement (Sch A1 para 12(1)(g) (as so added)), and no other proceedings and no execution or other legal process may be commenced or continued, and no distress may be levied (Sch A1 para 12(1)(h) (as so added)), except with the leave of the court and subject to such terms as the court may impose. Where there is an uncrystallised floating charge on the property of a company for which a moratorium is in force, application may not be made for leave under Sch A1 para 12(1)(g) (as added) or Sch A1 para 12(1)(h) (as added) with a view to obtaining the crystallisation of the charge or the imposition, by virtue of provision in the instrument creating the charge, of any restriction on the disposal of any property of the company: Sch A1 para 13(5) (as so added). Security granted by a company at a time when a moratorium is in force in relation to the company may only be enforced if, at that time, there were reasonable grounds for believing that it would benefit the company: Sch A1 para 14 (as so added).

14 Ie by virtue of provision in the instrument creating the charge: ibid Sch A1 para 13(4)(b) (as added: see note 1 supra).

15 Ibid Sch A1 para 13(1), (2), (4) (as added: see note 1 supra). As to circumstances where there is an uncrystallised floating charge on the property of a company for which a moratorium is in force and steps are required to be taken to enforce any security over company property or to repossess goods in the company's possession under any hire-purchase agreement, or to take, commence or continue any other proceedings, or to levy distress, see note 13 supra. A provision in an instrument creating a floating charge is void if it provides for obtaining a moratorium or anything done with a view to obtaining a moratorium (including any preliminary decision or investigation) to be an event causing the floating charge to crystallise or causing restrictions which would not otherwise apply to be imposed on the disposal of property by the company or a ground for the appointment of a receiver: Sch A1 para 43(1) (as so added). For these purposes, 'receiver' includes a manager and a person who is appointed both receiver and manager: Sch A1 para 43(2) (as so added).

16 Ibid Sch A1 para 13(1), (3), (4) (as added: see note 1 supra).

89. Company invoices and obtaining of credit.

Where a moratorium¹ is in force in relation to a company² every invoice, order for goods or business letter which is issued by or on behalf of the company and on or in which the company's name appears must also contain the nominee's³ name and a statement that the moratorium is in force for the company⁴; and the company may not obtain credit⁵ to the extent of £250⁶ or more from a person who has not been informed that a moratorium is in force in relation to the company⁷. However, the fact that a company enters into a transaction in contravention of any of these provisions does not make the transaction void or make it to any extent unenforceable against the company⁸.

1 Ie a moratorium under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 1A (as added): Sch A1 para 1 (Sch A1 added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 1, Sch 1 paras 1, 4). See para 73 et seq ante.

4 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 paras 15(1), 16(1) (as added: see note 1 supra). If default is made in complying with this requirement, the company and any officer of the company who, without reasonable excuse, authorised or permitted the default is subject to a fine not exceeding one-fifth of the statutory maximum: s 430, Sch A1 para 16(2), (3) (as so added), Sch 10 (added by the Insolvency Act 2000 Sch 1 paras 1, 12). As to the statutory maximum see para 10 note 1 ante. For the meaning of 'officer' see para 690 post.

5 The reference to a company obtaining credit includes cases where goods are bailed to the company under a hire-purchase agreement or agreed to be sold to the company under a conditional sale agreement and where the company is paid in advance (whether in money or otherwise) for the supply of goods or services: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 17(2) (as added: see note 1 supra).

Such an order is made by statutory instrument subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament (s 417A(3) (as so added)) and may contain such transitional provisions as may appear to the Secretary of State to be necessary or expedient (s 417A(2) (as so added)). 90 Disposals of company property and payments

NOTE 3--1986 Act Sch A1 para 16(1) substituted: SI 2008/1897.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(2) MORATORIUM/(v) Effects of Moratorium/91. Disposal of charged property.

91. Disposal of charged property.

A company¹ in relation to which a moratorium² is in force may dispose of property³ which is subject to a security as if it were not subject to the security⁴, and may dispose of any goods which are in its possession under a hire-purchase agreement as if all rights of the owner under the agreement were vested in the company⁵, provided the holder of the security or, as the case may be, the owner of the goods consents or the court⁶ gives leave⁷. Where property⁸ or goods are so disposed of, it must be a condition of any consent or leave given for the disposal that the net proceeds of the disposal and, where those proceeds are less than such amount as may be agreed or determined by the court to be the net amount which would be realised on a sale of the property or goods in the open market by a willing vendor, such sums as may be required to make good the deficiency, be applied towards discharging the sums secured by the security or payable under the hire-purchase agreement⁹.

If a company without any consent or leave under these provisions disposes of any of its property which is subject to a security or any goods in its possession under a hire-purchase agreement otherwise than in accordance with the terms of the security or agreement, or fails to comply with any requirement imposed in relation to the disposal of such property, it is liable to a fine¹⁰. However, the fact that a company enters into a transaction in contravention of any of these provisions does not make the transaction void or make it to any extent unenforceable against the company¹¹.

3 I.e. any property which is not subject to a market charge, a system-charge or a collateral security charge: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 23(5) (as added (see note 2 supra); and amended by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Consequential Amendments) Order 2002, SI 2002/1555, art 28(1), (4)(c)). For the meaning of 'market charge' see para 73 note 15 ante. For the meaning of 'system charge' see para 73 note 16 ante. For these purposes, 'collateral security charge' means a collateral security charge within the meaning of the Financial Markets and Insolvency (Settlement Finality) Regulations 1999, SI 1999/2979: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 paras 1, 23(6) (as so added). Special provision is made in respect of property so subject: see para 89 ante.

4 Ibid Sch A1 paras 15(1), 20(1)(a), (2) (as added: see note 2 supra). Where property subject to a security which, as created, was a floating charge is so disposed of, the holder of the security has the same priority in respect of any property of the company directly or indirectly representing the property disposed of as he would have had in respect of the property subject to the security: Sch A1 para 20(4) (as so added). As to the provisions relating to moratoriums which may not be included in floating charge instruments see para 88 note 15 ante.

5 Ibid Sch A1 para 20(1)(b), (3) (as added: see note 2 supra).

6 For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante.

7 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 20(2), (3) (as added: see note 2 supra). Where a company makes an application to the court for leave to dispose of property of the company which is subject to a security or goods in possession of the company under a hire-purchase agreement, the court must fix a venue for the hearing of the application and the company must forthwith give notice of the venue to the person who is the holder of the security or, as the case may be, the owner under the agreement: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.43(1), (2) (rr 1.35-1.54 added by SI 2002/2712). The addition of these provisions does not apply where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). For these purposes, references to the 'venue' for any proceeding or attendance before the court, or for a meeting, are references to the time, date and place for the proceeding, attendance or meeting: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 13.6. If an order is made, the company must forthwith give notice of it to that person or owner: r 1.43(3) (as so added). The court must send two sealed copies of the order to the company, who must send one of them to that person or owner: r 1.43(4) (as so added). Where the court gives leave for a disposal the directors must within 14 days after leave is given send to the registrar of companies an office copy of the order giving leave: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 20(8) (as so added). As to the registrar of companies see COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARA 131 et seq. If the directors without reasonable excuse fail to comply with this requirement they are liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one-fifth of the statutory maximum: s 430, Sch A1 para 20(9) (as so added), Sch 10 (added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 1, Sch 1 paras 1, 12). As to the statutory maximum see para 10 note 1 ante.

In relation to a regulated company (see para 73 note 2 ante), the Financial Services Authority is entitled be heard on any application to the court for leave under the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 20(2), (3) (as added): Sch A1 para 44(3) (as so added). As to the Financial Services Authority see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARAS 4, 6 et seq.

8 Ie property subject to a security other than a security which, as created, was a floating charge: ibid Sch A1 para 20(5)(a) (as added: see note 2 supra).

9 Ibid Sch A1 para 20(5), (6) (as added: see note 2 supra). Where a condition relates to two or more securities, that condition requires the net proceeds of the disposal and, where those proceeds are less than such amount as may be agreed or determined by the court to be the net amount which would be realised on a sale of the property or goods in the open market by a willing vendor, such sums as may be required to make good the deficiency, to be applied towards discharging the sums secured by those securities in the order of their priorities: Sch A1 para 20(7) (as so added).

10 Ibid Sch A1 para 22(1) (as added: see note 2 supra). Such fine may not, on summary conviction, exceed the statutory maximum: Sch 10 (as added: see note 7 supra). If any officer of the company without reasonable excuse authorises or permits any such disposal or failure to comply he is liable: (1) on indictment to a term of imprisonment not exceeding two years or a fine, or both; or (2) on summary conviction, to a term of imprisonment not exceeding six months or a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum, or both: Sch A1 para 22(2) (as so added), Sch 10 (as so added). For the meaning of 'officer' see para 690 post.

11 Ibid Sch A1 para 15(2) (as added: see note 2 supra).

93. Power to challenge directors' actions.

Where a moratorium¹ is or has been in force any creditor or member of the company² may apply to the court³ for an order on the ground:

- 135 (1) that the company's affairs, business and property are being or have been managed by the directors⁴ in a manner which is unfairly prejudicial to the interests of its creditors or members generally, or some part of its creditors or members (including at least the petitioner)⁵; or
- 136 (2) that any actual or proposed act or omission of the directors is or would be so prejudicial⁶.

On such an application the court may make such order as it thinks fit for giving relief in respect of the matters complained of⁷, adjourn the hearing conditionally or unconditionally⁸, or make an interim order or any other order it thinks fit⁹.

2 As to the meaning of 'member' see para 72 note 9 ante. As to the meaning of 'company' see paras 71 note 1, 73 note 2 ante. In relation to a regulated company (see para 73 note 2 ante), the persons who may apply to the court include the Financial Services Authority: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 44(15) (as added: see note 1 supra). If a person other than the Authority applies to the court, the Authority is entitled to be heard on that application: Sch A1 para 44(16) (as so added). As to the Financial Services Authority see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARAS 4, 6 et seq.

Where: (1) the appointment of an administrator has effect in relation to the company and the appointment was in pursuance of an administration application made, or a notice of intention to appoint filed, before the moratorium came into force; or (2) the company is being wound up in pursuance of a petition presented before the moratorium came into force, no application for an order may be made by a creditor or member of the company but such an application may be made instead by the administrator or, as the case may be, the liquidator: Sch A1 para 40(7), (8) (Sch A1 as so added; Sch A1 para 40(7) substituted, and Sch A1 para 40(8) added, by the Enterprise Act 2002 s 248(3), Sch 17 paras 9, 37(1), (4), and the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 40(7)(a) further substituted by the Enterprise Act 2002 (Insolvency) Order 2004, SI 2004/2312, art 2). If a special administration regime (see para 145 post) has effect, or a petition for an administration order has been presented before 15 September 2003, this provision is stated to have effect, from an administration perspective, in relation to any time before an administration order is in force in relation to the company, rather than where the appointment of an administrator has effect in relation to the company and the appointment took effect before the moratorium came into force: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 40(7) (as so added); Enterprise Act 2002 s 249(1), (2); Enterprise Act 2002 (Commencement No 4 and Transitional Provisions and Savings) Order 2003, SI 2003/2093, arts 2(1), 3(2)(a).

7 Ibid Sch A1 para 40(4)(a) (as added: see note 1 supra). An order under Sch A1 para 40 (as added and amended) may in particular regulate the management by the directors of the company's affairs, business and property during the remainder of the moratorium (Sch A1 para 40(5)(a) (as so added)), require the directors to refrain from doing or continuing an act complained of by the petitioner or to do an act which the petitioner has complained they have omitted to do (Sch A1 para 40(5)(b) (as so added)), require the summoning of a meeting of creditors or members for the purpose of considering such matters as the court may direct (Sch A1 para 40(5) (c) (as so added)), or bring the moratorium to an end and make such consequential provision as the court thinks fit (Sch A1 para 40(5)(d) (as so added)). In making an order the court must have regard to the need to safeguard the interests of persons who have dealt with the company in good faith and for value: Sch A1 para 40(6) (as so added).

- 142 (6) pawning, pledging or disposing of any property of the company which has been obtained on credit and has not been paid for (unless the pawning, pledging or disposal was in the ordinary way of the company's business)¹⁰.

If a person who is an officer¹¹ of the company does any of these things, or is privy to those relating to the falsification of documentation¹², at any time during the moratorium, he commits an offence¹³. An offence is also treated as having been committed if, within the period of 12 months ending with the day on which the moratorium came into force¹⁴, a person who was at the time an officer of the company did any of these things or was privy to their doing¹⁵. A person guilty of any of these offences is liable to imprisonment or a fine or both¹⁶.

96. Meetings to approve voluntary arrangement.

Where a moratorium¹ is in force the nominee² must, in order to decide whether to approve³ the proposed voluntary arrangement⁴, summon meetings of the company⁵ and its creditors for such a time⁶, date⁷ and place⁸ as he thinks fit⁹. A meeting so summoned¹⁰ must not approve any proposal or modification¹¹ which affects the right of a secured creditor of the company to enforce his security¹² or under which any preferential debt¹³ of the company is to be paid otherwise than in priority to such of its debts as are not preferential debts¹⁴ or any preferential creditor¹⁵ of the company is to be paid an amount in respect of a preferential debt that bears to that debt a smaller proportion than is borne to another preferential debt by the amount that is to be paid in respect of that other debt¹⁶.

2 As to the meaning of 'the nominee' see para 75 note 4 ante.

3 Approval may be with or without modifications: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 31(1) (as added: see note 1 supra). The directors may, before the end of the period of seven days which ends with the meetings (or either of them) being held, give notice to the nominee of any modifications of the proposal for which they intend to seek the approval of those meetings: Sch A1 para 31(7) (as so added). Modifications may include one conferring the functions proposed to be conferred on the nominee on another person qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner or authorised to act as nominee in relation to the voluntary arrangement (Sch A1 para 31(2) (as so added)), but must not include one by virtue of which the proposal ceases to be a proposal such as is mentioned in s 1 (see paras 71-72 ante) (Sch A1 para 31(3) (as so added)). substituted: see note 6 supra). If they are held on the same day (see note 7 supra), the meetings must be held in the same place (r 1.13(3) (as so substituted)). For the meaning of 'venue' see para 91 note 7 ante.

9 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 29(1) (as added: see note 1 supra). If the nominee thinks fit, the creditors' meeting and the company meeting may be held together: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.53(2) (as added: see note 6 supra).

10 As to the summoning of meetings see para 97 post.

11 As to the meaning of 'modifications' see para 84 note 5 ante.

12 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 31(4) (as added: see note 1 supra). Such a proposal or modification may, however, be approved if the secured creditor concurs: Sch A1 para 31(4) (as so added).

13 References to preferential debts and preferential creditors are to be read in accordance with ibid s 386 (as amended) (see para 763 post): Sch A1 para 31(8) (as added: see note 1 supra).

14 Ibid Sch A1 para 31(5)(a) (as added: see note 1 supra).

15 See note 13 supra.

16 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 31(5)(b) (as added: see note 1 supra). The meeting may approve such a proposal or modification with the concurrence of the preferential creditor concerned: Sch A1 para 31(6) (as so added).

99. Voting and requisite majorities at company meetings.

Members of the company¹ at their meeting² vote according to the rights attaching to their shares³, in accordance with the articles of the company⁴. Subject to any express provision made in the articles, at a company meeting any resolution is to be regarded as passed if voted for by more than one-half in value of the members present in person or by proxy and voting on the resolution⁵.

1 As to the meaning of 'member' see para 72 note 9 ante. As to the meaning of 'company' see paras 71 note 1, 73 note 2 ante.

2 As to the summoning of meetings see para 97 ante.

3 References to a person's shares include any other interest which he may have as a member of the company: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 30(1) (Sch A1 added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 1, Sch 1 paras 1, 4); Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.18(3), 1.51 (rr 1.35-1.54 added by SI 2002/2712). The addition of these provisions to the rules does not apply where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2).

4 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.18(1). A member is entitled to vote either for or against the proposal or any modification of it even if no voting rights attach to his shares if the nominee for the voluntary arrangement has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), although any vote accordingly cast is left out of account in determining whether a majority for any resolution has been obtained: rr 1.18(2), 1.20(2) (revoked by SI 2002/2712); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). As to the meaning of 'modifications' see para 84 note 5 ante.

5 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.20(1), 1.53(1) (r 1.20(1) amended by SI 1987/1919; Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.53(1) as added (see note 3 supra)). The value of members is determined by reference to the number of votes conferred on each member by the company's articles: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.20(1) (as so amended). If the chairman (ie the nominee: see paras 75 note 4, 98 ante) uses a proxy contrary to r 1.15 (see para 98 ante), his vote with that proxy does not count towards any majority for these purposes: r 1.20(3).

UPDATE

71-144 Company Voluntary Arrangements

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(2) MORATORIUM/(vii) Approving the Voluntary Arrangement/100. Voting and requisite majorities at creditors' meetings.

100. Voting and requisite majorities at creditors' meetings.

Every creditor who has notice of the creditors' meeting¹ is entitled to vote at the meeting or any adjournment of it². Creditors' votes are calculated according to the amount of the creditor's debt as at the beginning of the moratorium³, after deducting any amounts paid in respect of the debt after that date⁴. At each meeting the chairman must ascertain the entitlement of persons wishing to vote and must admit or reject their claims accordingly⁵; the chairman's decision is subject to appeal⁶, and if he is in doubt whether a claim should be admitted or rejected he must mark it as objected to and allow votes to be cast in respect of it, subject to such votes being subsequently declared invalid if the objection to the claim is sustained⁷.

For any resolution to pass approving any proposal or modification there must in general be a majority in excess of three-quarters in value of the creditors present in person or by proxy and voting on the resolution⁸. A creditor's vote in respect of any claim or part of a claim will, however, be left out of account⁹ if:

- 143 (1) written notice of the claim was not given to the nominee, either at or before the meeting¹⁰;
- 144 (2) the claim or part is secured¹¹; or
- 145 (3) where the claim is in respect of a debt wholly or partly on, or secured by, a current bill of exchange or promissory note¹².

Any resolution will be invalid if those voting against it include more than half in value of the creditors¹³.

If on an appeal¹⁴ the chairman's decision is reversed or varied, or votes are declared invalid, the court may order another meeting to be summoned or make such order as it thinks just¹⁵.

1 As to the summoning of meetings see para 97 ante.

2 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 30(1) (Sch A1 added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 1, Sch 1 paras 1, 4); Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.49(1) (rr 1.35-1.54 added by SI 2002/2712). The addition of these provisions to the rules does not apply where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2).

3 Ie a moratorium under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 1A (as added): Sch A1 para 1 (as added: see note 2 supra). See para 73 et seq ante. For the meaning of 'the beginning of the moratorium' see para 78 ante.

4 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.49(2) (as added: see note 2 supra). A creditor may vote in respect of a debt for an unliquidated amount or any debt whose value is not ascertained and for the purposes of voting, but not otherwise, his debt must be valued at £1 unless the chairman (ie the nominee: see paras 75 note 4, 98 ante) agrees to put a higher value on it: r 1.49(3) (as so added). The chairman's decision on this matter and on the admission or rejection of a claim is subject to appeal to the court by any creditor or member of the company (r 1.50(3) (as so added)), although an application to the court by way of appeal against the chairman's decision may not be made after the end of the period of 28 days beginning with the first day on which the report required by the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 30(3) (as added) (see para 101 post) has been made to the court (Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.50(6) (as so added)). The chairman is not personally liable for any costs incurred by any person in respect of an appeal under these provisions: r 1.50(7)

(as so added). As to the meaning of 'member' see para 72 note 9 ante. For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante.

5 Ibid r 1.50(1) (as added: see note 2 supra). The chairman may admit or reject a claim in whole or in part: r 1.50(2) (as so added).

6 See ibid r 1.50(3) (as added); and note 4 supra.

7 Ibid r 1.50(4) (as added: see note 2 supra).

8 Ibid r 1.52(1) (as added: see note 2 supra). The same applies in respect of any other resolution proposed at the meeting but substituting one-half for three-quarters: r 1.52(2) (as so added). At a meeting of the creditors for any resolution to pass extending, or further extending, a moratorium (see para 82 ante) or to bring a moratorium to an end before the end of the period of any extension (see para 81 ante) there must be a majority in excess of three-quarters in value of the creditors present in person or by proxy and voting on the resolution; and for this purpose the provision requiring there to be left out of account a creditor's vote in respect of any secured or part-secured claim or part of a claim (see the text and note 11 infra) does not apply and a secured creditor is entitled to vote in respect of the amount of his claim without deducting the value of his security: r 1.52(3) (as so added). If the chairman uses a proxy contrary to the provisions restricting the use by the chairman of any proxy held by him (see rr 1.15, 1.48(5) (as added); and para 98 ante), his vote with that proxy does not count towards the majority: r 1.52(7) (as so added; and amended by SI 2003/1730). As to the meaning of 'modifications' see para 84 note 5 ante.

9 It is for the chairman to decide whether a vote is to be left out of account: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.52(6)(a) (as added (see note 2 supra); and amended by SI 2003/1730). His decision is subject to appeal to the court by any creditor or member: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.52(8) (as so added). As to appeals see note 4 supra.

10 Ibid r 1.52(4)(a) (as added: see note 2 supra).

11 Ibid r 1.52(4)(b) (as added: see note 2 supra). See note 8 supra.

12 Ibid r 1.52(4)(c) (as added: see note 2 supra). A creditor's vote in respect of any claim or part of a claim will not, however, be left out of account in these circumstances if the creditor is willing to treat the liability to him on the bill or note of every person who is liable on it antecedently to the company, and against whom a bankruptcy order has not been made or, in the case of a company, which has not gone into liquidation, as a security in his hands (r 1.52(4)(c)(i) (as so added)) and to estimate the value of the security and, for the purpose of entitlement to vote but not of any distribution under the arrangement, to deduct it from his claim (r 1.52(4)(c)(ii) (as so added)).

13 For these purpose, only those creditors who have notice of the meeting, whose votes are not to be left out of account pursuant to ibid r 1.52(4) (as added) (see the text and notes 9-11 supra), and who are not, to the best of the chairman's belief, persons connected with the company, are counted: r 1.52(5) (as added: see note 2 supra). It is for the chairman to decide whether a person is a connected person and for these purposes the chairman is entitled to rely on the information provided by the statement of the company's affairs (see para 75 ante) or otherwise in accordance with Pt I (rr 1.1-1.54 (as amended)): r 1.52(6)(b) (as so added). His decision is subject to appeal to the court by any creditor or member: r 1.52(8) (as so added). As to appeals see note 4 supra. For the meaning of 'connected' with a company see para 5 ante.

14 The chairman's decision on any matter under these provisions or in respect of the provisions relating to his agreement to put a higher value on a debt for an unliquidated amount or a debt whose value is not ascertained for the purposes of voting is subject to appeal to the court by any creditor or member of the company: see ibid rr 1.49(3), 1.50(3), 1.52(8) (as added); and the text and notes 4, 9, 13 supra. As to the mechanism for appeals see note 4 supra.

15 Ibid rr 1.50(5), 1.52(8) (as added: see note 2 supra). The court's power to make such an order is exercisable only if it considers that the circumstances giving rise to the appeal are such as give rise to unfair prejudice or material irregularity: r 1.52(5) (as so added).

UPDATE

71-144 Company Voluntary Arrangements

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

100 Voting and requisite majorities at creditors' meetings

NOTE 8--SI 1986/1925 r 1.52(1), (2) substituted: SI 2010/686.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(2) MORATORIUM/(vii) Approving the Voluntary Arrangement/101. Reports of meetings.

101. Reports of meetings.

After the conclusion of company meetings and creditors' meetings¹ the chairman of the meeting² must prepare a report of the meetings and report the result of the meeting to the court³. The report must:

- 146 (1) state whether the proposal for a voluntary arrangement⁴ was approved by the creditors of the company⁵ alone or by both the creditors and members of the company and in either case whether such approval was with any modifications⁶;
- 147 (2) set out the resolutions which were taken at each meeting, and the decisions on each one⁷;
- 148 (3) list the creditors and members of the company, with their respective values, who were present or represented at the meetings, and how they voted on each resolution⁸;
- 149 (4) state whether, in the opinion of the supervisor⁹, the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings¹⁰ applies to the voluntary arrangement and, if so, whether the proceedings are main proceedings, secondary proceedings or territorial proceedings¹¹; and
- 150 (5) include such further information, if any, as the chairman thinks it appropriate to make known to the court¹².

Immediately after reporting to the court, the chairman of each meeting must also give notice of its result to all those who were sent notice of the meeting¹³.

2 Ie the nominee: see paras 75 note 4, 98 ante.

3 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 30(3) (Sch A1 added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 1, Sch 1 paras 1, 4); Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.24(1), 1.54(2) (rr 1.35-1.54 added by SI 2002/2712. The addition of these provisions to the rules does not apply where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). A copy of the chairman's report must be filed in court within four days of the meetings being held, and the court must cause that copy to be endorsed with the date of filing: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.24(3). For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante. As to the making of proposals see paras 72 ante, 108 post.

6 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.24(2)(a) (amended by SI 2002/2712). Where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies) the report is required simply to state whether the proposal was approved or rejected (ie there is no requirement to specify by whom) and, if approved, with what (if any) modifications: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.24(2)(a); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). As to the meaning of 'modifications' see para 84 note 5 ante. As to the meaning of 'member' see para 72 note 9 ante.

In the case of a proposed voluntary arrangement relating to a limited liability partnership, the report (of the single meeting held) must include, where modifications to the proposal were proposed at the meeting, the response to those proposed modifications made by the partnership: see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 4(6); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1305 post.

If the voluntary arrangement has effect (ie under the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 36(1)(a), (c), (2)-(6) (as added) (see para 103 post)) or, where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), has been approved by the meetings, whether or not in the form proposed, the supervisor (see para 105 post) must forthwith send a copy of the chairman's report to the registrar of companies: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.24(5), 1.54(3)(c) (r 1.24(5) amended by SI 2002/2712; Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.54 as so added); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). As to the registrar of companies see COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARA 131 et seq.

There is a prescribed form of a report by the chairman of the meeting to the registrar of companies required for these purposes (see the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 12.7, Sch 4 Form 1.1 (substituted by SI 2002/2712)). However, the only person to send a copy of the chairman's report to the registrar of companies is the supervisor.

In the case of a proposed voluntary arrangement relating to a limited liability partnership, notice of the result of the meeting must also be given to the partnership: see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 4(6); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1305 post.

103. Decisions to implement the arrangement.

A decision with respect to the approval of a proposed voluntary arrangement¹ (and therefore the bringing to an end of the moratorium²) has effect if it has been taken either by both the company³ and creditors' meetings⁴ or by the creditors' meeting only⁵, although if the decision taken by the creditors' meeting differs from one taken by the company meeting a member⁶ of the company may apply to the court⁷ for an order that the company meeting decision have effect instead of the creditor meeting decision⁸.

104. Effect of approval.

Where a decision approving a voluntary arrangement¹ has effect², the arrangement takes effect as if made by the company³ at the creditors' meeting⁴. The arrangement binds every person who in accordance with the rules was entitled to vote at that meeting⁵ (whether or not he was present or represented at it)⁶, or would have been so entitled if he had had notice of it⁷, as if he were a party to the voluntary arrangement⁸, and the court⁹ must dismiss any petition for the winding up of the company¹⁰ which was presented before the beginning of the moratorium¹¹.

11 Ibid Sch A1 para 37(4) (as added: see note 4 supra). For the meaning of 'the beginning of the moratorium' see para 78 ante. As to moratoriums see para 73 et seq ante. The court must not dismiss a winding-up petition: (1) at any time before the end of the period of 28 days beginning with the first day on which each of the reports of the meetings required to be made by the chairman to the court pursuant to Sch A1 para 30(3) (as added) (see para 101 ante) has been made to the court (Sch A1 para 37(5)(a) (as so added)); or (2) at any time when an application to the court under Sch A1 para 38 (as added) (see para 107 post) or an appeal in respect of such an application is pending or at any time in the period within which such an appeal may be brought (Sch A1 para 37(5)(b) (as so added)). As to notification of the completion of the arrangement see para 139 post.

UPDATE

71-144 Company Voluntary Arrangements

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(2) MORATORIUM/(vii) Approving the Voluntary Arrangement/105. Appointment of supervisor and transfer of assets.

105. Appointment of supervisor and transfer of assets.

Where a voluntary arrangement¹ approved by one or both of the meetings summoned by the nominee² has taken effect³, the person who is for the time being carrying out in relation to the arrangement the functions conferred by virtue of the approval of the arrangement⁴ on the nominee, or by virtue of any modifications⁵ on a person other than the nominee, will be known as the supervisor of the arrangement⁶. On the taking effect of the arrangement the directors⁷ must forthwith do all that is required for putting the supervisor into possession of the assets included in the arrangement⁸.

If the voluntary arrangement is approved, with or without modifications, by the creditors' meeting, a resolution may be taken by the creditors, where two or more supervisors are appointed, on the question whether acts to be done in connection with the arrangement may be done by any one of them, or must be done by both or all⁹. If at either meeting a resolution is moved for the appointment of some person other than the nominee to be supervisor of the arrangement, there must be produced to the chairman, at or before the meeting, that person's written consent to act, unless he is present and then and there signifies his consent¹⁰, and his written confirmation that he is qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner¹¹ or is an authorised person¹² in relation to the company¹³.

Provision is also made for increasing the number of persons exercising the functions of supervisor or, where there is more than one person exercising those functions, for replacing one or more of those persons¹⁴.

1 For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante.

2 As to the summoning of company and creditors meetings see para 96 et seq ante. As to the meaning of 'the nominee' see para 75 note 4 ante.

3 Ie pursuant to the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 36(1)(a), (c), (2)-(6) (as added) (see para 103 ante).

4 As to the approval of the voluntary arrangement and the effect of approval see paras 101, 104 ante.

5 Ie pursuant to the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 31(2) (as added) (see para 96 ante). As to the meaning of 'modifications' see para 84 note 5 ante.

6 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 39(1), (2) (Sch A1 added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 1, Sch 1 paras 1, 4). As to the functions of the supervisor see para 106 post.

7 As to the meaning of 'director' see para 5 note 2 ante.

8 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.54(1) (r 1.22(1) substituted, r 1.22(2) repealed, r 1.22(3)(b) amended, rr 1.35-1.54 added, by SI 2002/2712). The amendments made to these provisions do not apply where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2).

9 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.22(1), 1.54(2) (r 1.22(1) as substituted and r 1.54(2) as added: see note 8 supra). Where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), it is instead provided that if the voluntary arrangement is approved, with or without modifications, by both the company and creditors' meetings, a resolution may be taken by the creditors, where two or more insolvency practitioners are appointed to act as supervisor, on the question whether acts to be done in connection with the arrangement may be done by any one of them, or must be done by both or all, and that such a resolution may be passed in anticipation of the approval of the voluntary arrangement by the company meeting if that meeting has not then been concluded: r 1.22(1), (2) (as originally enacted); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2).

10 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.22(3)(a).

11 As to qualification to act as an insolvency practitioner and acting as such see para 8 et seq ante.

12 For the meaning of 'authorised person' see para 98 note 7 ante.

13 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.22(3)(b) (as amended: see note 8 supra). Confirmation that a person is an authorised person in relation to the company is not required in a case where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), since an authorised person could not in those circumstances be appointed: r 1.22(3)(b) (as originally enacted); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2).

14 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 39(7) (as added: see note 6 supra). Whenever it is expedient to appoint a person to carry out the functions of the supervisor, and it is inexpedient, difficult or impracticable for an appointment to be made without the assistance of the court, the court may make an order appointing a person who is qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner, or authorised to act as supervisor, in relation to the voluntary arrangement, either in substitution for the existing supervisor or to fill a vacancy: Sch A1 para 39(6) (as so added).

71-144 Company Voluntary Arrangements

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(2) MORATORIUM/(vii) Approving the Voluntary Arrangement/107. Challenge of decisions.

107. Challenge of decisions.

The nominee¹, any person entitled to vote at either the company meeting² or the creditors' meeting³, and any person who would have been entitled to vote at the creditors' meeting if he had had notice of it⁴, may apply to the court⁵ on one or both of the following grounds:

- 151 (1) that a voluntary arrangement⁶ approved at one or both of the meetings⁷ and which has taken effect⁸ unfairly prejudices the interests of a creditor, member or contributory of the company⁹;
- 152 (2) that there has been some material irregularity at or in relation to either of those meetings¹⁰.

Where on such an application the court is satisfied as to either of the grounds it may:

- 153 (a) revoke or suspend any decision approving the voluntary arrangement which has effect¹¹;
- 154 (b) revoke or suspend any decision taken by the meeting in respect of which some material irregularity has been shown¹²;
- 155 (c) give a direction¹³, pending revocation or suspension of the decision approving the arrangement, to any person for the summoning of further meetings to consider any revised proposal for a voluntary arrangement which the directors may make¹⁴; or
- 156 (d) give a direction for the summoning of a further company meeting or, as the case may be, creditors' meeting to reconsider the original proposal where a decision has been taken by a meeting in respect of which some material irregularity has been shown¹⁵.

The Insolvency Rules 1986¹⁶ make provision as to the making of such orders¹⁷.

1 As to the meaning of 'the nominee' see para 75 note 4 ante. The nominee is the chairman at both the creditors' and company meetings and at any combined meeting: see para 98 ante.

2 As to entitlement to vote and requisite majorities at company meetings see para 99 ante. As to the meaning of 'company' see paras 71 note 1, 73 note 2 ante.

3 As to entitlement to vote and requisite majorities at creditors' meetings see para 100 ante.

4 As to the summoning of meetings see para 97 ante.

5 For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante. In relation to a regulated company (see para 73 note 2 ante), the persons who may apply to the court include the Financial Services Authority: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 44(11) (Sch A1 added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 1, Sch 1 paras 1, 4). If a person other than the Authority applies to the court, the Authority is entitled to be heard on the application: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 44(12) (as so added). No application may be made after the end of the period of 28 days beginning with the first day on which each of the reports of the meetings required to be made by Sch A1 para 30(3) (as added) (see para 101 ante) has been made to the court (Sch A1 para 38(3)(a) (as so added)) or, in the case of a person who was not given notice of the creditors' meeting, after the end of the period of 28 days beginning with the day on which he became aware that the meeting had taken place (Sch A1 para 38(3)(b) (as so added)), although an application by a person who would have been entitled to vote at the creditors' meeting if he had had notice of it on the ground that the arrangement prejudices his interests may be made after the arrangement has ceased to have effect (unless it came to an end prematurely) (Sch A1 para 38(3) (as so added)). As to the Financial Services Authority see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARAS 4, 6 et seq. As to when a voluntary arrangement comes to an end prematurely see para 74 note 15 ante.

6 For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante.

7 As to the approval of the voluntary arrangement see para 101 et seq ante.

8 As to the effect of approval see para 104 ante.

9 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch A1 para 38(1)(a), (2) (as added: see note 5 supra). As to the meaning of 'member' see para 72 note 9 ante. See further the cases noted to para 135 post.

10 Ibid Sch A1 para 38(1)(b) (as added: see note 5 supra). Except in pursuance of these provisions, a decision taken at a meeting summoned by the nominee under Sch A1 para 29 (as added) is not invalidated by any irregularity at or in relation to the meeting: Sch A1 para 38(9) (as so added).

Where the court revokes or suspends a decision under Sch A1 para 38(4)(a) (as added) or Sch A1 para 38(5) (as added), it may give such supplemental directions as it thinks fit and, in particular, directions with respect to things done under the voluntary arrangement since it took effect and such things done since that time as could not have been done if a moratorium had been in force in relation to the company when they were done: Sch A1 para 38(7)(b), (8) (as so added).

12 Ibid Sch A1 para 38(4)(a)(ii) (as added: see note 5 supra).

13 Where the court gives a direction under ibid Sch A1 para 38(4)(b) (as added), it may also give a direction continuing or, as the case may require, renewing, for such period as may be specified in the direction, the effect of the moratorium (ie the moratorium under s 1A (as added) (see para 73 et seq ante): Sch A1 para 1 (as added: see note 5 supra)): Sch A1 para 38(6) (as so added). Where the court gives a direction under Sch A1 para 38(4)(b) (as added), it may give such supplemental directions as it thinks fit and, in particular, directions with respect to things done under the voluntary arrangement since it took effect and such things done since that time as could not have been done if a moratorium had been in force in relation to the company when they were done: Sch A1 para 38(7)(a), (8) (as so added).

14 Ibid Sch A1 para 38(4)(b)(i) (as added: see note 5 supra). Where, at any time after giving a direction to any person for the summoning of further meetings to consider any revised proposal for a voluntary arrangement which the directors may make, the court is satisfied that the directors do not intend to submit a revised proposal, the court must revoke the direction and revoke or suspend any decision approving the voluntary arrangement which has effect: Sch A1 para 38(5) (as so added). See further note 11 supra. As to the meaning of 'director' see para 5 note 2 ante.

(3) PROCEDURE ON PROPOSAL WHERE THERE IS NO MORATORIUM

(i) Introduction

108. Proposals by directors, liquidators or administrators.

Proposals for voluntary arrangements¹ may be made by the directors² of a company³ or, if the company is in liquidation or administration, by the liquidator or administrator⁴. If the directors make the proposal, then provided the company is not in liquidation or administration and no steps have been taken to obtain a moratorium⁵ in connection with the proposal⁶, they must prepare and submit to the nominee and the court⁷ a number of documents detailing the state of the company and the contents and intentions of the proposal⁸. If the liquidator or administrator is making the proposal and is not also the nominee for the purposes of the proposal he must follow a broadly similar procedure⁹, although it will be subject to certain modifications reflecting his status as liquidator or administrator¹⁰. If, however, the liquidator or administrator is making the proposal and is also the nominee for the purposes of the proposal, the procedure is much simplified (since there is no need to submit any documentation to the nominee)¹¹, and is essentially reduced to simply preparing a proposal in a modified form¹².

109. Preparation and contents of proposal.

Where voluntary arrangements are proposed by the directors of a company¹ and there are no proposals for a moratorium², the directors must prepare a proposal and submit it to the intended nominee³. The proposal must include a document setting out the terms of the proposed arrangement⁴ and a statement of the company's affairs⁵, and must provide a short explanation why, in the directors' opinion, a voluntary arrangement is desirable, giving reasons why the company's creditors may be expected to concur with such an arrangement⁶. The matters which must be stated, or otherwise dealt with, in the proposal are:

- 157 (1) the company's assets, with an estimate of their respective values, so far as is within the directors' immediate knowledge⁷;
- 158 (2) the extent, if any, to which the company's assets are charged in favour of creditors or to which particular assets are to be excluded from the voluntary arrangement, so far as is within the directors' immediate knowledge⁸;
- 159 (3) particulars of any property, other than assets of the company itself, which it is proposed to include in the arrangement, the source of such property and the terms on which it is to be made available for inclusion⁹;
- 160 (4) the nature and amount of the company's liabilities, so far as within the directors' immediate knowledge, and the manner in which it is proposed they are to be met, modified, postponed or otherwise dealt with by means of the arrangement¹⁰;
- 161 (5) an estimate of: (a) the value of the prescribed part¹¹, should the company go into liquidation if the proposal for the voluntary arrangement is not accepted, whether or not the provisions regarding the share of the assets for unsecured creditors¹² are to be disapplied; and (b) the value of the company's net property on the date that the estimate is made¹³;
- 162 (6) whether any, and if so what, guarantees have been given of the company's debts by other persons, specifying which, if any, of the guarantors are persons connected with the company¹⁴;
- 163 (7) the proposed duration of the voluntary arrangement¹⁵;
- 164 (8) the proposed dates of distributions to creditors, with estimates of their amounts¹⁶;
- 165 (9) how it is proposed to deal with the claim of any person who is bound by the arrangement on the basis that he would have been entitled to vote at the meeting of creditors if he had had notice of it¹⁷;
- 166 (10) the amount proposed to be paid to the nominee, as such, by way of remuneration and expenses¹⁸;
- 167 (11) the manner in which it is proposed that the supervisor of the arrangement should be remunerated, and his expenses defrayed¹⁹;
- 168 (12) whether, for the purposes of the arrangement, any guarantees are to be offered by directors, or other persons, and whether, if so, any security is to be given or sought²⁰;

- 169 (13) the manner in which funds held for the purposes of the arrangement are to be banked, invested or otherwise dealt with pending distribution to creditors²¹;
- 170 (14) the manner in which funds held for the purposes of payment to creditors, and not so paid on the termination of the arrangement, are to be dealt with²²;
- 171 (15) the manner in which the business of the company is proposed to be conducted during the course of the arrangement²³;
- 172 (16) details of any further credit facilities which it is intended to arrange for the company, and how the debts so arising are to be paid²⁴;
- 173 (17) the functions which are to be undertaken by the supervisor of the arrangement²⁵;
- 174 (18) the name, address and qualification of the person proposed as supervisor of the voluntary arrangement, and confirmation that he is either qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner²⁶ in relation to the company or is an authorised person²⁷ in relation to the company²⁸;
- 175 (19) whether the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings²⁹ will apply and, if so, whether the proceedings will be main proceedings, secondary proceedings or territorial proceedings³⁰.

The purpose of preparing and submitting a proposal to the intended nominee is to provide him with material on which (with or without amendments) to prepare his report for the court (see para 113 post): Insolvency Act 1986 s 2(3); Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.2. The amendments, if any, are those made under r 1.3 (as amended) (r 1.2); amendments to the proposal may, subject to the written agreement of the nominee, be made at any time up to the delivery of the nominee's report to the court) (r 1.3(3)). For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante.

In the case of a proposed voluntary arrangement relating to a limited liability partnership, the proposal is required to be prepared and submitted by the designated members of the partnership: see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 2(3); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1305 post. For the meaning of 'limited liability partnership' see para 71 note 3 ante. 'Designated member' has the same meaning as it has in the Limited Liability Partnerships Act 2000: Insolvency Act 1986 s 436 (amended for these purposes by the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3); and see para 1309 post; and PARTNERSHIP vol 79 (2008) PARA 234 et seq.

9 Ibid r 1.3(2)(b).

10 Ibid r 1.3(2)(c). In particular, it must be stated: (1) how it is proposed to deal with preferential creditors and creditors who are, or claim to be, secured; (2) how persons connected with the company, being creditors, are proposed to be treated under the arrangement; and (3) whether there are, to the directors' knowledge, any circumstances giving rise to the possibility, in the event that the company should go into liquidation, of claims under the provisions dealing with transactions at an undervalue (ie under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 238 (as amended) (see para 843 et seq post)), preferences (ie under s 239 (as amended) (see para 843 et seq post)), extortionate credit transactions (ie under s 244 (as amended) (see para 857 et seq post)), or invalidity of floating charges (ie under s 245 (as amended) (see para 861 et seq post)), and, where any such circumstances are present, whether, and if so how, it is proposed under the voluntary arrangement to make provision for wholly or partly indemnifying the company in respect of such claims: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.3(2)(c)(i)-(iii). For these purposes, references to preferential debts and preferential creditors are to be read in accordance with the Insolvency Act 1986 s 386 (as amended) (see para 763 post) (Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.3(2)(c)(i)); 'secured creditor', in relation to a company, means a creditor of the company who holds in respect of his debt a security over property of the company, and 'unsecured creditor' is to be read accordingly (Insolvency Act 1986 s 248(a)); and 'security' means, in relation to England and Wales, any mortgage, charge, lien or other security (s 248(b)). For the meaning of 'connected' with a company see para 5 ante.

11 For these purposes, 'prescribed part' has the same meaning as it does in the Insolvency Act 1986 s 176A(2)(a) (as added) (see para 322 post): Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 13.13(15) (added by SI 2003/1730).

13 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.3(2)(ca) (r 1.3(2)(ca), (4) added by SI 2003/1730). The estimate is required to the best of the directors' knowledge and belief (Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.3(2)(ca) (as so added)); this requirement is subject to the proviso that nothing is to be taken as requiring the estimate to include any information the disclosure of which could seriously prejudice the commercial interests of the company (r 1.3(2)(ca), (4) (as so added)). If such information is excluded from the calculation, the estimate must be accompanied by a statement to that effect: r 1.3(4) (as so added). Note that where a proposal for a voluntary arrangement is made by a liquidator or administrator, r 1.3(2)(ca) (as added) does not apply to the liquidator or administrator's proposal, a different requirement being substituted: see r 1.10(1)(a), (3) (as amended and added); and para 116 post.

16 Ibid r 1.3(2)(f).

Where the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): (1) there is no requirement to state whether the proposed supervisor is an authorised person in relation to the company; and (2) the directors are required to confirm, so far as they are aware, the person's qualification to act as an insolvency practitioner in relation to the company: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.3(2)(p); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2).

111. Statement of affairs.

Where voluntary arrangements are proposed by the directors of a company¹ and there are no proposals for a moratorium², the directors must, within seven days after their proposal is delivered to the nominee³, or within such longer time as the nominee may allow, deliver to him a statement of the company's affairs⁴. The statement must comprise the following particulars:

UPDATE

71-144 Company Voluntary Arrangements

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(3) PROCEDURE ON PROPOSAL WHERE THERE IS NO MORATORIUM/(ii) Proposal by Directors where Nominee is neither Liquidator nor Administrator/113. Nominee's report on the proposal.

113. Nominee's report on the proposal.

Within 28 days, or such longer period as the court¹ may allow, after being given notice of a proposal for a voluntary arrangement by the directors of a company² in circumstances where there are no proposals for a moratorium³, the nominee must submit a report to the court⁴ stating:

- 186 (1) whether, in his opinion, the proposed arrangement has a reasonable prospect of being approved and implemented⁵;
- 187 (2) whether, in his opinion, meetings of the company and of its creditors should be summoned to consider the proposal⁶; and
- 188 (3) if in his opinion such meetings should be summoned, the date on which, and time and place at which, he proposes the meetings should be held⁷.

With his report to the court the nominee must deliver a copy of the directors' proposal⁸ and a copy or summary of the company's statement of affairs⁹. If the nominee makes known his opinion that the directors' proposal has a reasonable prospect of being approved and implemented and that meetings of the company and its creditors should be summoned, his report must have annexed to it his comments on the proposal, and if his opinion is otherwise, he must give his reasons for that opinion¹⁰.

1 For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante. As to the making of proposals see paras 72, 108 ante. As to the meaning of 'director' see para 5 note 2 ante. As to the meaning of 'company' see para 71 note 1 ante. As to the application of certain of these provisions in a modified form where a voluntary arrangement is proposed by the liquidator or administrator who is not also the intended nominee see para 118 post. For the meaning of 'the nominee' see para 71 ante.

3 I.e. a moratorium under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 1A (as added): Sch A1 para 1 (Sch A1 added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 1, Sch 1 paras 1, 4). See para 73 et seq ante.

4 For the purposes of enabling the nominee to consider the directors' proposal and prepare his report on it, the directors must give him access to the company's accounts and records: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.6(3). The court must cause the nominee's report to be endorsed with the date on which it is filed in court: r 1.7(3). Any director, member or creditor of the company is entitled, at all reasonable times on any business day, to inspect the file: r 1.7(3). The nominee must send a copy of his report, and of his comments, if any, to the company: r 1.7(4). As to the meaning of 'member' see para 72 note 9 ante.

For these purposes, 'business day' means any day other than a Saturday, a Sunday, Christmas Day, Good Friday or a day which is a bank holiday in England and Wales under or by virtue of the Banking and Financial Dealings Act 1971 (see TIME vol 97 (2010) PARA 321): Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 13.1, 13.13(1) (r 13.13(1) substituted by SI 1999/1022). 'Business day' has the same meaning in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 4.10 (see para 2221 post), r 4.11 (see para 462 post), and r 4.20 (see para 485 post): rr 13.1, 13.13(1) (as so substituted).

The nominee's report is not, however, required to state his opinion on this matter if he has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie if one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, art 3(1).

For the meaning of 'limited liability partnership' see para 71 note 3 ante. In relation to a building society, any reference to a meeting of the society in the Insolvency Act 1986 s 2 (as amended) is a reference to a meeting to both shareholding and borrowing members of the society and to a meeting of shareholding members alone: see the Building Societies Act 1986 Sch 15A Pt I, Pt II paras 6, 8(a), (b) (Sch 15A added by the Building Societies Act 1997 s 39(2), Sch 6; Building Societies Act 1986 Sch 15A Pt I amended by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 2(b), Sch 2 para 14(1), (2); the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Mutual Societies) Order 2001, SI 2001/2617, art 13(1), Sch 3 paras 131, 210; and the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Consequential Amendments and Repeals) Order 2001, SI 2001/3649, art 200(2)).

Failure to submit report; replacement of nominee.

114. Failure to submit report; replacement of nominee.

Where, in a case where voluntary arrangements are proposed by the directors of a company¹ and there are no proposals for a moratorium², either the nominee has failed to submit his report³ or has died, or it is impracticable or inappropriate for the nominee to continue to act as such, the court⁴ may direct that the nominee be replaced as such by another person qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner⁵, or authorised to act as nominee, in relation to the voluntary arrangement⁶. The person intending to propose the voluntary arrangement is entitled to apply for a direction in either circumstance⁷, while the nominee himself may also apply for a direction where it is required on the grounds that it is impracticable or inappropriate for him to continue to act as such⁸.

Where a person other than the nominee intends to apply to the court for the nominee to be replaced, he must give to the nominee at least seven days' notice of his application⁹, and where the nominee intends to apply for his own replacement, he must give at least seven days' notice of his application to the person intending to make the proposal¹⁰. No appointment of a replacement nominee can be made by the court unless there is filed in court a statement by the replacement nominee indicating his consent to act and that he is qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner in relation to the company or is an authorised person¹¹ in relation to the company¹².

The court may not, however, direct the replacement of a nominee who has died, or direct the replacement of a nominee where it is impracticable or inappropriate for the nominee to continue to act as such, and in any event may not direct the replacement of the nominee with anyone other than another person qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner in relation to the company, if the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie if one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency Act 1986 s 2(4) (as originally enacted); Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, art 3(1).

UPDATE

71-144 Company Voluntary Arrangements

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(3) PROCEDURE ON PROPOSAL WHERE THERE IS NO MORATORIUM/(ii) Proposal by Directors where Nominee is neither Liquidator nor Administrator/115. Summoning of meetings.

115. Summoning of meetings.

Where voluntary arrangements are proposed by the directors of a company¹, there are no proposals for a moratorium², and the nominee³, not being the liquidator or administrator, has reported to the court⁴ that meetings of the company and of its creditors⁵ should be summoned to consider the proposal, the nominee must, unless the court otherwise directs, summon those meetings for the time, date and place proposed in his report⁶. The date on which such meetings are to be held must be not less than 14, nor more than 28, days from that on which the nominee's report is filed in court⁷.

Notices calling the meetings must be sent by the nominee at least 14 days before the day fixed for them to be held, in the case of the creditors' meeting, to all the creditors specified in the statement of affairs and any other creditors of the company of whose claim and address the nominee is otherwise aware⁸, and, in the case of the meeting of members of the company, to all persons who are, to the best of the nominee's belief, members of it⁹. Each such notice must specify the court¹⁰ to which the nominee's report has been delivered and must state the effect of the provisions dealing with requisite majorities of creditors at the creditors' meeting¹¹; and with each notice there must be sent a copy of the directors' proposal¹², a copy of the statement of affairs¹³ or, if the nominee thinks fit, a summary of it¹⁴, and the nominee's comments on the proposal¹⁵.

Where a notice is sent to a creditor in accordance with the rules, although not in fact received by him, but the creditor otherwise has notice of the meeting, the notice is valid and such a creditor is bound by the arrangement, if approved¹⁶. A person who has no actual notice of the creditors' meeting is not bound by the arrangement; constructive notice of a creditors' meeting is not by itself sufficient¹⁷.

The matters which the directors should specify in a proposal made by them are those contained in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.2, 1.3 (r 1.3 as amended): see para 109 ante. A proposal made by a liquidator or administrator is not, however, required to contain an estimate of the value of the prescribed part in the event that the company should go into liquidation if the proposal is not accepted (ie under r 1.3(2)(ca) (as added) (see para 109 ante)): rr 1.10(1)(a), 1.12(3) (r 1.10(1)(a) amended by SI 2003/1730; Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.12(3) as so amended). Instead, the proposal must include a statement which: (1) contains an estimate, to the best of the liquidator or administrator's knowledge and belief, of the value of the prescribed part (whether or not he proposes to make an application to the court under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 176A(5) (as added) (see para 322 post) or s 176A(3) (as added) applies (see para 322 post)), and an estimate of the value of the company's net property (Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.10(3)(a), 1.12(3) (r 1.10(3), (4) added by SI 2003/1730); Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925 r 1.12(3) as so amended); and (2) states whether and, if so, why, the administrator or liquidator proposes to make an application to court under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 176A(5) (as added) (see para 322 post) (Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.10(3)(b) (as so added), r 1.12(3) (as so amended)). Nothing is to be taken, however, as requiring any such estimate to include any information the disclosure of which could seriously prejudice the commercial interests of the company, although if such information is excluded from the calculation the statement must be accompanied by a statement to that effect: rr 1.10(4) (as so added), 1.12(3) (as so amended). For the meaning of 'prescribed part' see para 109 note 11 ante.

6 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.10(1)(b), 1.12(3) (r 1.12(3) as amended: see note 4 supra).

7 For these purposes, references to preferential creditors are to be read in accordance with the Insolvency Act 1986 s 386 (as amended) (see para 763 post): Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.10(1)(a) (amended by SI 1987/1919).

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. FURTHER STEPS WHERE LIQUIDATOR OR ADMINISTRATOR IS NOT HIMSELF THE NOMINEE/118. Notification of nominee and summoning of meetings.

C. FURTHER STEPS WHERE LIQUIDATOR OR ADMINISTRATOR IS NOT HIMSELF THE NOMINEE

118. Notification of nominee and summoning of meetings.

Where the liquidator or administrator proposes a voluntary arrangement in relation to which he is not himself the nominee¹, he must give notice to the intended nominee in the same manner as is required of the directors² in the case of a proposal by them³. The intended nominee must then make a report on the proposal⁵, and summon the necessary meetings⁶, in the same manner as he would be required to do in respect of a proposal made by the directors⁷, he is also liable to be replaced under the same terms as he is when dealing with a directors' proposal⁸.

1 In accordance with the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.1(1), (2)(c) (r 1.1(2)(c) substituted by SI 2002/2712). For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante. For the meaning of 'the nominee' see para 71 ante. As to the making of proposals see paras 72, 108 ante. As to the preparation of proposals by the administrator or liquidator see para 116 ante. As to the applicable further provisions where the liquidator or administrator is himself the nominee see para 117 ante.

If the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie if one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), the circumstances under which the liquidator or administrator is required to proceed in accordance with these provisions are those where the nominee is an insolvency practitioner other than the liquidator or the administrator: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.1(1), (2)(c); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2).

2 As to the meaning of 'director' see para 5 note 2 ante.

3 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.12(1), (2). As to the giving of notice to the intended nominee see r 1.4(1); and para 110 ante. The notice, accompanied by a copy of the proposal, must be delivered either to the nominee himself or to a person authorised to take delivery of documents on his behalf: rr 1.4(2), 1.12(2). If the intended nominee agrees to act, he must cause a copy of the notice to be endorsed to the effect that it has been received by him on a specified date: rr 1.4(3), 1.12(2). The copy of the notice so endorsed must be returned by the nominee forthwith to the directors at an address specified by them in the notice for that purpose: rr 1.4(4), 1.12(2).

Where the company is being wound up by the court, the liquidator or administrator must send a copy of the proposal to the official receiver, accompanied by the name and address of the insolvency practitioner or (except where the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie if one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies)) the authorised person who has agreed to act as nominee: r 1.12(6) (amended by SI 2002/2712). 5 As to the making of the nominee's report see the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.7; and para 113 ante. The nominee may request from the liquidator or administrator such further particulars as he would be entitled to request of the directors for the purpose of enabling him to prepare his report: r 1.12(4) (see r 1.6; and (reading references to the directors as references to the liquidator or administrator) para 112 ante).

B. DECISIONS OF MEETINGS; VOTING RIGHTS AND MAJORITIES

123. Decisions of meetings and modifications of the proposal.

The meetings of creditors and the company¹ summoned² to consider a proposed voluntary arrangement must decide whether to approve the arrangement, with or without modifications³. The modifications may include one conferring the functions proposed to be conferred on the nominee on another person qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner⁴ or authorised to act as nominee in relation to the voluntary arrangement⁵; but they must not include any modification by virtue of which the proposal ceases to be a proposal⁶ for a voluntary arrangement⁷. A meeting may not approve any proposal or modification which affects the right of a secured creditor⁸ of the company to enforce his security⁹, except with the concurrence of the creditor concerned¹⁰. Nor may a meeting approve any proposal or modification under which¹¹ any preferential debt¹² of the company is to be paid otherwise than in priority to such of its debts as are not preferential debts¹³, or a preferential creditor¹⁴ of the company is to be paid an amount in respect of a preferential debt that bears to that debt a smaller proportion than is borne to another preferential debt by the amount that is to be paid in respect of that other debt¹⁵. The meeting may, however, approve such a proposal or modification with the concurrence of the preferential creditor concerned¹⁶.

The terms of any modifications made at the meetings are effective even if not reduced to writing, provided that there is a clear understanding of what the debtor company is submitting to the creditors for their approval¹⁷. Modifications to the arrangement after the meeting can be made only if permitted within the terms of the arrangement; and the court has inherent jurisdiction to direct such modifications¹⁸.

2 As to the summoning of meetings where voluntary arrangements are proposed by the directors see para 115 ante; as to the summoning of meetings where the liquidator or administrator proposes a voluntary arrangement in relation to which he is himself the nominee see para 117 ante; and as to the summoning of meetings where the liquidator or administrator proposes a voluntary arrangement in relation to which he is not himself the nominee see para 118 ante. As to combined meetings see para 127 post. For general provisions as to meetings see para 119 ante. For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante. As to the making of proposals see paras 72, 108 ante. As to the meaning of 'director' see para 5 note 2 ante. For the meaning of 'the nominee' see para 71 ante.

3 Insolvency Act 1986 s 4(1). As to the meaning of 'modifications' see para 84 note 5 ante. As to the effect of approval of a voluntary arrangement, and as to the creditors who may be bound, see para 131 post. In the case of a voluntary arrangement relating to a limited liability partnership, there is only one meeting: see s 4(1), (5); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1305 post. In such a case, if modifications to the proposal are proposed at the meeting the chairman must, before the conclusion of the meeting, ascertain from the partnership whether or not it accepts the proposed modifications; and if at that conclusion the partnership has failed to respond to a proposed modification it is presumed not to have agreed to it: see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 4(5A) (added by the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3). For the meaning of 'limited liability partnership' see para 71 note 3 ante.

4 As to qualification to act as an insolvency practitioner and acting as such see para 8 et seq ante.

5 Insolvency Act 1986 s 4(2) (amended by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 2(a), Sch 2 paras 1, 4). The modifications cannot include one conferring the functions proposed to be conferred on the nominee on another person authorised to act as nominee in relation to the voluntary arrangement if the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie if one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, art 3(1).

6 le a proposal such as is mentioned in the Insolvency Act 1986 s 1: see paras 71-72 ante.

10 Insolvency Act 1986 s 4(3).

11 This provision does not preclude the approval of a voluntary arrangement 'as a result of which' ibid s 4(4) (a) or s 4(4)(b) is infringed, but only one 'under which' they are infringed: IRC v Wimbledon Football Club Ltd [2004] EWCA Civ 655, 148 Sol Jo LB 697, [2004] All ER (D) 437 (May).

UPDATE

71-144 Company Voluntary Arrangements

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

123 Decisions of meetings and modifications of the proposal

NOTE 11--IRC v Wimbledon, cited, reported: [2005] 1 BCLC 66.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(3) PROCEDURE ON PROPOSAL WHERE THERE IS NO MORATORIUM/(iv) Consideration of the Proposal/B. DECISIONS OF MEETINGS; VOTING RIGHTS AND MAJORITIES/124. Creditors' voting rights.

124. Creditors' voting rights.

Every creditor who was given notice of the creditors' meeting¹ is entitled to vote at the meeting or any adjournment of it². Votes are calculated according to the amount of the creditor's debt as at the date of the meeting or, where the company³ is being wound up or is in administration, the date of its going into liquidation⁴ or, as the case may be, when it entered administration⁵. Creditors whose claims are partly secured may vote with respect to the unsecured part of their claim⁶. A creditor may vote in respect of a debt for an unliquidated amount or any debt whose value is not ascertained; and for the purposes of voting, but not otherwise, his debt is valued at £1 unless the chairman agrees to put a higher value on it⁷. At any creditors' meeting the chairman⁸ must ascertain the entitlement of persons wishing to vote and must admit or reject their claims accordingly; and the admission or rejection of a claim may be in whole or in part⁹. If the chairman is in doubt whether a claim should be admitted or rejected, he must mark it as objected to and allow the creditor to vote, subject to his vote being subsequently declared invalid if the objection to the claim is sustained¹⁰.

The chairman's decision on any of these matters¹¹ is subject to appeal to the court¹² by any creditor or member of the company¹³.

1 As to the summoning of meetings where voluntary arrangements are proposed by the directors see para 115 ante; as to the summoning of meetings where the liquidator or administrator proposes a voluntary arrangement in relation to which he is himself the nominee see para 117 ante; and as to the summoning of meetings where the liquidator or administrator proposes a voluntary arrangement in relation to which he is not himself the nominee see para 118 ante. As to combined meetings see para 127 post. For general provisions as to meetings see para 119 ante. For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante. As to the making of proposals see paras 72, 108 ante. As to the meaning of 'director' see para 5 note 2 ante. For the meaning of 'the nominee' see para 71 ante.

2 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.17(1) (r 1.17 substituted, and r 1.17A added, by SI 2002/2712). The provisions concerning the consideration of proposals for voluntary arrangements and the implementation and effect of such arrangements (ie the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.13-1.29 (as amended)) apply to all such proposals whether made by the directors of the company (unless a moratorium has been sought) or by a liquidator or administrator: see para 119 note 2 ante. As to the consideration of proposals and effect of arrangements during a moratorium see para 96 et seq ante.

3 As to the meaning of 'company' see para 71 note 1 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'go into liquidation' see para 9 note 3 ante.

5 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.17(2) (as substituted (see note 2 supra); and amended by SI 2003/1730). If the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie if one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), votes must be calculated according to the amount of the creditor's debt as at the date of the meeting or, where the company is being wound up or is subject to an administration order, the date of its going into liquidation or, as the case may be, of the administration order: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.17(2); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2).

7 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.17(3) (as substituted: see note 2 supra). If the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie if one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), a creditor may not vote in respect of a debt for an unliquidated amount, or any debt whose value is not ascertained, except where the chairman agrees to put upon the debt an estimated minimum value for the purpose of entitlement to vote: r 1.17(3) (as originally enacted); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). It is sufficient for these purposes for the chairman to express a willingness to assess an estimated minimum amount of the claim of a creditor who is present or represented rather than to arrive at any agreement with the creditor on the estimated minimum value of the claim; and a creditor with an unliquidated or unascertained claim cannot frustrate the arrangement by staying away from the creditors' meeting: Doorbar v Alltime Securities Ltd [1995] 1 BCLC 316, sub nom Re A Debtor (No 192 of 1993), Doorbar v Alltime Securities Ltd [1994] BCC 994 (affd [1996] 2 All ER 948, [1996] 1 WLR 456, CA); Beverly Group plc v McClue [1995] 2 BCLC 407, [1995] BCC 751; Re Cancel Ltd [1996] 1 All ER 37, [1996] 1 BCLC 100.

As to secured creditors and preferential creditors see para 123 ante; and as to debts secured by bills of exchange etc see para 125 post.

8 As to the chairman see para 121 ante.

9 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.17A(1), (2) (as added: see note 2 supra). Similar provisions apply if the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie if one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): see r 1.17(4) (as originally enacted); and the Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2).

10 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.17A(4) (as added: see note 2 supra). Similar provisions apply if the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie if one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): see r 1.17(6) (as originally enacted); and the Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2).

This procedure is the proper procedure to follow in relation to disputed debts: Re a Debtor (No 222 of 1990), ex p Bank of Ireland [1992] BCLC 137.

11 Ie under the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.17(3) (as substituted) and r 1.17A (as added): see the text and notes 7-10 supra.

12 For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante.

13 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.17A(3) (as added: see note 2 supra). As to the meaning of 'member' see para 72 note 9 ante. An application to the court by way of appeal against the chairman's decision may not be made after the end of the period of 28 days beginning with the first day on which the report required by the Insolvency Act 1986 s 4(6) (see para 129 post) has been made to the court: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.17A(6) (as so added). If on an appeal the chairman's decision is reversed or varied, or a creditor's vote is declared invalid, the court may order another meeting to be summoned, or make such order as it thinks just; but the court's power to make such an order is exercisable only if it considers that the matter is such as gives rise to unfair prejudice or material irregularity: r 1.17A(5) (as so added). The chairman is not personally liable for any costs incurred by any person in respect of an appeal to the court under these provisions (r 1.17A(7) (as so added)), although he may be held liable to pay all or part of the costs of other legal proceedings arising out of his inadequate discharge of his duties where he is responsible for a material irregularity and where his conduct falls significantly below the standards of a licensed insolvency practitioner (Re Mohammed Naeem (a bankrupt) (No 18 of 1988) [1990] 1 WLR 48; Re Cranley Mansions Ltd [1994] 1 WLR 1610, [1995] 1 BCLC 290; Re a Debtor (No 222 of 1990), ex p Bank of Ireland (No 2) [1993] BCLC 233). Where the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003, rights of appeal exist under and in accordance with the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.17(5), (7)-(9) (as originally enacted): Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2).

UPDATE

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(3) PROCEDURE ON PROPOSAL WHERE THERE IS NO MORATORIUM/(iv) Consideration of the Proposal/B. DECISIONS OF MEETINGS; VOTING RIGHTS AND MAJORITIES/125. Requisite majorities at creditors' meetings.

125. Requisite majorities at creditors' meetings.

For any resolution approving any proposal for a voluntary arrangement¹ or a modification of such a proposal² to pass at a creditors' meeting³ there must be a majority in excess of three-quarters in value of the creditors present in person or by proxy⁴ and voting on the resolution⁵. Any other resolution proposed at a creditors' meeting requires a majority in excess of one-half in value⁶.

A creditor's vote in respect of any claim or part of a claim is to be left out of account⁷ if:

- 189 (1) written notice of the claim was not given, either at the meeting or before it, to the chairman or convener⁸;
- 190 (2) the claim or part is secured⁹;
- 191 (3) the claim is in respect of a debt wholly or partly on, or secured by, a current bill of exchange or promissory note¹⁰.

A resolution is invalid if those voting against it include more than half in value of the creditors, counting only those creditors:

- 192 (a) to whom notice of the meeting was sent¹¹;
- 193 (b) whose votes are not to be left out of account¹²; and
- 194 (c) who are not, to the best of the chairman's belief, persons connected with the company¹³.

1 For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante. As to the making of proposals see paras 72, 108 ante.

2 As to the meaning of 'modifications' see para 84 note 5 ante. As to the modifications which are permissible see para 123 ante.

3 As to the summoning of meetings where voluntary arrangements are proposed by the directors see para 115 ante; as to the summoning of meetings where the liquidator or administrator proposes a voluntary arrangement in relation to which he is himself the nominee see para 117 ante; and as to the summoning of meetings where the liquidator or administrator proposes a voluntary arrangement in relation to which he is not himself the nominee see para 118 ante. As to combined meetings see para 127 post. For general provisions as to meetings see para 119 ante. As to the meaning of 'director' see para 5 note 2 ante. For the meaning of 'the nominee' see para 71 ante.

4 As to the applicable provisions relating to proxies and representation see para 120 ante. If the chairman uses a proxy contrary to the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.15 (see para 98 ante), his vote with that proxy does not count towards any majority under these provisions: r 1.19(6). As to the chairman see para 121 ante.

5 Ibid r 1.19(1). The provisions concerning the consideration of proposals for voluntary arrangements and the implementation and effect of such arrangements (ie rr 1.13-1.29 (as amended)) apply to all such proposals whether made by the directors of the company (unless a moratorium has been sought) or by a liquidator or administrator: see para 119 note 2 ante. As to the consideration of proposals and effect of arrangements during a moratorium see para 96 et seq ante.

7 It is for the chairman of the meeting to decide whether a vote is to be left out of account in accordance with these provisions: ibid r 1.19(5)(a). An appeal against the decision of the chairman under these provisions and the provisions of r 1.19(4)(c) (see the text and note 13 infra) lies to the court: r 1.19(7) (substituted by SI 2002/2712). The applicable provisions regarding such an appeal are the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.17A(5)-(7) (as added) (see r 1.19(7) (as so substituted)), except in a case where the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie if one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), in which event the applicable provisions are r 1.17(7)-(9) (as originally enacted) (see r 1.19(7) (as originally enacted)); the Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2)). See further para 124 note 13 ante.

8 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.19(3)(a). 'The convener' is the person summoning the meetings: see para 120 note 1 ante.

9 Ibid r 1.19(3)(b). For the meaning of 'secured creditor' see para 109 note 10 ante. As to the voting rights of secured creditors see para 124 ante.

10 Ibid r 1.19(3)(c). A creditor's vote in respect of any claim or part of a claim is left out of account in these circumstances unless the creditor is willing: (1) to treat the liability to him on the bill or note of every person who is liable on it antecedently to the company, and against whom a bankruptcy order has not been made or, in the case of a company, which has not gone into liquidation, as a security in his hands (r 1.19(3)(c)(i)); and (2) to estimate the value of the security and, for the purpose of entitlement to vote, but not of any distribution under the arrangement, to deduct it from his claim (r 1.19(3)(c)(ii)). For the meaning of 'go into liquidation' see para 9 note 3 ante.

11 Ibid r 1.19(4)(a).

12 Ibid r 1.19(4)(b). The reference in the text to those creditors whose votes are not to be left out of account is a reference to those whose votes are not to be left out of account under r 1.19(3) (see the text and notes 7-10 supra).

13 Ibid r 1.19(4)(c). For the meaning of 'connected' with a company see para 5 ante. It is for the chairman of the meeting to decide whether a person is a connected person for these purposes; and in such a case the chairman is entitled to rely on the information provided by the company's statement of affairs or otherwise in accordance with the rules relating to company voluntary arrangements: r 1.19(5)(b). The chairman's decision is subject to appeal: see note 7 supra.

If the chairman uses a proxy contrary to r 1.15 (see para 98 ante), his vote with that proxy does not count towards any majority for these purposes: r 1.20(3).

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. Proceedings to obtain agreement on the proposal.

127. Proceedings to obtain agreement on the proposal.

If the chairman¹ thinks fit, the creditors' meeting and the company meeting² may be held together³. The chairman may, and must if it is so resolved at the meeting in question, adjourn that meeting for not more than 14 days⁴. If there are subsequently further adjournments, the final adjournment must not be to a day later than 14 days after the date on which the meetings were originally held⁵. If following any final adjournment of the creditors' meeting the proposal, with or without modifications⁶, has not been approved by the creditors, it is deemed rejected⁷.

1 As to the chairman see para 121 ante.

2 As to the summoning of meetings where voluntary arrangements are proposed by the directors see para 115 ante; as to the summoning of meetings where the liquidator or administrator proposes a voluntary arrangement in relation to which he is himself the nominee see para 117 ante; and as to the summoning of meetings where the liquidator or administrator proposes a voluntary arrangement in relation to which he is not himself the nominee see para 118 ante. For general provisions as to meetings see para 119 ante. For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante. As to the making of proposals see paras 72, 108 ante. As to the meaning of 'director' see para 5 note 2 ante. For the meaning of 'the nominee' see para 71 ante.

3 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.21(1) (r 1.21 substituted by SI 2002/2712). The substitution of these provisions does not apply where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). In such circumstances, the procedure for obtaining agreement on the proposal is as follows: on the day on which the meetings of creditors and the company are held, they may from time to time be adjourned, and, if the chairman thinks fit for the purpose of obtaining the simultaneous agreement of the meetings to the proposal, with the same modifications, if any, the meetings may be held together: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.21(1) (as originally enacted); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). If on that day the requisite majority for the approval of the voluntary arrangement, with the same modifications, if any, has not been obtained from both creditors and members of the company, the chairman may, and must if it is so resolved, adjourn the meetings for not more than 14 days (with the requirement that, if the proposal has been made by the directors, notice of the adjournment must be given by the nominee forthwith to the court): Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.21(2), (5) (as originally enacted); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). If there are subsequently further adjournments, the final adjournment must not be to a day later than 14 days after the date on which the meetings were originally held (Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.21(3) (as originally enacted); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2)); there must, however, be no adjournment of either meeting unless the other is also adjourned to the same business day (Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.21(4) (as originally enacted); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2)). If following any final adjournment of the meetings the proposal, with the same modifications, if any, is not agreed by both meetings, it is deemed rejected: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.21(6) (as originally enacted); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). As to the meaning of 'member' see para 72 note 9 ante.

The provisions concerning the consideration of proposals for voluntary arrangements and the implementation and effect of such arrangements (ie the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.13-1.29 (as amended)) apply to all such proposals whether made by the directors of the company (unless a moratorium has been sought) or by a liquidator or administrator: see para 119 note 2 ante. As to the consideration of proposals and effect of arrangements during a moratorium see para 96 et seq ante.

4 Ibid r 1.21(2) (as substituted: see note 3 supra). Any adjournment of the meetings must comply with the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925 (as amended): see Re Symes (a debtor), Kent Carpets Ltd v Symes [1995] 2 BCLC 651, [1996] BCC 137; and para 119 ante.

5 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.21(3) (as substituted: see note 3 supra). In the case of a proposal by the directors, if the meetings are adjourned, notice of the fact must be given by the nominee forthwith to the court: r 1.21(4) (as so substituted). For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante.

6 As to the meaning of 'modifications' see para 84 note 5 ante. As to the modifications which are permissible see para 123 ante.

If the voluntary arrangement¹ is approved, with or without modifications², by the creditors' meeting³, a resolution may be taken by the creditors, where two or more supervisors are appointed⁴, on the question whether acts to be done in connection with the arrangement may be done by any one of them, or must be done by both or all⁵. If, at either the creditors' meeting or the company meeting, a resolution is moved for the appointment of some person other than the nominee to be supervisor of the arrangement, there must be produced to the chairman, at or before the meeting, that person's written consent to act, unless he is present and then and there signifies his consent⁶, and his written confirmation that he is qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner⁷, or is an authorised person⁸, in relation to the company⁹.

UPDATE

71-144 Company Voluntary Arrangements

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(3) PROCEDURE ON PROPOSAL WHERE THERE IS NO MORATORIUM/(iv) Consideration of the Proposal/B. DECISIONS OF MEETINGS; VOTING RIGHTS AND MAJORITIES/129. Report of meetings.

129. Report of meetings.

After the conclusion of the creditors' meeting or of the company meeting¹, the chairman of the meeting² must prepare a report of the meetings and report the result of the meetings to the court³. The report must:

- 195 (1) state whether the proposal for a voluntary arrangement was approved by the creditors of the company⁴ alone or by both the creditors and members of the company and in either case whether such approval was with any modifications⁵;
- 196 (2) set out the resolutions which were taken at each meeting, and the decisions on each one⁶;
- 197 (3) list the creditors and members of the company, with their respective values, who were present or represented at the meetings, and how they voted on each resolution⁷;
- 198 (4) state whether, in the opinion of the supervisor⁸, the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings⁹ applies to the voluntary arrangement and, if so, whether the proceedings are main proceedings, secondary proceedings or territorial proceedings¹⁰; and
- 199 (5) include such further information, if any, as the chairman thinks it appropriate to make known to the court¹¹.

Immediately after reporting to the court, the chairman of each meeting must also give notice of its result to all those who were sent notice of the meeting¹².

1 As to the summoning of meetings where voluntary arrangements are proposed by the directors see para 115 ante; as to the summoning of meetings where the liquidator or administrator proposes a voluntary arrangement in relation to which he is himself the nominee see para 117 ante; and as to the summoning of meetings where the liquidator or administrator proposes a voluntary arrangement in relation to which he is not himself the nominee see para 118 ante. For general provisions as to meetings see para 119 ante. For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante. As to the making of proposals see paras 72, 108 ante. As to the meaning of 'director' see para 5 note 2 ante. For the meaning of 'the nominee' see para 71 ante.

2 As to the chairman see para 121 ante.

3 Insolvency Act 1986 s 4(6); Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.24(1). A copy of the chairman's report must be filed in court within four days of the meetings being held, and the court must cause that copy to be endorsed with the date of filing: r 1.24(3). 'File in court' and 'file with the court' mean deliver to the court for filing: r 13.13(3) (amended by SI 2003/1730). For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante. The provisions concerning the consideration of proposals for voluntary arrangements and the implementation and effect of such arrangements (ie the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.13-1.29 (as amended)) apply to all such proposals whether made by the directors of the company (unless a moratorium has been sought) or by a liquidator or administrator: see para 119 note 2 ante. As to the consideration of proposals and effect of arrangements during a moratorium see para 96 et seq ante.

4 As to the meaning of 'company' see para 71 note 1 ante.

5 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.24(2)(a) (amended by SI 2002/2712). The amendment of these provisions does not apply where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), in which case the report is required simply to state whether the proposal was approved or rejected (ie there is no requirement to specify by whom) and, if approved, with what (if any) modifications: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.24(2)(a) (as originally enacted); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). As to the meaning of 'modifications' see para 84 note 5 ante. As to the meaning of 'member' see para 72 note 9 ante.

In the case of a proposed voluntary arrangement relating to a limited liability partnership, the report (of the single meeting held) must include, where modifications to the proposal were proposed at the meeting, the response to those proposed modifications made by the partnership: see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 4(6); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1305 post. For the meaning of 'limited liability partnership' see para 71 note 3 ante.

12 Insolvency Act 1986 s 4(6); Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.24(4). If the voluntary arrangement has effect (ie under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 4A (as added) (see para 130 post)) (or, where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), has been approved by the meetings), whether or not in the form proposed, the supervisor must forthwith send a copy of the chairman's report to the registrar of companies: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.24(5) (amended by SI 2002/2712); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). As to the registrar of companies see COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARA 131 et seq. As to the persons to be sent notice of the meetings see paras 115, 117-118 ante.

There is a prescribed form of a report by the chairman of the meeting to the registrar of companies required for these purposes (see the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 12.7, Sch 4 Form 1.1 (substituted by SI 2002/2712)). However, the only person to send a copy of the chairman's report to the registrar of companies is the supervisor.

In the case of a proposed voluntary arrangement relating to a limited liability partnership, notice of the result of the meeting must also be given to the partnership: see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 4(6); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1305 post.

(v) Effect and Implementation of the Arrangement

130. Approval of arrangement.

A decision with respect to the approval of a proposed voluntary arrangement¹ taken at the meetings² summoned³ to consider that arrangement⁴ has effect if, in accordance with the Insolvency Rules 1986⁵, it has been taken by both the creditors' meeting and company meeting⁶. If, however, the decision taken by the creditors' meeting differs from that taken by the company meeting, a member of the company may apply to the court⁷ for an order that the decision of the company meeting is to have effect instead of the decision of the creditors' meeting⁸, and if such an order is made, the decision of the company meeting will have effect as if made by the creditors' meeting⁹. The court may also, on such an application, make such other order as it thinks fit¹⁰.

The addition of these provisions does not apply where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, arts 2, 3(1), (3).

Such an application may not be made until after the end of the period of 28 days beginning with the day on which the decision was taken by the creditors' meeting (s 4A(4)(a) (as so added)) or, where the decision of the company was taken on a later day, that day (s 4A(4)(b) (as so added)). In relation to a regulated company (see para 73 note 2 ante (definition applied by s 4A(5) (as so added))), the Financial Services Authority is entitled to be heard on any application: s 4A(5) (as so added). As to the Financial Services Authority see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARAS 4, 6 et seq.

Where the court makes an order under s 4A(6) (as added), the member of the company who applied for it must serve sealed copies of it on the supervisor of the voluntary arrangement (see para 132 post) and the directors of the company: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.22A(1), (2) (r 1.22A added by SI 2002/2712). The addition of these provisions does not apply where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI

The directors or (as the case may be) the supervisor must forthwith after receiving a copy of the court's order give notice of it to all persons who were sent notice of the creditors' or company meetings or who, not having been sent such notice, are affected by the order (r 1.22A(4) (as so added)), and the person on whose application the order was made must, within seven days of the order, deliver an office copy to the registrar of companies (r 1.22A(5) (as so added)). 130 Approval of arrangement

NOTE 9--Building Societies Act 1986 Pt I further amended: SI 2009/1941.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(3) PROCEDURE ON PROPOSAL WHERE THERE IS NO MORATORIUM/(v) Effect and Implementation of the Arrangement/131. Effect of approval.

131. Effect of approval.

Where a decision approving a voluntary arrangement¹ has effect², the arrangement takes effect as if made by the company³ at the creditors' meeting⁴. The arrangement binds every person who in accordance with the Insolvency Rules 1986⁵ was entitled to vote at that meeting (whether or not he was present or represented at it)⁶, or would have been so entitled if he had had notice of it⁷, as if he were a party to the voluntary arrangement⁸. An approved voluntary arrangement binds a creditor only qua creditor and does not affect any proprietary rights which the creditor may have⁹. Nor does an approved voluntary arrangement affect any third party's independent rights and obligations in respect of a debt which is included in the arrangement unless it is clear that this is the intention of the arrangement, in which case notice should be given to the third party of the proposed arrangement¹⁰. An approved voluntary arrangement can include future liabilities, such as rental obligations, of the debtor company¹¹.

If the company is being wound up or is in administration, the court¹² may by order stay all proceedings in the winding up or provide for the appointment of the administrator to cease to have effect¹³. The court may also, or as an alternative, give such directions with respect to the conduct of the winding up or the administration as it thinks appropriate for facilitating the implementation of the voluntary arrangement¹⁴.

2 Ie pursuant to the Insolvency Act 1986 s 4A (as added) (see para 130 ante).

3 As to the meaning of 'company' see para 71 note 1 ante.

4 Insolvency Act 1986 s 5(1), (2)(a) (s 5(1), (2)(b) substituted, s 5(2A) added, and s 5(2), (3)(b) amended, by the Insolvency Act 2000 ss 2(a), 15(1), Sch 2 paras 1, 6, Sch 5). The amendments made to these provisions do not apply where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies: Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, arts 2, 3(1), (3). In such circumstances the provisions of the Insolvency Act 1986 s 5 (as amended) (see the text and notes 5-14 infra) have effect where each of the meetings summoned under s 3 approves the proposed voluntary arrangement either with the same modifications or without modifications, and the reference to the voluntary arrangement in s 5(2)(a) is accordingly read as a reference to the approved arrangement: s 5(1), (2)(a) (as originally enacted); Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, arts 2, 3(1), (3). In the case of a voluntary arrangement relating to a limited liability partnership having effect under these circumstances, the provisions of the Insolvency Act 1986 s 5 (as originally enacted) have effect where the meeting summoned under s 3 approves the proposed voluntary arrangement either with modifications agreed to by the partnership or without modifications: see s 5(1) (as originally enacted); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1305 post. For the meaning of 'limited liability partnership' see para 71 note 3 ante.

As to the summoning of meetings where voluntary arrangements are proposed by the directors see para 115 ante; as to the summoning of meetings where the liquidator or administrator proposes a voluntary arrangement in relation to which he is himself the nominee see para 117 ante; and as to the summoning of meetings where the liquidator or administrator proposes a voluntary arrangement in relation to which he is not himself the nominee see para 118 ante. If when the arrangement ceases to have effect, any amount payable to a person bound by virtue of s 5(2)(b)(ii) (as substituted) has not been paid and the arrangement did not come to an end prematurely, the company will at that time become liable to pay to that person the amount payable under the arrangement: s 5(2A) (as added: see note 4 supra). Where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), the approved voluntary arrangement binds every person who had notice of, and was entitled to vote at, the creditors' meeting, whether or not he was present or represented at the meeting, as if he were a party to the voluntary arrangement: s 5(2)(b) (as originally enacted); Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, arts 2, 3(1), (3). 13 Insolvency Act 1986 s 5(3)(a) (amended by the Enterprise Act 2002 s 248(3), Sch 17 paras 9, 11). If a special administration regime (see para 145 post) has effect, or a petition for an administration order has been presented before 15 September 2003, this provision is expressed as having effect if the company is being wound up or if an administration order is in force, and instead of the power to provide for the appointment of the administrator to cease to have effect the court has power to discharge the administration order: Insolvency Act 1986 s 5(3)(a) (as originally enacted); Enterprise Act 2002 s 249(1), (2); Enterprise Act 2002 (Commencement No 4 and Transitional Provisions and Savings) Order 2003, SI 2003/2093, arts 2(1), 3(2)(a).

The court may not make an order under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 5(3)(a) (as amended) either: (1) at any time before the end of the period of 28 days beginning with the first day on which each of the reports required by s 4(6) (see para 129 ante) has been made to the court (s 5(4)(a)); or (2) at any time when an application under s 6 (as amended) (see para 135 et seq post) or an appeal in respect of such an application is pending, or at any time in the period within which such an appeal may be brought (s 5(4)(b)). In the case of a voluntary arrangement relating to a limited liability partnership, only one report is referred to: see s 6(3) (as originally enacted); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1305 post.

14 Insolvency Act 1986 s 5(3)(b) (as amended: see note 4 supra). Where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), the reference to the voluntary arrangement in s 5(3)(b) is a reference to the approved voluntary arrangement: s 5(3)(b) (as originally enacted); Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, arts 2, 3(1), (3).

71-144 Company Voluntary Arrangements

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(3) PROCEDURE ON PROPOSAL WHERE THERE IS NO MORATORIUM/(v) Effect and Implementation of the Arrangement/132. Appointment of supervisor and transfer of assets.

132. Appointment of supervisor and transfer of assets.

Where a voluntary arrangement¹ has effect², the person who is for the time being carrying out in relation to the arrangement the functions conferred either on the nominee³ by virtue of the approval given at one or both of the meetings⁴, or on a person other than the nominee by virtue of any modifications⁵, will be known as the supervisor of the arrangement⁶, and the directors⁷ (or, where the company is in liquidation or is in administration, and a person other than the responsible insolvency practitioner⁸ is appointed as supervisor of the voluntary arrangement, the insolvency practitioner)⁹, must forthwith do all that is required for putting the supervisor into possession of the assets included in the arrangement¹⁰. Where the company¹¹ is in liquidation or is in administration, the supervisor must, on taking possession of the assets, discharge any balance due to the insolvency practitioner by way of remuneration or on account of fees, costs, charges and expenses properly incurred and payable¹², and any advances made in respect of the company, together with interest on such advances¹³. The supervisor must from time to time out of the realisation of assets discharge all guarantees properly given by the insolvency practitioner for the benefit of the company, and must pay all the insolvency practitioner's expenses¹⁴.

The supervisor has power to apply to the court for an order under the provisions relating to transactions defrauding creditors where the victim of the transaction is bound by a voluntary arrangement¹⁵.

Provision is also made for increasing the number of persons exercising the functions of supervisor or, where there is more than one person exercising those functions, for replacing one or more of those persons¹⁶.

2 I.e. pursuant to the Insolvency Act 1986 s 4A (as added) (see para 130 ante): Insolvency Act 1986 s 7(1) (s 7(1), (5) amended, and s 7(2)(a) substituted, by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 2(a), Sch 2 paras 1, 9); Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.23(1) (amended by SI 2002/2712). The amendments made to the Insolvency Act 1986 s 7 and the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.23(1) do not apply where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, arts 2, 3(1), (3); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). In these circumstances the provisions of the Insolvency Act 1986 s 7 (as amended) have effect where a voluntary arrangement approved by each of the meetings summoned under s 3 (see note 4 infra) has taken effect, and the provisions of the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.23 (as amended) have effect after the approval of the voluntary arrangement: Insolvency Act 1986 s 7(1) (as originally enacted); Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.23(1) (as originally enacted); Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, arts 2, 3(1), (3); Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2).

The provisions concerning the consideration of proposals for voluntary arrangements and the implementation and effect of such arrangements (ie the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.13-1.29 (as amended)) apply to all such proposals whether made by the directors of the company (unless a moratorium has been sought) or by a liquidator or administrator: see para 119 note 2 ante. As to the consideration of proposals and effect of arrangements during a moratorium see para 96 et seq ante.

3 As to the nominee see para 71 ante.

4 le the meetings summoned under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 3: s 7(2)(a) (as substituted: see note 2 supra). As to the summoning of meetings where voluntary arrangements are proposed by the directors see para 115 ante; as to the summoning of meetings where the liquidator or administrator proposes a voluntary arrangement in relation to which he is himself the nominee see para 117 ante; and as to the summoning of meetings where the liquidator or administrator proposes a voluntary arrangement in relation to which he is not himself the nominee see para 118 ante. For general provisions as to meetings see para 119 ante. As to the meaning of 'director' see para 5 note 2 ante.

6 Ibid s 7(1), (2) (as amended: see note 2 supra). Where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), it is provided that the person who is for the time being carrying out in relation to the arrangement the functions conferred either on the nominee by virtue of approval, or on a person other than the nominee by virtue of any modifications, will be known as the supervisor of the arrangement: s 7(1), (2) (as originally enacted); Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, arts 2, 3(1), (3). In the case of a voluntary arrangement relating to a limited liability partnership having effect under these circumstances, the provisions of the Insolvency Act 1986 s 7 have effect where the meeting summoned under s 3 approves the proposed voluntary arrangement: see s 7(1) (as originally enacted); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1305 post. See also paras 115, 117 ante. For the meaning of 'limited liability partnership' see para 71 note 3 ante.

9 Ibid r 1.23(1)(b) (r 1.23(1)(b), (2) amended by SI 2003/1730).

10 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.23(1). The effect of the liquidation of the company on such a trust will depend on the provisions of the voluntary arrangement: if the arrangement provides for what is to happen on liquidation, effect must be given thereto, but if the arrangement does not so provide, the trust will continue notwithstanding the liquidation or failure of the arrangement and will take effect according to its terms: Re NT Gallagher & Son Ltd supra.

As an alternative to discharging these balances, the supervisor may, before taking possession, give the insolvency practitioner a written undertaking to discharge any such balance out of the first realisation of assets: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.23(3). The insolvency practitioner has a charge on the assets included in the voluntary arrangement in respect of any sums so due until they have been discharged, subject only to the deduction from realisations by the supervisor of the proper costs and expenses of such realisations: r 1.23(4).

15 Insolvency Act 1986 s 424(1)(b). As to transactions defrauding creditors see para 853 et seq post.

16 Ibid s 7(6). Whenever it is expedient to appoint a person to carry out the functions of the supervisor, and it is inexpedient, difficult or impracticable for an appointment to be made without the assistance of the court, the court may make an order appointing a person who is qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner, or authorised to act as supervisor, in relation to the voluntary arrangement, either in substitution for the existing supervisor or to fill a vacancy: s 7(5) (as amended: see note 2 supra). Where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), the court cannot in these circumstances by order appoint a person who is authorised to act as supervisor in relation to the voluntary arrangement: s 7(5) (as originally enacted); Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, arts 2, 3(1), (3).

(vi) Challenge of Decisions

135. Grounds for challenge.

An application to the court¹ may be made, by any of the specified persons², on one or both of the following grounds, namely: (1) that a voluntary arrangement³ which has effect⁴ unfairly prejudices the interests of a creditor, member⁵ or contributory⁶ of the company⁷; or (2) that there has been some material irregularity at or in relation to the creditors' meeting or the company meeting⁸. Unfair prejudice predicates unfairness inherent in the terms of the proposal itself and, in particular, prejudice resulting from discriminatory treatment of a creditor or a class of creditors; events occurring at or in relation to the meetings, false and misleading information in the proposal and shortcomings in the documentation required for a voluntary arrangement may constitute material irregularities at or in relation to the meetings⁹.

1 For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante. As to the mode of application and the procedure see para 1055 et seq post.

3 For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante.

The amendment of these provisions does not apply where the nominee (see para 71 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie if one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), in which case these provisions apply in respect of a voluntary arrangement approved at the meetings summoned under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 3 (see paras 115, 117, 118 ante): s 6(1)(a) (as originally enacted); Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2002, SI 2002/2711, art 3(1).

7 Insolvency Act 1986 s 6(1)(a) (as amended: see note 4 supra).

8 Ibid s 6(1)(b). In the case of a voluntary arrangement relating to a limited liability partnership, the applicable ground under s 6(1)(b) is that there has been some material irregularity at or in relation to the meeting: see s 6(1)(b) (as originally enacted); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1305 post. For the meaning of 'limited liability partnership' see para 71 note 3 ante. The test of material irregularity for these purposes is not whether the administrator had been right but whether his judgment about the material to be placed before the creditors was, based on the material available to him at the time, a judgment to which no reasonable insolvency practitioner could come: Re Trident Fashions plc (in administration) (No 2), Anderson v Kroll Ltd (No 2) [2004] EWHC 293 (Ch), [2004] 2 BCLC 35.

136. Who may apply and when.

The persons who may apply to the court¹ to challenge a decision are: a person entitled² to vote at either the creditors' meeting or the company meeting³; a person who would have been entitled to vote at the creditors' meeting if he had had notice of it⁴; the nominee or any person who has replaced him⁵; and, if the company is being wound up or is in administration, the liquidator or administrator⁶. An application may not be made after the end of the period of 28 days beginning with the first day on which each of the reports of the results of the meetings of creditors and members⁷ has been made to the court⁸ or, in the case of a person who was not given notice of the creditors' meeting, after the end of the period of 28 days beginning with the day on which he became aware that the meeting had taken place⁹ but, subject to that, an application by a person who would have been entitled to vote at the creditors' meeting if he had had notice of it on the ground that the voluntary arrangement prejudices his interests may be made after the arrangement has ceased to have effect, unless it came to an end prematurely¹⁰.

UPDATE

71-144 Company Voluntary Arrangements

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(3) PROCEDURE ON PROPOSAL WHERE THERE IS NO MORATORIUM/(vi) Challenge of Decisions/137. Powers of the court concerning challenges.

137. Powers of the court concerning challenges.

Where, on an application to challenge a decision¹, the court² is satisfied as to either of the specified grounds for making such an application³, it may do one or both of the following, namely:

- 203 (1) revoke or suspend any decision approving the voluntary arrangement⁴ which has effect⁵ or, where there has been some material irregularity at or in relation to either the creditors' meeting or the company meeting⁶, any decision taken by the meeting in question which has effect⁷;
- 204 (2) give a direction to any person for the summoning of further meetings to consider any revised proposal the person who made the original proposal may make or, where there has been some material irregularity at or in relation to either of the meetings, a further company meeting or, as the case may be, creditors' meeting to reconsider the original proposal⁸.

Where, at any time after giving a direction for the summoning of meetings to consider a revised proposal⁹, the court is satisfied that the person who made the original proposal does not intend to submit a revised proposal, the court must revoke the direction and revoke or suspend any decision approving the voluntary arrangement which has effect¹⁰. The court will not, however, summon further meetings if the results of them would be obvious¹¹.

In a case where the court, on such an application with respect to any meeting, gives a direction¹² or revokes or suspends an approval¹³, it may give such supplemental directions as it thinks fit and, in particular, directions with respect to things done under the voluntary arrangement since it took effect¹⁴.

Except in pursuance of these provisions¹⁵, a decision taken at a meeting of creditors or members¹⁶ is not invalidated by any irregularity at or in relation to the meeting¹⁷.

In the case of a voluntary arrangement relating to a limited liability partnership, it is instead provided that where at any time after giving a direction for the summoning of a meeting to consider a revised proposal the court is satisfied that the limited liability partnership does not intend to submit a revised proposal, the court must revoke the direction and revoke or suspend any approval given at the previous meeting: see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 6(5) (as originally enacted); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1305 post.

UPDATE

71-144 Company Voluntary Arrangements

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(4) REVOCATION, SUSPENSION, COMPLETION AND TERMINATION OF ARRANGEMENTS/138. Procedure following revocation or suspension.

(4) REVOCATION, SUSPENSION, COMPLETION AND TERMINATION OF ARRANGEMENTS

138. Procedure following revocation or suspension.

Where the court¹ makes an order of revocation or suspension of a voluntary arrangement², the person who applied for the order must serve sealed copies of it on the supervisor of the arrangement³, and the directors of the company⁴ or the administrator or liquidator, according to who made the proposal for the arrangement⁵. If the order includes a direction by the court for any further meetings to be summoned⁶, notice must also be given⁷ (by the person who applied for the order) to whoever is, in accordance with the direction, required to summon the meetings⁸.

The directors or, as the case may be, the administrator or liquidator must:

- 205 (1) forthwith after receiving a copy of the court's order, give notice of it to all persons who were sent notice of the creditors' and company meetings or who, not having been sent that notice, appear to be affected by the order⁹; and
- 206 (2) within seven days of receiving a copy of the order, or within such longer period as the court may allow, give notice to the court whether it is intended to make a revised proposal to the company and its creditors, or to invite reconsideration of the original proposal¹⁰.

The person on whose application the order of revocation or suspension was made must, within seven days after the making of the order, deliver a copy of the order to the registrar of companies¹¹.

1 For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante.

2 Ie under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 6 (as amended) (ie where no moratorium has been sought: see para 137 ante) or Sch A1 para 38 (as added) (ie where a moratorium has had effect: see para 107 ante). The provisions concerning the suspension, revocation, completion and termination of voluntary arrangements (ie the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.25, 1.29 (as amended) (see the text and notes 3-11 infra; and para 139 post)) apply to all voluntary arrangements whether or not a moratorium has been sought or granted. The addition of these provisions does not apply where the nominee (see paras 71, 75 note 4 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). Hence these provisions will not apply in those circumstances if a moratorium is in force. The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

NOTE 11--SI 1986/1925 Sch 4 Form 1.2 revoked: SI 2010/686.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. COMPANY VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS/(4) REVOCATION, SUSPENSION, COMPLETION AND TERMINATION OF ARRANGEMENTS/139. Completion of the arrangement.

139. Completion of the arrangement.

Not more than 28 days after the final completion or termination of the voluntary arrangement¹, the supervisor must send to all the creditors and members² of the company³ who are bound by it⁴ a notice that the voluntary arrangement has been fully implemented or, as the case may be, terminated⁵. With the notice there must be sent to each creditor and member a copy of a report by the supervisor summarising all receipts and payments made by him in pursuance of the arrangement, and explaining in relation to the implementation of the arrangement any departure from the proposals as they originally took effect or, in the case of termination of the arrangement, explaining the reasons why the arrangement has terminated⁶.

The supervisor must, within the 28-day period referred to above⁷, send to the registrar of companies⁸ and to the court a copy of the notice to creditors and members, together with a copy of the report⁹; and the supervisor must not vacate office until after such copies have been sent¹⁰.

1 For the meaning of 'voluntary arrangement' see para 71 ante. Where the nominee (see paras 71, 75 note 4 ante) has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies), the court may, on application by the supervisor, extend the 28 day period: see the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.29(4) (as originally enacted); the Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2); and note 5 infra. For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante. As to the supervisor where there is a moratorium see para 105 et seq ante; and as to the supervisor otherwise see para 132 et seq ante.

3 As to the meaning of 'company' see paras 71 note 1, 73 note 2 ante.

4 As to those bound by the voluntary arrangements where there is a moratorium see para 104 ante; and as to those bound by the voluntary arrangements where there is not a moratorium see para 131 ante.

5 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.29(1), 1.54(2) (r 1.29 substituted, and rr 1.35-1.54 added, by SI 2002/2712). The amendments made to these provisions do not apply where the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003: Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2). In those circumstances, the supervisor is not required to send notification of the termination of an arrangement, and the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.29 is of no effect where a moratorium has been granted: see r 1.29(1) (as originally enacted); and the Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2).

The provisions concerning the suspension, revocation, completion and termination of voluntary arrangements (ie the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.25, 1.29 (as amended)) apply to all voluntary arrangements whether or not a moratorium has been sought or granted. As to suspension and revocation see para 138 ante. As to moratoriums (ie under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 1A, Sch A1 para 1 (as added)) see para 73 et seq ante.

6 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.29(2) (as substituted: see note 5 supra). In the report the supervisor must include a statement as to the amount paid, if any, to unsecured creditors by virtue of the application of the Insolvency Act 1986 s 176A (as added) (provisions relating to the share of the assets for unsecured creditors: see para 322 post): Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.29(4) (added by SI 2003/1730). As to the mode of application and the procedure see para 1055 et seq post.

Where the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003, the explanation required is limited to an explanation of any difference in the actual implementation of the agreement as compared with the proposal as approved by the creditors' and company meetings: see the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 1.29(2) (as originally enacted); and the Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2).

7 See the text and note 1 supra.

8 As to the registrar of companies see COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARA 131 et seq. For the prescribed form to be sent to the registrar of companies see the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 1.29, 12.7, Sch 4 Form 1.4.

9 See the report under ibid r 1.29(2) (see the text and note 6 supra).

10 Ibid r 1.29(3) (as substituted: see note 5 supra). The requirement that the supervisor must not vacate office until after copies have been sent does not apply where the nominee has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003: see r 1.29(3) (as originally enacted); and the Insolvency (Amendment) (No 2) Rules 2002, SI 2002/2712, r 3(2).

NOTE 8--SI 1986/1925 Sch 4 Form 1.4 revoked: SI 2010/686.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/4. (5) MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS CONCERNING VOLUNTARY ARRANGEMENTS

140. Power to ensure continuation of essential supplies by utilities.

Where a moratorium is in force or a voluntary arrangement, approved by meetings of creditors and the company¹, has taken effect² and if a request is made by or with the concurrence of, as the case may be, the nominee or the supervisor³ for the giving after the effective date⁴ of:

- 207 (1) a supply of gas by a gas supplier⁵;
- 208 (2) a supply of electricity by an electricity supplier⁶;
- 209 (3) a supply of water by a water undertaker⁷; or
- 210 (4) a supply of communications services⁸ by a provider of a public electronic communications service⁹, the supplier:

- 211 (a) may make it a condition of the giving of the supply that the supervisor personally guarantees the payment of any charges in respect of that supply¹⁰; but
- 212 (b) must not make it a condition of the giving of the supply, or do anything which has the effect of making it a condition of the giving of the supply, that any outstanding charges in respect of a supply given to the company before the effective date are paid¹¹.

No such power to ensure the continuation of supplies by a trader, other than the utilities described above, exists, subject to the terms of the underlying supply contract¹².

(6) EC REGULATION

142. Conversion of voluntary arrangement into winding up.

Where a member state liquidator proposes to apply to the court for the conversion under the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings¹ of a voluntary arrangement into a winding up, an affidavit² must be prepared and sworn and filed in court in support of the application³. Such an application must be by originating application⁴. The application and the affidavit required must be served on the company and the supervisor⁵.

The affidavit must state:

- (1) that main proceedings have been opened in relation to the company in a member state other than the United Kingdom⁶;
- (2) the deponent's belief that the conversion of this voluntary arrangement into a winding up would prove to be in the interests of the creditors in the main proceedings⁷;
- (3) the deponent's opinion as to whether the company ought to enter voluntary winding up or be wound up by the court⁸; and
- (4) all other matters that, in the opinion of the member state liquidator, would assist the court in deciding whether to make such an order and, if the court were to do so, in considering the need for any consequential provision that would be necessary or desirable⁹.

Such an affidavit must be sworn by or on behalf of the member state liquidator¹⁰.

On hearing the application for conversion into winding up, the court may make such order as it thinks fit¹¹. If the court makes an order for conversion into winding up, the order contain all such consequential provisions as the court deems necessary or desirable¹². An order may, in particular, provide that the company be wound up as if a resolution for voluntary winding up¹³ were passed on the day on which the order is made¹⁴.

Where the court makes an order for conversion into winding up, any expenses properly incurred as expenses of the administration of the voluntary arrangement in question must be a first charge on the company's assets¹⁵.

(7) PROSECUTION OF DELINQUENT OFFICERS

144. Prosecution of delinquent officers of company.

Where a moratorium has been obtained for a company¹ or the approval of a voluntary arrangement in relation to a company has taken effect², if it appears to the nominee or supervisor⁴ that any past or present officer of the company has been guilty of any offence in connection with the moratorium or, as the case may be, voluntary arrangement for which he is criminally liable, the nominee or supervisor must forthwith report the matter to the appropriate authority⁵ and provide the appropriate authority with such information and give the authority such access to and facilities for inspecting and taking copies of documents, being information or documents in the possession or under the control of the nominee or supervisor and relating to the matter in question, as the authority requires⁶.

Where a report is made to the Secretary of State he may, for the purpose of investigating the matter reported to him and such other matters relating to the affairs of the company as appear to him to require investigation, exercise any of the powers which are exercisable under the Companies Act 1985⁷ to investigate a company's affairs⁸. For the purpose of such an investigation, any obligation imposed on a person by any provision of the Companies Act 1985 to produce documents or give information to, or otherwise to assist, inspectors appointed to investigate a company's affairs is to be regarded as an obligation to similarly assist the Secretary of State in his investigation⁹. An answer given by a person to a question put to him in exercise of the powers conferred by these provisions may be used in evidence against him¹⁰. However, in most criminal proceedings¹¹, no evidence relating to the answer may be adduced and no question relating to it may be asked, by or on behalf of the prosecution, unless evidence relating to it is adduced, or a question relating to it is asked, in the proceedings by or on behalf of that person¹².

Where a prosecuting authority institutes criminal proceedings following any report, the nominee or supervisor and every officer and agent of the company past and present, other than the defendant or defender, must give the authority all assistance in connection with the prosecution which he is reasonably able to give¹³. The court may, on the application of the prosecuting authority, direct any person mentioned above to comply with the requirement if he has failed to do so¹⁴.

The addition of these provisions does not apply where the nominee for the voluntary arrangement has agreed and commenced to act in connection with the proposed arrangement before 1 January 2003 (ie where one of the circumstances set out in para 71 note 6 ante applies): Insolvency Act 2000 (Commencement No 3 and Transitional Provisions)

5. ADMINISTRATION

(1) INTRODUCTION

145. Nature of administration: the Insolvency Act 1986 and the Enterprise Act 2002.

Company administration is generally governed by a statutory scheme introduced by the Enterprise Act 2002¹. This scheme applies to all administrations commencing after 15 September 2003², apart from administrations operated under special administration regimes³. Where, however, a petition for an administration order has been presented prior to 15 September 2003, or where the administration is operated under a special administration regime, that is, where it relates to:

- 215 (1) a statutory water and sewerage undertaker⁴;
- 216 (2) a protected railway company⁵;
- 217 (3) a licensed air traffic services company⁶;
- 218 (4) a public-private partnership company⁷;
- 219 (5) a building society⁸; or
- 220 (6) a qualifying licensed water supplier⁹, the administration will continue to be governed by the Insolvency Act 1986 as enacted prior to the introduction of the new scheme under the Enterprise Act 2002 ('the former administration provisions')¹⁰.

The former administration provisions also continue to apply in so far as is necessary to give effect to the statutory provisions governing the administration of insolvent partnerships¹¹, limited liability partnerships¹², and insurers¹³.

At the date at which this volume states the law, no such day had been appointed. For the meaning of 'qualifying licensed water supplier' see the Water Industry Act 1991 s 23(6) (prospectively added by the Water Act 2003 Sch 8 paras 2, 8(1), (6)). As to administrations under the former administration provisions see paras 146-211 post.

The effect of the continuance of the Insolvency Act 1986 Pt II as enacted prior to the amendments effected by the Enterprise Act 2002 in relation to special administration regimes may be modified, in respect of a particular class of company or society, either by order of the Treasury (in the case of building societies) or of the Secretary of State (in other cases): s 249(3). Such an order may make consequential amendment of an enactment (s 249(4)), must be made by statutory instrument (s 249(5)(a)), and may not be made unless a draft has been laid before and approved by resolution of each House of Parliament (s 249(5)(b)). An amendment of the Insolvency Act 1986 made by the Enterprise Act 2002 is without prejudice to any power conferred by the Companies Act 1989 Pt VII (ss 154-191) (as amended): Enterprise Act 2002 s 249(6). 146. Administration order.

An administration order is an order directing that, during the period for which the order is in force, the affairs, business and property of the company are to be managed by a person ('the administrator') appointed for the purpose by the court¹.

For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante. As to the courts having winding-up jurisdiction see para 438 et seq post. For the prescribed form of an administration order see the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 2.9, 12.7, Sch 4 Form 2.4 (as originally enacted). See para 145 note 10 ante. In the provisions of the Insolvency Act 1986 Pts I-VII (ss 1-251) (as amended), as they apply for these purposes (see para 145 ante) and except in so far as the context otherwise requires, 'insolvency', in relation to a company, includes the making of an administration order: s 247(1). In the Insolvency Act 1986 Pt II (as amended), a reference to a company includes a reference to a company in relation to which an administration order may be made by virtue of EC Council Regulation 1346/2000 (OJ L160, 30.6.2000, p 1) on insolvency proceedings ('the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings') art 3 (jurisdiction): Insolvency Act 1986 s 8(7) (added by the Insolvency Act 1986 (Amendment) (No 2) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/1240, regs 3, 5). As to the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings see para 46 et seq ante. Under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 8(7) (as added), the jurisdiction to make an administration order extends to a company incorporated by royal charter: Re Salvage Association [2003] EWHC 1028 (Ch), [2003] 3 All ER 246, [2004] 1 WLR 174. 146 Administration order

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/5. ADMINISTRATION/(2) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE FORMER ADMINISTRATION PROVISIONS/(i) Power to make Administration Orders/147. Power of court to make an administration order.

147. Power of court to make an administration order.

The court¹ may make an administration order² in relation to a company³, if it is satisfied that the company is or is likely to become unable to pay its debts⁴, and it considers that the making of such an order would be likely to achieve one or more of the following purposes⁵:

- 221 (1) the survival of the company, and the whole or any part of its undertaking, as a going concern⁶;
- 222 (2) the approval of a voluntary arrangement⁷;
- 223 (3) the sanctioning⁸ of a compromise or arrangement between the company and its creditors and members⁹;
- 224 (4) a more advantageous realisation of the company's assets than would be effected on a winding up¹⁰.

The order must specify the purpose or purposes for which it is made¹¹.

An administration order may not be made in relation to a company after it has gone into liquidation¹² nor in relation to certain insurance companies¹³, but an order may be made in respect of former authorised institutions¹⁴ which are companies within the meaning of the Companies Act 1985¹⁵ or in respect of companies which are subject to special administration regimes¹⁶. A foreign company may also be the subject¹⁷ of an administration order¹⁸.

1 For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante.

2 For the meaning of 'administration order' see para 146 ante. A court in the United Kingdom may not in general make an administration order in relation to an EEA insurer (as defined in the Insurers (Reorganisation and Winding Up) Regulations 2004, SI 2004/353, reg 2(1) or any of its branches or in relation to an EEA credit institution (as defined in the Credit Institutions (Reorganisation and Winding up) Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1045, reg 2(1) or any of its branches: see the Insurers (Reorganisation and Winding Up) Regulations 2004, SI 2004/353, reg 4(1)(c), (4); and the Credit Institutions (Reorganisation and Winding up) Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1045, reg 3(1)(c), (4). Those regulations modify the law of insolvency in connection with insurers and credit institutions pursuant to EC Council Directive 2001/17 (OJ L110, 20.4.2001, p 28) on the reorganisation and winding up of insurance undertakings and EC Council Directive 2001/24 (OJ L125, 5.5.2001, p 15) on the reorganisation and winding up of credit institutions.

3 As to the meaning of 'company' for these purposes see paras 3, 146 note 1 ante.

4 Insolvency Act 1986 s 8(1)(a). The provisions of Pt II (ss 8-27) (as amended) are saved for the purposes of administrations commencing before 15 September 2003 and special administration regimes: see para 145 ante. Section 8 (as amended) is modified in its application to the conduct of the administration of building societies: see the Building Societies Act 1986 Sch 15A Pt I, Pt II paras 6, 10 (Sch 15A added by the Building Societies Act 1997 s 39(2), Sch 6; and amended by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 2(b), Sch 2 para 14(1), (2); the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Mutual Societies) Order 2001, SI 2001/2617, art 13(1), Sch 3 paras 131, 210; and the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Consequential Amendments and Repeals) Order 2001, SI 2001/3649, art 200(2)).

For the meaning of the expression 'inability to pay its debts' see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 123; and para 446 post. For the purposes of an administration petition presented by the Financial Services Authority alone or together with any other party, and for the purposes of an administration petition presented pursuant to the Banks (Administration Proceedings) Order 1989, SI 1989/1276 (as amended) (see the text and notes 14-15 infra), an authorised deposit taker who defaults in an obligation to pay any sum due and payable in respect of a relevant deposit is deemed to be unable to pay its debts for these purposes: Insolvency Act 1986 s 8(1A) (s 8(1A), (1B), (5), (6) added, and s 8(4) substituted, by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Consequential Amendments and Repeals) Order 2001, SI 2001/3649, arts 303, 304); Banks (Administration Proceedings) Order 1989, SI 1989/1276, Schedule para 1 (substituted by SI 2001/3649). 'Authorised deposit taker' means a person who has permission under the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 Pt IV (ss 40-55) to accept deposits, but excludes a person who has such permission only for the purpose of carrying on another regulated activity in accordance with that permission; and 'relevant deposit' must be read with s 22, Sch 2, and any relevant order under s 22 (although any restriction on the meaning of 'deposit' which arises from the identity of the person making it is to be disregarded): Insolvency Act 1986 s 8(1B) (as so added); Banks (Administration Proceedings) Order 1989, SI 1989/1276, Schedule para 1 (as so substituted); and see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARAS 84, 85, 348 et seq. As to the Financial Services Authority see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARAS 4, 6 et seq.

A petitioner has to establish that insolvency of the company is more likely than not and it is not sufficient for the petitioner to prove that there was a 'real prospect' of insolvency: Re Colt Telecom Group plc [2002] EWHC 2815 (Ch), [2002] All ER (D) 347 (Dec).

10 Ibid s 8(3)(d).

11 Ibid s 8(3). The court must be satisfied that there is a real prospect that the purpose or, if more than one, each of the purposes in question, may be achieved: Re Harris Simons Construction Ltd [1989] 1 WLR 368, [1989] BCLC 202; Re Primlaks (UK) Ltd [1989] BCLC 734, 5 BCC 710; Re SCL Building Services Ltd [1990] BCLC 98, 5 BCC 746; Re Rowbotham Baxter Ltd [1990] BCLC 397, [1990] BCC 113; Re Chelmsford City Football Club (1980) Ltd [1991] BCC 133; Re Structures and Computers Ltd [1998] 1 BCLC 292, [1998] BCC 348; Re Lomax Leisure Ltd [1999] 2 BCLC 126 at 140 per Neuberger J; Re CE King Ltd [2000] 2 BCLC 297 at 308 per Neuberger J. If in the course of the administration it becomes apparent that further purposes are likely to be achieved, an application may be made under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 18(1) (see para 162 post) to vary the order by the addition of a further specified purpose or purposes. Even if satisfied that there is a real prospect that one or more of the specified purposes will be achieved, the court has a discretion whether or not to make an administration order and, in exercising such discretion, the court will examine the degree of likelihood that the specified purpose or purposes will be achieved: Re Harris Simons Construction Ltd supra; Re Primlaks (UK) Ltd supra. As to the court's discretion to make an administration order see further para 154 post.

12 Insolvency Act 1986 s 8(4) (as substituted: see note 4 supra). For the meaning of 'go into liquidation' see para 9 note 3 ante. It seems that, even where a permanent stay of a winding up is granted (see para 903 post), a company will still be deemed to have gone into liquidation within the meaning of the Insolvency Act 1986 s 8(4) (as substituted): Re SN Group plc [1994] 1 BCLC 319, [1993] BCC 808. The Insolvency Act 1986 s 8(4) (as substituted) does not apply in the case of an administration order relating to a limited liability partnership: see the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1306 post.

13 Insolvency Act 1986 s 8(5) (s 8(5) as added (see note 4 supra); s 8(5)(a) substituted, and s 8(5)(b) amended, by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Consequential Amendments) Order 2002, SI 2002/1555, art 14). An administration order may not be made against a company if: (1) it effects or carries out contracts of insurance but is not: (a) exempt from the general prohibition (within the meaning of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 s 19: see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 80) in relation to carrying out contracts of insurance; or (b) an authorised deposit taker (see note 4 supra) effecting or carrying out contracts of insurance in the course of banking business (Insolvency Act 1986 s 8(5)(a) (as so added and substituted)); or (2) other than for the purposes of an administration petition presented pursuant to the Banks (Administration Proceedings) Order 1989, SI 1989/1276 (as amended), it continues to have a liability in respect of a deposit which was held by it in accordance with the Banking Act 1979 or the Banking Act 1987 but is not an authorised deposit taker (Insolvency Act 1986 s 8(5)(b) (as so added and amended)); Banks (Administration Proceedings) Order 1989, SI 1989/1276, Schedule para 2 (amended by SI 2002/1555)). The Insolvency Act 1986 s 8(5)(a) (as added and substituted) is to be read with the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 s 22, Sch 2, and any relevant order under s 22 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 84, 85): Insolvency Act 1986 s 8(6) (as added: see note 4 supra). The Insolvency Act 1986 s 8(5)(a) (as added and substituted) does not preclude the making of an administration order in relation to an insurer: see the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Administration Orders Relating to Insurers) Order 2002, SI 2002/1242, art 3 (as originally enacted). See para 145 note 10 ante.

The Insolvency Act 1986 s 8(5), (6) (as added and amended) do not apply in the case of an administration order relating to a limited liability partnership: see the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3 (amended by SI 2004/355); and para 1306 post. For the meaning of 'limited liability partnership' see para 71 note 3 ante.

14 For these purposes, 'former authorised institution' means a company which continues to have a liability in respect of a deposit which was held by it in accordance with the Banking Act 1979 or the Banking Act 1987 and is not an authorised person within the meaning given by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 s 31 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 314): Banks (Administration Proceedings) Order 1989, SI 1989/1276, art 1A (added by SI 2001/3649).

15 Banks (Administration Proceedings) Order 1989, SI 1989/1276, art 2 (amended by SI 2001/3649; SI 2002/1555). For the meaning of 'company' for these purposes see the Companies Act 1985 s 735; and COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARAS 1, 24.

16 As to the companies which may be subject to special administration regimes see para 145 ante.

18 See Re Dallhold Estates (UK) Pty Ltd [1992] BCLC 621, [1992] BCC 394. In the absence of a request under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 426(4) (see para 1029 post), and in a case not falling within EC Council Regulation 1346/2000 (OJ L160, 30.6.2000, p 1) on insolvency proceedings ('the EC Regulation') (see para 46 et seq ante), it is doubtful whether the court has jurisdiction to make an administration order in respect of a company incorporated outside the United Kingdom: cf Felixstowe Dock & Rly Co v United States Lines Inc [1989] QB 360 at 376, [1988] 2 All ER 77 at 91 per Hirst J; Re International Bulk Commodities Ltd [1993] Ch 77, [1993] 1 All ER 361; Re Devon and Somerset Farmers Ltd [1994] Ch 57, [1994] 1 All ER 717.

(ii) Petition and Procedure on Petition; Effect of Administration Orders

148. Petition for administration order.

An application to the court¹ for an administration order² must be by petition presented either by the company or the directors³, or by a creditor or creditors (including any contingent or prospective creditor or creditors), or by a justices' chief executive⁴ or by all or any or those parties, together or separately⁵.

If presented by the company or by the directors, the petition must state the name of the company and its address for service, which, in the absence of special reasons to the contrary, is that of the company's registered office⁶. If presented by a single creditor, the petition must state his name and address for service⁷. If the petition is presented by the directors, it must state that it is so presented⁸; but from and after presentation it is to be treated for all purposes as the petition of the company⁹. A petition may be presented by the company even if there is no prospect of the shareholders deriving any benefit from the making of an administration order¹⁰. If the petition is presented by two or more creditors, it must state that it is so presented, naming them; but from and after presentation it is to be treated for all purposes as the petition of one only of them, named in the petition as petitioning on behalf of himself and other creditors; and an address for service for that one must be specified¹¹.

The petition must specify the name and address of the person proposed to be appointed as administrator; and it must be stated that, to the best of the petitioner's knowledge and belief, such person is qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner in relation to the company¹².

2 For the meaning of 'administration order' see para 146 ante.

3 A petition by the directors must be presented by all of them acting unanimously when there has been no formal board resolution: Re Instrumentation Electrical Services Ltd [1988] BCLC 550, 4 BCC 301. If the board of directors resolves to present a petition for an administration order, any director has authority to present the petition on behalf of all of them; all of the company's directors, including those who voted against the resolution, are bound to take such steps as may be necessary to give effect to the board resolution: Re Equiticorp International plc [1989] 1 WLR 1010, [1989] BCLC 597. A petition may be presented by the directors even if the company is in provisional liquidation: Re Gosscott (Groundworks) Ltd [1988] BCLC 363 at 366, 4 BCC 372 at 374 per Mervyn Davies J.

Where an administration order relating to a limited liability partnership is applied for, the Insolvency Act 1986 s 9(1) (as amended) does not confer power on directors to present a petition: see s 9(1) (as amended: see note 5 infra); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1306 post. For the meaning of 'limited liability partnership' see para 71 note 3 ante.

UPDATE

145-379 Administration

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

- 225 (1) no resolution may be passed⁴ or order made for the winding up of the company⁵;
- 226 (2) no landlord or other person to whom rent is payable may exercise any right of forfeiture by peaceable re-entry in relation to premises let to the company in respect of a failure by the company to comply with any term or condition of its tenancy of such premises, except with the leave of the court and subject to such terms as the court may impose⁶;
- 227 (3) no steps may be taken to enforce any security⁷ over the company's property, or to repossess goods in the company's possession under any hire-purchase agreement⁸, conditional sale agreement⁹, chattel leasing agreement¹⁰ or retention of title agreement¹¹, except with the leave of the court and subject to such terms as the court may impose¹²; and
- 228 (4) no other proceedings and no execution or other legal process may be commenced or continued, and no distress may be levied, against the company or its property except with the leave of the court and subject to such terms as the court may impose¹³.

Nothing in these provisions requires the leave of the court:

- 229 (a) for the presentation of a petition for the winding up of the company¹⁴;
- 230 (b) for the appointment of an administrative receiver of the company¹⁵; or
- 231 (c) for the carrying out by such a receiver, whenever appointed, of any of his functions¹⁶.

Where a petition for an administration order is presented at a time when there is an administrative receiver of the company, and the person by or on whose behalf the receiver was appointed has not consented to the making of the order, the period mentioned above is deemed not to begin unless and until that person so consents¹⁷.

The provisions of s 10(2)(b), (c), (3) do not apply in relation to the conduct of the administration of building societies: see the Building Societies Act 1986 Sch 15A Pt II paras 6, 12 (Sch 15A as added and amended); and para 145 ante.

ADMINISTRATION/(2) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE FORMER ADMINISTRATION PROVISIONS/(ii) Petition and Procedure on Petition; Effect of Administration Orders/150. Affidavit to support petition.

150. Affidavit to support petition.

Where it is proposed to apply to the court by petition¹ for an administration order to be made in relation to a company, an affidavit must be prepared and sworn, with a view to its being filed in court² in support of the petition³. If the petition is to be presented by the company or by the directors, the affidavit must be made by one of the directors, or the secretary of the company, stating that he makes it on behalf of the company or, as the case may be, on behalf of the directors⁴. If the petition is to be presented by creditors, the affidavit must be made by a person acting under the authority of them all, whether or not himself one of their number; and in any case there must be stated in the affidavit the nature of his authority and the means of his knowledge of the matters to which the affidavit relates⁵. If the petition is to be presented by the supervisor of a voluntary arrangement⁶, it is to be treated as if it were a petition by the company⁷.

The affidavit must state:

- 232 (1) the deponent's belief that the company is, or is likely to become, unable to pay its debts⁸ and the grounds of that belief⁹; and
- 233 (2) which of the specified purposes¹⁰ is expected to be achieved by the making of an administration order¹¹.

In the affidavit there must be provided a statement of the company's financial position, specifying, to the best of the deponent's knowledge and belief, assets and liabilities, including contingent and prospective liabilities¹², and must give frank disclosure of the position¹³. Details must be given of any security¹⁴ known or believed to be held by creditors of the company, and whether in any case the security is such as to confer power on the holder to appoint an administrative receiver; and, if an administrative receiver has been appointed, that fact must be stated¹⁵. If any petition has been presented for the winding up of the company, details of it must be given in the affidavit, so far as within the immediate knowledge of the deponent¹⁶. If there are other matters which, in the opinion of those intending to present the petition for an administration order, will assist the court in deciding whether to make such an order, those matters, so far as lying within the knowledge or belief of the deponent, must also be stated¹⁷. The usual duty of full and frank disclosure is owed when an application for an administration order is made without notice¹⁸. If an independent report¹⁹ has been prepared for the company, that fact must be stated; if not, an explanation must be provided why not²⁰.

There must be exhibited to the affidavit in support of the petition:

- 234 (a) a copy of the petition²¹;
- 235 (b) a written consent²² by the proposed administrator to accept appointment, if an administration order is made²³; and
- 236 (c) if an independent report has been prepared, a copy of it²⁴.

ADMINISTRATION/(2) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE FORMER ADMINISTRATION PROVISIONS/(ii) Petition and Procedure on Petition; Effect of Administration Orders/151. Independent report on company's affairs.

151. Independent report on company's affairs.

There may be prepared, with a view to its being exhibited to the affidavit in support of the petition¹, a report by an independent person to the effect that the appointment of an administrator for the company is expedient². The report may be by the person proposed as administrator, or by any other person having adequate knowledge of the company's affairs, not being a director, secretary, manager, or employee of the company³; and it must specify the purposes⁴ which, in the opinion of the person preparing it, may be achieved for the company by the making of an administration order⁵.

5 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 2.2(3) (as originally enacted). The extent of the necessary investigation and the amount of material to be provided to the court must be a matter for the judgment of the person who prepares the report and will vary from case to case. However, in the normal case, what the court needs is a concise assessment of the company's situation and of the prospects of an administration order achieving one or more of the statutory purposes. The latter will normally include an explanation of the availability of any finance required during the administration. Every endeavour should be made to avoid disproportionate investigation and expense. In some cases a brief investigation and report will be all that is required. Where the court has insufficient material on which to base its decision, but the proposed administrator is in court, he may offer to supplement the material by giving oral evidence. In such a case he should subsequently provide a supplemental report covering the matters on which oral evidence was given so that this can be placed on the court file: Practice Note [1994] 1 All ER 324, sub nom Practice Statement [1994] 1 WLR 160.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/5. ADMINISTRATION/(2) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE FORMER ADMINISTRATION PROVISIONS/(ii) Petition and Procedure on Petition; Effect of Administration Orders/153. Notice, service and proof of service of petition.

153. Notice, service and proof of service of petition.

Where a petition is presented to the court¹, notice of the petition must be given forthwith to any person who has appointed, or is or may be entitled to appoint, an administrative receiver² of the company³. The petitioner must also forthwith after filing the petition give notice of its presentation to any enforcement officer⁴ or other officer who, to his knowledge, is charged with an execution or other legal process against the company or its property, and any person who, to his knowledge, has distrained against the company or its property⁵.

The petition⁶, together with a copy of the affidavit in support of it⁷ and the documents, other than the copy petition, exhibited to the affidavit, must be served:

- 237 (1) on any person who has appointed, or is or may be entitled to appoint, an administrative receiver of the company⁸;
- 238 (2) if an administrative receiver has been appointed, on him⁹;
- 239 (3) if there is pending a petition for the winding up of the company¹⁰, on the petitioner, and also on the provisional liquidator¹¹, if any¹²;
- 240 (4) on the person proposed as administrator¹³; and
- 241 (5) if the petition for the making of an administration order is presented by creditors of the company, on the company¹⁴.

Service of the petition must be effected by the petitioner, or his solicitor¹⁵, or by a person instructed by him or his solicitor, not less than five days before the date fixed for the hearing¹⁶, and must be effected:

- 242 (a) on the company, by delivering the documents to its registered office¹⁷;
- 243 (b) on any other person, by delivering the documents to his proper address¹⁸, or, in either case, in such other manner as the court may direct¹⁹. If delivery to the company's registered office is not practicable, however, service may be effected by delivery to its last known principal place of business in England and Wales²⁰. Delivery of documents to any place may be made by leaving them there, or sending them by first class post²¹.

Service of the petition must be verified by affidavit, specifying the date on which, and the manner in which, service was effected²². The affidavit, with a sealed copy of the petition exhibited to it, must be filed in court²³ forthwith after service, and in any event not less than one day before the hearing of the petition²⁴.

The provisions of Pt II (ss 8-27) (as amended) are saved for the purposes of administrations commencing before 15 September 2003 and special administration regimes: see para 145 ante. Section 9(2)(a) is modified in its application to the conduct of the administration of building societies: see the Building Societies Act 1986 Sch 15A Pt I, Pt II paras 6, 11(2) (Sch 15A added by the Building Societies Act 1997 s

Notice must also be given to such other persons as may be prescribed: Insolvency Act 1986 s 9(2)(a). 'Prescribed' means prescribed by the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925 (as amended): Insolvency Act 1986 s 251. Where an administration petition is presented pursuant to the Banks (Administration Proceedings) Order 1989, SI 1989/1276 (as amended) (see para 147 text and notes 14-15 ante), notice must also be given to the Financial Services Authority: see the Banks (Administration Proceedings) Order 1989, SI 1989/1276, Schedule para 4 (amended by SI 1998/1129). As to the Financial Services Authority see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARAS 4, 6 et seq.

Where it is proposed that an administrator should be appointed, the person with power to appoint an administrative receiver should have an adequate opportunity to consider whether he wishes to exercise his power before it is extinguished by the appointment of an administrator: Re a Company (No 00175 of 1987) [1987] BCLC 467, 3 BCC 124. In the case, however, of a person who: (1) is an authorised deposit taker or former authorised deposit taker; (2) has appointed, or is or may be entitled to appoint, an administrative receiver of the company; and (3) has not notified an address for service, the proper address is the address of an office of that person where, to the knowledge of the petitioner, the company maintains a bank account or, where no such office is known to the petitioner, the registered office of that person, or, if there is no such office, his usual or last known address:

154. Hearing of petition; court's powers on hearing petition.

At the hearing of the petition, any of the following may appear or be represented:

- 244 (1) the petitioner¹;
- 245 (2) in relation to insurers only, the Financial Services Authority²;
- 246 (3) the company³;
- 247 (4) any person who has appointed, or is or may be entitled to appoint, an administrative receiver of the company⁴;
- 248 (5) if an administrative receiver has been appointed, the administrative receiver⁵;
- 249 (6) any person who has presented a petition for the winding up of the company⁶;
- 250 (7) the person proposed for appointment as administrator⁷; and
- 251 (8) with the leave of the court, any other person who appears to have an interest justifying his appearance⁸.

The court will take into account on the hearing of the petition the interests of the company's creditors, secured and unsecured, and of its members and will have regard to which individual or individuals should be appointed administrator or administrators⁹. The weight given to the interests of the company's secured creditors will depend upon all the circumstances¹⁰. The court will consider the attitude of the company's creditors to any proposals which the proposed administrator is likely to put forward and the court may refuse to make an administration order where it is unlikely that the creditors will support the administrator's proposals¹¹. The court may decline to make an administration order where the company is solvent on a balance sheet basis and there is deadlock between its members which is unlikely to be resolved by the making of an administration order¹². Even if the petitioners' purpose in seeking an administration order was other than seeking to achieve the statutory purposes, it does not automatically follow that the petition was an abuse of process and liable to be struck out if it was plainly in the interests of the creditors for an order to be made¹³. The court will only make orders for disclosures of documents, the provision of information and directions for cross-examination in exceptional circumstances¹⁴.

Where the court is satisfied that there is an administrative receiver of the company, the court must dismiss the petition unless it is also satisfied either:

- 252 (a) that the person by whom or on whose behalf the receiver was appointed has consented to the making of the order¹⁵; or
- 253 (b) that, if an administration order were made, any security¹⁶ by virtue of which the receiver was appointed would be liable to be released or discharged as a transaction at an undervalue or a preference¹⁷, or be avoided under the provisions relating to the avoidance of floating charges¹⁸, or be challengeable¹⁹ under any rule of law in Scotland²⁰.

Subject to these provisions, on hearing the petition the court may dismiss it, or adjourn the hearing conditionally or unconditionally, or make an interim order or any other order that it thinks fit²¹.

Without prejudice to the generality of these provisions, an interim order may restrict the exercise of any powers of the directors²² or of the company, whether by reference to the consent of the court or of a person qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner in relation to the company²³, or otherwise²⁴.

The court may make an administration order and require an administrator to report back to the court within a short period in order that the court may consider whether to allow the administration to continue²⁵. The court may also require an administrator to hold a creditors' meeting within a short period of the making of the order prior to his reporting back to the court²⁶.

If the court makes an administration order²⁷, the costs of the petitioner, and of any person appearing whose costs are allowed by the court, are payable as an expense of the administration²⁸. The court has a general discretion to make orders for costs, whether an administration order is made or not, but only in exceptional circumstances is the court likely to make an order for costs against the directors of the company personally where a petition for an administration order is dismissed and the directors have acted in good faith and on professional advice²⁹. If, on the dismissal of the petition for an administration order, the court makes a winding-up order, the court may order the costs of the petition for an administration order to be costs in the winding up³⁰.

Once an administrative receiver has been appointed, subject to the proviso in s 9(3) (see the text and notes 15-20 supra), the court is required to dismiss the petition for an administration order. If a person has been appointed to preserve the property of a company, the administrative receiver may apply to the court to accelerate the hearing of the petition in order to dismiss it if he wishes to take immediate possession of the assets; alternatively, the order appointing the person to manage the affairs of the company may be framed to endure until the hearing of the adjourned petition, or the earlier appointment of an administrative receiver: Re a Company (No 00175 of 1987) [1987] BCLC 467, 3 BCC 124.

145-379 Administration

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

156 Notification of administration order

NOTE 3--Building Societies Act 1986 Sch 15A further amended: SI 2009/1941.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/5. ADMINISTRATION/(2) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE FORMER ADMINISTRATION PROVISIONS/(ii) Petition and Procedure on Petition; Effect of Administration Orders/157. Effect of administration order.

157. Effect of administration order.

On the making of an administration order:

- 254 (1) any petition for the winding up of the company must be dismissed¹; and
- 255 (2) any administrative receiver of the company must vacate office², and, where an administration order has been made, any receiver of part of the company's property³ must vacate office on being required to do so by the administrator⁴.

During the period for which an administration order is in force:

- 256 (a) no resolution may be passed or order made for the winding up of the company⁵;
- 257 (b) no administrative receiver of the company may be appointed⁶;
- 258 (c) no landlord or other person to whom rent is payable may exercise any right of forfeiture by peaceable re-entry in relation to premises let to the company in respect of a failure by the company to comply with any term or condition of its tenancy of such premises, except with the consent of the administrator or the leave of the court and subject (where the court gives leave) to such terms as the court may impose⁷;
- 259 (d) no other steps may be taken to enforce any security⁸ over the company's property, or to repossess goods in the company's possession under any hire-purchase agreement⁹, conditional sale agreement¹⁰, chattel leasing agreement¹¹ or retention of title agreement¹², except with the consent of the administrator or the leave of the court and subject (where the court gives leave) to such terms as the court may impose¹³; and
- 260 (e) no other proceedings and no execution or other legal process may be commenced or continued, and no distress may be levied, against the company or its property except with the consent of the administrator or the leave of the court and subject (where the court gives leave) to such terms as the court may impose¹⁴.

The consent of the administrator should be sought before any application for leave is made to the court¹⁵. Although the court has a wide discretion as to whether or not to grant leave, the matters to which the court will have regard in deciding whether to grant leave, and if so on what terms, and to which administrators should have regard in determining whether or not they should give consent, and if so on what terms, include the following:

- 261 (i) it is for the person seeking leave to make out his case;
- 262 (ii) leave will normally be given if the exercise of a proprietary right by a lessor or hirer, or the repossession of land or goods, is unlikely to impede the achievement of the purpose or purposes for which the administration order was made; and
- 263 (iii) in cases where the exercise of the right is likely to impede the achievement of the purpose or purposes for which the administration order was made, the court has to carry out a balancing exercise, balancing the legitimate interests of the applicant and the legitimate interests of the other creditors of the company; great importance or weight will be given to the proprietary interests of the applicant because an administration for the benefit of unsecured creditors should not be conducted at the expense of those seeking to exercise their proprietary rights, save to the extent that this is unavoidable; it will normally be a sufficient ground for the grant of leave if significant loss would be caused to the applicant by a refusal to grant leave, but, if substantially greater loss would be caused to others by the grant of leave, or loss which is out of all proportion to the benefit which the grant of leave would confer on the applicant, that may outweigh the loss to the applicant caused by a refusal¹⁶.

Cases where leave is refused but terms are imposed on the administrator may be expected to arise frequently; for example, the permanent loss to a lessor flowing from his inability to recover his property will normally be small if the administrator is required to pay the current rent and, since the business of a company in administration should generally be sufficient to hold down current outgoings, such a term may be a normal term to impose¹⁷.

An administrator is an officer of the court and any act which could constitute an interference with his possession or right to possession is capable of amounting to a contempt of court; but a refusal by a creditor to do an act at the request of the administrator which will lead to the loss of his security will not constitute a contempt of court pending prompt application for leave¹⁸.

Where administrators retain goods after the time when they ought to have consented to the owner's demand for retaking possession, the court may direct the administrators to be personally liable for compensation or to have a right of recoupment against the company's assets, or to be released from liability¹⁹.

161. General duties of administrator.

The administrator of a company must, on his appointment, take into his custody or under his control all the property¹ to which the company is or appears to be entitled²; and he must manage the affairs, business³ and property of the company at any time before proposals have been approved⁴, with or without modifications⁵, in accordance with any directions given by the court⁶, and at any time after proposals have been so approved, in accordance with those proposals as from time to time revised, whether by him or a predecessor of his⁷.

An administrator owes a duty to a company over which he is appointed to take reasonable care to obtain the best price that the circumstances as he reasonably perceives them to be permit, including a duty to take reasonable care in choosing the time at which to sell the property; an administrator is a professional insolvency practitioner and will only be liable if he makes an error which a reasonably skilled and careful insolvency practitioner would not have made⁸.

The administrator must summon a meeting of the company's creditors if he is requested to do so⁹ by one-tenth, in value, of the company's creditors, or if he is directed to do so by the court¹⁰.

ADMINISTRATION/(2) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE FORMER ADMINISTRATION PROVISIONS/ (iii) Administrators/B. DUTIES AND POWERS IN GENERAL/162. Discharge or variation of administration order.

162. Discharge or variation of administration order.

The administrator of a company may at any time apply to the court for the administration order to be discharged or to be varied so as to specify an additional purpose¹; and he must make such an application if it appears to him that the purpose or each of the purposes specified in the order either has been achieved or is incapable of achievement², or he is required to do so by a meeting of the company's creditors summoned for the purpose³. On the hearing of such an application, the court may by order discharge or vary the administration order and make such consequential provision resulting directly or indirectly from the discharge of the administration order as it thinks fit, or adjourn the hearing conditionally or unconditionally, or make an interim order or any other order it thinks fit⁴.

Where the administration order is discharged or varied, the administrator must, within 14 days after the making of the order effecting the discharge or variation, send an office copy of that order to the registrar of companies⁵; and, if the administrator without reasonable excuse fails to comply with this requirement, he is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one-fifth of the statutory maximum and, on conviction after continued contravention, to a daily default fine not exceeding one-fiftieth of the statutory maximum⁶.

Where the administrator intends to apply to the court under these provisions for the administration order to be discharged at a time before he has sent a statement of his proposals to creditors⁷, he must, at least ten days before he makes such an application, send to all creditors of the company, so far as he is aware of their addresses, a report containing specified information⁸.

ADMINISTRATION/(2) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE FORMER ADMINISTRATION PROVISIONS/ (iii) Administrators/B. DUTIES AND POWERS IN GENERAL/163. General powers of administrator.

163. General powers of administrator.

The administrator of a company may do all such things as may be necessary for the management of the affairs, business¹ and property² of the company³, and, without prejudice to the generality of these provisions, he has the following powers⁴:

- 268 (1) power to take possession of, collect and get in the property of the company and, for that purpose, to take such proceedings as may seem to him⁵ expedient⁶;
- 269 (2) power to sell or otherwise dispose of the property of the company by public auction or private contract or, in Scotland, to sell, feu, hire out or otherwise dispose of the property of the company by public roup or private bargain⁷;
- 270 (3) power to raise or borrow money and grant security⁸ therefor over the property of the company⁹;
- 271 (4) power to appoint a solicitor¹⁰ or accountant or other professionally qualified person to assist him in the performance of his functions¹¹;
- 272 (5) power to bring and defend any claim or other legal proceedings in the name of and on behalf of the company¹²;
- 273 (6) power to refer to arbitration any question affecting the company¹³;
- 274 (7) power to effect and maintain insurances in respect of the business and property of the company¹⁴;
- 275 (8) power to use the company's seal¹⁵;
- 276 (9) power to do all acts and to execute in the name and on behalf of the company any deed, receipt or other document¹⁶;
- 277 (10) power to draw, accept, make and indorse any bill of exchange or promissory note in the name and on behalf of the company¹⁷;
- 278 (11) power to appoint any agent to do any business which he is unable to do himself or which can more conveniently be done by an agent and power to employ and dismiss employees¹⁸;
- 279 (12) power to do all such things, including the carrying out of works, as may be necessary for the realisation of the property of the company¹⁹;
- 280 (13) power to make any payment which is necessary or incidental to the performance of his functions²⁰;
- 281 (14) power to carry on the business of the company²¹;
- 282 (15) power to establish subsidiaries of the company²²;
- 283 (16) power to transfer to subsidiaries of the company the whole or any part of the business and property of the company²³;
- 284 (17) power to grant or accept a surrender of a lease or tenancy of any of the property of the company, and to take a lease or tenancy of any property required or convenient for the business of the company²⁴;
- 285 (18) power to make any arrangement or compromise on behalf of the company²⁵;
- 286 (19) power to call up any uncalled capital of the company²⁶;
- 287 (20) power to rank and claim in the bankruptcy, insolvency, sequestration or liquidation of any person indebted to the company and to receive dividends, and to accede to trust deeds for the creditors of any such person²⁷;
- 288 (21) power to present or defend a petition for the winding up of the company²⁸;
- 289 (22) power to change the situation of the company's registered office²⁹; and 290 (23) power to do all things incidental to the exercise of the above powers³⁰.

Where the administration relates to an insurer, the administrator may additionally make any payments due to a creditor or any payment on account of any sum which may become due to a creditor³¹.

The administrator also has power to remove any director of the company and to appoint any person to be a director of it, whether to fill a vacancy or otherwise³², and to call any meeting of the members³³ or creditors of the company³⁴; and he may apply to the court³⁵ for directions in relation to any particular matter arising in connection with the carrying out of his functions³⁶.

Any power conferred on the company or its officers, whether by the Insolvency Act 1986 or the Companies Act 1985 or by the memorandum or articles of association, which could be exercised in such a way as to interfere with the exercise by the administrator of his powers is not exercisable except with the consent of the administrator, which may be given either generally or in relation to particular cases³⁷.

In exercising his powers the administrator is deemed to act as the company's agent³⁸. A person dealing with the administrator in good faith and for value is not, however, concerned to inquire whether the administrator is acting within his powers³⁹.

The administrator also has power to make a proposal for a voluntary arrangement in relation to the company⁴⁰ and to present a petition for the winding up of the company⁴¹.

1 As to the meaning of 'business' see para 156 note 1 ante. The duties of the administrator can include duties in relation to the management of a company pension scheme: Polly Peck International plc (in administration) v Henry [1999] 1 BCLC 407.

An administrative receiver has the like powers, except in so far as they are inconsistent with any of the provisions of the debentures by virtue of which he is appointed: see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 42(1), Sch 1; and para 396 post.

ADMINISTRATION/(2) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE FORMER ADMINISTRATION PROVISIONS/(iii) Administrators/B. DUTIES AND POWERS IN GENERAL/164. Administrator's power to deal with charged property etc.

164. Administrator's power to deal with charged property etc.

The administrator of a company may dispose of or otherwise exercise his powers in relation to any property¹ of the company which is subject to a floating charge² as if the property were not subject to the security³; and, where property is so disposed of, the holder of the security has the same priority in respect of any property of the company directly or indirectly representing the property disposed of as he would have had in respect of the property subject to the security⁴.

Where, on an application by the administrator, the court is satisfied that the disposal, with or without other assets, of any property of the company subject to any other security or any goods in the possession of the company under a hire-purchase agreement⁵, conditional sale agreement⁶, chattel leasing agreement⁷, or retention of title agreement⁸ would be likely to promote the purpose or one or more of the purposes specified in the administration order⁹, the court may by order authorise the administrator to dispose of the property as if it were not subject to the security or to dispose of the goods as if all rights of the owner under any such agreement were vested in the company¹⁰. Where the administrator so applies to the court for authority to dispose of such property, the court must fix a venue¹¹ for the hearing of the application, and the administrator must forthwith give notice¹² of the venue to the person who is the holder of the security or, as the case may be, the owner under the agreement¹³.

It must be a condition of any such order that the net proceeds of the disposal, and, where those proceeds are less than such amount as may be determined by the court to be the net amount which would be realised on a sale of the property or goods in the open market by a willing vendor, such sums as may be required to make good the deficiency, must be applied towards discharging the sums secured by the security or payable under the agreement¹⁴. Where a condition so imposed relates to two or more securities, the condition requires that the net proceeds of the disposal and, if applicable, the other sums referred to above, be applied towards discharging the sums secured by those securities in the order of their priorities¹⁵.

If such an order is made, the administrator must forthwith give notice of it to the holder of the security or, as the case may be, the owner under the agreement¹⁶. The court must send two sealed copies of the order to the administrator, who must send one of them to that person or owner¹⁷. An office copy of the order must, within 14 days after the making of the order, be sent by the administrator to the registrar of companies¹⁸. If the administrator without reasonable excuse fails to comply with this provision, he is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one-fifth of the statutory maximum and, on conviction after continued contravention, to a daily default fine not exceeding one-fiftieth of the statutory maximum¹⁹.

2 The Insolvency Act 1986 s 15(1) applies to any security which, as created, was a floating charge; and s 15(2) (see the text and notes 5-10 infra) applies to any other security: s 15(3). The provisions of Pt II (ss 8-27) (as amended) are saved for the purposes of administrations commencing before 15 September 2003 and special administration regimes: see para 145 ante. 165. Power to ensure continuation of essential supplies by utilities.

Where an administration order is made in relation to a company and a request is made by or with the concurrence of the administrator for the giving after the effective date¹ of:

- 291 (1) a supply of gas by a gas supplier²;
- 292 (2) a supply of electricity by an electricity supplier³;

- 296 (b) must not make it a condition of the giving of the supply, or do anything which has the effect of making it a condition of the giving of the supply, that any outstanding charges in respect of a supply given to the company before the effective date are paid⁸.

No such power to ensure the continuation of supplies by a trader, other than the utilities described above, exists, subject to the terms of the underlying supply contract⁹.

ADMINISTRATION/(2) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE FORMER ADMINISTRATION PROVISIONS/ (iii) Administrators/C. STATEMENT OF AFFAIRS/169. Requirement for statement of affairs to be submitted to administrator.

C. STATEMENT OF AFFAIRS

169. Requirement for statement of affairs to be submitted to administrator.

Where an administration order has been made, the administrator must forthwith require some or all of the following persons to make out and submit to him a statement in the prescribed form as to the affairs of the company¹.

Those persons are:

- 297 (1) those who are or have been officers² of the company³;
- 298 (2) those who have taken part in the company's formation at any time within one year of the date of the administration order⁴;
- 299 (3) those who are in the company's employment⁵ or have been in its employment within that year, and are in the administrator's opinion capable of giving the information required⁶;
- 300 (4) those who are or have been within that year officers of or in the employment of a company which is or, within that year was, an officer of the company⁷.

The statement must be verified by affidavit by the person required to submit it and must show:

- 301 (a) particulars of the company's assets, debts and liabilities⁸;
- 302 (b) the names and addresses of its creditors⁹;
- 303 (c) the securities¹⁰ held by them respectively¹¹;
- 304 (d) the dates when the securities were respectively given¹²; and
- 305 (e) such further or other information as may be prescribed¹³.

Where any person is so required to submit a statement of affairs to the administrator, he must do so before the end of the period of 21 days beginning with the day after that on which the prescribed notice of the requirement is given to him¹⁴ by the administrator¹⁵. However, if he thinks fit, the administrator may at any time release a person from an obligation imposed on him under these provisions, or, either when giving notice requiring a person to submit a statement of affairs or subsequently, extend the period within which the statement of affairs must be submitted; and, where the administrator has refused to exercise such a power, the court, if it thinks fit, may exercise it¹⁶.

If a person without reasonable excuse fails to comply with any obligation imposed under these provisions, he is liable on conviction on indictment to a fine or on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum and, on conviction after continued contravention, to a daily default fine not exceeding one-tenth of the statutory maximum¹⁷.

The power of the administrator¹ to give a release from the obligation to submit a statement of affairs, or to grant an extension of time, may be exercised at the administrator's own discretion, or at the request of any deponent²; and a deponent may, if he requests a release or extension of time and it is refused by the administrator, apply to the court for it³. The deponent must, at least 14 days before the hearing, send to the administrator a notice stating the venue and accompanied by a copy of the application, and of any evidence which he, the deponent, intends to adduce in support of it⁶. The administrator may appear and be heard on the application; and, whether or not he appears, he may file a written report⁷ of any matters which he considers ought to be drawn to the court's attention; and, if such a report is filed, a copy of it must be sent by the administrator to the deponent, not later than five days before the hearing⁸.

Sealed copies of any order made on the application must be sent by the court to the deponent and the administrator⁹.

On any such application the applicant's costs must be paid in any event by him and, unless the court otherwise orders, no allowance towards them may be made out of the assets¹⁰.

- 313 (b) publish in the prescribed manner⁶ a notice stating an address to which members of the company should write for copies of the statement to be sent to them free of charge⁷.

If the administrator without reasonable excuse fails to comply with these provisions, he is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one-fifth of the statutory maximum and, on conviction after continued contravention, to a daily default fine not exceeding one-fiftieth of the statutory maximum⁸.

1 The administrator should keep the creditors informed as to what he is proposing to do in view of the suspension of their rights on the making of an administration order (see para 157 ante); and he should as soon as possible send the statement of proposals to the persons referred to in the text; the requirement is for the statement of proposals to be sent within, and not at the expiry of, three months: Re Charnley Davies Business Services Ltd (1987) 3 BCC 408; Re Consumer and Industrial Press Ltd (No 2) (1988) 4 BCC 72; Re CE King Ltd [2000] 2 BCLC 297. Although the company that is the subject of an administration order has standing to apply for an extension of the period of three months, it is preferable if the application is made by the administrator: Re Newport County Association Football Club Ltd [1987] BCLC 582, 3 BCC 635. See also Re NS Distribution Ltd [1990] BCLC 169 (where an extension of the three-month period was granted on the grounds that it was insufficient time in a case of such complexity for the administrator to be able to formulate proper and workable proposals).

The provisions of Pt II (ss 8-27) (as amended) are saved for the purposes of administrations commencing before 15 September 2003 and special administration regimes: see para 145 ante. As to the registrar of companies see COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARA 131 et seq. Where an administration petition is presented pursuant to the Banks (Administration Proceedings) Order 1989, SI 1989/1276 (as amended) (see para 147 notes 14-15 ante), or where the administration relates to insurers, notice must also be given to the Financial Services Authority: see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 23(1)(a); the Banks (Administration Proceedings) Order 1989, SI 1989/1276, art 2, Schedule para 6 (amended by SI 1998/1129); and the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Administration Orders Relating to Insurers) Order 2002, SI 2002/1242, art 3, Schedule para 3 (as originally enacted). See para 145 note 10 ante. As to the Financial Services Authority see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 4, 6 et seq.

178. Consideration of proposals by creditors' meeting.

A meeting of creditors summoned to consider the administrator's proposals¹ must decide whether to approve such proposals²; and the meeting may approve the proposals with modifications³, but must not do so unless the administrator consents to each modification⁴. Subject to these provisions, the meeting must be conducted in accordance with the Insolvency Rules 1986⁵.

After the conclusion of the meeting, the administrator must report the result of the meeting to the court and must give notice of that result to the registrar of companies and to such persons as may be prescribed⁶. If a report is given to the court that the meeting has declined to approve the administrator's proposals, with or without modifications, the court may by order discharge the administration order and make such consequential provision as it thinks fit, or adjourn the hearing conditionally or unconditionally, or make an interim order or any other order that it thinks fit⁷.

Where the administration order is discharged, the administrator must, within 14 days after the making of the order effecting the discharge, send an office copy of that order to the registrar of companies⁸. If, however, the administrator without reasonable excuse fails to comply with this requirement, he is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one-fifth of the statutory maximum and, on conviction after continued contravention, to a daily default fine not exceeding one-fiftieth of the statutory maximum⁹.

- 322 (2) lay a copy of the statement before a meeting of the company's creditors summoned for the purpose on not less than 14 days' notice⁴.

The administrator must not make the proposed revisions unless they are approved by the meeting⁵.

The administrator must either:

- 323 (a) send a copy of the statement to all members⁶ of the company, so far as he is aware of their addresses⁷; or
- 324 (b) publish in the prescribed manner a notice stating an address to which members of the company should write for copies of the statement to be sent to them free of charge⁸.

E. ADMINISTRATOR'S REMUNERATION

181. Fixing of remuneration.

The administrator is entitled to receive remuneration for his services as such¹; and the remuneration must be fixed either:

- 325 (1) as a percentage of the value of the property with which he has to deal²; or
- 326 (2) by reference to the time properly given by the insolvency practitioner, as administrator, and his staff in attending to matters arising in the administration³.

It is for the creditors' committee⁴, if there is one, to determine whether the remuneration is to be fixed under head (1) or head (2) above and, if under head (1) above, to determine any percentage to be applied⁵. In arriving at that determination, the committee must have regard to:

- 327 (a) the complexity, or otherwise, of the case⁶;
- 328 (b) any respects in which, in connection with the company's affairs, there falls on the administrator any responsibility of an exceptional kind or degree⁷;
- 329 (c) the effectiveness with which the administrator appears to be carrying out, or to have carried out, his duties as such⁸; and
- 330 (d) the value and nature of the property with which he has to deal⁹.

If, however, there is no creditors' committee, or the committee does not make the requisite determination, the administrator's remuneration may be fixed¹⁰ by a resolution of a meeting of creditors¹¹.

If not fixed as mentioned above, the administrator's remuneration must, on his application, be fixed by the court¹².

Where there are joint administrators, it is for them to agree between themselves as to how the remuneration payable should be apportioned; and any dispute arising between them may be referred to the court, for settlement by order, or to the creditors' committee or a meeting of creditors, for settlement by resolution¹³. If the administrator is a solicitor¹⁴ and employs his own firm, or any partner in it, to act on behalf of the company, profit costs must not be paid unless this is authorised by the creditors' committee, the creditors or the court¹⁵.

182. Recourse to meeting of creditors and to the court.

If the administrator's remuneration has been fixed by the creditors' committee, and he considers the rate or amount to be insufficient, he may request that it be increased by resolution of the creditors¹.

If the administrator considers that the remuneration fixed for him by the creditors' committee, or by resolution of the creditors, is insufficient, he may apply to the court for an order increasing its amount or rate². The administrator must give at least 14 days' notice of his application to the members of the creditors' committee; and the committee may nominate one or more members to appear or be represented, and to be heard, on the application³. If there is no creditors' committee, the administrator's notice of his application must be sent to such one or more of the company's creditors as the court may direct, which creditors may nominate one or more of their number to appear or be represented⁴. The court may, if it appears to be a proper case, order the costs of the administrator's application, including the costs of any member of the creditors' committee appearing or being represented on it, or any creditor so appearing or being represented, to be paid as an expense of the administration⁵.

183. Creditors' claim that remuneration is excessive.

Any creditor of the company may, with the concurrence of at least 25 per cent in value of the creditors, including himself, apply to the court for an order that the administrator's remuneration be reduced, on the grounds that it is, in all the circumstances, excessive¹. The court may, if it thinks that no sufficient cause is shown for a reduction, dismiss the application; but it must not do so unless the applicant has had an opportunity to attend the court for a hearing, of which he has been given at least seven days' notice². If the application is not so dismissed, the court must fix a venue³ for it to be heard, and give notice to the applicant accordingly⁴; and the applicant must, at least 14 days before that hearing, send to the administrator a notice stating the venue, accompanied by a copy of the application and of any evidence which the applicant intends to adduce in support of it⁵.

If the court considers the application to be well-founded, it must make an order fixing the remuneration at a reduced amount or rate⁶; and, unless the court orders otherwise, the costs of the application must be paid by the applicant, and are not payable as an expense of the administration⁷.

Vacation of office.

G. RESIGNATION, REMOVAL OR VACANCY IN OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATOR; RELEASE OF ADMINISTRATOR

185. Vacation of office.

The administrator of a company may at any time be removed from office by order of the court and may, in the prescribed circumstances, resign his office by giving notice of his resignation to the court¹.

The administrator must vacate office if he ceases to be qualified as an insolvency practitioner in relation to the company², or if the administration order is discharged³.

Where at any time a person ceases to be administrator:

- 335 (1) his remuneration⁴ and any expenses properly incurred by him are a charge on and must be paid out of any property⁵ of the company which is in his custody or under his control at that time in priority to any floating charge then existing over the property of the company⁶;
- 336 (2) any sums payable in respect of debts or liabilities incurred, while he was administrator, under contracts entered into by him or a predecessor of his in the carrying out of his or the predecessor's functions must be charged on and paid out of any property as is mentioned in head (1) above in priority to any charge arising under head (1) above⁷; and
- 337 (3) all sums payable in respect of liabilities incurred, while he was administrator, on or after 15 March 1994⁸ under contracts of employment adopted⁹ by him or a predecessor of his in the carrying out of his or the predecessor's functions are, to the extent that the liabilities are qualifying liabilities¹⁰, to be charged on and paid out of any such property as is mentioned in head (1) above and enjoy the same priority as any sums to which head (2) above applies¹¹.

The priority referred to in the text is priority over any security to which the Insolvency Act 1986 s 15(1) applies: see para 164 ante. Where an administration order is discharged upon the making of a winding-up order, the company's property remains charged in the hands of the official receiver or liquidator: Re Sheridan Securities Ltd (1988) 4 BCC 200. See also Re Exchange Travel (Holdings) Ltd [1993] BCLC 887, [1992] BCC 954.

The Insolvency Act 1986 s 19(4) is modified in its application to special administration regimes (see para 145 ante): see the Building Societies Act 1986 Sch 15A Pt I, Pt II paras 6, 20 (Sch 15A added by the Building Societies Act 1997 s 39(2), Sch 6; and amended by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 2(b), Sch 2 para 14(1), (2); the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Mutual Societies) Order 2001, SI 2001/2617, art 13(1), Sch 3 paras 131, 210; and the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Consequential Amendments and Repeals) Order 2001, SI 2001/3649, art 200(2)).

7 Insolvency Act 1986 s 19(5) (as amended: see note 6 supra). In relation to a claim under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 19(5) (as amended), the limitation period starts to run when the administration ends: Re Maxwell Fleet and Facilities Management Co Ltd (in administration) [2000] 1 All ER 464, [2001] 1 WLR 323.

8 As to contracts of employment adopted by an administrator before 15 March 1994 see Powdrill v Watson [1995] 2 AC 394, [1995] 2 All ER 65, HL (on the true construction of the Insolvency Act 1986 s 19 (as originally enacted), the word 'adopt' connoted some conduct by the administrator which amounted to an election to treat the continued contract of employment with the company as giving rise to a separate liability in the administration; adoption of the contract involved the acceptance or rejection of the contract as a whole and it was not open to the administrator to pick and choose between different liabilities under the contract or to treat only certain liabilities under the contract as liabilities in the administration; it followed that, if the administrator caused the company to continue the employment of an employee for more than 14 days after his appointment, the employee's contract of employment was inevitably adopted for the purposes of the Insolvency Act 1986 and it was not open to the administrator to avoid that result or alter its consequences unilaterally by informing the employees that he was not adopting their contracts or was only doing so on terms; but the consequence of the adoption of contracts of employment was to give priority only to liabilities incurred by the administrator during his tenure of office).

9 For these purposes, the administrator is not to be taken to have adopted a contract of employment by reason of anything done or omitted to be done within 14 days after his appointment: Insolvency Act 1986 s 19(6) (as added: see note 6 supra). As to the duties of an administrator to report to creditors on vacating office see para 180 ante; and as to his duties to prepare accounts of receipts and payments see para 184 ante.

10 For these purposes, a liability under a contract of employment is a qualifying liability if: (1) it is a liability to pay a sum by way of wages or salary or contribution to an occupational pension scheme; and (2) it is in respect of services rendered wholly or partly after the adoption of the contract: ibid s 19(7) (as added: see note 6 supra). So much of any qualifying liability as represents payment in respect of services rendered before the adoption of the contract is disregarded for these purposes: s 19(8) (as so added). Wages or salary payable in respect of a period of holiday (including any sums which, if they had been paid, would have been treated for the purposes of the enactments relating to social security as earnings in respect of that period) or absence from work through sickness or other good cause are deemed to be wages or, as the case may be, salary in respect of services rendered in that period; and a sum payable in lieu of holiday is deemed to be wages or, as the case may be, salary in respect of services rendered in the period by reference to which the holiday entitlement arose: s 19(9), (10) (as so added).

11 Ibid s 19(6) (as added: see note 6 supra); Insolvency Act 1994 s 1(7). See Re A Company (No 005174 of 1999) [2000] 1 WLR 502 [2000] 1 BCLC 593 (teachers' contracts of employment adopted for summer term involved payment of teachers' salaries during summer vacation); Re F/L Realisations Ltd [2001] ICR 424, sub nom IRC v Lawrence [2001] 1 BCLC 204, CA (administrators' indebtedness for tax and national insurance contributions arising under adopted contracts of employment enjoyed priority). See also Re Antal International Ltd [2003] EWHC 1339 (Ch), [2003] 2 BCLC 406 (on the facts, the continuation of the employment relationship between the administrators and a group of employees after the expiry of the 14-day period was held not to be an election to adopt the contracts when the administrators believed them to be employees of a French subsidiary rather than the company, which turned out not to be the case).

189. Release of administrator.

A person who has ceased to be the administrator of a company has his release, in the case of a person who has died, with effect from the time at which notice is given to the court that he has ceased to hold office in accordance with the rules¹, and, in any other case, with effect from such time as the court may determine².

Where a person has his release under this provision, he is, with effect from the time specified above, discharged from all liability both in respect of acts or omissions of his in the administration and otherwise in relation to his conduct as administrator³. The court's powers under the provisions giving rise to a summary remedy against delinquent administrators⁴ are not, however, affected in relation to a person who has had his release⁵; nor is the power of the official receiver to apply to the court for the public examination of the administrator affected where the company is wound up by the court⁶.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/5. ADMINISTRATION/(2) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE FORMER ADMINISTRATION PROVISIONS/(iv) Meetings of Creditors and Members/193. Entitlement to vote; proxies.

193. Entitlement to vote; proxies.

Subject to the following provisions, at a meeting of creditors in administration proceedings a person is entitled to vote only if:

- 352 (1) he has given to the administrator, not later than 12.00 hours on the business day¹ before the day fixed for the meeting, details in writing of the debt² which he claims to be due to him from the company, and the claim has been duly admitted under the provisions described below³; and
- 353 (2) there has been lodged with the administrator any proxy⁴ which he intends to be used on his behalf⁵.

The administrator or, if other, the chairman of the meeting may call for any document or other evidence to be produced to him, where he thinks it necessary for the purpose of substantiating the whole or any part of the claim⁶.

Votes are calculated according to the amount of a creditor's debt as at the date of the administration order, deducting any amounts paid in respect of the debt after that date⁷.

A creditor may not vote in respect of a debt for an unliquidated amount, or any debt whose value is not ascertained, except where the chairman agrees to put upon the debt an estimated minimum value for the purpose of entitlement to vote and admits the claim for that purpose⁸. If a creditor is a creditor in more than one capacity, the creditor may split his claim for voting purposes⁹.

The chairman's decision in respect of any matter arising under these provisions is subject to appeal to the court by any creditor¹⁰.

At a meeting of creditors, a secured creditor¹¹ is entitled to vote only in respect of the balance, if any, of his debt after deducting the value of his security as estimated by him¹².

A creditor may not vote in respect of a debt on, or secured by, a current bill of exchange or promissory note, unless he is willing:

- 354 (a) to treat the liability to him on the bill or note of every person who is liable on it antecedently to the company, and against whom a bankruptcy order has not been made, or in the case of a company, which has not gone into liquidation, as a security in his hands¹³; and
- 355 (b) to estimate the value of the security and, for the purpose of his entitlement to vote, to deduct it from his claim¹⁴.

For the purpose of entitlement to vote at a creditors' meeting in administration proceedings, a seller of goods to the company under a retention of title agreement¹⁵ must deduct from his claim the value, as estimated by him, of any rights arising under that agreement in respect of goods in the possession of the company¹⁶.

An owner of goods under a hire-purchase¹⁷ or chattel leasing agreement¹⁸, or a seller of goods under a conditional sale agreement¹⁹, is entitled to vote in respect of the amount of the debt due and payable to him by the company as at the date of the administration order²⁰. However, in calculating the amount of any debt for this purpose, no account must be taken of any amount attributable to the exercise of any right under the relevant agreement, so far as the right has become exercisable solely by virtue of the presentation of the petition for an administration order or any matter arising in consequence of that, or of the making of the order²¹.

194. Admission and rejection of claims.

At any creditors' meeting the chairman has power to admit or reject a creditor's claim for the purpose of his entitlement to vote; and the power is exercisable with respect to the whole or any part of the claim¹. If the chairman is in doubt whether a claim should be admitted or rejected, he must mark it as objected to and allow the creditor to vote, subject to his vote being subsequently declared invalid if the objection to the claim is sustained². The chairman's decision under these provisions is subject to appeal to the court by any creditor³. If on an appeal the chairman's decision is reversed or varied, or a creditor's vote is declared invalid, the court may order that another meeting be summoned, or make such order as it thinks just⁴. In the case of the meeting summoned to consider the administrator's proposals⁵, an application to the court by way of appeal under the above provisions against a decision of the chairman may not be made later than 28 days after the delivery⁶ of the administrator's report⁷. Neither the administrator nor any person nominated by him to be chairman is personally liable for costs incurred by any person in respect of an appeal to the court under these provisions, unless the court makes an order to that effect⁸.

199. Formalities of establishment.

The creditors' committee does not come into being, and accordingly cannot act, until the administrator has issued a certificate of its due constitution¹.

No person may act as a member of the committee unless and until he has agreed to do so and, unless the relevant proxy or authorisation contains a statement to the contrary, such agreement may be given by his proxy-holder or the representative of a corporation² present at the meeting establishing the committee³. The administrator's certificate of the committee's due constitution must not issue unless and until at least three of the persons who are to be members of the committee have agreed to act⁴. As and when the others, if any, agree to act, the administrator must issue an amended certificate⁵. The certificate, and any amended certificate, must be filed in court⁶ by the administrator⁷.

If, after the first establishment of the committee, there is any change in its membership, the administrator must report the change to the court⁸.

200. Functions and meetings of the committee.

The creditors' committee must assist the administrator in discharging his functions, and act in relation to him in such manner as may be agreed from time to time¹.

Meetings of the committee must be held when and where determined by the administrator². The administrator must, however, call a first meeting of the committee not later than three months after its establishment; and thereafter he must call a meeting:

- 356 (1) if so requested by a member of the committee or his representative, the meeting then to be held within 21 days of the request being received by the administrator³; and
- 357 (2) for a specified date, if the committee has previously resolved that a meeting be held on that date⁴.

The administrator must give seven days' written notice of the venue⁵ of any meeting to every member of the committee, or his representative⁶ designated for that purpose, unless in any case the requirement of notice has been waived by or on behalf of any member; and waiver may be signified either at or before the meeting⁷.

The chairman at any meeting of the creditors' committee must be the administrator or a person nominated by him in writing to act¹. A person so nominated must be either one who is qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner in relation to the company², or an employee of the administrator or his firm who is experienced in insolvency matters³.

202. Committee members' representatives.

A member of the committee may, in relation to the business of the committee, be represented by another person duly authorised by him for that purpose¹. A person acting as a committee member's representative must, however, hold a letter of authority entitling him so to act, either generally or specially, and signed by or on behalf of the committee member; and for this purpose, any proxy or any authorisation² in relation to any meeting of creditors of the company is, unless it contains a statement to the contrary, to be treated as such a letter of authority to act generally signed by or on behalf of the committee member³.

The chairman at any meeting of the committee may call on a person claiming to act as a committee member's representative to produce his letter of authority, and may exclude him if it appears that his authority is deficient⁴.

No member may be represented by a body corporate, or by a person who is an undischarged bankrupt, or who is subject to a composition or arrangement with his creditors⁵.

No person may act, on the same committee, at one and the same time as representative of more than one committee member⁶ or may act both as a member of the committee and as representative of another member⁷.

Where a member's representative signs any document on the member's behalf, the fact that he so signs must be stated below his signature⁸.

203. Termination of membership and removal.

A member of the committee may resign by notice in writing delivered to the administrator¹.

Membership of the creditors' committee is automatically terminated if the member:

- 358 (1) becomes bankrupt, or compounds or arranges with his creditors²;
- 359 (2) at three consecutive meetings of the committee is neither present nor represented, unless at the third of those meetings it is resolved that this provision is not to apply in his case³; or
- 360 (3) ceases to be, or is found never to have been, a creditor⁴.

If, however, the cause of termination is the member's bankruptcy, his trustee in bankruptcy replaces him as a member of the committee⁵.

A member of the committee may be removed by resolution at a meeting of creditors, at least 14 days' notice having been given of the intention to move that resolution⁶.

205. Procedure at meetings; resolutions by post.

At any meeting of the creditors' committee, each member of it, whether present himself, or by his representative¹, has one vote; and a resolution is passed when a majority of the members present or represented have voted in favour of it². Every resolution passed must be recorded in writing, either separately or as part of the minutes of the meeting³; and a record of each resolution must be signed by the chairman and placed in the company's minute book⁴.

The administrator may seek to obtain the agreement of members of the creditors' committee to a resolution by sending to every member, or his representative designated for the purpose, a copy of the proposed resolution⁵. Where the administrator makes use of such procedure, he must send out to members of the committee or their representatives, as the case may be, a copy of any proposed resolution on which a decision is sought which must be set out in such a way that agreement with or dissent from each separate resolution may be indicated by the recipient on the copy so sent⁶.

Any member of the committee may, within seven business days⁷ from the date of the administrator sending out a resolution, require him to summon a meeting of the committee to consider the matters raised by the resolution⁸. In the absence of such a request, the resolution is deemed to have been passed by the committee if and when the administrator is notified in writing by a majority of the members that they concur with it⁹. TEXT AND NOTES--Insolvency Act 1986 s 27(6) (as it has effect by virtue of the Enterprise Act 2002 s 249) amended: SI 2009/1941.

(3) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE

(i) Introduction

212. Appointment of administrators and administration orders.

A person may be appointed as administrator of a company¹:

- 369 (1) by order of the court²;
- 370 (2) by the holder of a qualifying floating charge³; or
- 371 (3) by the company or its directors⁴.

An administration order is an order appointing a person as the administrator of a company⁵. An administrator is an officer of the court, whether or not he is appointed by the court⁶.

1 For the purposes of the Insolvency Act 1986, 'administrator' of a company means a person appointed under Sch B1 (as added) to manage the company's affairs, business and property: s 8, Sch B1 para 1(1) (s 8 substituted, and Sch B1 added, by the Enterprise Act 2002 s 248(1), (2), Sch 16). As to savings relating to special administration regimes and administrations commencing prior to 15 September 2003 see para 145 ante. As to the meaning of 'business' see para 156 note 1 ante. As to the meaning of 'property' see para 489 note 8 post. As to the appointment of joint and concurrent administrators see paras 259-260 post. Where the context requires, 'administrator' includes a reference to a former administrator: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 111(1) (as so added). For the purposes of Sch B1 (as added), 'company' includes a company which may enter administration by virtue of EC Council Regulation 1346/2000 (OJ L160, 30.6.2000, p 1) on insolvency proceedings ('the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings') art 3 (jurisdiction): Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 111(1) (as so added); and see para 146 note 1 ante. As to the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings see para 46 et seq ante. A company 'enters administration' when the appointment of an administrator takes effect: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 1(2)(b) (as so added).

An act of the administrator of a company is valid in spite of a defect in his appointment or qualification: Sch B1 para 104 (as so added).

2 Ibid Sch B1 para 2(a) (as added: see note 1 supra). Such appointments are made under Sch B1 para 10 (as added) (see para 215 et seq post). For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante. As to the courts having winding-up jurisdiction see para 438 et seq post.

3 Ibid Sch B1 paras 2(b), 14(1) (as added: see note 1 supra). Such appointments are made under Sch B1 para 14 (as added) (see para 228 et seq post). 'Floating charge' means a charge which is a floating charge on its creation: Sch B1 para 111(1) (as so added). For these purposes, a person is the holder of a qualifying floating charge in respect of a company's property if he holds one or more debentures of the company secured: (1) by a qualifying floating charge which relates to the whole or substantially the whole of the company's property; (2) by a number of qualifying floating charges which together relate to the whole or substantially the whole of the company's property; or (3) by charges and other forms of security which together relate to the whole or substantially the whole of the company's property and at least one of which is a qualifying floating charge: Sch B1 para 14(3) (as so added). For the meaning of 'security' see para 109 note 10 ante.

4 Ibid Sch B1 paras 2(c), 22 (as added: see note 1 supra). Such appointments are made under Sch B1 para 22 (as added) (see para 236 et seq post). A reference in Sch B1 (as added) to something done by the directors of a company includes a reference to the same thing done by a majority of the directors of a company: Sch B1 para 105 (as so added).

5 Ibid Sch B1 para 10 (as added: see note 1 supra).

6 Ibid Sch B1 para 5 (as added: see note 1 supra).

212 Appointment of administrators and administration orders

NOTE 1--Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 paras 111(1A), (1B), 111A added: Insolvency Act 1986 (Amendment) Regulations 2005, SI 2005/879. Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 111(1A) amended: SI 2009/1941. Now, for the purposes of the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1, 'company' means a company registered under the Companies Act 2006 (see COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARAS 1, 24), a company incorporated in an EEA state other than the United Kingdom, or a company not incorporated in an EEA state but having its centre of main interests in a member state other than Denmark: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 111(1A) (as so added and amended). For the meaning of 'EEA state' see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 436 and PARA 71. In relation to a company, 'centre of main interests' has the same meaning as in the EC Regulation and, in the absence of proof to the contrary, is presumed to be the place of its registered office within the meaning of the EC Regulation: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 111(1B) (as so added). A company incorporated outside the United Kingdom which has a principal place of business in Northern Ireland may not enter administration under Sch B1 unless it also has a principal place of business in England and Wales or Scotland, or in both: Sch B1 para 111A (as so added).

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/5. ADMINISTRATION/(3) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE ENTERPRISE ACT 2002/(i) Introduction/213. Administrator's qualifications and status of company.

213. Administrator's qualifications and status of company.

A person may be appointed as administrator¹ of a company² only if he is qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner³ in relation to the company⁴.

A person may not be appointed as administrator of a company which:

- 372 (1) is in administration⁵;
- 373 (2) is in liquidation by virtue of either a resolution for voluntary winding up⁶ or a winding-up order⁷;
- 374 (3) has a liability in respect of a deposit which it accepted⁸ but is not an authorised deposit taker⁹; or
- 375 (4) effects or carries out contracts of insurance¹⁰.

1 For the meaning of 'administrator' see para 212 note 1 ante. As to joint and concurrent administrators see para 259 post.

2 As to the meaning of 'company' see para 212 note 1 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'administrator' see para 212 note 1 ante.

3 As to qualification to act as an insolvency practitioner see para 8 et seq ante.

4 Insolvency Act 1986 s 8, Sch B1 para 6 (s 8 substituted, and Sch B1 added, by the Enterprise Act 2002 s 248(1), (2), Sch 16). As to savings relating to special administration regimes and administrations commencing prior to 15 September 2003 see para 145 ante.

5 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 7 (as added: see note 4 supra). This is subject to Sch B1 paras 90-97, 100-103 (as added) (which make provision about replacement and additional administrators) (see paras 253-260 post): Sch B1 para 7 (as so added). For the meaning of 'in administration' see para 214 note 4 post.

6 Ibid Sch B1 para 8(1)(a) (as added: see note 4 supra). As to resolutions for voluntary winding up see paras 943-944 post. This is subject to Sch B1 para 38 (as added) (which makes provision for a liquidator to make an administration application: see paras 216, 226 post): Sch B1 para 8(2) (as so added).

7 Ibid Sch B1 para 8(1)(b) (as added: see note 4 supra). This is subject to Sch B1 paras 37, 38 (as added) (which provide for the making of applications when a company is in administration: see para 216 post): Sch B1 para 8(3) (as so added).

8 Ie in accordance with the Banking Act 1979 or the Banking Act 1987: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 9(1) (a) (as added: see note 4 supra). The relevant provisions of the Banking Act 1979 and the Banking Act 1987 have been repealed.

9 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 9(1) (as added: see note 4 supra). For these purposes, 'authorised deposit taker' means a person with permission under the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 Pt IV (ss 40-55) (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 348 et seq) to accept deposits: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 9(4) (as so added). 10 Ibid Sch B1 para 9(2) (as added: see note 4 supra). This does not, however, apply to a company which: (1) is exempt from the general prohibition (within the meaning of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 s 19 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 80)) in relation to effecting or carrying out contracts of insurance (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 9(3)(a), (4) (as so added)); or (2) is an authorised deposit taker effecting or carrying out contracts of insurance in the course of a banking business (Sch B1 para 9(3)(b) (as so added)).

Schedule B1 para 9(2) (as added) does not preclude the making of an administration order in relation to an insurer, and Pt II (ie s 8 (as substituted), Sch B1 (as added)) applies to insurance companies subject to the modifications set out in the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Administration Orders relating to Insurers) Order 2002, SI 2002/1242 (as amended) (the principal modification being that the appointment of an administrator may be made by court order only): art 3 (amended by SI 2003/2134; SI 2004/353). As to savings relating to special administration regimes and administrations commencing prior to 15 September 2003 see para 145 note 10 ante.

214. Purpose of administration.

The administrator¹ of a company² must perform his functions with the objective of:

- 376 (1) rescuing the company as a going concern³;
- 377 (2) achieving a better result for the company's creditors as a whole than would be likely if the company were wound up (without first being in administration)⁴; or
- 378 (3) realising property⁵ in order to make a distribution to one or more secured or preferential creditors⁶.

These objectives, as applicable, are known as 'the purpose of administration'⁷.

The administrator must perform his functions as quickly and efficiently as is reasonably practicable⁸ and (subject to the above) in the interests of the company's creditors as a whole⁹.

As to savings relating to special administration regimes and administrations commencing prior to 15 September 2003 see para 145 ante. The administrator must perform his functions with this objective unless he thinks either: (1) that it is not reasonably practicable to achieve that objective (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 3(3)(a) (as so added)); or (2) that performing his functions with the objective of achieving a better result for the company's creditors as a whole than would be likely if the company were wound up (without first being in administration) would achieve such a result (Sch B1 para 3(3)(b) (as so added)).

6 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 3(1)(c) (as added: see note 3 supra). The administrator may perform his functions with this objective only if he thinks that it is not reasonably practicable to achieve either of the other two specified objectives (Sch B1 para 3(4)(a) (as so added)) and he does not unnecessarily harm the interests of the creditors of the company as a whole (Sch B1 para 3(4)(b) (as so added)).

5 The Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 12(1) (as added) (see the text and notes 6-12 infra) is without prejudice to s 7(4)(b) (see para 133 ante): see the text and note 14 infra.

7 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 12(1)(b) (as added: see note 6 supra). A reference in Sch B1 (as added) to something done by the directors of a company includes a reference to the same thing done by a majority of the directors of a company: Sch B1 para 105 (as so added).

8 For this purpose, 'creditor' includes a contingent creditor and a prospective creditor: ibid Sch B1 para 12(4) (as added: see note 6 supra). The status of the creditor must be established before he is entitled to apply for the appointment of an administrator: Re Simoco Digital UK Ltd, Thunderbird Industries LLC v Simoco Digital UK Ltd [2004] EWHC 209 (Ch), [2004] 1 BCLC 541.

10 As from a day to be appointed, the reference in ibid Sch B1 para 12(1)(d) (as added) to a justices' chief executive is replaced with a reference to a designated officer: see Sch B1 para 12(1)(d) (as added (see note 6 supra); prospectively amended by the Courts Act 2003 s 109(1), Sch 8 para 299(a)). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

11 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 12(1)(d) (as added (see note 6 supra); prospectively amended (see note 10 supra)). The power of a justices' chief executive (or designated officer) to make an administration application arises in exercise of the power conferred by the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 87A (as added) (enforcement of fines imposed on companies): see MAGISTRATES vol 29(2) (Reissue) para 869.

A holder of a qualifying floating charge may make an administration application only if he could appoint an administrator under Sch B1 para 14 (as added) (see para 228 post) but for Sch B1 para 8(1)(b) (which prevents the appointment of an administrator where a company is in liquidation by virtue of a winding-up order: see para 213 ante): Sch B1 para 37(1) (as so added).

16 Ibid s 7(4)(b), Sch B1 para 12(5) (Sch B1 para 12(5) as added (see note 6 supra); and amended by the Enterprise Act 2002 (Insolvency) Order 2003, SI 2003/2096, art 1(1)). - 434 (6) make any other order which it thinks appropriate⁹.

Where there is an administrative receiver¹⁰ of a company, however, the court must in general dismiss the administration application¹¹.

An appointment of an administrator by administration order takes effect at a time appointed by the order, or where no time is appointed by the order, when the order is made¹². Until an administration order takes effect, the interim moratorium on legal proceedings¹³ continues to apply¹⁴.

The costs of the applicant, and of any person whose costs are allowed by the court, are payable as an expense of the administration: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 2.12(3) (as so substituted). If the court makes an administration order, it must as soon as reasonably practicable send two sealed copies of the order to the person who made the application (r 2.14(1) (as so substituted)), who must send a sealed copy of the order as soon as reasonably practicable to the person appointed as administrator (r 2.14(2) (as so substituted)). As to savings relating to special administration regimes and administrations commencing prior to 15 September 2003 see para 145 note 10 ante.

If the court makes an administration order on hearing an application made by the holder of a qualifying floating charge under the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 37(2) (as added) or by a liquidator under Sch B1 para 38(1) (as added) (see para 216 ante), the court must additionally discharge the relevant winding-up order, specify which of the powers under Sch B1 (as added) (having effect with such modifications as the court may specify) are to be exercisable by the administrator, and make other consequential provision: Sch B1 paras 37(3)(a), (c)-(e), 38(2)(a), (c)-(e) (as so added)). In either case, the court must also include in the order: (1) in the case of a liquidator appointed in a voluntary winding-up, his removal from office; (2) details concerning the release of the liquidator; (3) provision for payment of the expenses of the liquidation; (4) provisions regarding any indemnity given to the liquidator; (5) provisions regarding the handling or realisation of any of the company's assets in the hands of or under the control of the liquidator; (6) such provision as the court thinks fit with respect to matters arising in connection with the liquidation; and (7) such other provisions as the court thinks fit: Sch B1 paras 37(3)(b), 38(2)(b) (as so added); Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 2.13 (as so substituted). For the meanings of 'floating charge' and 'holder of a qualifying floating charge' see para 212 note 3 ante.

Where an administration application in respect of a company is made by a person who is not the holder of a qualifying floating charge in respect of the company's property, a person who is the holder of such a charge may apply to the court to have a specified person appointed as administrator (and not the person specified by the administration applicant): Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 36(1) (as so added). As to the making of applications see para 1055 et seq post. On making such an application, the charge-holder must produce to the court the written consent of all holders of any prior qualifying floating charge, a written statement in the form set out in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 2.10, 12.7, Sch 4 Form 2.2B (as substituted) made by the specified person proposed by him as administrator, and sufficient evidence to satisfy the court that he is entitled to appoint an administrator under the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 14 (as added) (see para 228 post): Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 0.2(1) (substituted by SI 1999/1022); Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 2.1(2), 2.10(1) (as so substituted). The court must then grant the charge-holder's application unless it thinks it right to refuse the application because of the particular circumstances of the case: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 36(2) (as so added). If an administration order is made appointing the specified person, the costs of the person who made the administration application and the applicant under Sch B1 para 36(1) (as added) must, unless the court otherwise orders, be paid as an expense of the administration: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 2.10(2) (as so substituted).

5 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 13(1)(b) (as added: see note 4 supra).

6 Ibid Sch B1 para 13(1)(c) (as added: see note 4 supra).

7 Ibid Sch B1 para 13(1)(d) (as added: see note 4 supra). An interim order under Sch B1 para 13(1)(d) (as added) may, in particular, restrict the exercise of a power of the directors or the company or make provision conferring a discretion on the court or on a person qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner in relation to the company: Sch B1 para 13(3) (as so added). A reference in Sch B1 (as added) to something done by the directors of a company includes a reference to the same thing done by a majority of the directors of a company: Sch B1 para 105 (as so added). As to qualification to act as an insolvency practitioner see para 8 et seq ante.

If the court makes an interim order it must give directions as to the persons to whom, and how, notice of that order is to be given: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 2.14(3) (as substituted: see note 4 supra).

8 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 13(1)(e) (as added: see note 4 supra). If the court treats the application as a winding-up petition, it make any order which it could make under s 125 (see para 477 post): Sch B1 para 13(1)(e) (as so added).

9 Ibid Sch B1 para 13(1)(f) (as added: see note 4 supra). If the court makes an order under Sch B1 para 13(1)(f) (as added), it must give directions as to the persons to whom, and how, notice of that order is to be given: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 2.14(3) (as substituted: see note 4 supra).

10 As to the meaning of 'administrative receiver' see para 8 note 2 ante; definition applied by the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 111(1) (as added: see note 4 supra). As to administrative receivers generally see para 380 et seq post; and COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARAS 1337-1338.

UPDATE

145-379 Administration

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/5. ADMINISTRATION/(3) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE ENTERPRISE ACT 2002/(ii) Appointment of Administrator/B. APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR BY HOLDER OF QUALIFYING FLOATING CHARGE/228. Power to appoint administrator.

B. APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR BY HOLDER OF QUALIFYING FLOATING CHARGE

228. Power to appoint administrator.

The holder of a qualifying floating charge¹ in respect of a company's property² may appoint an administrator of the company³ provided:

- 439 (1) he has given at least two business days⁴ written⁵ notice (the 'notice of intention to appoint')⁶ to the holder of any prior qualifying floating charge⁷; and 440 (2) the holder of any such charge⁸ has consented in writing to the making of the appointment⁹.

An administrator may not be so appointed while a floating charge on which the appointment relies is not enforceable¹⁰ or if a provisional liquidator of the company has been appointed¹¹ or an administrative receiver¹² of the company is in office¹³.

The provisions enabling a holder of a qualifying floating charge to appoint an administrator¹⁴ do not apply in relation to insurers¹⁵.

1 For the meanings of 'floating charge' and 'holder of a qualifying floating charge' see para 212 note 3 ante. For these purposes, a floating charge qualifies if created by an instrument which: (1) states that the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 14 (as added) applies to the charge; (2) purports to empower the charge-holder to appoint an administrator of the company; (3) purports to empower the charge-holder to make an appointment which would be the appointment of an administrative receiver within the meaning given by s 29(2) (see COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARA 1337); or (4) purports to empower the holder of a floating charge in Scotland to appoint a receiver who on appointment would be an administrative receiver: s 8, Sch B1 para 14(2) (s 8 substituted, and Sch B1 added, by the Enterprise Act 2002 s 248(1), (2), Sch 16). As to savings relating to special administration regimes and administrations commencing prior to 15 September 2003 see para 145 ante. For the meaning of 'administrator' see para 212 note 1 ante. As to joint and concurrent administrators see para 259 post. As to the meaning of 'company' see para 212 note 1 ante.

2 As to the meaning of 'property' see para 489 note 8 post.

3 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 paras 2(b), 14(1) (as added: see note 1 supra). As to the persons who may appoint an administrator see para 212 ante. In any instrument made before 15 September 2003 (see para 145 ante), a reference to the making of an administration order is to be treated as including a reference to the appointment of an administrator under Sch B1 para 14 (as added) or Sch B1 para 22 (as added) (see para 236 post), and a reference to making an application for an administration order by petition is to be treated as including a reference to, inter alia, appointing an administrator under Sch B1 para 14 (as added) or Sch B1 para 22 (as added): Enterprise Act 2002 s 248(3), Sch 17 para 1.

4 'Business day' means any day other than a Saturday, a Sunday, Christmas Day, Good Friday or a day which is a bank holiday in any part of Great Britain: Insolvency Act 1986 s 251. The Secretary of State may by order amend a provision of Sch B1 (as added) which: (1) requires anything to be done within a specified period of time; (2) prevents anything from being done after a specified time; or (3) requires a specified minimum period of notice to be given: Sch B1 para 110(1) (as added: see note 1 supra). Such an order must be made by statutory instrument and is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament: Sch B1 para 110(2) (as so added). At the date at which this volume states the law no such order had been made. As to the Secretary of State see para 11 note 10 ante.

5 A reference in ibid Sch B1 (as added) to a thing in writing includes a reference to a thing in electronic form: Sch B1 para 111(2) (as added: see note 1 supra).

6 As to the service of the notice of intention to appoint see para 229 post.

7 Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 15(1)(a) (as added: see note 1 supra). In order to qualify the holder to require the giving of notice of intention to appoint, a prior floating charge must satisfy Sch B1 para 14(2) (as added) (see note 1 supra): Sch B1 para 15(1)(a) (as so added). One floating charge is prior to another for these purposes if: (1) it was created first; or (2) it is to be treated as having priority in accordance with an agreement to which the holder of each floating charge was party: Sch B1 para 15(2) (as so added).

In any instrument made before 15 September 2003 (see para 145 ante), a reference to making an application for an administration order by petition is to be treated as including a reference to, inter alia, giving notice under Sch B1 para 15 (as added) or Sch B1 para 26 (as added) (see para 237 post): Enterprise Act 2002 s 248(3), Sch 17 para 1(b).

8 Ie which satisfies the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 14(2) (as added) (see note 1 supra).

9 Ibid Sch B1 para 15(1)(b) (as added: see note 1 supra).

10 Ibid Sch B1 para 16 (as added: see note 1 supra).

11 Under ibid s 135 (see para 491 post).

12 As to the meaning of 'administrative receiver' see para 8 note 2 ante; definition applied by ibid Sch B1 para 111(1) (as added: see note 1 supra). As to administrative receivers generally see para 380 et seq post; and COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARAS 1337-1338.

UPDATE

145-379 Administration

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/5. ADMINISTRATION/(3) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE ENTERPRISE ACT 2002/(ii) Appointment of Administrator/B. APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR BY HOLDER OF QUALIFYING FLOATING CHARGE/231. Interim moratorium.

231. Interim moratorium.

When a copy of a notice of intention to appoint an administrator¹ has been filed with the court²:

- 450 (1) no resolution may be passed for the winding up of the company³;
 - 451 (2) no order may be made for the winding up of the company⁴;
 - 452 (3) an administrative receiver⁵ of the company may not be appointed⁶; and
 - 453 (4) without the court's permission⁷:
- 8. (a) no step may be taken to enforce security⁸ over the company's property⁹;
 - 9. (b) no step may be taken to repossess goods in the company's possession under a hire-purchase agreement¹⁰;
 - 10. (c) a landlord¹¹ may not exercise a right of forfeiture by peaceable re-entry in relation to premises let to the company¹²; and
 - 11. (d) no legal process (including legal proceedings, execution, distress and diligence) may be instituted or continued against the company or property of the company¹³.

This moratorium on legal process has effect until such time as either the appointment of the administrator takes effect¹⁴ or the period of five business days¹⁵ beginning with the date of filing expires without an administrator having been appointed¹⁶.

These provisions do not prevent or require the permission of the court for the appointment of an administrator¹⁷, the appointment of an administrative receiver of the company, or the carrying out by an administrative receiver (whenever appointed) of his functions¹⁸.

233. Appointment taking place out of court business hours.

When the court¹ is closed (and only when it is closed) the holder of a qualifying floating charge² may file³ a notice of appointment⁴ with the court, notwithstanding that the court is not open for public business⁴, by faxing the form⁵. The filing of a notice in accordance with these provisions has the same effect for all purposes as a notice of appointment filed in the ordinary way⁶, with the court specified in the notice as having jurisdiction in the case⁷, and the appointment takes effect from the date and time of the fax transmission⁸. The appointor must take three copies of the faxed notice of appointment, together with the transmission report showing the date and time that the form was faxed⁹ and all the necessary supporting documents¹⁰, to the court on the next day that the court is open for business¹¹, and must attach to the notice a statement providing full reasons for the out of hours filing of the notice of appointment, including why it would have been damaging to the company¹² and its creditors not to have so acted¹³. The copies of the notice must be sealed by the court and must be endorsed with the date and time when, according to the appointor's fax transmission report, the notice was faxed and the date when the notice and accompanying documents were delivered to the court¹⁴. The court must issue two of the sealed copies of the notice of appointment to the person making the appointment, who must, as soon as reasonably practicable, send one of the copies to the administrator¹⁵.

The Secretary of State must publish the telephone number of the relevant fax machine on the Insolvency Service website and it must be available in writing on request made to the Insolvency Service: see r 2.19(3) (as so substituted). The appointor must ensure that a fax transmission report detailing the time and date of the fax transmission and containing a copy of the first page (in part or in full) of the document faxed is created by the fax machine that is used to fax the form (r 2.19(4) (as so substituted)), and must notify the administrator as soon as reasonably practicable that the notice has been filed (r 2.19(5) (as so substituted)). The copy of the faxed notice of appointment received by the Court Service fax machine must be forwarded as soon as reasonably practicable to the court specified in the notice as the court having jurisdiction in the case, to be placed on the relevant court file: r 2.19(6) (as so substituted). The administrator¹ may revoke a requirement that a relevant person² provide him with a statement of affairs³ and may extend the time limit for submission of such statements⁴. This power may be exercised at the administrator's own discretion or at the request of any relevant person⁵. A relevant person may, if he requests a release or extension of time and it is refused by the administrator, apply to the court⁶ for it⁷, and the court may, at its discretion, fix a venue⁸ for the application to be heard¹⁰ and there make an order revoking a requirement or extending a time limit as it sees fit¹¹. Alternatively, if it thinks that no sufficient cause is shown for the application, the court may dismiss it without a hearing¹².

On any application under these provisions the relevant person's costs must be paid in any event by him and, unless the court otherwise orders, no allowance towards them must be made out of the assets¹³.

271. Filing of statements and restriction on disclosure.

The administrator¹ must as soon as is reasonably practicable send to the registrar of companies and file with the court² a specified form³ together with a copy of the statement of affairs⁴ and any statement of concurrence⁵. This is, however, subject to the proviso that where the administrator thinks that it would prejudice the conduct of the administration for the whole or part of the statement of the company's⁶ affairs to be disclosed, he may apply to the court for an order of limited disclosure in respect of the statement or any specified part of it⁷, and the court may, on such application, order that the statement or, as the case may be, the specified part of it, is not to be filed with the registrar⁸. If a creditor seeks disclosure of a statement of affairs or a specified part of it in relation to which an order has been made under these provisions, he may apply to the court for an order that the administrator disclose it or a specified part of it⁹, and the court may make any order for disclosure subject to any conditions as to confidentiality, duration, the scope of the order in the event of any change of circumstances, or other matters as it sees fit¹⁰.

As to the amendment of provisions concerning time-periods see para 228 note 4 ante.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/5. ADMINISTRATION/(3) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE ENTERPRISE ACT 2002/(iv) Process of Administration/D. CREDITORS' MEETINGS/(B) Voting and Resolutions/280. Entitlement to vote.

(B) VOTING AND RESOLUTIONS

280. Entitlement to vote.

A person is entitled to vote at a creditors' meeting¹ only if:

- 572 (1) he has given to the administrator², not later than 12.00 hours on the business day³ before the day fixed for the meeting, details in writing of the debt⁴ which he claims⁵;
- 573 (2) the claim has been duly admitted⁶; and
- 574 (3) there has been lodged with the administrator any proxy which he intends to be used on his behalf⁷.

Votes are calculated according to the amount of a creditor's claim as at the date on which the company⁸ entered administration⁹, less any payments that have been made to him after that date in respect of his claim and any adjustment by way of set-off¹⁰. A creditor may not vote in respect of a debt for an unliquidated amount, or any debt whose value is not ascertained, except where the chairman agrees to put upon the debt an estimated minimum value for the purpose of entitlement to vote and admits the claim for that purpose¹¹. No vote may be cast by virtue of a claim more than once on any resolution put to the meeting¹².

Where a creditor is entitled to vote under these provisions, has lodged his claim in one or more sets of other proceedings¹³ in another member state, and votes (either in person or by proxy) on a resolution put to the meeting, and the member state liquidator casts a vote in respect of the same claim, only the creditor's vote can be counted¹⁴. Where a creditor has lodged his claim in more than one set of other proceedings and more than one member state liquidator seeks to vote by virtue of that claim, the entitlement to vote by virtue of that claim is exercisable by the member state liquidator in the main proceedings, whether or not the creditor has lodged his claim in the main proceedings¹⁶.

2 For the meaning of 'administrator' see para 212 note 1 ante. As to joint and concurrent administrators see paras 259-260 ante.

3 For the meaning of 'business day' see para 228 note 4 ante.

4 For the meaning of 'debt' see para 749 post.

5 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 2.38(1)(a) (r 2.38 substituted by SI 2003/1730). As to savings relating to special administration regimes and administrations commencing prior to 15 September 2003 see para 145 note 10 ante. For this purpose, the debt which a person claims is either the debt which he claims to be due to him from the company or, in relation to a member state liquidator, the debt claimed to be due to creditors in proceedings in relation to which he holds office: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 2.38(1)(a) (as so substituted). Details of the debt must include any calculation for the purposes of rr 2.40-2.42 (see paras 282-284 post): r 2.38(1) (as so substituted). The chairman of the meeting may allow a creditor to vote, notwithstanding that he has failed to comply with these requirements, if satisfied that the failure was due to circumstances beyond the creditor's control (r 2.38(2) (as so substituted)), and may call for any document or other evidence to be produced to him, where he thinks it necessary for the purpose of substantiating the whole or any part of the claim (r 2.38(3) (as so substituted)). For the meaning of 'member state liquidator' see para 460 note 15 post.

At any creditors' meeting¹ the chairman has power to admit or reject a creditor's claim for the purpose of his entitlement to vote². The chairman's decision³ is subject to appeal to the court⁴ by any creditor⁵. If the chairman is in doubt whether a claim should be admitted or rejected, he must mark it as objected to and allow the creditor to vote, subject to his vote being subsequently declared invalid if the objection to the claim is sustained⁶. If on an appeal the chairman's decision is reversed or varied, or a creditor's vote is declared invalid, the court may order that another meeting be summoned, or make such other order as it thinks fit⁷. If the court gives directions to the administrator of a company in connection with any aspect of his management of the company's affairs, business or property, the administrator must comply with the directions: Sch B1 para 68(2) (as so added). The court may give directions under Sch B1 para 68(2) (as added) only if: (1) no proposals have been approved under Sch B1 para 53 (as added) (see para 290 ante); (2) the directions are consistent with any proposals or revision approved under Sch B1 para 53 (as added) or Sch B1 para 54 (as added) (see paras 290, 293 ante); (3) the court thinks the directions are required in order to reflect a change in circumstances since the approval of proposals or a revision under Sch B1 para 53 (as added) or Sch B1 para 54 (as added); or (4) the court thinks the directions are desirable because of a misunderstanding about proposals or a revision approved under Sch B1 para 53 (as added) or Sch B1 para 54 (as added): Sch B1 para 68(3) (as so added). Note that these provisions do not prevent administrators from selling a company's assets in advance of their proposals being approved by creditors (ie under Sch B1 para 53 (as added) or Sch B1 para 54 (as added)) without the direction of the court since they are only required to act in accordance with the directions of the court if those directions are given: see Sch B1 para 68(2) (as so added); and Re Transbus International Ltd [2004] EWHC 932 (Ch), [2004] 2 All ER 911.

As to savings relating to special administration regimes and administrations commencing prior to 15 September 2003 see para 145 note 10 ante. Any payments to a creditor made pursuant to this provision must not exceed, in aggregate, the amount which the administrator reasonably considers that the creditor would be entitled to receive on a distribution of the insurer's assets in a winding up: Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Administration Orders Relating to Insurers) Order 2002, SI 2002/1242, art 3, Schedule para 8(2) (as so renumbered). These powers may be exercised until an initial creditors' meeting (see para 286 et seq ante) but may only be exercised thereafter: (1) if the administrator has laid before that meeting or any subsequent creditors' meeting ('the relevant meeting') a statement containing an estimate of the aggregate amount of the insurer's assets and liabilities (whether actual, contingent or prospective) and all payments which the administrator proposes to make to creditors pursuant to Schedule para 8(1) (as renumbered) (including any assumptions which the administrator has made in calculating that estimate) (Schedule para 8(3)(a), (4) (as so renumbered and amended)); and (2) with the consent of the court (Schedule para 8(3)(b) (as so renumbered)).

Calculation and distribution of dividends.

320. Calculation and distribution of dividends.

In the calculation and distribution of a dividend the administrator¹ must make provision for:

- 662 (1) any debts² which appear to him to be due to persons who, by reason of the distance of their place of residence, may not have had sufficient time to tender and establish their proofs³;
- 663 (2) any debts which are the subject of claims which have not yet been determined⁴; and
- 664 (3) disputed proofs and claims⁵.

A creditor⁶ who has not proved his debt before the declaration of any dividend is not entitled to disturb, by reason that he has not participated in it, the distribution of that dividend or any other dividend declared before his debt was proved⁷. When, however, he has proved that debt, he is entitled to be paid, out of any money for the time being available for the payment of any further dividend, any dividend or dividends which he has failed to receive⁸.

No claim lies against the administrator for a dividend, but if he refuses to pay a dividend the court⁹ may, if it thinks fit, order him to pay it and also to pay, out of his own money:

- 665 (a) interest on the dividend, at the rate for the time being specified¹⁰, from the time when it was withheld¹¹; and
- 666 (b) the costs of the proceedings in which the order to pay is made¹².

321 Division of unsold assets

TEXT AND NOTE 5--SI 1986/1925 r 2.71 amended: SI 2010/686.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/5. ADMINISTRATION/(3) ADMINISTRATION UNDER THE ENTERPRISE ACT 2002/(v) Powers and Functions of Administrator/B. DISTRIBUTIONS TO CREDITORS/(A) Distributions Generally/322. Share of assets for unsecured creditors.

322. Share of assets for unsecured creditors.

Where a floating charge¹ relates to property² of a company which is in administration³, the administrator⁴ must make a prescribed⁵ part of the company's net property⁶ available for the satisfaction of unsecured debts⁷ and must not distribute that part to the proprietor of a floating charge except in so far as it exceeds the amount required for the satisfaction of unsecured debts⁸.

These provisions do not apply to a company:

- 667 (1) if the company's property is less than the prescribed minimum⁹ and the administrator thinks that the cost of making a distribution to unsecured creditors would be disproportionate to the benefits¹⁰;
- 668 (2) if and in so far as they are disapplied by a voluntary arrangement¹¹ in respect of the company¹² or a compromise or arrangement¹³ agreed with creditors and members¹⁴; or
- 669 (3) if the administrator applies to the court¹⁵ for an order on the ground that the cost of making a distribution to unsecured creditors would be disproportionate to the benefits¹⁶ and the court orders that the provisions do not apply¹⁷.

The costs associated with the prescribed part must be paid out of the prescribed part¹⁸.

1 For these purposes, 'floating charge' means a charge which is a floating charge on its creation and which is created after the first order under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 176A(2)(a) (as added) (see the text and notes 2-7 infra) comes into force: s 176A(9) (s 176A added by the Enterprise Act 2002 s 252). This provision has effect from 15 September 2003: see the Enterprise Act 2002 (Commencement No 4 and Transitional Provisions and Savings) Order 2003, SI 2003/2093, art 2(1), Sch 1; and para 145 ante.

2 As to the meaning of 'property' see para 489 note 8 post.

4 For the meaning of 'administrator' see para 212 note 1 ante. As to joint and concurrent administrators see paras 259-260 ante.

5 'Prescribed' means prescribed by order of the Secretary of State: Insolvency Act 1986 s 176A(9) (as added: see note 1 supra). Such an order must be made by statutory instrument and must be subject to annulment pursuant to a resolution of either House of Parliament (s 176A(8) (as so added)) and may include transitional or incidental provision (s 176A(9) (as so added)). An order prescribing part of a company's net property may, in particular, provide for its calculation as a percentage of the company's net property or as an aggregate of different percentages of different parts of the company's net property: s 176A(7) (as so added). As to the effect of the orders made under these provisions see notes 6, 7 infra. As to the Secretary of State see para 11 note 10 ante.

6 For these purposes, a company's net property is the amount of its property which would, but for ibid s 176A (as added), be available for satisfaction of claims of holders of debentures secured by, or holders of, any floating charge created by the company: s 176A(6) (as added: see note 1 supra).

7 Ibid s 176A(2)(a) (as added: see note 1 supra). The prescribed part of the company's net property to be made available for the satisfaction of unsecured debts of the company pursuant to ibid s 176A (as added) must be calculated as follows: (1) where the company's net property does not exceed £10,000 in value, 50% of that property; (2) where the company's net property exceeds £10,000 in value, the sum of 50% of the first £10,000 in value and 20% of that part of the company's net property which exceeds £10,000 in value (subject to a maximum of £600,000): Insolvency Act 1986 (Prescribed Part) Order 2003, SI 2003/2097, art 3. As to the making of orders see note 5 supra.

8 Insolvency Act 1986 s 176A(2)(b) (as added: see note 1 supra). These provisions also apply where a company is in liquidation or where there is a provisional liquidator or a receiver: see para 773 post.

9 Ibid s 176A(3)(a) (as added: see note 1 supra). The minimum value of the company's net property is £10,000: Insolvency Act 1986 (Prescribed Part) Order 2003, SI 2003/2097, art 2. As to the making of orders see note 5 supra.

10 Insolvency Act 1986 s 176A(3)(b) (as added: see note 1 supra).

(B) PROOF OF DEBTS

323. Proving a debt.

A person claiming to be a creditor¹ of the company² and wishing to recover his debt³ in whole or in part must (subject to any order of the court⁴ to the contrary) submit his claim in writing to the administrator⁵. A creditor who claims is referred to as 'proving' for his debt and a document by which he seeks to establish his claim is his 'proof'⁶. A proof must be made out by, or under the direction of, the creditor and signed by him or a person authorised in that behalf⁷, and must state:

- 670 (1) the creditor's name and address⁸;
- 671 (2) the total amount of his claim as at the date on which the company entered administration⁹, less any payments that have been made to him after that date in respect of his claim and any adjustment by way of set-off¹⁰;
- 672 (3) whether or not the claim includes outstanding uncapitalised interest¹¹;
- 673 (4) whether or not the claim includes value added tax¹²;
- 674 (5) whether the whole or any part of the debt falls within any, and if so, which categories of preferential debts¹³;
- 675 (6) particulars of how and when the debt was incurred by the company¹⁴;
- 676 (7) particulars of any security held, the date on which it was given and the value which the creditor puts on it¹⁵;
- 677 (8) details of any reservation of title in respect of goods to which the debt refers¹⁶; and
- 678 (9) the name, address and authority of the person signing the proof (if other than the creditor himself)¹⁷.

There must be specified in the proof details of any documents by reference to which the debt can be substantiated; but (subject as follows) it is not essential that such document be attached to the proof or submitted with it¹⁸. The administrator may call for any document or other evidence to be produced to him, where he thinks it necessary for the purpose of substantiating the whole or any part of the claim made in the proof¹⁹.

The administrator¹ may at any time give notice to a creditor² whose debt³ is secured that he proposes, at the expiration of 28 days from the date of the notice, to redeem the security at the value put upon it in the creditor's proof⁴. 358. Disposal of property not subject to floating charge.

The court¹ may by order enable the administrator² of a company³ to dispose of property⁴ which is subject to a security⁵ (other than a floating charge⁶) as if it were not subject to the security⁷. Such an order may be made only on the application of the administrator⁸ and where the court thinks that disposal of the property would be likely to promote the purpose of administration⁹ in respect of the company¹⁰. The application and the affidavit must be served upon the company⁷ and the administrator⁸. On hearing the application, the court may make such order as it thinks fit⁹.

A member state liquidator appointed under these provisions is deemed to be a creditor of the company for certain purposes¹⁰. Where the administrator¹¹ is obliged to give notice, or provide a copy of a document (including an order of court), to the court, the registrar of companies or the official receiver, the administrator must give notice or provide copies, as the case may be, to the member state liquidator¹².

9 Ibid 2.132(1) (as substituted: see note 3 supra). Without prejudice to the generality of r 2.132(1) (as substituted), an order thereunder may provide that the company be wound up as if a resolution for voluntary winding up under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 84 (as amended) (see para 939 post) were passed on the day on which the order is made: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 0.2(1), 2.1(2), 2.132(3) (r 0.2(1) substituted by SI 1999/1022; Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 2.1(2), 2.132(3) as so substituted). 374. Extension of administration by consent.

For the purposes of the provision enabling an administrator¹ to extend his term of office by consent², 'consent' means:

- 759 (1) consent of each secured creditor of the company³; and
- 760 (2) (if the company has unsecured debts) consent of creditors whose debts amount to more than 50 per cent of the company's unsecured debts⁴.

If, however, the administrator has made a statement that the company has insufficient property to enable a distribution to be made to unsecured creditors⁵, 'consent' means either:

- 761 (a) consent of each secured creditor of the company⁶; or
- 762 (b) if the administrator thinks that a distribution may be made to preferential creditors, consent of each secured creditor of the company and of preferential creditors whose debts amount to more than 50 per cent of the preferential debts of the company⁷.

Consent may be either written⁸ or signified at a creditors' meeting⁹.

When the administrator requests an extension of the period of the administration by consent of creditors, his request must be accompanied by a progress report¹⁰ for the period since the last progress report (if any) or the date the company entered administration¹¹. Notice must be given in the specified form¹². Where an administrator's term of office is extended by consent, he must as soon as is reasonably practicable file notice of the extension with the court¹³ and notify the registrar of companies¹⁴.

An administrator's term of office may be extended by consent only once¹⁵, may not be extended by consent after extension by order of the court¹⁶, and may not be extended by consent after expiry¹⁷.

374 Extension of administration by consent

375. Fixing of remuneration.

The administrator¹ is entitled to receive remuneration for his services as such². The remuneration must be fixed either:

- 763 (1) as a percentage of the value of the property with which he has to deal³; or
- 764 (2) by reference to the time properly given by the insolvency practitioner (as administrator) and his staff in attending to matters arising in the administration⁴.

It is for the creditors' committee⁵ (if there is one) to determine by which of these standards the remuneration is to be fixed and, if it is to be fixed as a percentage of the value of property, to determine any percentage to be applied as there mentioned⁶. If there is no creditors' committee, or the committee does not make the requisite determination, the administrator's remuneration may be fixed⁷ by a resolution of a meeting of creditors⁸. If not fixed by either of these means, the administrator's remuneration must, on his application⁹, be fixed by the court¹⁰.

Where there are joint administrators¹¹, it is for them to agree between themselves as to how the remuneration payable should be apportioned¹², although any dispute arising between them may be referred to the court, for settlement by order¹³, or to the creditors' committee or a meeting of creditors, for settlement by resolution¹⁴.

If the administrator is a solicitor¹⁵ and employs his own firm, or any partner in it, to act on behalf of the company, profit costs must not be paid unless this is authorised by the creditors' committee, the creditors or the court¹⁶.

- 769 (5) any allowance made, by order of the court, towards costs on an application for release from the obligation to submit a statement of affairs or statement of concurrence⁹;
- 770 (6) any necessary disbursements by the administrator in the course of the administration (including any expenses incurred by members of the creditors' committee¹⁰ or their representatives and allowed for by the administrator¹¹, but not including any payment of corporation tax in circumstances referred to in head (9) below)¹²;
- 771 (7) the remuneration or emoluments of any person who has been employed by the administrator to perform any services for the company, as required or authorised under the Insolvency Act 1986 or the Insolvency Rules 1986¹³;

- 773 (9) the amount of any corporation tax on chargeable gains accruing on the realisation of any asset of the company¹⁵ (without regard to whether the realisation is effected by the administrator, a secured creditor, or a receiver or manager appointed to deal with a security)¹⁶.

The court may, in the event of the assets being insufficient to satisfy the liabilities, make an order as to the payment out of the assets of the expenses incurred in the administration in such order of priority as the court thinks just¹⁷, and the priorities set out above are subject to that power¹⁸.

6. ADMINISTRATIVE RECEIVERS

(1) IN GENERAL

380. Introduction.

There are many provisions¹ of the Companies Act 1985, the Insolvency Act 1986 and the Insolvency Rules 1986 which apply equally to ordinary receivers, receivers and managers and administrative receivers². However, certain provisions in the Insolvency Act 1986 apply only to administrative receivers and have no application to ordinary receivers³.

1 See COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARAS 1340 (appointment of receiver or manager), 1341 (liability for invalid appointment), 1342 (effect of appointment of receiver), 1343 (rates and taxes), 1344 (notification of appointment of receiver), 1345 (corporation not to act as receiver), 1346 (undischarged bankrupt not to act as receiver or manager), 1349 (liability of trustees etc for receiver's acts), 1351 (application to court for directions), 1334 (payment of preferential debts out of assets subject to floating charge), 1354 (transfer of rights under insurance contracts), 1355 (change of status on making of order for winding up or administration), 1356 (court's power to fix remuneration), 1358 (cross-border operation of receivership provisions). See also para 773 post (share of assets for unsecured creditors).

2 For the meaning of 'administrative receiver' see COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARA 1337. See also Re International Bulk Commodities Ltd [1993] Ch 77, [1993] 1 All ER 361, where it was held that an administrative receiver can be appointed over the assets of an unregistered company liable to be wound up under the Insolvency Act 1986 Pt V (ss 220-229) (as amended) (see para 1147 et seq post).

3 See para 381 et seq post. Save where otherwise expressly provided, the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925 (as amended) apply to receivers appointed on or after 29 December 1986: r 13.14(1)(a) (amended by SI 1987/1919).

381. Interrelationship between administrative receivership and administration order.

Where an application for an administration order is presented to the court¹, notice of the application's presentation must be given forthwith to (inter alios) any person who has appointed, or is or may be entitled to appoint, an administrative receiver² of the company³. Where the court is satisfied that there is an administrative receiver of the company, the court must dismiss the application, unless it is also satisfied either that the person by whom or on whose behalf the receiver was appointed has consented to the making of the order, or that, if an administration order were made, any security by virtue of which the receiver was appointed would be void, liable to be released or discharged, avoided or be challengeable⁴.

During the period beginning with the presentation of an application for an administration order to the court and ending with the making of such an order or the dismissal of the application, no steps may be taken, except with the leave of the court⁵ and subject to such terms as the court may impose, to enforce any security over the company's property⁶; but nothing in this provision requires the leave of the court for the appointment of an administrative receiver of the company, or for the carrying out by such a receiver, whenever appointed, of any of his functions⁷.

Where such an application is presented at a time when there is an administrative receiver of the company, and the person by or on whose behalf the receiver was appointed has not consented to the making of the order, the period mentioned above is deemed not to begin unless and until that person so consents⁸.

On the taking effect of an administration order, any administrative receiver of the company must vacate office⁹. During the period for which such an order is in force no administrative receiver of the company may be appointed¹⁰, and no other steps may be taken to enforce any security over the company's property, except with the consent of the administrator or the leave of the court¹¹ and subject, where the court gives leave, to such terms as the court may impose¹².

380-431 Administrative Receivers

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

381 Interrelationship between administrative receivership and administration order

NOTE 6--Insolvency Act 1986 s 437, Sch 11 amended: SI 2009/1941.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/6. ADMINISTRATIVE RECEIVERS/ (2) PROHIBITION ON APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATIVE RECEIVER/382. Floating charge holder not to appoint administrative receiver.

(2) PROHIBITION ON APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATIVE RECEIVER

382. Floating charge holder not to appoint administrative receiver.

The holder of a qualifying floating charge in respect of a company's property¹ created on or after 15 September 2003² may not appoint an administrative receiver³ of the company⁴. This applies in spite of any provision of an agreement or instrument which purports to empower a person to appoint an administrative receiver, by whatever name⁵; but is subject to various exceptions⁶.

1 'Holder of a qualifying floating charge in respect of a company's property' has the same meaning as in the Insolvency Act 1986 s 8, Sch B1 para 14 (as added) (see para 212 ante): s 72A(3) (s 72A added by the Enterprise Act 2002 s 250(1)).

2 The Insolvency Act 1986 s 72A (as added) applies to a floating charge created on or after a date appointed by the Secretary of State by order made by statutory instrument: s 72A(4)(a) (as added: see note 1 supra). An order under s 72A(4)(a) (as added) may make provision which applies generally or only for a specified person, may make different provision for different purposes, and may make transitional provision: s 72A(5) (as so added). The date appointed was 15 September 2003: Insolvency Act 1986, Section 72A (Appointed Date) Order 2003, SI 2003/2095, art 2. As to the Secretary of State see para 11 note 10 ante.

3 For these purposes, 'administrative receiver' has the meaning given by the Insolvency Act 1986 s 251 (see COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARA 1337): s 72A(3) (as added: see note 1 supra).

4 Ibid s 72A(1) (as added: see note 1 supra).

5 Ibid s 72A(4)(a) (as added: see note 1 supra).

6 Ibid s 72A(6) (as added (see note 1 supra); and amended by the Insolvency Act 1986 (Amendment) (Administrative Receivership and Urban Regeneration etc) Order 2003, SI 2003/1832, art 2(a)). As to the exceptions see the Insolvency Act 1986 ss 72B-72GA (as added); and paras 383-390 post.

The Secretary of State may by order: (1) insert into the Insolvency Act 1986 provision creating an additional exception to s 72A(1) (as added); (2) provide for a provision of the Insolvency Act 1986 which creates an exception to s 72A(1) (as added) to cease to have effect; (3) amend s 72A (as added) in consequence of any such provision; (4) amend any of ss 72B-72G (as added); or (5) amend Sch 2A (as added and amended) (see para 383 et seq post): s 72H(2) (s 72H added by the Enterprise Act 2002 s 250(1)). Any such order must be made by statutory instrument: Insolvency Act 1986 s 72H(3) (as so added). Any such order may make provision which applies generally or only for a specified purpose, may make different provision for different purposes, and may make consequential or supplementary provision or transitional provision: s 72H(4) (as so added). Any such order: (a) in the case of an order under head (5) supra, is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament; (b) in the case of an order under head (4) supra varying the sum specified in s 72B(1)(a) (as added) (see para 383 post) or s 72E(2)(a) (as added) (see para 387 post), whether or not the order also makes consequential or transitional provision, is subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament; and (c) in the case of any other order under heads (1)-(4) supra, may not be made unless a draft has been laid before and approved by resolution of each House of Parliament: s 72H(5) (as so added).

NOTE 6--See Re Dairy Farmers of Britain Ltd [2009] EWHC 1389 (Ch), [2010] Ch 63, [2009] 4 All ER 241.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/6. ADMINISTRATIVE RECEIVERS/ (2) PROHIBITION ON APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATIVE RECEIVER/383. Exception to prohibition on appointment of administrative receiver in respect of capital markets.

383. Exception to prohibition on appointment of administrative receiver in respect of capital markets.

The prohibition on appointment of an administrative receiver¹ does not prevent the appointment of an administrative receiver in pursuance of an agreement² which is or forms part of a capital market arrangement if a party incurs or, when the agreement was entered into was expected to incur, a debt of at least £50 million³ under the arrangement and the arrangement involves the issue of a capital market investment⁴.

For these purposes, an arrangement is a capital market arrangement⁵ if:

- 774 (1) it involves a grant of security to a person holding it as trustee for a person⁶ who holds a capital market investment issued by a party to the arrangement⁷; or
- 775 (2) it involves a grant of security to a party to the arrangement who issues a capital market investment or a person who holds the security as trustee for a party to the arrangement in connection with the issue of a capital market investment; or
- 776 (3) it involves a grant of security to a person who holds the security as trustee for a party to the arrangement who agrees to provide finance to another party; or
- 777 (4) at least one party guarantees the performance of obligations of another party; or
- 778 (5) at least one party provides security in respect of the performance of obligations of another party; or
- 779 (6) the arrangement involves an option, future or contract for difference⁸.

For these purposes, an investment is a capital market investment if it is a debt instrument⁹ and is rated, listed or traded¹⁰ or designed to be rated, listed or traded¹¹. An investment is also a capital market investment for these purposes if it consists of a bond¹² or commercial paper¹³ issued to one or more of the following:

- 780 (a) an investment professional¹⁴;
- 781 (b) a person who is, when the relevant agreement is entered into, a certified high net worth individual¹⁵;
- 782 (c) a person to whom the provisions relating to high net worth companies, unincorporated associations or partnerships apply¹⁶;
- 783 (d) a person who is, when the relevant agreement is entered into, a certified sophisticated investor¹⁷;
- 784 (e) a person in a state other than the United Kingdom who under the law of that state is not prohibited from investing in bonds or commercial paper¹⁸.

1 le pursuant to the Insolvency Act 1986 s 72A (as added): see para 382 ante. For the meaning of 'administrative receiver' see para 382 note 3 ante; and COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARA 1337.

2 For these purposes, 'agreement' includes an agreement or undertaking effected by contract, deed, or any other instrument intended to have effect in accordance with the law of England and Wales, Scotland or another jurisdiction: ibid s 72H(1), Sch 2A para 4 (s 72H added by the Enterprise Act 2002 s 250(1); and the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 2A added by the Enterprise Act 2002 s 250(2), Sch 18).

3 The debt of at least £50 million may be incurred at any time during the life of the capital market arrangement and may be expressed wholly or partly in foreign currency, in which case the sterling equivalent must be calculated as at the time when the arrangement is entered into: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 2A para 5 (as added: see note 2 supra).

5 See the Insolvency Act 1986 s 72B(2) (as added: see note 4 supra), Sch 2A para 1(1) (as added (see note 2 supra); and amended by the Insolvency Act 1986 (Amendment) (Administrative Receivership and Capital Market Arrangements) Order 2003, SI 2003/1468, arts 2, 3).

6 A reference to a person in the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 2A (as added and amended) includes a reference to a partnership or another unincorporated group of persons: Sch 2A para 11 (as added: see note 2 supra). For these purposes, a reference to holding as trustee includes a reference to holding as nominee or agent; a reference to holding for a person who holds a capital market investment includes a reference to holding for a number of persons at least one of whom holds a capital market investment; a person holds a capital market investment if he has a legal or beneficial interest in it; and the reference to finance includes the provision of an indemnity: Sch 2A para 1(2) (as so added; and amended by the Insolvency Act 1986 (Amendment) (Administrative Receivership and Capital Market Arrangements) Order 2003, SI 2003/1468, art 1).

7 For these purposes, 'party to an arrangement' includes a party to an agreement which forms part of the arrangement, provides for the raising of finance as part of the arrangement, or is necessary for the purposes of implementing the arrangement: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 2A para 1(3) (as added: see note 2 supra).

9 Ie within ibid art 77: see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 224.

10 For these purposes, 'rated' means rated for the purposes of investment by an internationally recognised rating agency; 'listed' means admitted to the official list within the meaning given by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 s 103(1) (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 385 et seq); and 'traded' means admitted to trading on a market established under the rules of a recognised investment exchange or on a foreign market: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 2A para 2(2) (as added: see note 2 supra). 'Recognised investment exchange' has the meaning given by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 s 285 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 49 (2008) PARA 684); and 'foreign market' has the same meaning as 'relevant market' in the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Financial Promotion) Order 2001, SI 2001/1335, art 67(2) (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 280): Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 2A para 2(3) (as so added).

11 Ibid Sch 2A para 2(1) (as added: see note 2 supra).

12 'Bond' is to be construed in accordance with the Financial Services and Markets 2000 (Regulated Activities) Order 2001, SI 2001/544, art 77 (see FINANCIAL SERVICES AND INSTITUTIONS vol 48 (2008) PARA 224): Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 2A para 3(2) (as added: see note 2 supra).

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/6. ADMINISTRATIVE RECEIVERS/ (2) PROHIBITION ON APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATIVE RECEIVER/384. Exception to prohibition on appointment of administrative receiver in respect of public-private partnerships.

384. Exception to prohibition on appointment of administrative receiver in respect of public-private partnerships.

The prohibition on appointment of an administrative receiver¹ does not prevent the appointment of an administrative receiver of a project company² of a project which is a public-partnership project and includes step-in rights³. For these purposes, 'public-private partnership project' means a project the resources⁴ for which are provided partly by one or more public bodies and partly by one or more private persons or which is designed wholly or mainly for the purpose of assisting a public body⁵ to discharge a function⁶.

1 Ie pursuant to the Insolvency Act 1986 s 72A (as added and amended): see para 382 ante. For the meaning of 'administrative receiver' see para 382 note 3 ante; and COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARA 1337.

2 For these purposes, a company is a 'project company' of a project if: (1) it holds property for the purpose of the project; (2) it has sole or principal responsibility under an agreement for carrying out all or part of the project; (3) it is one of a number of companies which together carry out the project; (4) it has the purpose of supplying finance to enable the project to be carried out; or (5) it is the holding company of a company within any of heads (1) to (4) supra: ibid Sch 2A para 7(1) (Sch 2A added by the Enterprise Act 2002 s 250(2), Sch 18). But a company is not a 'project company' of a project if it performs a function within heads (1) to (4) supra or is within head (5) supra, but it also performs a function which is not within heads (1) to (4) supra or related to a function within heads (1) to (4) supra or related to the project: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 2A para 7(2) (as so added). The administrative receiver must also cause notice of his appointment to be advertised once in the Gazette⁵, and once in such newspaper as he thinks most appropriate for securing that it comes to the notice of the company's creditors⁶; and such notice must contain all the matters specified in heads (a) to (e) above⁷.

If the administrative receiver fails without reasonable excuse to comply with these provisions, he is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one-fifth of the statutory maximum and, on conviction after continued contravention, to a daily default fine not exceeding one-fiftieth of the statutory maximum⁸.

396. General powers.

The powers conferred on the administrative receiver¹ of a company by the debentures by virtue of which he was appointed are deemed to include, except in so far as they are inconsistent with any of the provisions of those debentures, the powers specified² in the Insolvency Act 1986³. A person dealing with the administrative receiver in good faith and for value is not concerned to inquire whether the receiver is acting within his powers⁴. An administrative receiver does not owe a general duty of care to the company but he does owe a duty to act in good faith for the purpose of preserving and realising the assets comprised in the security over which he is appointed⁵. An administrative receiver in possession of charged property or carrying on a business does owe a duty to manage the property or carry on the business with due diligence⁶. The following propositions set out the duties of receivers, including administrative receivers:

- 794 (1) a receiver managing mortgaged property owes duties to the mortgagor and anyone else with an interest in the equity of redemption;
- 795 (2) the duties include, but are not necessarily confined to, a duty of good faith;
- 796 (3) the extent and scope of any duty additional to that of good faith will depend on the facts and circumstances of the particular case;
- 797 (4) in exercising his powers of management, the primary duty of the receiver is to try and bring about a situation in which interest on the secured debt can be paid and the debt itself repaid;
- 798 (5) subject to that primary duty, the receiver owes a duty to manage the property with due diligence;
- 799 (6) due diligence does not oblige the receiver to continue to carry on a business on the mortgaged premises formerly carried on by the mortgagor;
- 800 (7) if the receiver does carry on a business on the mortgaged premises, due diligence requires reasonable steps to be taken in order to do so profitably⁷.

1 For the meaning of 'administrative receiver' see COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARA 1337.

2 As specified in the Insolvency Act 1986 s 42(1), Sch 1 (as amended). Such powers conferred on an administrative receiver are in like form to those conferred on an administrator: see para 163 heads (1)-(23) ante. In the application of Sch 1 (as amended) to an administrative receiver of a company: (1) the words 'he' and 'him' refer to the administrative receiver; and (2) references to the property of the company are references to the property of which he is, or, but for the appointment of some other person as the receiver of part of the company's property, would be the receiver or manager: s 42(2). 398. Power to deal with charged property.

Where, on application by the administrative receiver¹, the court is satisfied that the disposal, with or without other assets, of any relevant property² which is subject to a security³ other than an excepted security⁴ would be likely to promote a more advantageous realisation of the company's assets than would otherwise be effected, the court may by order authorise the administrative receiver to dispose of the property as if it were not subject to the security⁵. It must be a condition of any such order that:

- 801 (1) the net proceeds of the disposal; and
- 802 (2) where those proceeds are less than such amount as may be determined by the court to be the net amount which would be realised on a sale of the property in the open market by a willing vendor, such sums as may be required to make good the deficiency, are to be applied towards discharging the sums secured by the security⁶.

Where a condition so imposed relates to two or more securities, that condition must require the net proceeds of the disposal and, where head (2) above applies, the sums there mentioned, to be applied towards discharging the sums secured by those securities in the order of their priorities⁷.

Where the administrative receiver makes such an application⁸, the court must fix a venue⁹ for the hearing of the application; and the receiver must forthwith give notice of the venue to the person who is the holder of the security¹⁰.

If an order under these provisions is made by the court, the receiver must forthwith give notice of it to the person who is the holder of the security¹¹; and an office copy of the order must, within 14 days of the making of the order, be sent by the administrative receiver to the registrar of companies¹². If without reasonable excuse the administrative receiver fails to comply with that obligation¹³, he is liable, on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding one-fifth of the statutory maximum and, on conviction after continued contravention, to a daily default fine not exceeding one-fiftieth of the statutory maximum¹⁴.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/6. ADMINISTRATIVE RECEIVERS/(4) DUTIES, POWERS AND LIABILITY/402. Administrative receiver's agency and liability for contracts.

402. Administrative receiver's agency and liability for contracts.

The administrative receiver¹ of a company:

- 803 (1) is deemed to be the company's agent, unless and until the company goes into liquidation²;
- 804 (2) is personally liable on any contract entered into by him in the carrying out of his functions, except in so far as the contract otherwise provides, and, to the extent of any qualifying liability³, on any contract of employment adopted⁴ by him on or after 15 March 1994⁵ in the carrying out of those functions; and
- 805 (3) is entitled in respect of that liability to an indemnity out of the assets of the company⁶.

Where a sum payable in respect of a liability which is a qualifying liability for the purposes of head (2) above is payable in respect of services rendered partly before and partly after the adoption of the contract, liability under head (2) above only extends to so much of the sum as is payable in respect of services rendered after the adoption of the contract⁷. For these purposes:

- 806 (a) wages or salary payable in respect of a period of holiday⁸ or absence from work through sickness or other good cause are deemed to be wages or, as the case may be, salary in respect of services rendered in that period; and
- 807 (b) a sum payable in lieu of holiday is deemed to be wages or, as the case may be, salary in respect of services rendered in the period by reference to which the holiday entitlement arose⁹.

The provisions described above do not limit any right to indemnity which the administrative receiver would have apart from them, nor do they limit his liability on contracts entered into or adopted without authority, nor confer any right to indemnity in respect of that liability¹⁰.

1 For the meaning of 'administrative receiver' see COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARA 1337.

2 For the meaning of 'go into liquidation' see para 9 note 3 ante.

3 For these purposes, a liability under a contract of employment is a qualifying liability if: (1) it is a liability to pay a sum by way of wages or salary or contribution to an occupational pension scheme; (2) it is incurred while the administrative receiver is in office; and (3) it is in respect of services rendered wholly or partly after the adoption of the contract: Insolvency Act 1986 s 44(2A) (added by the Insolvency Act 1994 s 2(1), (3)).

4 The administrative receiver is not to be taken to have adopted a contract of employment by reason of anything done or omitted to be done within 14 days after his appointment: Insolvency Act 1986 s 44(2).

5 As to contracts of employment adopted by an administrative receiver before 15 March 1994 see Powdrill v Watson [1995] 2 AC 394, [1995] 2 All ER 65, HL (on the true construction of the Insolvency Act 1986 s 44 (as originally enacted), the word 'adopt' connoted some conduct by the receiver which amounted to an election to treat the continued contract of employment with the company as giving rise to a separate liability in the receivership; adoption of the contract involved the acceptance or rejection of the contract as a whole and it was not open to the receiver to pick and choose between different liabilities under the contract or to treat only certain liabilities under the contract as liabilities in the receivership; it followed that, if the receiver caused the company to continue the employment of an employee for more than 14 days after his appointment, the employee's contract of employment was inevitably adopted for the purposes of the Insolvency Act 1986 and it was not open to the receiver to avoid that result or alter its consequences unilaterally by informing the employees that he was not adopting their contracts or was only doing so on terms; but the consequence of the adoption of contracts of employment was to give priority only to liabilities incurred by the administrative receiver during his tenure of office).

8 For these purposes, the reference to wages or salary payable in respect of a period of holiday includes any sums which, if they had been paid, would have been treated for the purposes of the enactments relating to social security as earnings in respect of that period: Insolvency Act 1986 s 44(2D) (added by the Insolvency Act 1994 s 2(3)).

(5) STATEMENT OF AFFAIRS AND REPORT TO CREDITORS

403. Requirement for statement of affairs to be submitted to administrative receiver.

Where an administrative receiver¹ of a company is appointed, he must forthwith require some or all of the following persons to make out and submit to him a statement in the prescribed form² as to the affairs of the company:

- 808 (1) those who are or have been officers³ of the company;
- 809 (2) those who have taken part in the company's formation at any time within one year before the date of the appointment of the administrative receiver;
- 810 (3) those who are in the company's employment⁴, or have been in its employment within that year, and are in the administrative receiver's opinion capable of giving the information required;
- 811 (4) those who are or have been within that year officers of or in the employment of a company which is, or within that year was, an officer of the company⁵.

If a person without reasonable excuse fails to comply with any obligation imposed on him under these provisions, he is liable on conviction on indictment to a fine or on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum, and, on conviction after continued contravention, to a daily default fine not exceeding one-tenth of the statutory maximum⁶.

404. Notice requiring statement of affairs.

Where the administrative receiver determines to require a statement of the company's affairs to be made out and submitted to him¹, he must send notice to each of the persons whom he considers should be made so responsible ('the deponents')² requiring them to prepare and submit the statement³.

The notice must inform each of the deponents:

- 812 (1) of the names and addresses of all others, if any, to whom the same notice has been sent;
- 813 (2) of the time within which the statement must be delivered;
- 814 (3) of the penalty for non-compliance⁴; and
- 815 (4) of the application to him and to each of the other deponents of the statutory duty⁵ to provide information and to attend on the administrative receiver, if required⁶.

405. Form of statement of affairs; verification and filing.

The statement of affairs¹ must be verified by affidavit² by the persons required to submit it and must show:

- 817 (2) the names and addresses of its creditors;

- 820 (5) such further or other information as may be prescribed³.

The statement must be in the prescribed form⁴, must contain all the particulars required by that form and must be verified by affidavit by the deponents⁵, using the same form⁶.

The administrative receiver may require any of the persons who may be required to prepare and submit to him a statement of affairs⁷ to submit an affidavit of concurrence⁸, stating that he concurs in the statement of affairs⁹. An affidavit of concurrence may be qualified in respect of matters dealt with in the statement of affairs, where the maker of the affidavit is not in agreement with the deponents, or he considers the statement to be erroneous or misleading, or he is without the direct knowledge necessary for concurring with it¹⁰. The statement of affairs must be delivered to the receiver by the deponent making the affidavit of verification, or by one of them, if more than one, together with a copy of the verified statement¹¹. Every affidavit of concurrence must be delivered by the person who makes it, together with a copy¹². The administrative receiver must retain the verified copy of the statement and the affidavits of concurrence, if any, as part of the records of the receivership¹³.

407. Release from duty to submit statement of affairs; extension of time.

Where any persons are required to submit a statement of affairs to the administrative receiver¹, they must do so before the end of the period of 21 days beginning with the day after that on which the prescribed notice of the requirement is given to them by the administrative receiver². However, the administrative receiver may, if he thinks fit, at any time release a person from any obligation imposed on him³ or, either when giving the notice requiring submission of the statement⁴ or subsequently, extend the period for compliance; and, where the administrative receiver has refused to exercise such power, the court may, if it thinks fit, exercise it⁵. If a person without reasonable excuse fails to comply with any obligation imposed on him under these provisions, he is liable on conviction on indictment to a fine or on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum, and, on conviction after continued contravention, to a daily default fine not exceeding one-tenth of the statutory maximum⁶.

The administrative receiver's power to give a release or to grant an extension of time⁷ may be exercised at the receiver's own discretion or at the request of any deponent⁸. A deponent may, if he requests a release or extension of time and it is refused by the receiver, apply to the court for it⁹. The court may, if it thinks that no sufficient cause is shown for the application, dismiss it; but the court must not do so unless the applicant has had an opportunity to attend the court for a hearing, of which he has been given at least seven days' notice¹⁰. If the application is not dismissed, the court must fix a venue¹¹ for it to be heard and give notice to the deponent accordingly¹². The deponent must, at least 14 days before the hearing, send to the receiver a notice stating the venue and accompanied by a copy of the application, and of any evidence which he, the deponent, intends to adduce in support of it¹³.

The receiver may appear and be heard on the application; and, whether or not he appears, he may file a written report of any matters which he considers ought to be drawn to the court's attention; and, if such a report is filed, a copy of it must be sent by the receiver to the deponent, not later than five days before the hearing¹⁴. Sealed copies of any order made on the application must be sent by the court to the deponent and the receiver¹⁵.

On any such application the applicant's costs must be paid in any event by him and, unless the court otherwise orders, no allowance towards them may be made out of the assets under the administrative receiver's control¹⁶.

380-431 Administrative Receivers

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/6. ADMINISTRATIVE RECEIVERS/(5) STATEMENT OF AFFAIRS AND REPORT TO CREDITORS/409. Report to creditors.

409. Report to creditors.

Where an administrative receiver¹ is appointed, he must, within three months after his appointment or such longer period as the court² may allow, send to the registrar of companies³, to any trustees for secured creditors⁴ of the company and, so far as he is aware of their addresses, to all such creditors, a report⁵ as to the following matters:

- 821 (1) the events leading up to his appointment, so far as he is aware of them;
- 822 (2) the disposal or proposed disposal by him of any property⁶ of the company and the carrying on or proposed carrying on by him of any business⁷ of the company;
- 823 (3) the amounts of principal and interest payable to the debenture holders by whom or on whose behalf he was appointed and the amounts payable to preferential creditors; and
- 824 (4) the amount, if any, likely to be available for the payment of other creditors⁸.

The administrative receiver must also, within three months after his appointment or such longer period as the court may allow, either:

- 825 (a) send a copy of the report, so far as he is aware of their addresses, to all unsecured creditors of the company; or
- 826 (b) publish in the prescribed manner a notice⁹ stating an address to which unsecured creditors of the company should write for copies of the report to be sent to them free of charge, and in either case, unless the court otherwise directs, he must lay a copy of the report before a meeting of the company's unsecured creditors summoned for the purpose on not less than 14 days' notice¹⁰.

The court may not, however, give such a direction unless:

- 827 (i) the report states the intention of the administrative receiver to apply for the direction; and
- 828 (ii) a copy of the report is sent to all the unsecured creditors of the company so far as he is aware of their addresses, or a notice stating an address to which they may write for copies of the report has been so published in the prescribed manner not less than 14 days before the hearing of the application¹¹.

If the administrative receiver proposes to apply to the court to dispense with the holding of the meeting of unsecured creditors referred to above, he must in his report to creditors, or, as the case may be, in the notice published as mentioned above, state the venue¹² fixed by the court for the hearing of the application¹³.

Where the company has gone or goes into liquidation¹⁴, the administrative receiver must, within seven days after sending his report to the registrar of companies, any trustees for secured creditors and, so far as he is aware of their addresses, all such creditors¹⁵, or, if later, the nomination or appointment of the liquidator, send a copy of the report to the liquidator; and, where he does so before the time for sending his report to the unsecured creditors or publishing the notice to unsecured creditors referred to above has expired¹⁶, he need not comply with those requirements¹⁷.

A report under these provisions must include a summary of the statement of affairs made out and submitted to him¹⁸, and of his comments, if any, upon it¹⁹. Nothing in these provisions is, however, to be taken as requiring any such report to include any information the disclosure of which would seriously prejudice the carrying out by the administrative receiver of his functions²⁰.

A report under these provisions must state, to the best of the receiver's knowledge and belief, an estimate of the value of the prescribed part²¹ of the company's property available for the satisfaction of unsecured debts²². This is the case whether or not the receiver proposes to make an application for an order that the provisions relating to the prescribed part should not apply²³ or whether the provisions relating to the prescribed part do not apply²⁴. The report must also state, to the best of the receiver's knowledge and belief, an estimate of the value of the company's net property²⁵. Nothing in these provisions is to be taken as requiring any such estimate to include any information the disclosure of which could seriously prejudice the commercial interests of the company²⁶. The report must also state whether, and if so why, the receiver proposes to make an application to the court for an order²⁷ that the provisions relating to the prescribed part should not apply²⁸.

If the administrative receiver without reasonable excuse fails to comply with these provisions, he is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding one-fifth of the statutory maximum and, on conviction after continued contravention, to a daily default fine not exceeding one-fiftieth of the statutory maximum²⁹.

For the prescribed form of statement of affairs see rr 3.8, 12.7, Sch 4 Form 3.3.

411. The chairman and quorum at meetings; adjournments.

The chairman at the creditors' meeting¹ must be the receiver or a person nominated by him in writing to act in his place². A person so nominated must be either one who is qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner in relation to the company³ or an employee of the receiver or his firm who is experienced in insolvency matters⁴.

Any meeting of creditors in insolvency proceedings is competent to act if a quorum is present, that is to say, in the case of a creditors' meeting, at least one creditor entitled to vote⁵. Where at any meeting of creditors the requirement as to a quorum being present is satisfied by the attendance of the chairman alone or one other person in addition to the chairman, and the chairman is aware, by virtue of proofs and proxies received or otherwise, that one or more additional persons would, if attending, be entitled to vote, the meeting must not commence until at least the expiry of 15 minutes after the time appointed for its commencement⁶.

The creditors' meeting must not be adjourned, even if no quorum is present, unless the chairman decides that it is desirable; and in that case he must adjourn it to such a date, time and place as he thinks fit⁷. If there is no quorum and the meeting is not adjourned, it is deemed to have been duly summoned and held⁸.

412. Voting rights.

At the creditors' meeting¹ a person is entitled to vote only if:

- 829 (1) he has given to the receiver, not later than 12.00 hours on the business day² before the day fixed for the meeting, details in writing of the debt that he claims to be due to him from the company, and the claim has been duly admitted³; and
- 830 (2) there has been lodged with the administrative receiver⁴ any proxy which the creditor intends to be used on his behalf⁵.

The chairman⁶ of the meeting may allow a creditor to vote notwithstanding that he failed to comply with head (1) above, if satisfied that the failure was due to circumstances beyond the creditor's control⁷. The receiver or, if other, the chairman of the meeting may call for any document or other evidence to be produced to him where he thinks it necessary for the purpose of substantiating the whole or any part of the claim⁸.

Votes are calculated according to the amount of a creditor's debt as at the date of the appointment of the receiver, after deducting any amounts paid in respect of that debt after that date⁹. A creditor may not vote in respect of a debt for an unliquidated amount, or any debt whose value is not ascertained, except where the chairman agrees to put upon the debt an estimated minimum value for the purpose of entitlement to vote and admits the claim for that purpose¹⁰. A secured creditor is entitled to vote only in respect of the balance, if any, of his debt after deducting the value of his security as estimated by him¹¹.

A creditor may not vote in respect of a debt on, or secured by, a current bill of exchange or promissory note, unless he is willing:

- 831 (a) to treat the liability to him on the bill or note of every person who is liable on it antecedently to the company, and against whom a bankruptcy order has not been made, or, in the case of a company, which has not gone into liquidation, as a security in his hands; and
- 832 (b) to estimate the value of the security and, for the purpose of his entitlement to vote, to deduct it from his claim¹².

413. Admission and rejection of claims.

At the creditors' meeting¹ the chairman² has power to admit or reject a creditor's claim for the purpose of his entitlement to vote, and the power is exercisable with respect to the whole or any part of the claim³. The chairman's decision under this provision, or in respect of any matter arising in relation to voting rights⁴, is subject to appeal to the court by any creditor⁵. If the chairman is in doubt whether a claim should be admitted or rejected, he should mark it as objected to and allow the creditor to vote, subject to his vote being subsequently declared invalid if the objection to the claim is sustained⁶. If on an appeal the chairman's decision is reversed or varied, or a creditor's vote is declared invalid, the court may order that another meeting be summoned, or make such other order as it thinks just⁷. Neither the receiver nor any person nominated by him to be chairman is personally liable for costs incurred by any person in respect of any such appeal to the court, unless the court makes an order to that effect⁸.

417. Formalities of establishment.

The creditors' committee does not come into being, and accordingly cannot act, until the administrative receiver¹ has issued a certificate of its due constitution².

No person may act as a member of the committee unless and until he has agreed to do so and, unless the relevant proxy or authorisation contains a statement to the contrary, such agreement may be given by his proxy-holder or representative³ present at the meeting establishing the committee⁴.

The receiver's certificate of the committee's due constitution must not issue unless and until at least three of the persons who are to be members of the committee have agreed to act⁵. As and when the others, if any, agree to act, the receiver must issue an amended certificate⁶. The certificate, and any amended certificate, must be sent by the receiver to the registrar of companies⁷.

The receiver must, however, call a first meeting of the committee not later than three months after its establishment; and thereafter he must:

A member of the creditors' committee may, in relation to the business of the committee, be represented by another person duly authorised by him for that purpose¹. A person acting as a committee member's representative must hold a letter of authority entitling him so to act, either generally or specially, and signed by or on behalf of the committee member². 423. Procedure at meetings; resolutions by post.

At any meeting of the creditors' committee, each member of it, whether present himself or by his representative¹, has one vote; and a resolution is passed when a majority of the members present or represented have voted in favour of it². Every resolution passed must be recorded in writing, either separately or as part of the minutes of the meeting³. A record of each resolution must be signed by the chairman⁴ and kept as part of the records of the receivership⁵.

The administrative receiver may, however, seek to obtain the agreement of members of the creditors' committee to a resolution by sending to every member, or his representative designated for the purpose, a copy of the proposed resolution⁶. Where the receiver makes use of such procedure, he must send out to members of the committee or their representatives, as the case may be, a copy of any proposed resolution on which a decision is sought, which must be set out in such a way that agreement with or dissent from each separate resolution may be indicated by the recipient on the copy so sent⁷. Any member of the committee may, within seven business days⁸ from the date of the receiver sending out a resolution, require him to summon a meeting of the committee to consider the matters raised by the resolution⁹. In the absence of such a request, the resolution is deemed to have been passed by the committee if and when the receiver is notified in writing by a majority of the members that they concur with it¹⁰. 428. VAT bad debt relief.

With respect to supplies made prior to 27 July 1990¹, it is the duty of the administrative receiver² to issue a certificate of insolvency³ forthwith upon his forming the opinion that the relevant circumstances in which a company is deemed insolvent for the purposes of the provisions relating to VAT bad debt relief are satisfied⁴. There must in the certificate be specified:

- 842 (1) the name of the company and its registered number;
- 843 (2) the name of the administrative receiver and the date of his appointment; and
- 844 (3) the date on which the certificate is issued⁵.

Notice of the issue of the certificate must be given by the administrative receiver within three months of his appointment or within two months of issuing the certificate, whichever is the later, to all of the company's unsecured creditors of whose address he is then aware and who have, to his knowledge, made supplies to the company, with a charge to VAT, at any time before his appointment⁶. Thereafter, he must give the notice to any creditor of whose address and supplies to the company he becomes aware⁷; but he is not under obligation to provide any creditor with a copy of the certificate⁸.

The certificate must be retained with the company's accounting records, and the provisions relating to where and for how long records are to be kept⁹ apply to the certificate as they apply to those records¹⁰. It is the duty of the administrative receiver, on vacating office¹¹, to bring this provision¹² to the attention of the directors or, as the case may be, any successor of his as administrative receiver¹³.

With respect to supplies made on or after 27 July 1990, a creditor is entitled to a refund of VAT where it has written off in its accounts the whole or part of the debt due from the company in administrative receivership and a period of six months has elapsed since the date of the supply¹⁴.

1 Claims for refunds of VAT relating to supplies made before 27 July 1990 may continue to be made in accordance with the Value Added Tax Act 1983 s 22 (repealed) notwithstanding the repeal of that provision by the Finance Act 1990: Value Added Tax Act 1994 s 100, Sch 13 para 9(1). On the taking effect of an administration order¹, any administrative receiver² of the company must vacate office³. He may at any time be removed from office by order of the court, but not otherwise; and he may resign his office⁴. He must also vacate office if he ceases to be qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner in relation to the company⁵.

2 See ibid s 73; and para 433 ante.

3 As to the significance of this date see para 2 ante. As to the commencement of the winding up see para 489 post. The provisions of the Insolvency Act 1986 with respect to winding up, other than those mentioned below, do not apply in the case of a company the winding up of which commenced, or is treated as having commenced, before 29 December 1986; and the provisions contained in the Companies Act 1985 Pt XX (ss 501-664), Pt XXI (ss 665-674), without the amendments in the Insolvency Act 1985 Sch 6 paras 23-52 or the associated repeals made by that Act, continue to have effect: Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 11 para 4(1), (2). In such cases:

17 (1) where a winding up by the court in England and Wales commenced, or is treated as having commenced, before 29 December 1986, the official receiver or, on appeal from a refusal by him, the court, may, at any time on or after that date:

1. (a) release a person from an obligation imposed on him by or under the Companies Act 1985 s 528 (repealed) (statement of affairs); or

2. (b) extend the period specified in s 528(6) (repealed),

18 and accordingly, on and after 29 December 1986, s 528(6) (repealed) has effect in relation to a winding up to which the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 11 para 5 applies with modifications (Sch 11 para 5(1), (2));

19 (2) as regards the liquidator in the case of a winding up by the court in England and Wales commenced, or treated as having commenced, before 29 December 1986:

3. (a) the official receiver may, at any time when he is liquidator of the company, apply to the Secretary of State for the appointment of a liquidator in his, the official receiver's, place; and, on any such application, the Secretary of State must either make an appointment or decline to make one (Sch 11 para 6(1), (2));

4. (b) where, immediately before 29 December 1986, the liquidator of the company had not made an application under the Companies Act 1985 s 545 (repealed) (release of liquidator), then: (i) except where the Secretary of State otherwise directs, the Insolvency Act 1986 s 146(1), (2) (see para 626 post) and s 172(8) (see para 618 post) apply and the Companies Act 1985 s 545 (repealed) does not apply in relation to any liquidator of that company who holds office on or at any time after 29 December 1986 and is not the official receiver; (ii) the Insolvency Act 1986 s 146(3) (see para 626 post) applies in relation to the carrying out at any time after 29 December 1986 by any liquidator of the company of any of his functions; and (iii) a liquidator in relation to whom s 172(8) has effect by virtue of this provision has his release with effect from the time specified in s 174(4)(d) (see para 627 post) (Sch 11 para 6(1), (3));

5. (c) s 174(6) (see para 628 post) has effect for the purposes of head (2)(b)(iii) supra as it has for the purposes of s 174, but as if the reference to s 212 were a reference to the Companies Act 1985 s 631 (repealed) (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 11 para 6(1), (4));

6. (d) the liquidator may employ a solicitor to assist him in the carrying out of his functions without the permission of the committee of inspection; but, if he does so employ a solicitor, he must inform the committee of inspection that he has done so (Sch 11 para 6(1), (5));

- 20 (3) the repeals in the Insolvency Act 1985 Sch 10 Pt II of references (in the Companies Act 1985 and elsewhere) to a winding up under the supervision of the court do not affect the operation of the enactments in which the references are contained in relation to any case in which an order under s 606 (repealed) (power to order winding up under supervision) was made before 29 December 1986 (Insolvency Act 1986 Sch 11 para 7);
- 21 (4) the powers contained in Sch 11 paras 4-7 (see heads (1)-(3) supra) are without prejudice to the power conferred by the Insolvency Act 1986 under which rules made under s 411 (see para 1041 post) may make transitional provision in connection with the coming into force of those rules; and such provision may apply those rules in relation to a winding up notwithstanding that the winding up commenced, or is treated as having commenced, before the coming into force of the rules or of s 411 (Sch 11 para 8);
- 22 (5) where a provision in Pt VI (as amended) applies in relation to a winding up or in relation to a case in which an administration order has been made, a preference given, floating charge created or other transaction entered into before 29 December 1986 may not be set aside under that provision except to the extent that it could have been set aside under the law in force immediately before that date, assuming for this purpose that any relevant administration order (see para 146 ante) had been a winding-up order; and the references to setting aside a preference, floating charge or other transaction include the making of an order which varies or reverses any effect of a preference, floating charge or other transaction (Sch 11 para 9).

As to transactions at an undervalue and preferences see para 843 et seq post. As to the official receiver see para 503 et seq post. As to the Secretary of State see para 11 note 10 ante.

NOTE 12--Insolvency Act 1986 s 221(1) amended: SI 2009/1941.

436. Industrial and provident societies.

If the affairs of a registered industrial and provident society are wound up by order of the court or voluntarily by resolution under the Insolvency Act 1986, the winding-up provisions of that Act apply to the winding up, except that:

- 853 (1) all documents which, in the case of a company, would have to be sent to the registrar of companies for registration and recording must, in the case of a registered society, be sent to the Financial Services Authority¹; and
- 854 (2) the liability of present or past members of the society to contribute for the payment of its debts and liabilities, expenses of winding up and the adjustment of the rights of contributories among themselves is qualified by special provisions².

On a petition to the court for a winding-up order on the ground that it is just and equitable that the society should be wound up³, an order will not be made for the reason only that the committee has exercised its power under rules to suspend the right of withdrawing share capital for successive periods before the presentation of the petition, unless there is further proof of the impossibility of carrying on the society's business⁴.

8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT

(1) JURISDICTION

438. Courts with winding-up jurisdiction.

The courts¹ having jurisdiction to wind up companies registered in England and Wales² are the High Court of Justice³ and certain county courts⁴. For the purpose of that jurisdiction, these courts have all the powers of the High Court⁵; and every prescribed⁶ officer of the court must perform any duties which an officer of the High Court may discharge by order of a judge of that court or otherwise in relation to winding up⁷. A county court cannot, however, issue a writ of fieri facias addressed to the sheriff of the county for the purposes of enforcing an order of that court which directs payment of money to a liquidator⁸; nor can it decide a question as to title to property which arose before the winding up⁹, but it may declare a floating charge invalid¹⁰, or set it aside as a transaction at an undervalue or as a preference¹¹.

1 For the meaning of 'the court' see para 4 ante. Anything to be done under or by virtue of the Insolvency Act 1986 or the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925 (as amended) by, to or before the court may be done by, to or before a judge or the registrar (rr 13.1, 13.2(1)); and the registrar may authorise any act of a formal or administrative character which is not by statute his responsibility to be carried out by the chief clerk or any other officer of the court acting on his behalf, in accordance with directions given by the Lord Chancellor (rr 13.1, 13.2(2)); but see para 1055 post. As to the Lord Chancellor see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS vol 8(2) (Reissue) para 477 et seq. As to the abolition of the office of the Lord Chancellor see No 10 Downing Street Press Release Modernising Government (12 June 2003).

2 As to the winding up by the court of unregistered companies see para 1147 et seq post.

3 See the Insolvency Act 1986 s 117(1); and para 439 post. Section 117 is subject to EC Council Regulation 1346/2000 (OJ L160, 30.6.2000, p 1) on insolvency proceedings ('the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings') art 3 (jurisdiction): Insolvency Act 1986 s 117(7) (added by the Insolvency Act 1986 (Amendment) (No 2) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/1240, regs 3, 6). As to the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings see para 46 et seq ante.

4 See the Insolvency Act 1986 s 117(2)-(4); and para 440 post. As to the jurisdiction to wind up building societies and industrial and provident societies see paras 435-436 ante.

6 For these purposes, unless the context otherwise requires, 'prescribed' means, as respects the provisions of the Insolvency Act 1986 relating to company insolvency, prescribed by the rules made under s 411 (as amended) (see para 1041 post): s 251.

439. High Court.

The High Court has jurisdiction to wind up any company registered in England and Wales¹. This jurisdiction is regulated by general rules made by the Lord Chancellor with the concurrence of the Secretary of State². It is confined to the winding up of companies, and does not extend to disputes outside the winding up; consequently the Part 20 Claim procedure for contribution or indemnity³ is not applicable⁴.

District registries have only limited winding-up jurisdiction⁵.

1 Insolvency Act 1986 s 117(1). Section 117 is subject to EC Council Regulation 1346/2000 (OJ L160, 30.6.2000, p 1) on insolvency proceedings ('the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings') art 3 (jurisdiction): Insolvency Act 1986 s 117(7) (added by the Insolvency Act 1986 (Amendment) (No 2) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/1240, regs 3, 6). As to the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings see para 46 et seq ante. Only the High Court has jurisdiction to wind up a company not having a share capital: cf para 440 text and note 1 post; and Re North of England Iron Steamship Insurance Association [1900] 1 Ch 481; Re Monmouthshire and South Wales Employees' Mutual Indemnity Society Ltd [1909] WN 6. In the High Court, winding-up proceedings are dealt with by the Companies Court. UPDATE

438-938 Winding Up by the Court

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

439 High Court

TEXT AND NOTE 1--Insolvency Act 1986 s 117 further amended: Constitutional Reform Act 2005 Sch 4 para 186. See also 2005 Act s 19, Sch 7 para 4.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(1) JURISDICTION/440. County courts.

440. County courts.

Where the amount of the company's share capital¹, paid up or credited as paid up, does not exceed £120,000², the county court of the district in which the registered office³ of the company is situated has concurrent jurisdiction with the High Court to wind up the company⁴. However, by order made by statutory instrument, the Lord Chancellor may exclude a county court from having winding-up jurisdiction, and, for the purposes of that jurisdiction, may attach its district, or any part of it, to any other county court, and may by statutory instrument revoke or vary any such order⁵. In exercising these powers, the Lord Chancellor must provide that a county court is not to have jurisdiction unless it has jurisdiction for the purposes of the provisions relating to the insolvency of individuals⁶.

Under the orders that have been made, no county court within the London insolvency district⁷ has winding-up jurisdiction, and not every county court outside that area has such jurisdiction⁸.

A winding-up case may be transferred only to a court which has winding-up jurisdiction⁹.

1 Only the High Court has jurisdiction where a company has no share capital: see para 439 note 1 ante.

2 The money sum for the time being specified in the Insolvency Act 1986 s 117(2) is subject to increase or reduction by order made by the Secretary of State under s 416: s 117(3). No such order may be made unless a draft of the order has been laid before and approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament: s 416(3). Such order may contain such transitional provisions as may appear to the Secretary of State necessary or expedient: s 416(2). At the date at which this volume states the law no such order had been made. As to the Secretary of State see para 11 note 10 ante.

3 For these purposes, a company's registered office is the place which has longest been its registered office during the six months immediately preceding the presentation of the petition for winding up (or, for the purposes of the Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 s 6(3) (see para 1121 post), either the passing of the resolution for voluntary winding up, or the appointment of the administrator or administrative receiver, as the case may be): Insolvency Act 1986 s 117(6); Company Directors Disqualification Act 1986 s 6(3A) (added by the Insolvency Act 2000 s 8, Sch 4 paras 1, 5(1); and amended by the Enterprise Act 2002 s 248(3), Sch 17 paras 40, 41(b)). As to the registered office of a company see COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARAS 129-130. As to the procedure on the presentation of a petition both in the High Court and in a county court see para 483 note 1 post.

4 Insolvency Act 1986 s 117(2). The requirement concerning the amount of the company's share capital not exceeding £120,000 does not apply in the case of a winding up in relation to a limited liability partnership: see s 117(2); the Limited Liability Partnerships Regulations 2001, SI 2001/1090, reg 5, Sch 3; and para 1308 post. For the meaning of 'limited liability partnership' see para 71 note 3 ante.

The Insolvency Act 1986 s 117 is subject to EC Council Regulation 1346/2000 (OJ L160, 30.6.2000, p 1) on insolvency proceedings ('the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings') art 3 (jurisdiction): Insolvency Act 1986 s 117(7) (added by the Insolvency Act 1986 (Amendment) (No 2) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/1240, regs 3, 6). As to the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings see para 46 et seq ante.

5 Insolvency Act 1986 s 117(4). As to the courts having winding-up jurisdiction by virtue of s 117(4) see COURTS vol 10 (Reissue) para 707. As to the Lord Chancellor see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW AND HUMAN RIGHTS vol 8(2) (Reissue) para 477 et seq. As to the abolition of the office of the Lord Chancellor see No 10 Downing Street Press Release Modernising Government (12 June 2003).

6 Ibid s 117(4). The jurisdiction referred to in the text is jurisdiction for the purposes of Pts VIII-XI (ss 252-385) (as amended): see BANKRUPTCY AND INDIVIDUAL INSOLVENCY vol 3(2) (2002 Reissue) para 81 et seq.

Nothing in the statutory provisions relating to High Court and county court jurisdiction¹ invalidates a proceeding by reason of its being taken in a wrong court². 443. When a court has jurisdiction.

The winding-up provisions of the Insolvency Act 1986 apply to various classes of company¹. Where a company in voluntary liquidation has been dissolved by the expiration of three months from the date of the registration of the liquidator's final return², it cannot be wound up by the court unless the dissolution has been declared void, or the petition was presented before the expiration of the three months³. The dissolution of the company, when it is struck off the register as defunct, does not affect the court's power to wind up such a company⁴. If, however, the court does make an order to wind up a company without having jurisdiction, the order cannot be treated as a nullity and, unless and until it is discharged on appeal, it is binding on the company's creditors and contributories⁵, but not on strangers⁶.

(2) GROUNDS FOR WINDING UP

444. Grounds for winding up by the court.

A company (not being an unregistered company¹ or society which, by statutes other than the Insolvency Act 1986, may be wound up under that Act²) may be wound up by the court if:

- 855 (1) the company has by special resolution³ resolved that the company be wound up by the court⁴;
- 856 (2) being a public company⁵ which was registered as such on its original incorporation, the company has not been issued with a certificate that the requirements of a public company's share capital have been satisfied⁶ and more than a year has expired since it was so registered⁷;
- 857 (3) the company is an old public company⁸;
- 858 (4) the company does not commence its business within a year from its incorporation⁹, or suspends its business for a whole year¹⁰;
- 859 (5) except in the case of a private company limited by shares or by guarantee, the number of members¹¹ is reduced below two¹²;
- 860 (6) the company is unable to pay its debts¹³;
- 861 (7) at the time at which a moratorium for the company¹⁴ comes to an end, no voluntary arrangement¹⁵ has effect in relation to the company¹⁶;
- 862 (8) the court is of the opinion that it is just and equitable¹⁷ that the company should be wound up¹⁸;
- 863 (9) on a petition by the official receiver or by any other person authorised to present a winding-up petition¹⁹, the court is satisfied that an existing voluntary winding up cannot be continued with due regard to the interests of creditors or contributories²⁰;
- 864 (10) it appears to the Secretary of State from any report made or information or documents obtained under certain provisions of the Companies Act 1985²¹ or the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000²² or from information obtained under the Criminal Justice Act 1987²³ or the Companies Act 1989²⁴ that it is expedient in the public interest that the company should be wound up, and the court thinks it is just and equitable for it to be wound up²⁵; or
- 865 (11) one of the conditions under which the Financial Services Authority²⁶ may present a winding-up petition to the court²⁷ is satisfied²⁸.

A limited liability partnership may be wound up by the court if:

- 866 (a) the partnership has determined that it be wound up by the court²⁹;
- 867 (b) the partnership does not commence its business within a year from its incorporation or suspends its business for a whole year³⁰;
- 868 (c) the number of members is reduced below two³¹;
- 869 (d) the partnership is unable to pay its debts³²; or
- 870 (e) the court is of the opinion that it is just and equitable that the partnership should be wound up³³.

438-938 Winding Up by the Court

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

NOTE 25--While, in most cases, the court should not refuse a petition to wind up which would otherwise be just and equitable to grant on the basis of undertakings which the Secretary of State is unwilling to accept, there is no reason for the court not to accept undertakings offered where the court would not have accepted the petition in any event: Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform v Amway (UK) Ltd [2009] EWCA Civ 32, [2009] All ER (D) 239 (Jan). 445. Non-commencement or suspension of business.

Non-commencement of business within a year¹ refers to business activities, not the mere allotment of shares². An order on this ground may be made even though the majority of the shareholders oppose it³; but an order will not be made where the company has commenced business abroad within the year and a genuine intention is shown to commence business in the United Kingdom⁴.

An order will not be made on the ground that the company has suspended its business for a year⁵ if a petitioning shareholder is opposed by a large majority of shareholders and there is a genuine intention to proceed with the business⁶. A company does not cease to carry on business because it has given up part of its business⁷. An order may be made even though nothing has been paid on the shares and there are no debts⁸.

UPDATE

438-938 Winding Up by the Court

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(2) GROUNDS FOR WINDING UP/446. Inability to pay debts.

446. Inability to pay debts.

A company, not being an unregistered company¹, is deemed unable to pay its debts²:

- 871 (1) if a creditor³, by assignment or otherwise, to whom the company is indebted in a sum exceeding £750⁴ then due⁵, has served on the company, by leaving the same at its registered office⁶, a written demand in the prescribed form ('the statutory demand')⁷ requiring the company to pay the sum so due, and the company has for three weeks⁸ thereafter neglected⁹ to pay the sum, or to secure or compound for it to the reasonable satisfaction of the creditor¹⁰; or
- 872 (2) if, in England and Wales, execution or other process issued on a judgment, decree or order of any court in favour of a creditor of the company is returned unsatisfied in whole or in part¹¹; or
- 873 (3) if, in Scotland, the induciae of a charge for payment on an extract decree, or an extract registered bond, or an extract registered protest, have expired without payment being made¹²; or
- 874 (4) if, in Northern Ireland, a certificate of unenforceability has been granted in respect of a judgment against the company¹³; or
- 875 (5) if it is proved to the satisfaction of the court that the company is unable to pay its debts as they fall due¹⁴; or
- 876 (6) if it is proved to the satisfaction of the court that the value of the company's assets is less than the amount of its liabilities, taking into account its contingent and prospective liabilities¹⁵.

In the case of failure to satisfy the statutory demand, the petition must not be presented before the three weeks have expired¹⁶. Omission by a company to pay a debt by reason of a genuine dispute does not amount to a neglect to comply with the statutory demand¹⁷. Default in complying with the statutory demand of a creditor gives not only him, but other creditors and contributories, the right to petition for a winding up¹⁸.

Inability to pay debts may be shown in other ways than by proof of non-compliance with the statutory demand, as, for example, where a bill of exchange or promissory note has been dishonoured at maturity¹⁹, or a judgment creditor has not issued execution because the company's solicitor has told him that there are no assets, or no unmortgaged assets, on which he may levy²⁰. The court may infer that the company is unable to pay its debts as they fall due if it fails to pay an undisputed debt, payment of which has been demanded by the creditor²¹. Even if there is evidence showing that the company has a large surplus of assets over liabilities, the court may infer that the company is insolvent if it has failed to pay a debt which has been duly demanded²². The court will, however, be slow to infer insolvency if payment has not been duly demanded²³.

1 As to the circumstances in which an unregistered company is deemed to be unable to pay its debts see para 1152 post.

2 As to inability to pay debts as a ground for winding up see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 122(1)(f); and para 444 ante. For the meaning of 'debt' see para 749 post.

3 An assignee of part of a debt is not a creditor within the meaning of this provision (Re Steel Wing Co Ltd [1921] 1 Ch 349), but may petition as a creditor on other grounds as he is a creditor within the meaning of the Insolvency Act 1986 s 124(1) (as amended) (see para 451 post). A person whose debt is in good faith disputed is not a creditor for this purpose: Re Lympne Investments Ltd [1972] 2 All ER 385, [1972] 1 WLR 523; Stonegate Securities Ltd v Gregory [1980] Ch 576, [1980] 2 All ER 241, CA. Where a company asserts that the debt is in dispute, the court must be satisfied that there is a fair and reasonable probability that the company has a bona fide defence: London and Global Ltd v Sahara Petroleum Ltd (1998) Times, 3 December, CA.

4 The money sum for the time being specified in the Insolvency Act 1986 s 123(1)(a) is subject to increase or reduction by order under s 416: ss 123(3), 416(1). No such order may be made unless a draft of the order has been laid before and approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament: s 416(3). Such order may contain such transitional provisions as may appear to the Secretary of State necessary or expedient: s 416(2). At the date at which this volume states the law no such order had been made. As to the Secretary of State see para 11 note 10 ante.

5 The words 'then due' mean that a statutory demand cannot be served in respect of a contingent debt, unless at the time of the service of the demand the contingency has occurred: JSF Finance & Currency Exchange Co Ltd v Akma Solutions Inc [2001] 2 BCLC 307, [2001] All ER (D) 134 (Feb).

6 If there is no registered office, the demand may be made at the unregistered office: Re British and Foreign Generating Apparatus Co Ltd (1865) 13 WR 649. A statutory demand is validly served if it is sent by registered post and actually delivered to the registered office of the company: Re a Company (No 008790 of 1990) [1991] BCLC 561, doubting the decision in Re a Company [1985] BCLC 37 (where it was decided that service by telex was not valid service of a statutory demand).

7 A written demand served by a creditor on a company under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 123(1)(a) is known in winding-up proceedings as 'the statutory demand': Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 4.4(2). As to the statutory demand see para 447 post. For the prescribed form of statutory demand see rr 4.5, 12.7, Sch 4 Form 4.1 (substituted by SI 1987/1919).

8 As to the computation of this period see Re Lympne Investments Ltd [1972] 2 All ER 385, [1972] 1 WLR 523 (where the general rule in computing periods of time was held to apply, namely that, in the absence of sufficient indication to the contrary, fractions of the day must be ignored and the day on which the initial event (ie the service of the demand) occurs must be excluded). See also the Insolvency Rules 1986 r 12.9; and para 1053 post.

9 If the debt is disputed on substantial grounds, failure to pay is not 'neglect': Re Lympne Investments Ltd [1972] 2 All ER 385, [1972] 1 WLR 523. There is no 'neglect' to pay where the debt is disputed on substantial grounds and the company, not knowing the sum due, makes payment of a lesser amount: Re a Company [1984] 3 All ER 78, [1984] 1 WLR 1090. Where a company asserts that the debt is in dispute, the court must be satisfied that there is a fair and reasonable probability that the company has a bona fide defence: London and Global Ltd v Sahara Petroleum Ltd (1998) Times, 3 December, CA.

10 Insolvency Act 1986 s 123(1)(a). Section 123(1)(a) is confined to the case of a debt which is presently payable: Re Bryant Investment Co Ltd [1974] 2 All ER 683, [1974] 1 WLR 826.

16 Re Catholic Publishing and Bookselling Co Ltd (1864) 2 De GJ & Sm 116.

17 Re London and Paris Banking Corp (1875) LR 19 Eq 444. A demand in excess of what is due is a valid statutory demand: see Cardiff Preserved Coal and Coke Co v Norton (1867) 2 Ch App 405 at 410. As to disputed debts see para 452 post.

21 Taylor's Industrial Flooring Ltd v M & H Plant Hire (Manchester) Ltd [1990] BCLC 216, sub nom Re Taylor's Industrial Flooring Ltd [1990] BCC 44, CA. There is, therefore, no necessity to serve a statutory demand if a petition is founded on an undisputed debt payment of which has been otherwise demanded.

22 Cornhill Insurance plc v Improvement Services Ltd [1986] 1 WLR 114, [1986] BCLC 26.

447. The statutory demand.

The statutory demand¹ must be dated, and be signed by the creditor himself or by a person stating himself to be authorised to make the demand on the creditor's behalf². It must state the amount of the debt and the consideration for it or, if there is no consideration, the way in which it arises³. If the amount claimed in the demand includes:

- 877 (1) any charge by way of interest not previously notified to the company as included in its liability; or
- 878 (2) any other charge accruing from time to time, the amount or rate of the charge must be separately identified, and the grounds on which payment of it is claimed must be stated⁴. In either case, the amount claimed must be limited to that which has accrued due at the date of the demand⁵.

The statutory demand must include an explanation to the company of the following matters:

- 879 (a) the purpose of the demand, and the fact that, if the demand is not complied with, proceedings may be instituted for the winding up of the company⁶;
- 880 (b) the time within which it must be complied with, if that consequence is to be avoided⁷; and
- 881 (c) the methods of compliance which are open to the company⁸.

Information must be provided for the company as to how an officer or representative of it may enter into communication with one or more named individuals whose address and telephone number, if any, must be given, with a view to securing or compounding for the debt to the creditor's satisfaction⁹.

1 For the meaning of 'the statutory demand' see para 446 note 7 ante. The Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 4.4-4.6 do not, however, apply where a petition for the winding up of a company is presented under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 124 (as amended) on or after 29 December 1986 and the petition is based on failure to comply with a written demand served on the company before that date: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 4.4(1).

447 The statutory demand

TEXT AND NOTE 8--SI 1986/1925 r 4.6(1)(d) added: SI 2010/686.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(2) GROUNDS FOR WINDING UP/448. Meaning of 'just and equitable'; link with partnership law.

448. Meaning of 'just and equitable'; link with partnership law.

The words 'just and equitable' in the enactment specifying the grounds for winding up by the court¹ are not to be read as being ejusdem generis with the preceding words of the enactment². They are not to be cut down by the formation of categories or headings under which cases must be brought if the enactment is to apply; nor is the impact of the words confined to cases where the petitioner is affected as a shareholder³.

The fact that the words 'just and equitable' also appear in the Partnership Act 1890 as a ground for dissolution of a partnership⁴ does, however, provide a link with the principles of equity developed in relation to partnership cases⁵. These words are a recognition of the fact that a limited company is more than a mere judicial entity with a personality in law of its own; behind it or among it there are individuals with rights, expectations and obligations inter se which are not necessarily submerged in the company structure. These words enable the court to subject the exercise of legal rights to equitable considerations, that is to say, considerations of a personal character arising between one individual and another which may render it unjust, or inequitable, to insist on legal rights, or to exercise them in a particular way⁶.

It is not enough for the company to be a small one, or a private company. Typically the superimposition of equitable considerations requires one or more of the following elements:

- 882 (1) an association formed or continued on the basis of a personal relationship, involving mutual confidence (this element will often be found when a pre-existing partnership has been converted into a limited company);
- 883 (2) an agreement or understanding that all or some of the shareholders are to participate in the conduct of the business;
- 884 (3) restriction upon the transfer of the members' interest in the company⁷.

If a breakdown in confidence between members is due to the conduct of the petitioner, he cannot insist on the company being wound up⁸.

UPDATE

438-938 Winding Up by the Court

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(2) GROUNDS FOR WINDING UP/449. Meaning of 'just and equitable'; other cases.

449. Meaning of 'just and equitable'; other cases.

Further examples of the application in particular cases of the principle that a company may be wound up where it is just and equitable to do so¹ are cases where the substratum has gone, as where the company's main object is to acquire and work a mine which is worthless, or a patent which is invalid, or a concession which has lapsed²; or where the company is a bubble company³; or where its only business is ultra vires the company⁴; or where it is a bank, and its paid-up capital is exhausted, and its uncalled capital may be called up only in a winding up⁵; or where a loss has been made on the company's principal adventure, such as providing seats for a procession which has taken place and the company is about to embark on further adventures which are ultra vires or are not the objects for which the company was formed⁶; or where a company is established on the understanding that the only project to be undertaken is the purchase and management of a night club, and the club has been sold⁷; or where the only remaining purpose is the realisation and distribution of a company's assets⁸.

A company may also be wound up on the ground that winding up is just and equitable where the company is fraudulent in its inception and carries on business at a loss, without capital of its own⁹; or where it is carrying on business at a loss and its remaining assets are insufficient to pay its debts¹⁰; or where it desires to go into liquidation with a view to a scheme which alone can save it from insolvency¹¹; or where its business is being carried on in its name for the sole benefit of debenture holders who have taken possession¹²; or where it is impossible to carry on its business owing to internal disputes which have produced a state of deadlock¹³; or where in the case of a private company one director treats its business as his own and does not carry on the business as that of the company¹⁴; or where the directors withhold information from shareholders in circumstances which give rise to suspicion that they are attempting to buy their shares at an undervalue¹⁵; or where the misconduct of directors or promoters may be successfully investigated only in a winding up by the court¹⁶; or where improprieties in management have led to the loss of mutual confidence between shareholders and directors¹⁷; or where reasonable dividends are not paid out of large profits of a company¹⁸; or where there has been an improper allotment of shares¹⁹.

Misconduct of directors²⁰ or of liquidators²¹, or the fact that its business has been carried on at a heavy loss, if the company is not insolvent²², or the issue of shares at a discount²³, is not in itself a ground for winding up; nor is the fact that the company has acted dishonestly to outsiders²⁴, or that a majority of shareholders insufficient to pass a special resolution²⁵ wish it²⁶. A winding-up order will not be made if there is an alternative effective remedy available, and the petitioners are acting unreasonably in seeking winding up²⁷. The circumstances relied on must exist at the date of the hearing of the petition²⁸. A creditor may petition only if the petition is presented bone fide in pursuit of some interest of the petitioner arising from his particular status as such, and hence a creditor cannot rely on grounds relating to the public interest²⁹.

UPDATE

438-938 Winding Up by the Court

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(i) Petitioners; Effect of Petitioning/450. Presenting the petition; who may petition.

(3) PETITION

(i) Petitioners; Effect of Petitioning

450. Presenting the petition; who may petition.

An application to the court for the winding up of a company is by petition¹, which may be presented either by the company itself or by the directors², or by any creditor or creditors, including any contingent or prospective creditor or creditors³, or by any contributory or contributories⁴ including a minor⁵, or by a justices' chief executive⁶; or by a liquidator⁷ or temporary administrator⁸; or by all or any of those parties, together or separately⁹; or by the official receiver in certain cases¹⁰; or by the Secretary of State in the cases where he is entitled¹¹ to present a petition¹²; or, in the case of a company which is a charity, by the Attorney General¹³; or by the Financial Services Authority in the cases where it is entitled to present a petition¹⁴; or by the supervisor of a voluntary arrangement¹⁵ or the administrator¹⁶ or administrative receiver¹⁷ of the company.

A company will be granted an injunction to restrain the presentation of a petition only if there is evidence that it would be an abuse of the process¹⁸. If a petitioner has sufficient ground for petitioning, his motive (for example, malice) is no bar¹⁹. A claim for damages will lie for presenting a winding-up petition maliciously and without reasonable cause, even though no special damage can be proved²⁰.

Petitioning to wind up a company for not satisfying a judgment debt is not enforcing the judgment but is a different mode of recovering the debt²¹. No true lis exists between the parties in a petition to wind up the company; the petitioner is invoking class rights on behalf of himself and all others of his class²². The liquidation of an insolvent company is a process of collective enforcement of debts for the benefit of the general body of creditors²³.

One petition may not be issued with respect to more than one company. A separate petition is required for each company²⁴. The leave of the court is necessary for the presentation of a winding-up petition founded on a judgment or order of a court other than a county court if inability to satisfy the judgment or order is due to the performance by any person of relevant service in Her Majesty's forces²⁵.

A winding-up petition presented on the ground that a moratorium for the company²⁶ has come to an end and no approved voluntary arrangement²⁷ has effect in relation to the company²⁸ may only be presented by one or more creditors²⁹.

1 Insolvency Act 1986 s 124(1). The proceedings under a winding-up petition are not an 'action' within what is now the Supreme Court Act 1981 s 151(1): Re Simpkin Marshall Ltd [1959] Ch 229, [1958] 3 All ER 611. No winding-up order may be made on an application, rather than a petition, made by administrators of the company: Re Brooke Marine Ltd [1988] BCLC 546. As to the withdrawal of the petition see para 467 post.

2 An individual director has no right to present a petition in his capacity as such; all the directors, not merely a majority of them, must petition: see Re Instrumentation Electrical Services Ltd [1988] BCLC 550, 4 BCC 301 (decided under the analogous provision in the Insolvency Act 1986 s 9 (as amended) (see para 148 ante)). The right of directors to present a petition is a statutory right and it would seem that the company's articles of association need not expressly confer on them such a power: see para 454 text and note 2 post; and cf Re Emmadart Ltd [1979] Ch 540, [1979] 1 All ER 599.

3 See para 451 post. As to the meaning of 'contingent creditor' see Re William Hockley Ltd [1962] 2 All ER 111, [1962] 1 WLR 555 (judgment creditor whose debt was paid off by payment in full to sheriff not a contingent creditor; possibility of defeasance not sufficient). See also Securum Finance Ltd v Camswell Ltd [1994] BCC 434; Re a Company (No 003028 of 1987) [1988] BCLC 282, 3 BCC 575; County Bookshops Ltd v Grove [2002] EWHC 1160 (Ch), [2003] 1 BCLC 479. A petition may be presented on the basis of a debt which is unascertained, such as an order for costs or a judgment for unliquidated damages: Tottenham Hotspur plc v Edennotte plc [1995] 1 BCLC 65, [1994] BCC 681. Where a creditor petitions on the basis of a debt which is not presently payable, and hence which is contingent, future or unascertained, although such a debt establishes the locus standi of the petitioner to petition, if the ground of the winding up is inability to pay debts, the court will be unable to infer insolvency on the basis of a debt which, ex hypothesi, is not presently due or is unascertained, and hence a winding-up order will be made only if there is independent evidence of insolvency. Where a creditor has an undisputed claim for unliquidated damages for more than a merely nominal amount, advertisement will not be restrained, and the question of the company's solvency can be left to the hearing of the petition: Re Dollar Land Holdings plc [1994] 1 BCLC 404, [1993] BCC 823.

5 Dennison v Jeffs [1896] 1 Ch 611 at 617. As to the rights of minors to repudiate membership see para 707 post; and COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARA 330. As to the commencement of proceedings on behalf of minors generally see CHILDREN AND YOUNG PERSONS vol 5(3) (2008 Reissue) para 1409 et seq.

6 Ie in exercise of the power conferred by the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 87A (as added) (enforcement of fines imposed on companies): see the Insolvency Act 1986 s 124(1) (amended by the Criminal Justice Act 1988 s 62(2)(b); and the Access to Justice Act 1999 s 90(1), Sch 13 para 133). See MAGISTRATES vol 29(2) (Reissue) para 869. As from a day to be appointed, the power to present a petition under the Magistrates' Courts Act 1980 s 87A (as added) is transferred from the justices' chief executive to the designated officer for a magistrates' court: Insolvency Act 1986 s 124(1) (as so amended; prospectively further amended by the Courts Act 2003 s 109(1), Sch 8 para 294). At the date at which this volume states the law no such day had been appointed.

7 Ie within the meaning of EC Council Regulation 1346/2000 (OJ L160, 30.6.2000, p 1) on insolvency proceedings ('the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings') art 2(b) (which provides that 'liquidator' means any person or body (ie a liquidator, a supervisor of a voluntary arrangement, an administrator, an official receiver, a trustee or a judicial factor) whose function is to administer or liquidate assets of which the debtor has been divested or to supervise the administration of his affairs: see art 2(b), Annex C): Insolvency Act 1986 s 124(1) (amended by the Insolvency Act 1986 (Amendment) (No 2) Regulations 2002, SI 2002/1240, regs 3, 8). As to the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings see para 46 et seq ante.

8 Ie within the meaning of the European Regulation on Insolvency Proceedings art 38 (which provides that where the court of a member state which has jurisdiction pursuant to art 3(1) appoints a temporary administrator in order to ensure the preservation of the debtor's assets, that temporary administrator is empowered to request any measures to secure and preserve any of the debtor's assets situated in another member state, provided for under the law of that state, for the period between the request for the opening of insolvency proceedings and the judgment opening the proceedings): Insolvency Act 1986 s 124(1) (as amended: see notes 6, 7 supra).

9 Ibid s 124(1) (as amended: see notes 6, 7 supra). If the petitioner dies before the hearing, an order for the carrying on of proceedings may be made in favour of his personal representatives: Re Dynevor Duffryn Collieries Co [1878] WN 199; Re Commercial Bank of London [1888] WN 214 (order for winding up made in ignorance of the petitioner's death). A petitioner may not present a petition in a name other than his own; but, provided that the named petitioner is not a non-existent person and no prejudice will be caused, leave to amend the petition to show the petitioner's correct name will be granted: Re Goldthorpe & Lacey Ltd (1987) 3 BCC 595, CA.

18 Bryanston Finance Ltd v de Vries (No 2) [1976] Ch 63, [1976] 1 All ER 25, CA. See also para 452 post. It is not an abuse of the winding-up process for a petition to be presented by a creditor against an insolvent company so that the creditor may exercise control over events and prevent the disposal of the company's assets piecemeal, even though the creditor does not intend to press for a winding-up order because he believes that an alternative remedy, such as a scheme, will eventually be available and be more likely to be in the interests of creditors as a class: Re Esal (Commodities) Ltd [1985] BCLC 450. The use of a petition to exert pressure to settle the costs of a claim when liability in that respect is as yet unquantified is not justifiable: Re a Company (No 004601 of 1997) [1998] 2 BCLC 111, ChD.

451. Who may petition as creditor.

The following persons are entitled to petition as creditors:

- 885 (1) the assignee of a debt, if the assignment is not made while the creditor's petition is pending¹;
- 886 (2) the equitable assignee of part of a debt²;
- 887 (3) the executor of a creditor, even before probate³;
- 888 (4) a creditor in respect of a debt incurred by voluntary liquidators⁴;
- 889 (5) a secured creditor⁵;
- 890 (6) a judgment creditor⁶;
- 891 (7) the holder of a debenture, including a bearer debenture⁷;
- 892 (8) the holder of an investment bond (of an insolvent company) which has not yet matured for payment⁸; and
- 893 (9) in general any creditor whose debt is not genuinely disputed by the company on substantial grounds⁹.

A rating authority is a creditor for rates, even though it cannot sue for them, and may present a petition¹⁰.

A contingent¹¹ or prospective creditor may petition¹².

An order will be made where the company can never recommence business. If the order is made, it is usually without costs (Re Herbert Standring & Co Ltd supra); but, where the creditor is met with defiance, as when the company refuses to make calls, a winding-up order, with costs, will be made (Re World Industrial Bank Ltd [1909] WN 148). An order with costs was made when the petition was supported by other creditors, making an aggregate indebtedness of over £50 (the then minimum amount required for a statutory demand): Re Leyton and Walthamstow Cycle Co Ltd (1901) 50 WR 93. In Re Yates Collieries and Limeworks Co [1883] WN 171, North J held that a creditor for less than £50 had established that the company was unable to pay its debts by proving that he was a judgment creditor, and that he had not issued execution on his judgment because the company's solicitors had informed him that a mortgagee had taken possession of all its property.

UPDATE

438-938 Winding Up by the Court

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(i) Petitioners; Effect of Petitioning/452. Who may not petition.

452. Who may not petition.

A winding-up order cannot be obtained by a judgment creditor who has attached a debt due from the company to his judgment debtor¹ (his proper course being to obtain judgment in a claim against the company and then petition²), or by a surety in respect of a mortgage debt, or another company which has assigned the equity of redemption to the company petitioned against on the terms that the latter indemnifies the former³.

The holder of debenture stock constituted by a trust deed is not a creditor in respect of interest for the payment of which there is no direct covenant by the company with himself⁴.

A winding-up order ought not to be made on the petition of a creditor who has so charged or dealt with his debt as to pass the real interest in it to another person⁵.

A winding-up order may not be made on a debt which is disputed in good faith by the company⁶; the court must see that the dispute is based on a substantial ground⁷. A dispute as to the precise amount due is not a sufficient answer to the petition⁸. If there is a genuine dispute, the petition may be dismissed or stayed⁹, and an injunction may be granted restraining the advertisement or publicising of the petition¹⁰. Where a petition has not been presented but is threatened in respect of a disputed debt, an injunction may be granted restraining the presentation¹¹. If the debt is not genuinely disputed on some substantial ground, the court may decide this question on the petition¹², but it will usually dismiss a petition founded on a disputed debt and leave the dispute to be decided in an action (or claim)¹³. The court may order the amount of the alleged debt to be paid into court¹⁴. Where the judgment for the debt on which the petition is presented is reversed before the hearing, the petition may be dismissed¹⁵. It is an abuse of the process for a petition to be presented on the basis of an unascertained debt which has never been demanded and for which no opportunity to repay has been given¹⁶.

If the company has a genuine cross-claim against the petitioner which, if established, would exceed the petitioner's debt, the court may dismiss the petition¹⁷.

There are four main processes which may be initiated by a company which wishes to defend a petition or threatened petition:

- 894 (1) if the company has notice that a petition will or may be presented against it, the company may apply to restrain presentation of the petition¹⁸;
- 895 (2) if a petition has been presented against a company, but has not been advertised, the company may apply to restrain advertisement, which application is usually coupled with an application to strike out the petition¹⁹;
- 896 (3) even if the petition has been advertised, the company may apply to strike out the petition as an abuse of process prior to the hearing of the petition²⁰; and
- 897 (4) the company may defend the petition itself when it is heard²¹.

According to obiter dicta of Nourse LJ in Re Bayoil SA, Seawind Tankers Corp v Bayoil SA supra, it is a further requirement that the company has not reasonably been able to litigate the cross-claim; but this requirement was doubted and not applied in Montgomery v Wanda Modes Ltd supra. Where the company relies on a cross-claim as a ground for seeking dismissal of a winding-up petition, that cross-claim might be neutralised by the petitioner raising a further claim against the company (beyond the claim raised in the petition) but only if there is no realistic defence to this reverse cross-claim: Montgomery v Wanda Modes Ltd supra. Where due to the precipitate action of the petitioner a petition has been advertised, the only remedy available to the court is to strike out the petition: Re a Company (No 007020 of 1996) [1998] 2 BCLC 54. The court must be certain that there is a solid cross-claim of an amount at least sufficient to reduce the debt below the insolvency limit: Greenacre Publishing Group Ltd v Manson Group [2000] BCC 11, (1998) Times, 17 December, ChD.

18 The petitioner will be restrained from presenting a petition only on the ground of abuse of process, hence usually that there is a bona fide and substantial dispute as to the debt on which the petition is based.

An application to restrain presentation of a winding-up petition must be made by originating application to the judge: see Practice Direction--Insolvency Proceedings para 5.1(3).

A statutory demand is a threat to present a winding-up petition for these purposes: Stonegate Securities Ltd v Gregory [1980] Ch 576 at 588, [1980] 1 All ER 241 at 249, CA, per Goff LJ.

19 The usual ground for restraining advertisement will be that the petition is an abuse of process, hence that there is a bona fide and substantial dispute as to the debt; but, by reason of the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 4.11(1), the court retains an exceptional jurisdiction to order that the petition should not be advertised: see para 462 post. The court has jurisdiction to grant a mandatory injunction ordering that an advertisement already placed with the London Gazette, but not yet published, should be withdrawn: Re a Company (No 001448 of 1989) [1989] BCLC 715, 5 BCC 706.

20 Re a Company (No 003079 of 1990) [1991] BCLC 235, [1991] BCC 683; Re CDPD (No 001889 of 1975) [1975] CLY 322. The appropriate test is whether, at the hearing of the application to restrain advertisement and strike out, the court can see that the petition would be bound to be dismissed at the hearing of the petition itself: Re a Company (No 003079 of 1990) supra at 237 and 685 per Ferris J; Greenacre Publishing Group Ltd v Manson Group [2000] BCC 11, (1998) Times, 17 December, ChD. As a matter of discretion, where a company has already unsuccessfully applied to restrain presentation of a petition, it will not generally be permitted to apply to restrain advertisement where the latter application is in essence a repeat of the first application: Re Portedge Ltd [1997] BCC 23, sub nom RWH Enterprises Ltd v Portedge Ltd [1998] BCC 556, CA. An application to restrain advertisement can be made without notice, but on such an application the applicant company should disclose its financial position: Re Portedge Ltd supra. See also Re MCI Worldcom Ltd [2002] EWHC 2436 (Ch), [2003] BPIR 667.

21 The presentation of a petition to wind up a company based on an undisputed debt is not an abuse of the process of the court: Re a Company (No 006273 of 1992) [1993] BCLC 131, [1992] BCC 794, ChD (such a petition was not presented for an improper purpose, eg to put pressure on the company to pay a debt which was disputed; but was for a purpose which was entirely proper, which was to put pressure on the company to pay a debt which was not disputed). The company need not, however, necessarily show abuse of process to secure the dismissal of the petition. Thus where the company has a cross-claim which exceeds the amount of the petition debt, the court may dismiss the petition even though the petition debt is presently payable and there is no abuse of process: see the text and note 17 supra. The court may further restrain presentation of a petition or restrain advertisement on the ground of such a cross-claim: Orion Media Marketing Ltd v Media Brook Ltd [2002] 1 BCLC 184, [2003] BPIR 474, ChD (restraint of the presentation of a petition, where the principles in Re Bayoil SA, Seawind Tankers Corp v Bayoil SA [1999] 1 All ER 374 [1999] 1 BCLC 62, CA, were held applicable in that context); and see also Re Ringinfo Ltd [2002] 1 BCLC 210, [2001] All ER (D) 309 (May); and cf Re a Company (No 009080 of 1992) [1993] BCLC 269, ChD. In this context, dicta to the contrary (in Re a Company (No 006273 of 1992) supra) are of doubtful authority. Where the counterclaim is a set-off, the court will treat the petition as if there were a bona fide and substantial dispute as to the petition debt: McDonald's Restaurants Ltd v Urbandivide Co Ltd [1994] 1 BCLC 306. The court may in exceptional circumstances refuse to entertain a winding-up petition where a cheque has been dishonoured: Re a Company (No 0010656 of 1990) [1991] BCLC 464 (petition struck out; the company disputed its liability on the cheque on substantial grounds and there was no evidence of the company's financial position which would indicate that it was insolvent; it was held to be more appropriate that the matter should proceed by ordinary action). Even if there is a bona fide and substantial dispute as to a very substantial part of the petition debt, then, provided that the undisputed amount exceeds £750, the petitioner is entitled to proceed with the petition: Re a Company (No 008122 of 1989), ex p Trans Continental Insurance Services Ltd [1990] BCLC 697; Re Pendigo Ltd [1996] 2 BCLC 64, [1996] BCC 608.

453. Effect of voluntary winding up on creditors.

The voluntary winding up of a company¹ does not bar the right of any creditor to have it wound up by the court², whether his debt accrued before or after the commencement of the winding up³. As between himself and the company, the creditor is entitled to a compulsory winding-up order as a matter of right⁴, but as between that creditor and other creditors the court will consider the wishes of creditors generally⁵. Accordingly, in the first instance the petition should merely show the existence of the liquidation to explain why it is addressed to the liquidator and should not go further into the circumstances of the liquidation, although counsel appearing for the petitioner should be instructed on the basis that further matters may arise at the hearing⁶. If the wishes of creditors generally are that the petition should be dismissed, it will normally be dismissed without costs if the petitioner creditor has acted reasonably in presenting it⁷.

1 As to voluntary winding up generally see para 939 et seq post.

2 Insolvency Act 1986 s 116. In the case of an application by a contributory, however, the court must be satisfied that the rights of the contributories will be prejudiced by a voluntary winding up: s 116. See note 4 infra; and para 455 post.

3 Re Bank of South Australia (No 2) [1895] 1 Ch 578 at 595, CA, doubting Re Bank of South Australia [1894] 3 Ch 722 (where it was held that there was no jurisdiction to make a supervision order (now abolished) on the petition of a creditor whose debt was incurred after the voluntary winding up had commenced).

4 Re James Millward & Co Ltd [1940] Ch 333, [1940] 1 All ER 347, CA. As to the creditor's prima facie right to a winding-up order see further para 480 post.

The Companies Act 1929 s 255 (repealed), which was re-enacted by the Insolvency Act 1986 s 116, effected a change in the law as regards petitions by creditors: Re James Millward & Co Ltd supra. The Insolvency Act 1986 s 116 requires a petitioner to prove that his rights are prejudiced only in the case of a petition by a contributory: see para 455 post. The provision in s 124(5) (see para 458 post), that the court may not make a winding-up order unless satisfied that a voluntary winding up cannot be continued with due regard to the interests of the creditors or contributories, is intended to apply only in the case of a petition by the official receiver: see Re Lubin, Rosen and Associates Ltd [1975] 1 All ER 577, [1975] 1 WLR 122. As to the official receiver see para 503 et seq post.

Under the corresponding provisions formerly in force (ie the Companies Act 1862 s 145 (repealed) and the Companies Consolidation Act 1908 s 197 (repealed), a creditor seeking a voluntary winding-up order had to allege and prove that the continuance of a voluntary winding up would be prejudicial to his rights (Re Russell, Cordner & Co [1891] 3 Ch 171), even where the voluntary winding-up resolution had been passed after the presentation but before the hearing of the petition (Re New York Exchange Ltd (1888) 39 ChD 415, CA; Re Electrical Engineering Co Ltd (1891) 64 LT 658; Re Medical Battery Co [1894] 1 Ch 444; but see Re General Rolling Stock Co Ltd (1865) 34 Beav 314). However, it was held that, if the general body of creditors desired a compulsory order, an existing voluntary winding up was no bar, in spite of the fact that no individual creditor showed that his rights would be prejudiced by a voluntary winding up: Re E Bishop & Sons Ltd [1900] 2 Ch 254; Re Hermann Lichtenstein & Co Ltd (1907) 23 TLR 424.

Compulsory orders were made on the application of creditors where, although the company was in voluntary liquidation, the same person had been appointed as its receiver and liquidator (Re Medical Battery Co supra); where a prima facie case of fraud in the conduct of the company had been established (Re National Debenture and Assets Corpn [1891] 2 Ch 505 at 509, 518, 521, CA), although frauds on the public in the course of its business were not sufficient (Re Medical Battery Co supra); where there had been great delay in conducting the voluntary liquidation (Re Manchester Queensland Cotton Co (1867) 16 LT 583), or it was unsatisfactory (Re Caerphilly Colliery Co, ex p Dolling (1875) 32 LT 15); where the company's liabilities were very great (Re BARNED'S BANKING CO LTD (1866) 14 LT 451); and where the resolution for voluntary liquidation was not passed in good faith (Re AB Cycle Co Ltd (1902) 19 TLR 84). In certain cases, where the voluntary liquidator was the shareholders' nominee, it was held that the creditors' rights would be prejudiced: Re Medical Battery Co supra;

Re Tramway Wheel Plant and General Foundry Co [1873] WN 160; but cf Adebayo v Nigeria Official Receiver [1954] 2 All ER 197, [1954] 1 WLR 681, PC; and para 458 text and note 3 post. Where the company had no assets except uncalled capital, and the voluntary liquidator would not make calls, the creditors were held to be clearly prejudiced: Re Bank of South Australia (No 2) [1895] 1 Ch 578 at 594-595, CA. The issuing of circulars by a shareholder with a view to inducing shareholders to pass a resolution for voluntary liquidation by misrepresenting the effect of it has been held a contempt of court where a creditor had already presented a petition: Re Septimus Parsonage & Co [1901] 2 Ch 424.

UPDATE

438-938 Winding Up by the Court

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(i) Petitioners; Effect of Petitioning/454. Petition by contributory.

454. Petition by contributory.

The statutory right of a contributory¹ to petition for the winding up of the company cannot be excluded or limited by the articles of association².

A contributory is not entitled to present a winding-up petition unless either:

- 898 (1) the number of members³ is reduced below two; or
- 899 (2) the shares in respect of which he is a contributory, or some of them, either were originally allotted to him or have been held⁴ by him, and registered in his name, for at least six months⁵ during the 18 months⁶ before the commencement of the winding up, or have devolved on him through the death of a former holder⁷.

This does not, however, apply to a person who is liable to contribute to a company's assets in the event of its being wound up under the statutory provisions⁸ dealing with the liability of past directors and shareholders where a company has made a payment out of capital in respect of the redemption or purchase of any of its own shares and the aggregate amount of the company's assets and the amounts paid by way of contribution to its assets is not sufficient for payment of its debts and liabilities and the expenses of the winding up⁹. Such a person may present a winding-up petition on the ground:

- 900 (a) that the company is unable to pay its debts¹⁰; or
- 901 (b) that it is just and equitable that the company should be wound up¹¹, and, unless the person is also a contributory otherwise than under those provisions, he may not in his character as contributory petition on any other ground¹².

A petition may be presented by a person who, although not registered, has obtained a judgment ordering the company to allot him shares and register him as a shareholder¹³, or by the holder of scrip certificates entitling the holder to be a shareholder¹⁴, or by an original allottee of shares notwithstanding that his name is not on the register of members¹⁵, or by a person who has an enforceable agreement to take shares fraudulently registered in another's name¹⁶. Where, on a contributory's petition, the petitioner's status as a contributory is disputed, the court will consider all the circumstances, including the likelihood of damage to the company if the petition is not dismissed, in determining whether to require the petitioner to seek to establish his status as contributory outside the petition¹⁷.

An injunction may be granted to restrain a contributory from presenting a petition if the presentation of the petition would constitute an abuse of the process of the court¹⁸.

455. Effect of voluntary winding up on contributory.

Where there is a voluntary winding up, a contributory may present a petition for a winding up by the court, but the court must be satisfied that the rights of the contributories will be prejudiced by a voluntary winding up¹.

An existing voluntary winding up is, therefore, generally a bar to a contributory obtaining a compulsory order, unless the resolution to wind up has been passed fraudulently, or by undue influence, or unless creditors appear to support the petition². In exceptional circumstances a compulsory order may be obtained, even though no fraud or undue influence is proved, and even if no creditor appears in support³, as where the resolution for voluntary liquidation is carried owing to the preponderance of votes of those whose conduct appears to require such investigation as may be obtained only in a compulsory winding up⁴; or where the vendor to the company has been appointed liquidator in a voluntary winding up and the inception and operation of the company require such investigation⁵; or where steps are being taken to destroy the books of the company and to dissolve it⁶; or where resolutions have been passed for a voluntary winding up with a view to a reconstruction which has proved abortive⁷ or which is unfair to an independent majority of the shareholders⁸; or where there has been great delay in conducting the voluntary liquidation⁹.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(i) Petitioners; Effect of Petitioning/457. Fully paid shareholder.

457. Fully paid shareholder.

A fully paid shareholder may present a winding-up petition as a contributory¹. The court cannot refuse to make a winding-up order on the ground only that the assets have been mortgaged to an amount equal to or in excess of those assets, or that there are no assets²; but a contributory is not entitled to an order in such a case where there is no ground for a winding-up order except insolvency³. The petition must, therefore, either allege, and the evidence must establish, that there is a probability of surplus assets for a return to the contributories⁴, or else it must be shown that there are other cogent reasons for the making of an order⁵. The smallness of a minority shareholder's holding is no bar to his presenting a petition if what he may hope to recover in the liquidation is likely to be appreciable in relation to the size of his holding⁶.

It is not appropriate to present a petition if there is some other remedy available in relation to the complaint made by the petitioner⁷. In any case the court has a discretion and may refuse to make an order on a contributory's petition where the circumstances do not justify a winding-up order⁸. It is undesirable to include as a matter of course a prayer for winding up as an alternative to relief claimed in respect of unfairly prejudicial conduct⁹.

458. Petition by official receiver.

The official receiver attached to the court may present a petition for the winding up of a company already in voluntary liquidation, but the court cannot make a winding-up order on the petition unless it is satisfied that the existing winding up cannot be continued with due regard to the interests of the creditors or contributories¹; and it is not a matter of course to make a compulsory winding-up order on the official receiver's petition. The question whether this test is satisfied must be decided on the balance of probabilities², but it does not follow that, because a company is controlled by one shareholder and the liquidator may be regarded as his nominee, the test is automatically satisfied³. An order will, however, be made when, after such an order, the official receiver will possess any power which the voluntary liquidator cannot exercise, and which is necessary in order that there may be an efficient winding up in the interests of the creditors or contributories, as, for example, where misfeasance proceedings are contemplated and a public examination is absolutely necessary to obtain a proper disclosure of facts⁴.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(ii) Procedure on Petition/A. PETITION PRESENTED OTHER THAN BY ONE OR MORE CONTRIBUTORIES/459. Form and contents of petition other than a petition presented by one or more contributories.

(ii) Procedure on Petition

A. PETITION PRESENTED OTHER THAN BY ONE OR MORE CONTRIBUTORIES

459. Form and contents of petition other than a petition presented by one or more contributories.

Every petition for the winding up of a company by the court presented by any person entitled to do so¹, other than one or more contributories², must be in the prescribed form³, with such variations as circumstances may require⁴. No insolvency proceedings⁵, which include a winding-up petition, are to be invalidated by any formal defect or by any irregularity unless the court before which objection is made considers that substantial injustice has been caused by the defect or irregularity, and that the injustice cannot be remedied by an order of the court⁶.

In his petition a petitioner⁷ must allege and prove the facts entitling him to present it, showing that one or more of the grounds specified in the Insolvency Act 1986 or in any other enactment for making a compulsory order exist⁸. Unless these allegations are contained in the petition, it is misconceived⁹, and the court will dismiss it¹⁰. The court will not travel outside the allegations in the petition¹¹, and may strike out the petition if those allegations are too vague¹² or are so unsatisfactory as to be an abuse of the process of the court¹³.

If the petitioner's address is omitted from the petition, security for costs will be ordered¹⁴.

Where a petition is filed at the instance of a company's administrator¹⁵, the petition must:

- 902 (1) be expressed to be the petition of the company by its administrator¹⁶;
- 903 (2) state the name of the administrator, the court case number and the date that the company entered administration¹⁷; and
- 904 (3) contain an application¹⁸ requesting that the appointment of the administrator cease to have effect¹⁹.

Any petition filed in relation to a company in respect of which there is in force a voluntary arrangement²⁰ or which is in administration must be presented to the court to which the nominee's report²¹ was submitted or, as the case may be, the court having jurisdiction for the administration²².

Any petition filed at the instance of a company's administrator as mentioned above, or presented by the supervisor of a voluntary arrangement in force for the company, is to be treated as if it were a petition filed by contributories; and the provisions relating to a petition by contributories apply accordingly²³.

Where a petition contains a request for the appointment of a person as liquidator in accordance with provisions providing for the appointment of an administrator or supervisor as liquidator²⁴, the person whose appointment is sought must, not less than two days before the return day²⁵ for the petition, file in court²⁶ a report including particulars of:

- 905 (a) a date on which he notified creditors of the company, either in writing or at a meeting of creditors, of the intention to seek his appointment as liquidator, such date to be at least ten days before the day on which the report is filed²⁷; and
 906 (b) details of any response from creditors to that notification, including any objections to his appointment²⁸.

7 For these purposes, in winding up references to 'the petitioner' or 'the petitioning creditor' include any person who has been substituted as such, or been given carriage of the petition: Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, rr 13.1, 13.10.

WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(ii) Procedure on Petition/A. PETITION PRESENTED OTHER THAN BY ONE OR MORE CONTRIBUTORIES/460. Presentation and filing of petition.

460. Presentation and filing of petition.

The petition, verified by affidavit¹, must be filed in court². No petition may, however, be filed unless there is produced with it the receipt for the deposit payable on presentation³ or the Secretary of State has given written notice to the court that the petitioner has made suitable alternative arrangements for the payment of the deposit to the official receiver and such notice has not been revoked in relation to the petitioner⁴.

If the petitioner is other than the company itself, there must be delivered with the petition one copy for service on the company⁵, and one copy to be exhibited to the affidavit verifying service⁶. There must in any case be delivered with the petition:

- 907 (1) if the company is in course of being wound up voluntarily⁷, and a liquidator has been appointed, one copy of the petition to be sent to him⁸;
- 908 (2) if the company is in administration⁹, one copy to be sent to the administrator¹⁰;
- 909 (3) if an administrative receiver has been appointed in relation to the company¹¹, one copy to be sent to him¹²;
- 910 (4) if there is in force for the company a voluntary arrangement¹³, one copy for the supervisor of the arrangement¹⁴;
- 911 (5) if a member state liquidator¹⁵ has been appointed in main proceedings¹⁶ in relation to the company, one copy to be sent to him¹⁷; and
- 912 (6) if the company is an authorised deposit-taker¹⁸ or a former authorised deposit-taker¹⁹, and the petitioner is not the Financial Services Authority²⁰, one copy to be sent to the Authority²¹.

Each of the copies delivered must have applied to it the seal of the court, and must be issued to the petitioner²². The court must fix a venue²³ for the hearing of the petition; and this must be indorsed on any such copy issued to the petitioner²⁴.

In respect of all insolvency proceedings²⁵, including petitions, the court must open and maintain a file for each case, and, subject to directions of the registrar²⁶, all documents relating to such proceedings must be placed on the relevant file²⁷.

No proceedings are to be filed in the Central Office of the High Court²⁸.

WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(ii) Procedure on Petition/A. PETITION PRESENTED OTHER THAN BY ONE OR MORE CONTRIBUTORIES/461. Service of petition.

461. Service of petition.

A copy of the petition bearing the seal of the court in which it is presented¹ must be served upon the company, where the petitioner is other than the company itself, at the company's registered office, being:

- 913 (1) the place which is specified in the company's statement delivered² to the registrar of companies specifying the intended situation of its registered office on incorporation³; or
- 914 (2) if notice has been given⁴ by the company to the registrar of companies of a change in the registration of the company's office, the place specified in that notice or, as the case may be, in the last such notice⁵.

Service of the petition at the registered office may be effected:

- 915 (a) by handing it to a person who there and then acknowledges himself to be, or to the best of the server's knowledge, information and belief is, a director or other officer, or employee, of the company⁶;
- 916 (b) by handing it to a person who there and then acknowledges himself to be authorised to accept service of documents on the company's behalf⁷; or
- 917 (c) in the absence of any such person as is mentioned in head (a) or head (b) above by depositing it at or about the registered office in such a way that it is likely to come to the notice of a person attending at the office⁸.

If for any reason service at the registered office is not practicable, or the company has no registered office or is an unregistered company⁹, the petition may be served on the company by leaving it at the company's last known principal place of business in such a way that it is likely to come to the attention of a person attending there, or by delivering it to the secretary or some director, manager or principal officer of the company, wherever that person may be found¹⁰. If for any reason it is impracticable so to effect service, the petition may be served in such other manner as the court may approve or direct¹¹, upon an application¹² for leave of the court which may be made without notice on affidavit stating what steps have been taken to comply with these provisions, and the reasons why it is impracticable to effect service as so provided¹³.

Service of the petition must be proved by affidavit, specifying the manner of service¹⁴. The affidavit must have exhibited to it a sealed copy of the petition, and, if substituted service has been ordered, a sealed copy of the order; and it must be filed in court¹⁵ immediately after service¹⁶.

If to the petitioner's knowledge the company is in course of being wound up voluntarily¹⁷, a copy of the petition must be sent¹⁸ by him to the liquidator¹⁹. If to the petitioner's knowledge an administrative receiver has been appointed in relation to the company²⁰, or the company is in administration²¹, a copy of the petition must be sent by him to the receiver or, as the case may be, the administrator²². If to the petitioner's knowledge there is in force for the company a voluntary arrangement²³, a copy of the petition must be sent by him to the supervisor of the voluntary arrangement²⁴. If to the petitioner's knowledge there is a member state liquidator²⁵ appointed in main proceedings²⁶ in relation to the company, a copy of the petition must be sent by him to the member state liquidator²⁷.

If the company is an authorised institution or former authorised institution²⁸, a copy of the petition must be sent by the petitioner to the Financial Services Authority²⁹.

Where a winding-up petition is served at the incorrect registered office and a winding-up order made, the petitioner will not be liable to the company in negligence for any damage thereby caused³⁰.

UPDATE

438-938 Winding Up by the Court

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

NOTE 13--SI 1986/1925 r 4.8(7) amended: SI 2010/686.

NOTE 14--SI 1986/1925 Sch 4 Form 4.5 amended: SI 2009/2472.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(ii) Procedure on Petition/A. PETITION PRESENTED OTHER THAN BY ONE OR MORE CONTRIBUTORIES/462. Advertisement of petition.

462. Advertisement of petition.

The petition must be advertised once in the Gazette¹, unless the court otherwise directs². The court will exercise its discretion to order that the petition should not be advertised only in exceptional circumstances³. The purpose of advertisement of a winding-up petition is to notify persons of the petition, so that they might appear and be heard, and to warn creditors of the risk of trading with a potentially insolvent company⁴.

If the petitioner is the company itself, the advertisement must be made to appear not less than seven business days⁵ before the day appointed for the hearing⁶; otherwise the advertisement must be made to appear not less than seven business days after service of the petition on the company⁷, nor less than seven business days before the day so appointed⁸.

If compliance with these provisions is not reasonably practicable, the court may direct that advertisement of the petition be made to appear, instead of in the Gazette, in a specified newspaper⁹.

In a proper case, application may be made to restrain the advertisement of a petition¹⁰.

Where an administration petition has been presented in respect of the company, the court has jurisdiction to restrain advertisement pending hearing of the administration petition¹¹.

1 As to the Gazette, and the gazetting of notices, see para 1048 post. 'Advertisement' in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 4.11 means advertisement in the Gazette, and not advertisement in the sense of notification: SN Group plc v Barclays Bank plc [1993] BCC 506; Secretary of State for Trade and Industry v North West Holdings plc [1999] 1 BCLC 425, CA (press notices issued by the Secretary of State on his petition did not constitute 'advertisement' within the meaning of the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 4.11).

2 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 4.11(1).

3 Applied Data Base Ltd v Secretary of State for Trade and Industry [1995] 1 BCLC 272.

4 Re a Company (No 007923 of 1994) [1995] 1 WLR 953, [1995] 1 BCLC 440, CA. Whereas presentation of a petition will be restrained only on the ground of abuse of process, the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 4.11(1), allows the court to take other factors into account on an application to restrain advertisement of a petition: Re a Company (No 007923 of 1994) supra.

5 For the meaning of 'business day' see para 113 note 4 ante. The provisions of CPR 2.8 (see CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 11 (2009) PARA 88) apply as regards computation of time in respect of anything required or authorised to be done by the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925 (as amended) (see r 12.9(1) (r 12.9 substituted by SI 1999/1022)), and the provisions of CPR 3.1(2)(a) (see CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 11 (2009) PARA 249) apply so as to enable the court to extend or shorten the time for compliance with anything required or authorised to be done by the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925 (as amended) (see r 12.9(2) (as so substituted)). See further para 1053 post. Where, by any provision of the Insolvency Act 1986 or the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925 (as amended) about winding up, the time for doing anything is limited, the court may extend the time either before or after it has expired on such terms, if any, as it thinks fit: r 4.3.

6 Ibid r 4.11(2)(a).

7 If advertisement takes place less than seven days after service of the petition on the company, the petition is liable to be struck out: Re Signland Ltd [1982] 2 All ER 609n. Cf Re Roselmar Properties Ltd (1986) 2 BCC 99, 156 (petition advertised four days after service but not struck out because company already in voluntary liquidation and no damage would be caused to company); and see Re Doreen Boards Ltd [1996] 1 BCLC 501 (contributory's petition struck out as an abuse of process where the petition was prematurely notified to third parties). The jurisdiction to strike out is a discretionary disciplinary jurisdiction, and thus will not be exercised where service was effected at the old registered office of a company, but the change of registered office had not yet been filed by the registrar of companies: Re Corbenstoke Ltd [1989] BCLC 496, 5 BCC 197; Re Garton (Western) Ltd [1989] BCLC 304, 5 BCC 198 (petition not struck out where company had changed its registered office shortly before presentation). As to the registrar of companies see COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARA 131 et seq. The purpose of the seven-day period between service and advertisement is to enable the company to consider its position and, if necessary, to seek an order under the Insolvency Act 1986 s 127 (as amended): Re a Company (No 0013925 of 1991), ex p Rousell [1992] BCLC 562, sub nom Re Bill Hennessey Associates Ltd [1992] BCC 386 (petition sent to the company's bankers shortly after presentation, so as to put the company under improper pressure to settle the debt; petition struck out); Re a Company (No 001127 of 1992) [1992] BCC 477. Cf SN Group plc v Barclays Bank plc [1993] BCC 506 (petition not struck out where the company was insolvent and where the purpose of giving notice to the company's bankers was to preserve the assets of the company pending liquidation).

8 Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 4.11(2)(b). Rule 4.11(2)(b) is mandatory and is designed to ensure that the class remedy of winding up by the court is duly made available to all creditors and is not used as a means of putting pressure on the company to pay the petitioner's debt: Practice Direction--Insolvency Proceedings para 2.1. Failure to comply with the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 4.11(2)(b), without good reason accepted by the court, may lead to the summary dismissal of the petition on the return date: r 4.11(5); Practice Direction--Insolvency Proceedings para 2.1. If the court, in its discretion, grants an adjournment, this will be on condition that the petition is advertised in due time for the adjourned hearing; and no further adjournment for the purpose of advertisement will normally be granted: Practice Direction--Insolvency Proceedings para 2.1.

10 See para 452 ante.

11 See Re a Company (No 001992 of 1988) [1989] BCLC 9, 4 BCC 451. The exercise of the court's jurisdiction to restrain advertisement may be mandatory: Re a Company (No 001992 of 1988) supra. The court may further restrain advertisement under the 'quia timet' jurisdiction (see CIVIL PROCEDURE vol 11 (2009) PARA 362) upon the company's undertaking to present an administration petition immediately: Re a Company (No 001448 of 1989) [1989] BCLC 715, 5 BCC 706.

WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(ii) Procedure on Petition/A. PETITION PRESENTED OTHER THAN BY ONE OR MORE CONTRIBUTORIES/463. Contents of advertisement.

463. Contents of advertisement.

The advertisement¹ of the petition must state:

- 918 (1) the name of the company and the address of its registered office or, in the case of an unregistered company², the address of its principal place of business or, in the case of an overseas company³, the address at which service of the petition was effected⁴;
- 919 (2) the name and address of the petitioner⁵;
- 920 (3) where the petitioner is the company itself, the address of its registered office or, in the case of an unregistered company, of its principal place of business⁶;
- 921 (4) the date on which the petition was presented⁷;
- 922 (5) the venue⁸ fixed for the hearing of the petition⁹;
- 923 (6) the name and address of the petitioner's solicitor¹⁰, if any¹¹; and
- 924 (7) that any person intending to appear at the hearing, whether to support or oppose the petition, must give the prescribed notice¹² of his intention¹³.

If the petition is not duly advertised¹⁴, the court may dismiss it¹⁵.

The advertisement may be invalidated by a material error in it, for example as to the company's name¹⁶, the day of hearing¹⁷, the title of the petition¹⁸, or if the note requiring persons who intend to appear on the hearing of the petition to give the prescribed notice is omitted from the advertisement¹⁹; but, where the mistake is accidental and no one is likely to be deceived, the court in the exercise of its discretion²⁰ may disregard the mistake²¹.

As to the conditions under which a mistake in the spelling of the company's name may be waived see Re Vidiofusion Ltd [1975] 1 All ER 76n, [1974] 1 WLR 1548.

Whether defects are likely to be waived by the court depends on their materiality and thus:

- 23 (1) where the company's address is omitted, the petition will normally need to be readvertised; the importance of the company's address does not relate to the need of creditors to contact the company, but arises because the address further defines the company, so that creditors will have no doubt as to which company is referred to;
- 24 (2) if the petitioner's address is omitted, readvertisement will not normally be necessary, provided that the address of the petitioner's solicitor appears, and vice versa; the necessity of one or other address arises because creditors who wish to appear must send notice to the petitioner or his solicitor;
- 25 (3) if the address of the company which appears is of a recent previous registered office, readvertisement will often be dispensed with, as creditors will be as likely to know the old address of the company as a new address;
- 26 (4) omission of, or error in, the date of presentation of the petition is usually immaterial and will be waived.

Save as mentioned in heads (1)-(4) supra, and as set out in the text and cases referred to in notes 16-19 supra, any further defects in the petition are likely to necessitate readvertisement.

WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(ii) Procedure on Petition/A. PETITION PRESENTED OTHER THAN BY ONE OR MORE CONTRIBUTORIES/466. Affidavits verifying and in opposition to petition.

466. Affidavits verifying and in opposition to petition.

The petition must be verified by an affidavit that the statements in the petition are true, or are true to the best of the deponent's knowledge, information and belief¹. If the petition is in respect of debts due to different creditors, the debts to each creditor must be separately verified²; and the petition must be exhibited to the affidavit verifying it³.

The affidavit must be made:

- 925 (1) by the petitioner or, if there are two or more petitioners, any one of them⁴;
- 926 (2) by some person such as a director, company secretary or similar company officer, or a solicitor who has been concerned in the matters giving rise to the presentation of the petition⁵; or
- 927 (3) by some responsible person who is duly authorised to make the affidavit and has the requisite knowledge of those matters⁶.

Where the deponent is not the petitioner himself, or one of the petitioners, he must in the affidavit identify himself and state the capacity in which, and the authority by which, he makes it⁷, and the means of his knowledge of the matters sworn to in the affidavit⁸. The affidavit is prima facie evidence of the statements in the petition to which it relates⁹.

An affidavit verifying more than one petition must include in its title the names of the companies to which it relates and must set out, in respect of each company, the statements relied on by the petitioner; and a clear and legible photocopy of the affidavit must be filed with each petition which it verifies¹⁰. The affidavit verifying the petition must be filed upon presentation of the petition¹¹.

If the company intends to oppose the petition, its affidavit in opposition must be filed in court¹² not less than seven days before the date fixed for the hearing¹³. A copy of the affidavit must be sent by the company to the petitioner, forthwith after filing¹⁴.

WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(ii) Procedure on Petition/B. PETITION PRESENTED BY ONE OR MORE CONTRIBUTORIES/468. Form, contents, presentation and service of petition.

B. PETITION PRESENTED BY ONE OR MORE CONTRIBUTORIES

468. Form, contents, presentation and service of petition.

Every petition presented by one or more contributories¹ must specify the grounds on which it is presented, and must be filed in court² with one copy for service³. No petition may, however, be filed unless there is produced with it the receipt for the deposit payable on presentation⁴.

The court must fix a hearing for a day ('the return day') on which, unless the court otherwise directs, the petitioner and the company must attend before the registrar in chambers for directions to be given in relation to the procedure on the petition⁵. On fixing the return day, the court must return to the petitioner a sealed copy of the petition for service, indorsed with the return day and time of hearing⁶. The petitioner must, at least 14 days before the return day, serve a sealed copy of the petition on the company⁷.

Whenever a winding up order is asked for in a contributory's petition, the petition must state whether the petitioner consents or objects to a 'section 127 order' in the standard form⁸. If he objects, the written evidence in support must contain a short statement of his reasons⁹. If the petition contains a statement that the petitioner consents to a 'section 127 order', whether in the standard or a modified form, but the petitioner changes his mind before the first hearing of the petition, he must notify the respondents and may apply on notice to a judge for an order directing that no 'section 127 order' or a modified order only (as the case may be) may be made by the registrar, but validating dispositions made without notice of the order made by the judge¹⁰. If the petition contains a statement that the petitioner consents to a 'section 127 order', whether in the standard or a modified form, the registrar must without further enquiry make an order in such form at the first hearing unless an order to the contrary has been made by the judge in the meantime¹¹. If the petition contains a statement that the petitioner objects to a 'section 127 order' in the standard form, the company may apply (in the case of urgency, without notice) to the judge for an order¹².

Where a member state liquidator¹³ has been appointed in main proceedings¹⁴ in relation to the company, the petitioner must send a copy of the petition to him¹⁵.

469. Return of petition.

On the return day¹, or at any time after it, the court must give such directions as it thinks appropriate with respect to the following matters:

- 931 (1) service of the petition², whether in connection with the venue³ for a further hearing, or for any other purpose⁴;
- 932 (2) whether particulars of claim and defence are to be delivered, and generally as to the procedure on the petition⁵;
- 933 (3) whether, and if so by what means, the petition is to be advertised⁶;
- 934 (4) the manner in which any evidence is to be adduced at any hearing before the judge and, in particular, as to the taking of evidence wholly or in part by affidavit or orally, the cross-examination of any deponents to affidavits, and the matters to be dealt with in evidence⁷;
- 935 (5) any other matter affecting the procedure on the petition or in connection with the hearing and disposal of the petition⁸.

In giving directions for the service of the petition, the court must have regard to whether any of the persons, other than the company, who must be served with copies of a winding-up petition presented other than by one or more contributories⁹ should be served with a copy of the petition¹⁰.

If the petition contains a statement that the petitioner consents to a 'section 127 order', whether in the standard or a modified form, the registrar must without further inquiry make an order in such form at the first hearing unless an order to the contrary has been made by the judge in the meantime¹¹.

C. PROCEDURE COMMON TO ALL PETITIONS

470. Admissibility of hearsay evidence.

There is no general principle that hearsay evidence is admissible in relation to a winding-up petition; and it seems that the normal rules as regards hearsay evidence which apply to civil proceedings apply also in relation to winding-up petitions¹. In relation to winding-up petitions there are, however, special categories of material to which the court must give due consideration, even though they may amount to hearsay²:

- 936 (1) the statutory affidavit³ verifying the petition is admissible for the purpose of providing evidence of the truth of the petition⁴;
- 937 (2) on a petition by the Secretary of State⁵, the inspectors' reports may be taken into account by the court⁶, and may be sufficient basis for the making of a winding-up order in an uncontested case⁷.

The court will rarely make an order for cross-examination of deponents to affidavits in relation to a disputed winding-up petition⁸.

It has been said that the inspectors' reports are to be treated not as evidence in the ordinary sense but as material on which, if it is not challenged, the court may proceed to make an order if it is just and equitable to do so: Re SBA Properties Ltd supra at 621 and 806 per Pennycuik J. 471. Notice of intention to appear.

Every person who intends to appear on the hearing of the petition must give to the petitioner notice of his intention¹ specifying:

- 938 (1) the name and address of the person giving it, and any telephone number and reference which may be required for communication with him or with any other person (to be also specified in the notice) authorised to speak or act on his behalf²;
- 939 (2) whether his intention is to support or oppose the petition³; and
- 940 (3) the amount and nature of his debt⁴.

The notice must be sent to the petitioner at the address shown for him in the court records, or in the advertisement of the petition⁵; or it may be sent to his solicitor⁶. The notice must be sent so as to reach the addressee not later than 16.00 hours on the business day⁷ before that which is appointed for the hearing (or, where the hearing has been adjourned, for the adjourned hearing)⁸.

A person failing to comply with these requirements may appear on the hearing of the petition only with the leave of the court⁹.

WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(ii) Procedure on Petition/C. PROCEDURE COMMON TO ALL PETITIONS/474. Deposit payable on presentation of petition.

474. Deposit payable on presentation of petition.

Before a winding-up petition can be presented, a deposit must be paid to the court in which the petition is to be presented¹. Such deposit stands as security for the payment of the fee chargeable in respect of the performance by the official receiver of his general duties as official receiver on the making of a winding-up order together with any fees payable in connection with the appointment of an insolvency practitioner by the court², and must be used to discharge those fees to the extent that the assets of the company are insufficient for that purpose³. The court must transmit the deposit paid to the official receiver attached to the court⁴. If the petition is dismissed or withdrawn, the deposit must be repaid to the person who made it⁵. If a winding-up order is made, any deposit made must be returned to the person who made it save to the extent that the company's assets are insufficient to discharge the fees for which the deposit is security⁶.

1 See the Insolvency Proceedings (Fees) Order 2004, SI 2004/593, art 6. The deposit required is a deposit of £620: see art 6(1)(a).

2 Ibid arts 6(1), (2), 4 Schedule 2. As to the official receiver see para 503 et seq post. As to the official receiver's duties on the making of a winding-up order see para 510 et seq post. The receipt by the official receiver of any deposit which relates to a winding-up petition may not be contracted out: see para 506 post. As to the contracting out of the official receiver's functions generally see paras 505-506 post.

475. Security for costs.

Security for costs¹ may be ordered to be given by a petitioner who has given a false address², or who has presented a bankruptcy petition³, or by a petitioning company which is in liquidation or which, it appears to the court, there is reason to believe will be unable to pay its debts⁴, or by a petitioner who is ordinarily residing abroad, including Scotland⁵, unless he is a judgment creditor⁶, or his claim is admitted⁷. Even in these cases security will be ordered if a voluntary winding up is pending and the liquidator alleges that he has no assets⁸. A shareholder out of the jurisdiction who opposes a petition cannot be ordered to give security⁹.

- 32 (6) the claimant has taken steps in relation to his assets that would make it difficult to enforce an order for costs against him (CPR 25.13(2)(g)),

477. Court's powers on hearing petition.

On hearing the petition, the court may dismiss it or adjourn¹ the hearing conditionally or unconditionally, or make an interim order or any other order that it thinks fit². The court must, however, act only according to what is alleged in the petition and proved before it³. On appeal, the Court of Appeal may review any exercise of discretion by the court in accordance with the normal principles governing the review by a superior court of a discretion exercised by an inferior court⁴. The court may not refuse to make a winding-up order on the ground only that the company's assets have been mortgaged to an amount equal to or in excess of those assets or that the company has no assets⁵. Where the petition is presented by members of the company as contributories on the ground that it is just and equitable that the company should be wound up⁶, the court, if of the opinion that the petitioners are entitled to relief either by winding up or by some other means, and that in the absence of any other remedy winding up would be just and equitable, must make a winding-up order unless it is also of the opinion both that some other remedy is available to the petitioners and that they are acting unreasonably in seeking a winding-up order instead of pursuing that other remedy⁷.

The court has power to give permission to the petitioner to amend the petition so as to include a debt which had not fallen due when the petition was presented⁸.

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

477 Court's powers on hearing petition

NOTE 1--As to the requirement for a petitioner to give notice where a petition is dismissed, see SI 1986/1925 r 4.21B (added by SI 2009/642, amended by SI 2010/686).

478. Adjournment of petition.

Adjournments of hearings of winding-up petitions for the purposes of enabling evidence to be completed, witnesses cross-examined, compromises arrived at or reconstructions carried out are of frequent occurrence; but long unconditional adjournments may do great harm, not only by paralysing the company, but also by invalidating intermediate transactions¹ if a winding-up order, which relates back to the presentation of the petition², is ultimately made³. An adjournment will not be allowed pending an appeal by the company to the House of Lords in respect of the debt on which the petition is founded where the company is unwilling to give security for costs already incurred in the litigation⁴.

Where an adjournment for a considerable time is allowed, it is often on the terms that the company undertakes not to consent to a winding-up order on any other petition and not to wind up voluntarily, to give notice to the petitioner of the presentation of any other winding-up petition, and, on the presentation of any other petition, to consent to the present application for winding up being restored so that the court may be able to deal with it as if there had been no adjournment⁵.

Adjournments of a winding-up petition may be granted at the request of administrative receivers or the debenture holders who appointed them, often on the ground that a winding-up order will terminate the receivers' agency for the company and thus compromise the receivers' ability to trade the company and sell it as a going concern⁶.

Lengthy adjournments of winding-up petitions are often granted in the case of insurance companies which have been placed into provisional liquidation, normally for the purpose of protecting the creditors and assets of the company pending a scheme of arrangement under the Companies Act 1985 s 425 (as amended) (see COMPANIES vol 15 (2009) PARA 1425 et seq). The application for adjournment, often for a period of about six months, is normally made by the provisional liquidators themselves. Such provisional liquidations arose because the administration procedure was not generally available for insurance companies: see now, however, the Insolvency Act 1986 Sch B1 para 9(2), (3) (as added); the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Administration Orders Relating to Insurers) Order 2002, SI 2002/1242, art 3 (amended by SI 2003/2134; SI 2004/353); and para 213 ante.

478 Adjournment of petition

TEXT AND NOTES--See SI 1986/1925 r 4.18A (adjournment) (added by SI 2010/686).

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(ii) Procedure on Petition/C. PROCEDURE COMMON TO ALL PETITIONS/479. Substitution of petitioner.

479. Substitution of petitioner.

The court may, on such terms as it thinks just, substitute as petitioner any creditor or contributory who, in its opinion, would have a right to present a petition, and who is desirous of prosecuting the petition¹, where a person petitions and is subsequently found not to be entitled to do so or where the petitioner:

- 941 (1) fails to advertise his petition within the prescribed time or such extended time as the court may allow²; or
- 942 (2) consents to withdraw³ his petition, or to allow it to be dismissed⁴, consents to an adjournment, or fails to appear in support of his petition when it is called on in court on the day originally fixed for the hearing, or on any day to which it is adjourned⁵; or
- 943 (3) appears but does not apply for an order in the terms of the prayer of his petition⁶.

An order to substitute a petitioner may be made by the court at any time where a petitioner fails to advertise his petition within the prescribed time or consents to withdraw his petition⁷. Where a debt is assigned after presentation of the petition, the assignee may be substituted as petitioner⁸. If a petitioner has been misnamed in the petition, as opposed to being non-existent, a supporting creditor may be substituted⁹.

Where a member state liquidator¹⁰ has been appointed in main proceedings¹¹ in relation to the company, without prejudice to the court's power to substitute as petitioner any person, creditor or contributory who in its opinion would have a right to present a petition and who is desirous of prosecuting it, the court may, on such terms as it thinks just, substitute the member state liquidator as petitioner where he is desirous of prosecuting the petition¹².

1 Insolvent Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, r 4.19(2). The court's power to make an order for substitution does not extend to petitions presented by one or more contributories: see rr 4.2(4), 4.24 (amended by SI 1987/1919). Where the Secretary of State decides not to proceed with a petition presented on public interest grounds, contributories will not normally be substituted as petitioners: Re Xyllyx plc [1992] BCLC 376. For the meaning of 'contributory' see para 703 post. As to the Secretary of State see para 11 note 10 ante.

Following an order for substitution of a creditor, the usual order will be for the petition to be amended and re-served on the company, for a new affidavit of service to be sworn, and for readvertisement. If the company appears at the hearing of the petition where substitution is ordered, formal re-service is often dispensed with. An appropriate adjournment to allow completion of these formalities will be granted. A petitioner cannot himself transfer to any other person the right to proceed with his petition: Re Paris Skating Rink Co (1877) 5 ChD 959, CA.

UPDATE

438-938 Winding Up by the Court

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(ii) Procedure on Petition/C. PROCEDURE COMMON TO ALL PETITIONS/480. Wishes of creditors and contributories.

480. Wishes of creditors and contributories.

As to all matters relating to a winding up, the court may have regard to the wishes of the creditors or contributories, as proved to it by any sufficient evidence¹. For the purpose of ascertaining those wishes, it may direct meetings of the creditors or contributories to be called, held and conducted in such manner as it directs², and may appoint a person to act as chairman of any such meeting and to report the result of it to the court³, although, if the court has no power to make a winding-up order, it cannot direct a meeting to be held⁴. In the case of creditors, regard must be had to the value of each creditor's debt⁵. In the case of contributories, regard must be had to the number of votes conferred on each contributory by the Companies Act 1985⁶ or by the articles⁷. The court may be satisfied as to the views of the general body of creditors or contributories without calling meetings⁸.

In the absence of special circumstances, the views of the creditors will normally be accepted; but the court retains a residuary discretion to depart from their views where there are special circumstances justifying the court in so doing⁹.

A creditor who cannot obtain payment is entitled as of right as against the company to a winding-up order¹⁰, but this is subject to the court's power on the hearing of the petition to give effect to the wishes of a majority of the creditors on the question whether a winding-up order should be made¹¹, and whether the petition should or should not stand over¹².

Although the court has a general discretion on the hearing of a winding-up petition, case law provides a guide as to how that discretion will be exercised¹³.

Where the company is not in voluntary liquidation, and the only fact which emerges is that the company is insolvent, opposing creditors must give reasons for their opposition, even if they represent the majority in number and value, for the court to take their opposition seriously¹⁴.

Where the company is in voluntary liquidation:

- 944 (1) if the petition is unopposed, a compulsory winding-up order will be granted to the petitioner as of right;
- 945 (2) if the petition is opposed by creditors, it is incumbent on the petitioner and any supporting creditors to give reasons why a compulsory winding-up order should be made;
- 946 (3) in assessing the weight to be attached to the support or opposition of creditors, the court will give less weight to those connected with the company than to independent trade creditors;
- 947 (4) in assessing the reasons put forward for support or opposition, the court will take account of only those reasons which are applicable to the class of creditors, and not reasons which are collateral to those class interests;
- 948 (5) creditors do not need to show any actual misconduct on the part of the voluntary liquidator, since an investigation into the company's affairs must not only be independent but must also be seen to be independent;
- 949 (6) the voluntary liquidator must be neutral and may not appear on the hearing to oppose it, but only to assist the court¹⁵.

Where the company is insolvent, the wishes of the creditors only are regarded¹⁶. In the case of creditors of different classes, the interest of the class particularly affected must be primarily considered. Thus, on the question of winding up a company whose assets are entirely covered by debentures, the wishes of the unsecured creditors must be regarded in preference to those of the secured creditors¹⁷. The creditors who are only partly secured and share the class interest of unsecured creditors in protecting or increasing the value of the company's assets are, however, entitled to the same consideration, in respect of the unsecured portion of their debt, as wholly unsecured creditors¹⁸. The wishes of creditors will be given weight only if they have reasons which relate to their position as creditors, and are not motivated by collateral purposes¹⁹.

On a shareholder's petition, where the creditors do not support or oppose the petition²⁰, or where the interests of shareholders only are concerned, as in a case where it is alleged that the substratum of a solvent company is gone, the wishes of the shareholders only will be regarded²¹.

In the case of a petition by a shareholder, the court will similarly give effect in general to the wishes of the majority of shareholders²², but it is not bound to accede to the wishes of the majority and the court may make a winding-up order even though the majority of shareholders wish the company to continue in existence if the substratum of the company has gone²³, or there are other grounds²⁴ why the company should be wound up²⁵, or it may make a compulsory order, even though the majority favours a voluntary winding up, if the majority is deceptive and does not represent the majority of the independent shareholders, or if in the circumstances a compulsory order will be more beneficial than a voluntary winding up²⁶. A minority must, however, give an adequate reason why its wishes should be followed²⁷.

Where the Secretary of State presents a petition in the public interest²⁸ his view must be given special weight and may outweigh the opposition of creditors who want a voluntary winding up²⁹.

WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(ii) Procedure on Petition/C. PROCEDURE COMMON TO ALL PETITIONS/481. Winding up company without available assets.

481. Winding up company without available assets.

The court must not refuse to make a winding-up order on the ground only that the company's assets have been mortgaged to an amount equal to or in excess of those assets, or that the company has no assets¹.

Although a petition on sufficient grounds will not be dismissed merely because it is motivated by malice², a petition may be dismissed or struck out if the purpose of the petition is not to share in the process of equitable distribution of the company's assets which arises on a winding up, but an ulterior purpose³. Therefore, although a petition cannot be dismissed only on the ground that the company has no assets, the absence of assets may be evidence from which the court can infer that the petitioner has an improper motive.

UPDATE

438-938 Winding Up by the Court

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(ii) Procedure on Petition/C. PROCEDURE COMMON TO ALL PETITIONS/482. Costs in general.

482. Costs in general.

The court has a discretion as to costs¹. The company is usually given its costs when a winding-up order is made², and one set of costs is generally given to the petitioner, another among all the creditors supporting him, and a third among the contributories supporting him³. Where the petitioner has been substituted⁴, the costs of the petition may include some of the costs of the original petitioner⁵. When the petition, not being by the company, is dismissed, the petitioner generally has to pay one set of costs to the company, another set among all the creditors opposing, and a third set among all the contributories opposing⁶; but, where the petition is dismissed by consent, the costs are often paid by the company⁷, although sometimes the petitioner is ordered to pay the costs of some or all of the parties supporting and opposing, according to the circumstances⁸. Secured creditors are allowed to share in the set of costs given to creditors⁹. Creditors are not entitled to costs as of right; they must show a reasonable ground for appearing¹⁰. A petition may be dismissed without costs¹¹ and this is now the general rule where a creditor, whether he is a judgment creditor¹² or simple creditor¹³, has acted reasonably in presenting the petition. Costs will generally not be given to a petitioner where the petition is dismissed¹⁴.

Where a petition is brought on the basis of a disputed debt against a solvent company, the court may order costs to be paid by the petitioner to the company on the indemnity basis if the petition is struck out as an abuse of the process of the court¹⁵. This is so even where the court has not seen fit to investigate the solvency of the company¹⁶. A petitioner who has no knowledge of any dispute in relation to the petition debt when initiating proceedings and who agrees to the dismissal of the petition as soon as evidence of the dispute is produced by the company will, save in exceptional circumstances, be liable to pay the company's costs of defending the petition, as he petitions at his own risk¹⁷. However, even where the major part of the debt is disputed, provided that the petition is based on a debt which includes an undisputed amount of at least £750, the petitioner is entitled to costs incurred to the time of payment of the undisputed element¹⁸.

Where the petition contains a personal charge against a director, he is entitled to appear separately and, if free from blame, to be paid a separate set of costs¹⁹.

Calls owing by a petitioning shareholder cannot be set off against the costs of a petition ordered to be paid to him²⁰.

If the amount claimed by a petitioner is paid before the hearing, the company will as a rule be ordered to pay the costs of the petition²¹; but, where a petitioner refuses an offer by the company to pay him the amount claimed, together with his costs, the petitioner may fail to obtain an order for payment of any further costs incurred by him after that date²²; and where he refuses an offer to pay the amount claimed, together with such costs of the petition as the court adjudges, he may be ordered to pay all the costs of the petition subsequently incurred²³.

Where a petition for an administration order has been presented by the company reasonably and in good faith, and is heard on the same date as a creditor's winding-up petition upon which a compulsory order is made without opposition from the company, the court will order the costs of the administration petition to be treated as costs in the winding up²⁴.

As a general rule, no order for costs will be made in favour of one creditor against another creditor because a winding-up petition is not a true lis but a class remedy sought in the interests of creditors as a whole; and creditors may have different views of what constitutes the class interest and are equally entitled to be heard²⁵.

When a petitioner has been paid the petition debt prior to advertisement, then, despite the fact that the petition was properly presented, he cannot obtain an order for costs unless the company agrees to such an order, since the formalities of the winding-up process have not been completed²⁶. If the petitioner wishes to obtain his costs, and the company will not agree to such an order, he must advertise the petition so that it can then be dismissed with the requisite order²⁷.

If there is a dispute between the company and the petitioner as to whether an order for costs should be made, but agreement that the petition should be dismissed, the petition may be dismissed on hearing with the question of costs alone being adjourned for later decision²⁸.

There is jurisdiction in appropriate cases to make orders for costs against non-parties, including directors²⁹. Where directors have procured the company to defend a winding-up petition, notwithstanding that they knew it was insolvent and had been advised that the defence would fail, or defended the petition so as to cause costs to be incurred, a costs order may be made against them³⁰. In the majority of cases, however, the director of a company which defends proceedings brought against it should not be at personal risk as to costs³¹. If a costs order is sought against directors, they should be given the opportunity to appear and file evidence³².

1 See para 1096 et seq post. 'There is only one immutable rule in relation to costs, and that is that there are no immutable rules': Taylor v Pace Developments Ltd [1991] BCC 406 at 408, CA, per Lloyd LJ. The court has jurisdiction to make an order against an opposing contributory and creditor: Re Bathampton Properties Ltd [1976] 3 All ER 200, [1976] 1 WLR 168. As to the costs on the withdrawal of a petition see para 483 post.

A Bathampton order will, however, only rarely be made since the decision in Aiden Shipping Co Ltd v Interbulk Ltd [1986] AC 965, [1986] 2 All ER 409, HL, as the court has jurisdiction to make costs orders against a person such as a director who is not a party to the proceedings and the effect of a Bathampton order will be to penalise solicitors in the event that they have not obtained third party funding: Re a Company (No 004055 of 1991), ex p Doe Sport Ltd [1991] BCLC 865, sub nom Re Record Tennis Centres Ltd [1991] BCC 509; but see Secretary of State for Trade and Industry v Liquid Acquisitions Ltd [2002] EWHC 180 (Ch), [2003] 1 BCLC 375 (where a Bathampton order was made). The costs of the company and of its solicitors in defending the petition will normally be implied in the 'usual compulsory order': Re a Company (No 004055 of 1991), ex p Doe Sport Ltd supra. 483. Costs of two petitions.

Where two petitions are presented for winding up the same company, they have priority according to their dates of presentation¹. The second petitioner is usually allowed his costs up to the time he had notice of the presentation of the first petition²; but, if he proceeds with the second petition, he may be ordered to pay the subsequent costs³ unless he shows that there was some good ground for his doing so. A second petition can seldom be useful, since the court has power to substitute a petitioner⁴. If good ground is shown, and the order is made on the first petition, the second petitioner will be allowed the costs of his petition⁵. If one order is made on both petitions, the carriage of the order, if any, is generally given to the first petitioner⁶.

One of several petitions may be dismissed on its merits, even though an order has been made on another⁷.

NOTES 1, 2--1986 Act s 188(1) amended: SI 2008/1897.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/(iii) Effect of Winding-up Order/488. Operation of winding-up order; rescission of order.

(iii) Effect of Winding-up Order

488. Operation of winding-up order; rescission of order.

An order for winding up a company operates in favour of all the creditors and of all contributories of the company as if made on the joint petition of a creditor and of a contributory¹. The court may rescind the order at any time before it has been passed and entered², but only on the application of a creditor, a contributory or the company jointly with a creditor or contributory³. The court has jurisdiction to rescind the winding-up order after it has been entered and passed in appropriate circumstances⁴. Any application for the rescission of a winding-up order must be made within seven days after the date on which the order is made⁵, but the court has jurisdiction to extend the time for making such an application⁶. The court's jurisdiction is not restricted to its statutory jurisdiction⁷ to grant a permanent stay of the winding-up⁸. The application should be made to a judge, district judge or registrar of commensurate jurisdiction with the judicial officer who made the original order⁹, although a registrar hearing the application has jurisdiction to adjourn the matter to the judge¹⁰.

2 Re Crown Bank (1890) 44 ChD 634.

3 Practice Direction--Insolvency Proceedings para 7.2. The application must be supported by written evidence of assets and liabilities: Practice Direction--Insolvency Proceedings para 7.2. In the case of an unsuccessful application, the costs of the petitioning creditor and of the supporting creditors will normally be ordered to be paid by the creditor or the contributory making or joining in the application: Practice Direction--Insolvency Proceedings para 7.3. The reason for this is that, if the costs of an unsuccessful application are made payable by the company, they fall unfairly on the general body of creditors: Practice Direction--Insolvency Proceedings para 7.3. Cases in which the making of the winding-up order has not been opposed may, if the application is made promptly, be dealt with on a statement by the applicants' legal representative of the circumstances; but, apart from such cases, the court will normally require any application to be supported by written evidence: Practice Direction--Insolvency Proceedings para 7.4. There is no need for a formal written application to rescind to be made: Practice Direction--Insolvency Proceedings para.7.5.

See also Re Piccadilly Property Management Ltd [1999] 2 BCLC 145 (jurisdiction to rescind should be exercised with the utmost caution and rarely). The official receiver may be given leave to retain his costs from the statutory deposit: see para 474 ante. Notice of the application should be given to the petitioner, any

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(3) PETITION/ (iii) Effect of Winding-up Order/489. Commencement of winding up by the court.

489. Commencement of winding up by the court.

If, before the presentation of a petition¹ for the winding up of a company by the court, a resolution has been passed by the company for voluntary winding up², the winding up is deemed to have commenced at the time of the passing of the resolution³; and, unless the court, on proof of fraud or mistake, directs otherwise, all proceedings taken in the voluntary winding up are deemed to have been validly taken⁴. Where a court makes a winding up order on hearing an administration application⁵, the winding up is deemed to commence on the making of the order⁶. In any other case, the winding up of a company by the court is deemed to commence at the time of the presentation of the petition for winding up⁷.

The date of commencement of winding up affects many matters. Thus, in the case of a winding up by the court, unless the court otherwise orders, any disposition of the company's property⁸, and any transfer of shares, or alteration in the status of its members, made after the commencement of the winding up, is void⁹. It depends on the date of commencement of winding up whether a person is liable as a present member, or whether a person who has ceased to be a member is liable as a past member, to contribute to the company's assets¹⁰; whether a transaction is a transaction at an undervalue¹¹ or preference¹²; whether certain attachments, sequestrations, distresses or executions are void or in force against the company's assets¹³; whether certain floating charges are invalid¹⁴; whether an execution creditor is entitled to retain the benefit of his execution¹⁵; and at what date the liquidator must send to the registrar of companies his statement as to the proceedings in and position of the liquidation¹⁶. Periods of limitation for the purposes of the Limitation Act 1980 cease to run on the making of a winding-up order, not (except as against the petitioning creditor) when the petition is presented¹⁷.

A claim for rescission of a contract to take shares, on the ground of misrepresentation, commenced after the filing of a petition, is defeated by a compulsory winding-up order made on that petition¹⁸.

490. Effect of winding-up order.

When a winding-up order has been made, no claim or proceeding may be proceeded with or commenced against the company or its property except by leave of the court and subject to such terms as the court may impose¹.

The winding-up order also has the effect of discharging all the company's employees², of terminating agencies³, and of dismissing its directors⁴. It puts an end to the directors' powers of management⁵; thus they cannot make calls⁶. They may, however, appeal in the company's name from the winding-up order⁷; and they do not cease to be officers of the company for purposes of being ordered to answer requests for information⁸.

The winding-up order does not dissolve the company as a corporation⁹, or vest the company's property in the liquidator unless a vesting order is made¹⁰.

1 Insolvent Act 1986 s 130(2). See further para 893 et seq post. There is a similar provision as regards claims or proceedings against a company not formed but registered under the Companies Act 1985 Pt XXII Ch II (ss 680-690) (as amended) (see COMPANIES vol 14 (2009) PARA 33 et seq), or any contributory of such a company, in respect of any debt of the company: see the Insolvent Act 1986 s 130(3); and para 893 post. In the case of an unregistered company, no claim or proceeding may be commenced or proceeded with against any contributory in respect of any debt of the company except by and subject to the same leave and terms: see s 227; and para 1155 post. UPDATE

438-938 Winding Up by the Court

The terminology used in the Insolvency Rules 1986, SI 1986/1925, has been extensively updated by the amendments made by SI 2010/686. A non-exhaustive list of the terminological alterations is set out in PARA 2 NOTE 5.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(4) PROVISIONAL LIQUIDATOR AND SPECIAL MANAGER/491. Provisional liquidator before winding-up order.

(4) PROVISIONAL LIQUIDATOR AND SPECIAL MANAGER

491. Provisional liquidator before winding-up order.

The court may appoint a provisional liquidator to take possession of and protect the company's assets at any time after the presentation of a winding-up petition¹ and before the making of a winding-up order². The occasion for the appointment is not limited to special circumstances; other factors, such as the public interest, may be taken into account³. Either the official receiver⁴ or any other fit person may be appointed⁵. A person other than the official receiver is occasionally appointed⁶, but the usual rule is to appoint the official receiver⁷. Where a person is appointed provisional liquidator who is other than the official receiver⁸, he must be a person who is qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner in relation to the company⁹.

The provisional liquidator must carry out such functions as the court may confer on him¹⁰. When a provisional liquidator is appointed, his powers may be limited by the order appointing him¹¹. His appointment does not completely oust the power of the board; it may still cause the company to oppose the winding-up petition or to apply to discharge the provisional liquidator¹². Where the appointment of any person to the office of provisional liquidator relates to more than one person or has the effect that the office is held by more than one person, the appointment must declare whether any act required or authorised under any enactment to be done by the provisional liquidator is to be done by all or any one or more of the persons for the time being holding such office¹³.

Where a provisional liquidator has been appointed, no claim or proceeding may be proceeded with or commenced against the company or its property except by leave of the court and subject to such terms as the court may impose¹⁴; and the provisional liquidator must take into his custody or under his control all the property and things in action to which the company is or appears to be entitled¹⁵.

Where the court has appointed a provisional liquidator, the official receiver may require a statement as to the affairs of the company to be made out and submitted to him as in the case of a winding-up order¹⁶. The court may also, as in the case of a company going into liquidation or where an administration order¹⁷ is made or administrative receiver¹⁸ appointed, require any person who has in his possession or control any property, books, papers or records to which the company appears to be entitled forthwith (or within such period as the court may direct) to pay, deliver, convey, surrender or transfer the property, books, papers or records to the provisional liquidator¹⁹ and summon before it any officer of the company or any person known or suspected to have in his possession any property of the company or supposed to be indebted to the company or any person whom the court thinks capable of giving information concerning the promotion, formation, business, dealings, affairs or property of the company²⁰. Various persons are also in such cases under a duty to give to the provisional liquidator such information concerning the company and its promotion, formation, business, dealings, affairs or property as the provisional liquidator may reasonably require and to attend on the provisional liquidator at such times as he may reasonably require²¹. A provisional liquidator has the same rights as a liquidator, administrator, administrative receiver or supervisor of a voluntary arrangement²² for ensuring continued supplies of gas, electricity, water and telecommunication services²³. The provisions as to unenforceability of liens on books also apply to a provisional liquidator²⁴.

The acts of an individual as provisional liquidator of a company are valid notwithstanding any defect in his appointment or qualifications²⁵.

1 Insolvency Act 1986 s 135(1). It was held under the analogous provision in the Bankruptcy Act 1883 s 10 (repealed: see now the Insolvency Act 1986 s 286; and BANKRUPTCY AND INDIVIDUAL INSOLVENCY vol 3(2) (2002 Reissue) para 835) that, when a bankruptcy petition was subsequently dismissed, every act done under the order appointing an interim receiver was valid: Re AB & Co (No 2) [1900] 2 QB 429, CA. The appointment of a provisional liquidator is not only provisional but also contingent in the sense that it operates to protect the property for an equal distribution only in the event of an order for compulsory winding up being made, and, if no such order is made, then the appointment ought not to interfere with the rights of third persons: Re Dry Docks Corp'n of London (1888) 39 ChD 306 at 314 per Fry LJ. See Levy v Napier 1962 SC 468, Ct of Sess (allegation that company's substratum had gone; appointment to preserve assets). The appointment may be made only when an effective petition is pending: Re a Company [1974] 1 All ER 256, [1973] 1 WLR 1566.

2 Insolvency Act 1986 s 135(2). A court in the United Kingdom may not in general appoint a provisional liquidator in relation to an EEA insurer (as defined in the Insurers (Reorganisation and Winding Up) Regulations 2004, SI 2004/353, reg 2(1)) or any branch of it or in relation to an EEA credit institution (as defined in the Credit Institutions (Reorganisation and Winding up) Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1045, reg 2(1)) or any branch of it: see the Insurers (Reorganisation and Winding Up) Regulations 2004, SI 2004/353, reg 4(1)(b), (3); and the Credit Institutions (Reorganisation and Winding up) Regulations 2004, SI 2004/1045, reg 3(1)(b), (3). Those regulations modify the law of insolvency in connection with insurers and credit institutions pursuant to EC Council Directive 01/17 (OJ L110, 20.4.01, p 28) on the reorganisation and winding up of insurance undertakings and EC Council Directive 01/24 (OJ L125, 5.5.01, p 15) on the reorganisation and winding up of credit institutions. See also Securities and Investments Board v Lancashire and Yorkshire Portfolio Management Ltd [1992] BCLC 281, [1992] BCC 381. See also Re P Turner (Wilsden) Ltd [1987] BCLC 149, CA (provisional liquidator appointed where a liquidator of two associated companies had a conflict of interest). A provisional liquidator may be appointed in respect of a company even where its only assets are out of the jurisdiction and no jeopardy is shown: Re a Company (No 00359 of 1987) [1988] Ch 210, sub nom International Westminster Bank plc v Okeanos Maritime Corp'n [1987] 3 All ER 137. The usual purpose underlying the appointment of provisional liquidators is to collect and protect the assets of the company pending the making of a winding-up order, though the jurisdiction is not so confined, and the courts in recent years have been prepared to appoint provisional liquidators more flexibly than in the past: Re Namco UK Ltd [2003] 2 BCLC 78; and see Smith v UIC Insurance Co Ltd [2001] BCC 11.

4 As to the official receiver see para 503 et seq post. The functions of the official receiver as a provisional liquidator appointed pursuant to the Insolvency Act 1986 s 135 may not be contracted out: see the Contracting Out (Functions of the Official Receiver) Order 1995, SI 1995/1386, art 3(1), Schedule para 1(b). The appointment of a provisional liquidator automatically revokes the authority of agents appointed to act on behalf of the company by or under the authority of the directors: Pacific and General Insurance Co Ltd v Hazell [1997] BCC 400. Where a provisional liquidator has been appointed on unchallenged evidence as to the jeopardy to the assets of a company, it is wrong in principle to treat that appointment as a significant reason for dismissing a person based on a disputed debt and so discharging the provisional liquidator: see Alipour v Ary [1997] 1 WLR 534, [1997] 1 BCLC 557, CA.

14 See ibid s 130(2); and para 893 et seq post. It is not an abuse of process to present a winding-up petition to protect the assets of a company pending a scheme of arrangement: Re Esal (Commodities) Ltd [1985] BCLC 450; Bowkett v Fullers United Electric Works Ltd [1923] 1 KB 160, CA. UPDATE

438-938 Winding Up by the Court

491 Provisional liquidator before winding-up order

NOTE 1--The purpose of the appointment is not to realise company assets at the highest value achievable but to preserve assets pending the hearing of the winding-up petition: Ashborder BV v Green Gas Power Ltd [2004] EWHC 1517 (Ch), [2005] 1 BCLC 623.

Halsbury's Laws of England/COMPANY AND PARTNERSHIP INSOLVENCY (VOLUME 7(3) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 1-628; VOLUME 7(4) (2004 REISSUE) PARAS 629-1310)/8. WINDING UP BY THE COURT/(4) PROVISIONAL LIQUIDATOR AND SPECIAL MANAGER/492. Application for appointment of provisional liquidator.

492. Application for appointment of provisional liquidator.

An application¹ to the court for the appointment of a provisional liquidator may be made by the petitioner, a creditor of the company, a contributory, the company itself, the Secretary of State², a temporary administrator, a member state liquidator³ appointed in main proceedings⁴, or any person who under any enactment would be entitled to present a petition for the winding up of the company⁵.

The application must be supported by an affidavit stating:

- 950 (1) the grounds on which it is proposed that a provisional liquidator should be appointed⁶;
- 951 (2) if some person other than the official receiver is proposed to be appointed, that the person has consented to act and, to the best of the applicant's belief, is qualified to act as an insolvency practitioner⁷ in relation to the company⁸;
- 952 (3) whether or not the official receiver has been informed of the application and, if so, has been furnished with a copy of it⁹;
- 953 (4) whether, to the applicant's knowledge, a voluntary arrangement¹⁰ has been proposed or is in force for the company, or an administrator¹¹ or administrative receiver¹² is acting in relation to the company, or a liquidator has been appointed for its voluntary winding up¹³; and
- 954 (5) the applicant's estimate of the value of the assets in respect of which the provisional liquidator is to be appointed¹⁴.
